To Have Lasting Peace

Diplomatic Defeats Caused By Lack of Unity, Unanimity, Frederix States At Assembly

By Charles Leining

No longer can a democratic government maintain the military might it placed in Japan. The military is taking over in Japan because the nation feels that the military can control the people more efficiently.

Two Innovations

Vote Monday

Elected by its first student poll, the Maine Campus will hold its second poll on Monday. Considering the fact that this is the first poll on campus, student support was surprisingly great. If student interest in the innovation continues, it is certain the Campus will continue to provide both interesting reading matter and valuable surveys.

The accuracy of the poll must vary, of course, with the sincerity and honesty of the students. Because of the method under which it is necessary to conduct the poll, duplicate voting cannot be avoided. After a poll, however, indicate that there is very little of this practice. Since the Campus is a non-commercial newspaper, any student who votes twice, or in the same polle, is relatively the same degree for support of each question, the names of the students who voted will be absolutely unimportant.

The Campus has had several opportunities to purchase the services of national polls which determine the opinions of college students throughout the country as a whole on various questions of a national scope. It was felt, however, that a poll which included questions of both local and national nature would be of more general interest. In the Campus poll an attempt will be made to ask those questions which will be of interest to the largest number of students. Suggestions from the students as to some interesting and timely questions would be appreciated.

Hark! A Roar! Heralds The Column

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the renovated gossip column, "Strangely, 502," which was conspicuous by its absence since it passed into obscurity December. At that time the column occupied a lack of personnel and an uncertain accountability offer a solid support to make the Campus for this column a reality. It was hoped that this column would evolve student sentiment and accurately indicate the Campus the interest of the students in a particular topic.

However, the results were by no means indicative of any definite opinion in regard to a particular topic and that definitely favored the abolition of the column. Under these circumstances the students who composed the column cannot be held responsible for any policy that is not their own. Since it seems impossible to prevent the students to numb up the necessary initiative, the Campus assumed the responsibility of gauging student sentiment in a more serious manner. The results of this poll can probably be estimated accurately only when the majority is unquestionably representative.

Are Collar Blind?

One vote favoring the glossy column indisputably was a true indication of a sentiment prevailing. The third of the student body which opposed the column, cannot, of course be held, but, since they represent a minority, their wishes must be subordinated to those of the majority.

With the replication of the gossip column, the students must accept the unsavory features which it entails. It must be understood that no amount of censorship can eliminate its status. The true value of the column is its ability to indicate a change in student sentiment. While a student might not quite possibly cause the Campus to permanently reverse its present policy.

U. S. Steel Representative To Is Interviewed

A. Thorpe, a high school student of 16, who is visiting Frederick University, and who has been interviewed by the Campus for possible newspaper work for the College, is planning to make some trip for the college.

All interested student should read the Campus for the College's interest in their contributions to the newspaper.
Maine Wins State Title
By Court Victory Over Colby; Wildcats Beaten
Ed Stanley's Play Features Three

The last week on the University of Maine's schedule was one of the most successful in its basketball history. The Black Bears, led by the outstanding play of Court, managed to win the state championship with a 53-50 victory over Colby College. The game was held at Waterville, Maine, and featured a fierce battle of wills between the two teams.

The game started slow, with both teams feeling each other out. However, in the second quarter, Maine began to assert its dominance, led by the dribbling skills of Court. With 16 points in the second quarter alone, Court led the team to a 30-20 halftime lead. The third quarter saw a back-and-forth battle, but Maine managed to widen its lead, thanks to the inside play of the Black Bears.

In the final quarter, Colby made a valiant effort to catch up, but Maine's defense held firm, led by the strong play of Livingston, who scored 11 points in the game. Despite Colby's best efforts, they could not overcome the lead that Maine had established.

The high scorer of the game was Court, with 18 points, followed by Livingston with 11 points. The rest of the team contributed with solid performances, ensuring that Maine won the state championship.

The Maine campus welcomed the win with enthusiasm, and the team celebrated their victory with a parade through the streets of Waterville. The celebration continued into the night, with fans gathering to cheer on their heroes. The victory was a testament to the hard work and dedication of the Maine basketball team, who had been working for this moment all season.
