ONE HUNDRED YEARS OF MAINE ATHLETIC TRADITION

Intercollegiate athletics at the University of Maine at Orono is an integral part of the total educational process. Hundreds of students enjoy the privilege and accept the challenge of competition as they represent the University and the state of Maine every year.

Maine athletic tradition has been established over the past 100 years by young men and women striving for excellence in their sport within the spirit and philosophy of amateur athletics, "love of the game and the will to win."

The University takes great pride in paying tribute to all "M" winners for their outstanding contribution to the University Family and its athletic programs.

THE ORONO CAMPUS

The University of Maine at Orono, with its six colleges and four schools, is the largest campus in the statewide university system. There is plenty of elbow room on its 1,100 acres, where the student is offered the diversity and challenge of a large university in the invigorating atmosphere of a small college. Close personal contact among students, and among students and faculty, is a tradition at Orono, where one knows his neighbors and his teachers.

Orono is a cosmopolitan campus in a classic New England setting. Last year students from 25 foreign countries and 45 states studied here, and fully 20 percent of the total enrollment of some 11,000 students regularly is admitted from other states and nations around the world.

There is ample opportunity for the student to enrich his university days academically and socially outside the classroom. There are seven scholastic honor societies, four non-scholastic honor societies, 22 departmental and professional honor societies, 56 associations, clubs and organizations, and six religious groups. Nineteen fraternities and 10 sororities have chapters at Orono.

The campus is located one mile from the center of Orono, an attractive town of about 10,000 population, and eight miles from Bangor, the state's third largest city. It is in the center of the state's year-round outdoor recreation area, with ski slopes, scores of ponds, lakes, streams, and the beautiful Maine coast within easy driving distance.

Interstate Route 95, a scenic four-lane highway that bisects the state north to south to the New Hampshire state line, passes within a mile of the campus. Air travelers land at Bangor International Airport, where the University of Maine has established a campus in former Dow Air Force Base facilities, Bangor Community College. BCC, in the 1974-75 academic year, became the new sixth college of the University of Maine at Orono. Although the 162 acre campus, with its 58 buildings, is located in Bangor, its relationship with Orono is the same as the other five colleges.

In its role as a community college, the primary objectives of BCC are to offer two-year associate degree programs, one-year certificate, and short-term programs to meet special educational needs.

The University of Maine at Orono offers programs in physical education, intercollegiate athletics, intramural sports, recreation and related club activities. These programs are recognized as an integral part of the educational process which the university controls and supports within the limitations of budget, staff, equipment, and facilities. These programs are to promote educational leadership, physical fitness, opportunity for recreational pursuits, and athletic excellence through instruction and competition.

In 1968 the State Legislature created a system of public higher education for Maine. This action unified the University of Maine and the five state colleges into one "cohesive structure of public education in the State of Maine." The university now has campuses in Orono, Bangor, Portland-Gorham, Augusta, Presque Isle, Farmington, Fort Kent, and Machias.

The information in this publication pertains only to the activities and programs at Orono.

MAINE 8, DARTMOUTH 4

by Leigh McCarthy

I didn't want to go. It was too cold. I was tired from spending my Saturday refereeing a two-year-old and a seven-year-old confined to the house by runny noses. I had never seen a hockey game and it wouldn't put a dent in my life if I never saw one. I voiced every excuse, feeble complaint, weak protestation in vain.

The tickets had been bought. The babysitter had been hired. Reason weighed against me. We went.

We passed the short time along the Interstate to Orono scraping the interior breath frost from the windshield. By the time we reached the university the glass had cleared enough for us to clearly see great waves and rows of vehicles, carriers of hockey aficionados faster than we, stretching far into the dark allies and canyons of the fieldhouse parking lot. We drove around and around, we ranted, we persevered, we parked.

Then we ran. It was too cold to walk. Running past all those cars in my clumpy boots gave me that old nutball sensation I used to get trying to walk in skis. If God had wanted mankind to stumble around that way He would have designed us with great long feet.

We puffed into the Alford Arena on a blast of Arctic desperation and came body to body with great waves and rows of the hockey aficionados themselves. They were dressed all in down from their heads to their feet, and they were lined up three deep along every passage designed to get us to our appointed seats. The tribal drums of the UMO band thundered at us from somewhere just beyond the three layers of humanity, blood-churning rhythms that squeezed us through the down- and nylon-lined artery along the back wall until we could break through to the stairs leading to our seats.

Now I could sink down out of my mittens and earmuffs and coat and reconnoiter. I was astonished at the relatively small size of the arena, quite pleasantly astonished. I could see every corner of the rink. I could see every face in the crowd across the way. I could watch the faces looking down from the gallery.

But now the tribal drums began to pound in earnest, the band exploded into the Maine Stein Song, the crowd exploded into general exultation, and two sets of brightly-colored, cloth-covered stuffed dolls swirled out of somewhere and swept down the ice past us.

I couldn't see them. I knew they were young, half as old as I. I knew they must be strong and fast. I wondered if they were kind. I wondered if they were smart. I wondered if they were shy or if they were romantic opportunists.

Sometimes when they were drawn close into the boards in front of us I could see their eyes behind the bars of their armor. The eyes didn't look into my eyes, so I couldn't see into them, couldn't tell if they were shy or kind.

The game started. The players were wild electrified kachina dolls, gods of fire and wind, gods of ice. They skated backwards, they skated sideways, they hopped and jumped and threw themselves down with abandon. One danced on the ice, skated like liquid silver, dazzled and dulled his opposition. The game raged so fiercely that even the young and strong could not sustain the battle for more than a few minutes.

Their replacements came up over the boards with the intensity of doughboys rising out of trenches in the Ardenne. They slammed their sticks at the puck, they slammed their bodies at each other, they bashed into the boards with the force of elephants and skated away without noticing that all their bones should have been shattered in the crunch.

The goalkeeper stood in ultimate defense of his territory with a stick wrapped in shining tape and a first-baseman's glove. I never saw the puck. He almost always saw it, knocked it away, impounded it. I couldn't see, but I could feel the invisible village within the net the goalie guarded. Some atavistic fury drove him, drove the defensemen, to the savagery with which they protected their village from the Dartmouth huns.

It was over. Maine's blue knights had won their hockey game. Our village was safe. The prowess of our defenders would be noticed and rewarded with a step up in the NCAA rankings. I loved it. I was amazed. It was fast, it was exciting, it was fun. For a short time I could project my spirit out onto the ice field, pretend I was out there meeting the challenge to my village's life and honor. Those curly-haired athletes made me feel fast when I had never been fast, strong when I had never been strong, powerful when I never had power. I don't suppose they knew that.

We applauded in unison with the rest of the village when it ended, collected our gear, pushed out through the down and nylon, ran back over the frozen snow, drove home. I wonder if we can get tickets to the Yale game.

BEAR THIS IN MIND!

There's Room
in the Black Bear
Hall of Fame
... for You!

The Black Bear Hall of Fame is an organization of alumni and friends of UMO who support the educational and athletic goals of UMO and its student athletes.

Club members provide essential assistance in the following ways. Members furnish financial assistance to men's and women's athletic programs; members encourage community support for the University's programs; members help recruit promising student athletes; members recruit new memberships for the Black Bear Hall of Fame; and members create a solid bond between UMO and its many friends nationwide.

The ultimate goal of the club is to enrich the UMO athletic program in a manner that will continue to make UMO teams, at all levels, highly competitive and entertaining for the students and fans.

The benefits are many. Gifted young men and women can gain the opportunity of a lifetime to excel in higher education while refining sports skills and meeting top competition. And you as a contributor can gain pride in your role in making their achievements possible through your generosity. Also, regional Black Bear Hall of Fame branches or "dens" will be established to help organize the efforts of Hall of Fame members.

So join the Black Bear Hall of Fame! Lend your support and help keep UMO's athletic tradition on the move.

SEASON OUTLOOK

"We're not conceding this season as a 'rebuilding' year. This could be our biggest challenge since we fielded our first team in 1977".

Those are the emphatic words of head hockey coach Jack Semler, who is set for his fifth year (78 wins, 47 losses, two ties) at Maine. The 1980-81 New England Division One Coach-of-the-Year sees 1981-82 as another stepping stone in the Black Bears' quest to maintain their young hockey program as one of the East's best.

"The stakes are much higher now than 1977 because we are a Division One team," points out Semler, who will again be assisted by Gary Wright. "On the one hand, we've got a group of upperclassmen eager to prove themselves without being in the shadow of last year's graduated seniors. This is their chance to prove what an integral part of Maine hockey they have been. On the other hand, we've got a group of freshmen who I feel can prove themselves the strongest class ever recruited at Maine if they pull together and play with enthusiasm and emotion. With teams like Providence, BC, UNH, and Colgate having no key graduation losses, people won't be picking us to do much, but this factor alone is great incentive. If we make the playoffs, this team will have accomplished more than any Maine hockey team we've had."

The Bears, 23-11 last year and Division One playoff quarterfinalists for the first time, return several outstanding players. One of them is hard-hitting defenseman David Ellis, the team's senior captain. This superb body checker is a former All-Downeast Classic and All-Holy Cross Tournament pick.

Ellis anchors a solid defense corps, perhaps the team's strongest area. All-American Andre Aubut returns for his final year with junior Ken Fagnoli and sophomores David Hunt and Mike Symonds. Four fine freshmen blueliners will be pressing for playing time, including Rene Comeault, Mark Crowley, Jeff Kloewer and Joel Steensen.

The Bears must restructure their forward lines with the loss of such high scorers as All-American Gary Conn, Joe Crespi and Brian Hughes, the team's three all-time top scorers, last year's captain Bill Demianiuk and John Tortorella via graduation. Senior Rob Zamejc, the team's top returning scorer with 21 goals and 29 assists, leads a capable group of veterans that includes seniors Robert Lafleur, UMO's shorthand goal recordholder, Gaetan Bernier and Richard Cote and sophomores Todd Bjorkstrand and Paul Giacalone. Talented forward prospects include Mike Beaudry, Jim Bolger, Scott Boretti, Laurie Bourgeois, Bruce Hegland, Ron Hellen, Ray Jacques, Joe Jirele and Pete Maher.

Senior Dwight Montgomery will make the move to a forward position this winter after starring for three years on defense for the Blue and White.

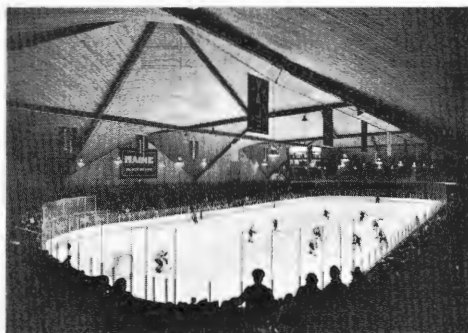

In goal, where Maine must replace the talented goaltending tandem of Jeff Nord and Jim Tortorella, sophomore Duffy Loney joins freshmen Pete Smith and Andy Lehmann in the nets for the Bears.

In the third Division One season in Maine's short, but winning hockey history, Semler will take his freshman-filled squad along a difficult schedule highlighted in mid-season by the Auld Lang Syne Classic in a four-team field with host Dartmouth, Vermont and New Hampshire.

The challenge is there. The playoffs await the best.

HAROLD ALFOND SPORTS ARENA

Completed in February of 1977, Maine's beautiful hockey facility seats 4,000 fans. With approximately 500 standing room admissions and 3,444 seats, including 1,482 reserved seats and its balcony that seats 775 fans, Alfond Arena gives a large crowd an excellent view of the game. The arena's energy-saving features, efficient locker-rooms, and 25-seat pressbox are outstanding. More than 2,000 people, headed by Mr. Harold Alfond, contributed to this facility through the Second Century Fund.

MAINE'S HOCKEY FAMILY

by Gary Thorne, WABI play-by-play

Elsewhere in this Black Bear Hockey Guide is an article by Leigh McCarthy, first-time fan, that beautifully strikes all the notes that have come to be heard from and about the Maine Hockey Program. She has captured in words the essence of excitement Maine hockey fans have come to long for, the excitement that begins in earnest when the ice goes down at the Alford and has fans chomping at the bit for the opener in the middle of November. The program has done this for the fans, but let it also be known what the Maine fan has done for the program.

When Maine players arrived hours before game time for the Division One home opener last year against Clarkson, they came upon a scene that stayed with them the entire year. Stretching out the door, down the entrance ramp, into the parking lot and off down the road towards the fieldhouse, were hundreds of fans, waiting in the cold night to get their tickets. Now graduated Jamie Logan never got over that sight. For the entire season, whenever anyone mentioned Maine fans, Jamie would vividly recall that night with great pride. If you asked him how he got himself up for a game, he invariably repeated the story.

Gaetan Bernier is now a senior. When he recalls his moments in a Maine uniform, he will take you back to the first night he stepped from the walkway to the ice his freshman year to the incessant roar of the home crowd. When he tells the story, he drifts away, the mind's eye taking over and the wonder of it all repeating itself in his words and in his smile.

For Andre Aubut (pronounced 'boo' by Maine fans), the All-American defenseman, there is a unique and warm sense of home every time he's introduced. He hears his own cheer that gives a whole new meaning to the term "boo birds." Long before the All-American honors came, Andre had found a college home on the ice, the fans made that clear.

This year there are 15 freshmen on the Maine squad. Coach Jack Semler brought as many of them as possible to the Alford to hear and see his greatest recruiting tool — the Maine Fan. Let there be no mistake about it, the success of this recruiting season and those in the past was helped in no small part by the sheer delight Maine fans bring not only to themselves and Maine players, but to all who see them in action, especially the recruit.

Then there is the opposition. Whenever one mentions the Alford and its crowds to Maine's opposition, the eyes widen and more than one "wow" is exuded. Maine, in four short years, has developed a reputation as a tough place to play, not only because of the quality of play, but also the quality of crowd. That is a great tribute to the "new crowd" on the block.

For the Maine student fan there has to be a special love for the game and their team. There are fewer seats than folks, and the Maine students do not have reserved seats. They are in the lines, rushing for the rush seats. That fact does not go unnoticed by the players. The support of fellow students is a source of inspiration. They rarely talk about that, but that does not mean those feelings are not there. When the dorm or frat or campus friends yell out, they are heard.

Finally, a very special relationship has developed between the community fans and the Maine hockey player, as evidenced by an inspired community turnout to salute the first graduating class of hockey players at a special hockey night last spring, conceived and sponsored by area fans. This bond has resulted in players coaching in youth leagues and speaking at all types of community affairs.

The relationship of fan to fan has led to the Alford family of fans. They come early and knit, eat, read the paper, play cards and just socialize with friends they never knew four years ago. They occupy the "reserved zoo" in sections G and H; the goalie's gang in the balcony; the SROs who have seats but never sit down; the "assistant coaches" behind the Maine bench; and the players' section where moms, dads and girlfriends sometimes meet for the first time. They travel on buses to the away games and make more noise than the home crowd, or at least try. And do they love to talk about "their" hockey team.

All of this does not pass unnoticed by the players. If it had, Maine never would have a hockey program in the enviable position it now occupies. For the last four years Maine fans and players have nurtured one another when they both needed it most. They were made for each other.

Maine fans, you have been heard, and this year 15 freshmen will come to appreciate what playing at the Alford is all about.

HOCKEY AT MAINE

Hockey at the University of Maine became a reality with a $400,000 contribution from businessman Harold Alfond, for whom the arena is named. After dropping the ceremonial first puck, Alfond and 3,300 fans sat back and watched the Black Bears take back-to-back 7-5 triumphs from Acadia. (see photo B).

The Bears' late season rush at a playoff berth fell just short after Maine defeated the Colby Mules, 4-1, in Waterville. The Mules bumped Maine from the number eight spot when they defeated number one Bowdoin in the regular season finale.

Sophomore Gary Conn, who led Maine in scoring the first season, opens the second campaign with record-setting performance at Mt. Allison. His five goals, including four in the final period, led Maine to a 5-4, come-from-behind win over the Mounties. The next afternoon, Conn tallied the game-tying goal with only six seconds left. (see photo A).

Goaltender Jeff Nord cops Goalie of the Week honors twice in three weeks for his performances against defending NCAA Division Two champion Merrimack and arch-rival Bowdoin. His 37-save, 6-0, victory over the Polar Bears is Maine's only shutout, and snap Bowdoin's 243 consecutive game team scoring streak, a Division Two record.

Jim Tortorella wins the Most Valuable Player award in leading the Black Bears to their first tournament victory as they take the Holy Cross Crusader Classic with a 4-3 triumph over the host Crusaders. Four weeks later, he turned in a 56-save performance leading Maine to its first ever win over a Division One opponent, 5-4, against R.P.I.

Center Joe Crespi sets a new consecutive game scoring streak of 19 games, and wins Forward of the Week honors leading Maine to wins over Division Two arch-rival Salem State and Vermont.

Freshman defenseman Andre Aubut is named ECAC Division Two Rookie of the Year and to the All-ECAC first team, while Gary Conn and Jeff Nord are named to the second team. Maine, seeded first for the ECAC East Tournament, had its drive towards the title stopped, 7-4, by Salem State.

The Black Bears move into the ranks of Division One after only two seasons of varsity hockey. With a renovated Alfond Arena, which now has a balcony at the north end, the Bears took on their most ambitious schedule. (see photo C).

The Bears prove they belong when they knock off, at the time nationally-ranked, Boston College, 6-3, on the road, and New Hampshire, 5-3, at home, in the same week. Defenseman Dwight Montgomery is named ECAC Defenseman of the Week for his outstanding play in these two triumphs.

The Bears clinch their first Downeast Classic title with solid, team performances over Bowdoin and Colby. Aubut, Montgomery, and captain Bill Demianuk are named to the all-tournament team, while Aubut is also named the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

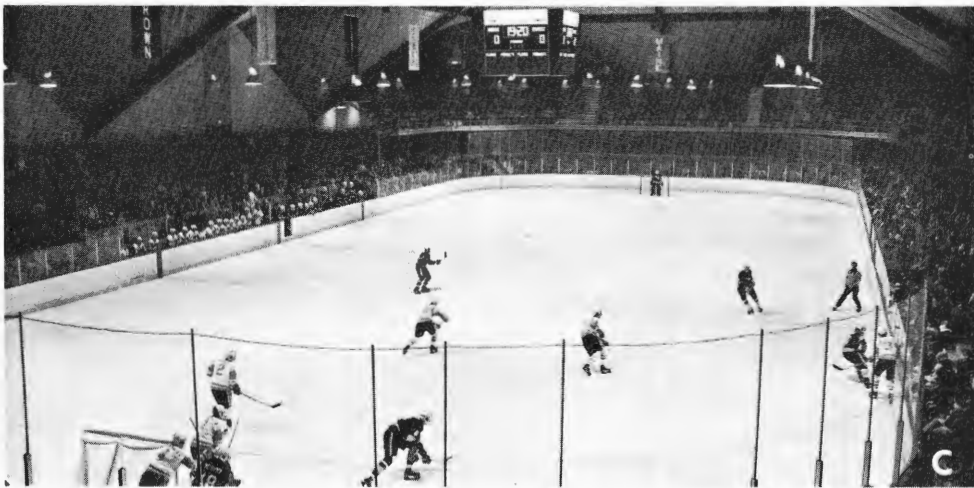

Maine begins its stretch run at the playoffs with a solid 5-3 victory over Harvard, then collects the first-ever overtime win in Black Bear history when Dwight Montgomery tallies the game winner at 1:44 against New Hampshire at Durham.

Gary Conn's six point performance leads the Bears to an amazing 8-7 come-from-behind victory over Boston University. Maine, down 6-1 in the second period, scored four times in the final period to nip the Terriers. Six days later, Conn scored with only 2:39 left to propel Maine to a 6-5 win over Providence in Providence to keep the Bears' slim playoff hopes alive.

After splitting their first northern trip, the Bears are sitting in the eighth spot, but must wait for the regular season to finish to see if they have made the playoffs in their first season in Division One. Cornell went on to defeat Providence and Boston University in overtime on the final day of the regular season, knocking the Bears out of the playoffs, and the Big Red clinched the number eight spot.

Andre Aubut becomes one of only a handful of sophomores ever to win All-American honors. He is named to the Titan Hockey All-American squad, as well as to the All-ECAC first team. (see photo E).

Maine earns its first Division One playoff berth, finishing fourth overall and second in the East. Cornell ends Black Bear hopes with a 7-4 quarterfinal win. Gary Conn, Maine's all-time career scorer, earns All-American honors. Jeff Nord sets Maine record with 59 saves at BU and goes on to sign with the St. Louis Blues, becoming the first Bear to go pro. (see photo D). Thirteen seniors close out incredible four-year careers.

Jack Semler, 35, guided Maine to an excellent 78-47-2 record in its first four years of varsity hockey. He came to Maine after coaching at Princeton for four years, and is also rink coordinator for the Harold Alfond Arena and lecturer in physical education.

Prior to coming to Maine, Semler served as an assistant coach at Vermont, before accepting the freshman post at Princeton in 1972.

An outstanding hockey player at the University of Vermont, Semler captained the 1968 team, was the Catamounts' MVP, and played varsity soccer for three years.

A native of Salisbury, CT, Semler served as a captain in the United States Marine Corps from 1968 to 1971.

A graduate of Kent (CT) School, he enjoys the coastal life of Maine, along with sailing, swimming, golf, and fishing. Jack, his wife Sarah, and daughter Molly reside in Hampden.

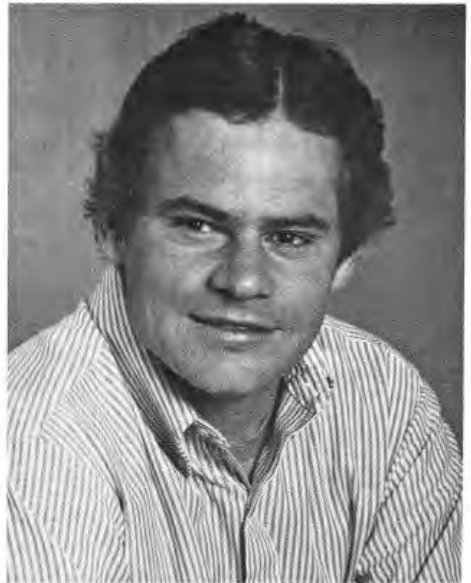

Gary Wright Assistant Coach

Gary Wright, 29, the newest member of the Maine coaching staff, is assistant hockey coach and rink manager of Alfond Arena.

A University of Vermont graduate, Wright comes to Maine after serving as hockey coach at Rice Memorial High School in Burlington (VT) for two years.

A four-year player at Vermont, Gary has a B.S. in Education and was the recipient of the UVM Coaches Award in 1976 for dedication and perseverance.

A three-sport standout at Proctor Academy in Andover, NH, where he played football, hockey and baseball, Gary is single and lives in Veazie.

Captain David Ellis

D., Sr., 5-11, 195, 6-23-60, Hunter River, PEI

An intimidating defenseman who dishes out vicious checks along the boards. David is an excellent penalty-killer, and holds the career record for most short-handed goals by a defenseman. Named to the all-tournament teams in both the Holy Cross and Downeast Classic tournaments as a freshman, he is a physical player. He is the iron man of the squad, having played in 100 consecutive games. "David leads by example and works very hard. He's a totally unselfish hockey player and a winner in every way." —Coach Semler. Left-hand shot.

Aubut

ANDRE AUBUT, D., Sr. 5-11, 194, 2-3-60, Laval, QUE

A Titan All-American his sophomore year, Andre also has been an All-ECAC selection three years and an All-New England pick twice. He holds Black Bear defenseman records for most goals scored in career (27), and game (3), all assist records for a defenseman, most game-winning goals by a defenseman (3 career, 2 season), and holds the longest scoring streak by a defenseman (15 games). He sees up to 40 minutes of ice time per game and his ability to dictate the pace of the game is a big plus for the Black Bears. He has been a choice on the all-tournament teams in the Downeast Classic each year, and on several other all-tournament teams. He is Maine's fifth leading all-time scorer and a real crowd-pleaser. "Andre is in his best shape ever. He's an exceptional hockey player with a great attitude."—Semler. Right-hand shot.

Beaudry

MIKE BEAUDRY, W., Fr., 6-0, 175, 2-20-63, Apple Valley, MN

Mike is a rangy forward who was all-conference for two years while at Apple Valley High School. "Mike has good size and strength, and I'm counting on him to play a physical game. He's eager to prove himself at the college level."—Semler. Left-hand shot.

Bernier

GAETAN BERNIER, C., Sr., 5-11, 170, 10-2-58, Laval, QUE

Following a knee injury his sophomore year, Gaetan came back strong last year, scoring 15 goals. He had a hat trick against Merrimack and was a second team all-tourney selection in the RPI Invitational. "Gaetan has a great opportunity. Not since he first came to Maine has there been so many forward positions open. His experience, combined with determination, will be the biggest key."—Semler. Right-hand shot.

Bjorkstrand

TODDBJORKSTRAND, C., So., 5-11, 180, 10-14-62, Minnetonka, MI

Todd stepped right into the Black Bear lineup as a freshman and did an outstanding job, scoring seven goals and 13 assists. He had a productive summer playing for Team Minnesota in the 1981 National Sports Festival. "Added strength and experience should help him in front of the net and in the corners. I expect a 15-plus goal season from Todd and if his defensive play matches that, he'll have proven himself one of the best forwards in the league."—Semler. Left-hand shot.

Bolger

JAMES BOLGER, W., Fr., 5-10, 160, 5-11-62, West Chester, PA

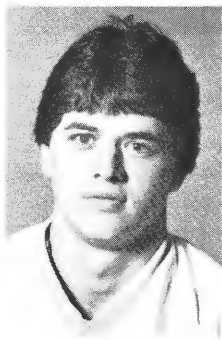

James was a point-producing forward for coach Charles Huntington's outstanding Canterbury School squad. An excellent golfer, he chose to come to Maine for hockey rather than go south for golf. "Jim is a happy surprise. He came to Maine on his own and looked good during tryouts. His skating is his biggest asset. He knows he has to work hard for a playing position."—Semler. Right-hand shot.

Boretti

SCOTT BORETTI, W., Fr., 5-8, 178, 3-30-63, Stoneham, MA

Scott is a speedy skater who was an all-star selection in the tough Middlesex (MA) League. "Scott is extremely strong and fast. If his puck handling and scoring ability catch up with his speed, he'll contribute right away."—Semler. Left-hand shot.

Bourgeois

LAURIE BOURGEOIS, W., Fr., 6-1, 190, 5-17-62, Waltham, MA

Laurie has the size to be an intimidating presence on the ice. He was an All-Suburban League (MA) selection at forward. "Laurie's got outstanding potential. He's got size, strength, and an excellent shot. He'll be extremely tough in the corners and plays great position. His ability to score will be his biggest test at the college level."—Semler. Right-hand shot.

Comeault

RENE COMEAULT, D., Fr., 5-10, 175, 6-22-63, Dominion City, MAN

Rene was an all-conference defenseman in his only year playing on Larry Hendrickson's Apple Valley (MN) High School team. "Rene has exceptional puck handling and skating ability. He makes things happen offensively. His biggest challenge will be learning our defensive system."—Semler. Right-hand shot.

Cote

RICHARD COTE, C., Sr., 5-9, 175, 2-11-58, Montreal, QUE

After sitting out a year, Richard hopes to nail down one of the center slots this winter. He spends his summers playing and teaching hockey to children. "Richard must distinguish himself early as a regular. He has looked good in preseason practice before, but this year he's more anxious to play than ever."—Semler. Left-hand shot.

Crowley

MARK CROWLEY, D., Fr., 5-11, 185, 1-12-62, Needham, MA

Mark comes to Black Bear Country from Needham High School via the Noble and Greenough School. He is another of a multitude of freshmen in competition for one of the six dressing defenseman positions. "Mark's a very hard-working player who is tough and strong. How he fits in will depend a lot on how his puck handling and passing develops. He's the kind of player who will thrive in a system-oriented situation." —Semler. Right-hand shot.

Fagnoli

KEN FARGNOLI, D., Jr., 5-11, 200, 11-13-61, Smithfield, RI

Ken is an excellent skater with a strong shot. He was sorely missed along the blue line when he became ineligible during the second half of last season. He scored the game-winning goal in a 4-3 victory over New Brunswick last season. Ken played his high school hockey at Mt. St. Charles Academy, one of the top schoolboy teams in the nation. "We're extremely happy about Kenny's return. He has improved by leaps and bounds." —Semler. Right-hand shot.

Giacalone

PAUL GIACALONE, W., So., 5-10, 175, 10-27-60, Gloucester, MA

Paul is a hard-hitting forward and one of the better defensive wingers on the team. He saw most of his ice time last year at the end of the season in a reserve role. "Paul's an extremely hard worker who is known for his hustle and spirit. He is an excellent penalty killer. The key for Paul is to increase his offensive output." —Semler. Right-hand shot.

Hegland

BRUCE HEGLAND, W., Fr., 5-11, 170, 4-4-63, Apple Valley, MN

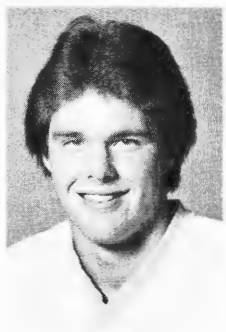

Bruce is a smooth skater who was a three-year letter winner at Apple Valley High School. He was the most valuable player for both his hockey and golf teams. "Bruce is a terrific skater with a great stride. How he develops as a scorer in college and learns the system will be the key." —Semler. Left-hand shot.

Hellen

RON HELLEN, C., Fr., 5-10, 165, 9-26-63, New Hope, MN

Ron captained his Armstrong High School squad, was team MVP, and made the all-conference team. A three-sport athlete, he was also an honorable mention on the all-state soccer team, and captained his team. "Ron's a very deceptive player who does all the basics well. His biggest challenge will be his effectiveness in the corners and in front of the net. He's very dangerous with the puck."—Semler. Left-hand shot.

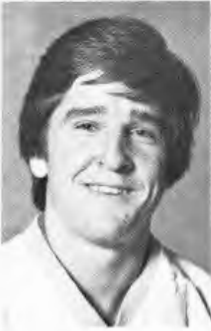

Hunt

DAVID HUNT, D., So., 6-2, 210, 2-3-62, Edina, MN

David came onto a veteran squad last year, earned a berth on the defensive pairings and played every game. The flashy sophomore has a booming slapshot. "David stepped right in as a freshman and did a great job. He's bigger and stronger this year, which is going to be a big asset. His strength is that he gets the puck right up to the forwards. He's got one of the hardest shots I've seen and it's always on the ice. He knows competition for defensive spots is going to be fierce."—Semler. Right-hand shot.

Jacques

RAY JACQUES, W., Fr., 5-11, 176, 1-30-62, Peabody, MA

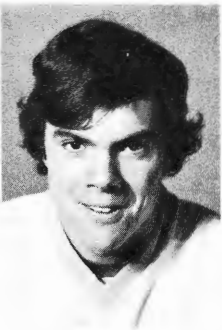

Ray comes to Maine from Matignon (MA) High School via Kimball Union Academy. His impressive pre-college credentials include a selection to the Pro Hockey magazine's prep All-American team and consideration for a berth on the U.S. Junior Olympic team. He was also team captain and most valuable player at Kimball Union. "Ray is quick and has good touch around the net. He's developing fast and if he keeps improving, he'll be an excellent college player."—Semler. Right-hand shot.

Jirele

JOE JIRELE, W., Fr., 5-7, 165, 1-24-63, Maplewood, MN

Joe was a three-year high school letterman for Terry Skrypeck's Hill-Murray team. A play-making forward, he should make a big contribution to the Black Bears. "Joe is a very hard-nosed player who works on his game. He's tough in the corners and in front of the net. He's a fiery player who will make things happen."—Semler. Left-hand shot.

Kloewer

JEFF KLOEWER, D., Fr., 6-0, 175, 2-12-63, Edina, MN

Jeff played his high school hockey with Maine teammate David Hunt at Edina-West and captained the squad his senior year under coach Bart Larson. "Jeff is a very good skater who gets the puck right up to the forwards from his defensive position. He's a fine system player who we're counting on to progress rapidly."—Semler. Left-hand shot.

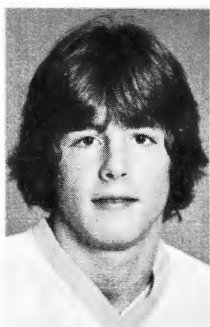

Lafleur

ROBERT LAFLEUR, W., Sr., 5-7, 187, 10-14-59, St. Hyacinthe, QUE

The seventh all-time leading scorer at Maine, Robert looks to move up on that list this season. One of the fastest skaters in the ECAC, his speed puts constant pressure on opposing defenses. He is most impressive as a penalty-killer, and holds all of Maine's short-handed goal records. He now has four career hat tricks, including two last year (at Princeton, and four goals vs. Dartmouth). "Robert needs to have his best year ever. He's improved every year and this season I feel he can be a 20-plus goal scorer. He's one of the fastest forwards in Division One." —Semler. Left-hand shot.

Lehmann

ANDY LEHMANN, G., Fr., 5-8, 150, 11-20-63, Truro, MA

A walk-on candidate, Andy will be battling Duffy Loney and Pete Smith for playing time between the pipes this winter for the Black Bears. He lettered for three years in hockey for coach Bob Driscoll's Masconomet Regional High School squad in Topsfield, MA. "Andy's a pleasant surprise. He's demonstrated a great deal of quickness in goal and has a great attitude." —Semler.

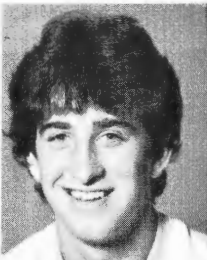

Loney

DUFFY LONEY, G., So., 5-11, 170, 9-12-61, Minnetonka, MN

Duffy is the front-runner to take over in net for the graduated Jim Tortorella and for Jeff Nord, who has moved on to professional hockey. He started two games last season and won both of them. Against Colby, he survived two overtimes (before Andre Aubut scored the game winner) to help the Bears to the Downeast Classic title. "Duffy knows that the goaltending situation is wide open. Playing behind two senior goalies, he didn't get much experience last season, but at times he looked exceptional. He's a very spirited player and is well-liked by his teammates. Unquestionably, this is the year Duffy must prove himself at the college level." —Semler.

Maher

PETE MAHER, W., Fr., 6-0, 170, 9-28-62, Exeter, NH

Canterbury School's all-time leading scorer, Pete is expected to bolster Maine's offensive corps this season. He was also an outstanding soccer and baseball player in high school and was chosen best athlete his senior year. "Pete is a rangy forward with a good stride and an ability to score. His big test will be how quickly he learns the system and how hard he works."—Semler. Left-hand shot.

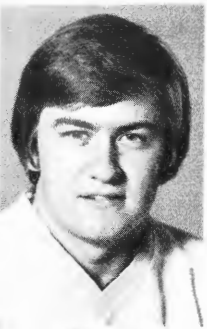

Montgomery

DWIGHT MONTGOMERY, C., Sr., 5-11, 200, 1-8-60, Gloucester, MA

Dwight has been a superlative defenseman at Maine for the past three seasons and this year is being moved to forward to strengthen the Black Bear offense. He holds the single-season mark for most goals by a defenseman (13), and the season and game records for most power play goals by a defenseman (eight and two, respectively). "Dwight is being moved to forward this season in an attempt to add experience and scoring punch up front. Where he plays and how extensively he is used depends on his ability to learn the position and convince us he is as valuable at forward as he has been on defense. Dwight's a fierce competitor who I feel will respond well to this new challenge."—Semler. Right-hand shot.

Smith

PETE SMITH, G., Fr., 6-0, 195, 1-11-64, New Hope, MN

Along with Duffy Loney and Andy Lehmann, Pete will be trying to fill the skates of the departed Jim Tortorella and Jeff Nord. He was an all-conference choice and most valuable player while at Armstrong High School. He comes to Maine along with schoolboy teammate Ron Hellen. "Pete is a stand-up goalie who plays the angles extremely well. His size is a great asset along with his positive personality."—Semler.

Steensen

JOEL STEENSEN, D., Fr., 6-0, 178, 3-18-62, Newark, DE

Joel was a prep standout at The Canterbury School, where he won the Leader Award before coming to Maine. He was co-captain of his hockey, lacrosse, and football teams at Newark High School. His brother Craig plays defense at the University of New Hampshire. "Joel is a big, strong defenseman who is hungry for a regular spot. Competition is going to be fierce for defensemen. He needs to be as aggressive as possible without taking penalties."—Semler. Left-hand shot.

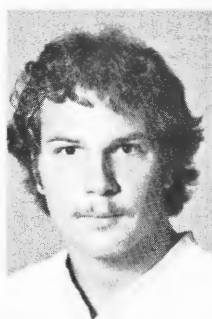

Symonds

MIKE SYMONDS, D., So., 5-9, 165, 5-19-62, Essex, MA

Mike took over a shift on defense last season while Dwight Montgomery nursed a broken jaw. Although he didn't have a highly productive season, he did the job that needed to be done. "Even though Mike didn't get that much playing time last season, he proved himself a fiery player when he got his chance. Competition for defensive positions is going to be tougher than ever. Mike knows he's going to have to play exceptionally well to crack the lineup."—Semler. Right-hand shot.

ROB ZAMEJC, W., Sr., 6-1, 200, 3-23-59, Oshawa, ONT

The eighth all-time leading scorer, in Black Bear history with only two years at Maine, Rob was second only to Gary Conn in points last season. He was the only other player besides Conn to score twenty goals. The St. Louis University transfer holds the Maine record for the fastest goal scored at the start of a game (11 seconds vs. UNH). "Rob has got to have a big year. He's got the size, experience, and ability to be one of the best forwards in the league. If Rob plays with peak intensity all year, he'll get the recognition he deserves."—Semler. Right-hand shot.
