Gordon Blake, Thrown From Canoe, Drowns In Stillwater River

Blake and Booth Had Paddled Up Rapids

IN JUNIOR CLASS

Blake Brilliant Student Was Working Way Through College

The body of Gordon Blake, 22, a junior at the university who was drowned in the Stillwater River Sunday afternoon, was observed from the air Tuesday afternoon and almost recovered when the pilot, Thomas Nickerson, a university student who was flying a plane from the Bangor airport in search of the body, flew back to Bangor and telephoned its approximate position up to searchers who grappled the body once but failed to recover it.

Yesterday morning and early yesterday afternoon Nickerson was making another search from the air after arrangements had been made by Dean Corbett for him to land on the University ball field which was especially policed for the purpose.

Nickerson, a junior recently accepted into the Army Air Corps, was prevented from making further attempts at locating the body Tuesday afternoon when a breeze sprang up, ruffling the surface of the river and preventing the bottom from being seen. Conditions Wednesday, however, were ideal for further search from the air.

Blake, a student in civil engineering, and but recently married, was dragged from his capsize canoe and drowned in the swift water of the Stillwater River.

With his canoe-mate, William Booth, he had paddled up the river to the rapids below the Stillwater dam where they both were thrown into the water when they turned across the current to return. They clung to the over-turned craft waiting to drift to quieter water.

Blake was torn from his grip by the current before his companion could help him. As he was swimming to shore, he sank from sight. Booth lost his grip several times, but managed to swim back to the canoe. He remained clinging to it until he approached the shore opposite the university.

Betty Co-ed Struts Her Stuff At Annual Fraternity Parties

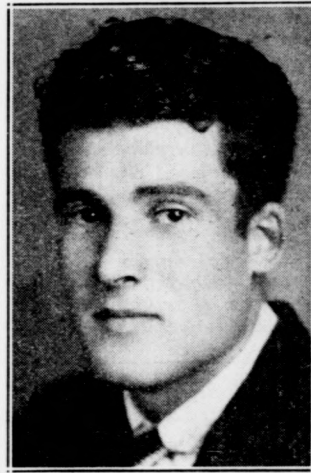

Betty Co-ed finds that spring is here, and with it house parties. It's time to wear gay spring evening gowns again.

Miss Co-ed wants something new and different for the formal on Friday night. Organdies and nets seem to be popular this season. Just the thing. She'll wear that net dress she bought a while ago. That problem is solved. Now the important thing seems to be color. She chose fuchsia, and what could be better?

It's a problem trying to decide what to wear but Betty Co-ed has solved it. She has a corsage of spring flowers which just makes her costume complete.

Silver shoes, some gay costume jewelry, an evening bag, and Miss Co-ed is off. Her cape of white

'Campus' Staff Holds Banquet

Moran, Sports Editor Of Bangor 'News,' Guest Speaker

More than fifty staff and board members received shingles for their year's work on the Maine Campus at its annual banquet Tuesday evening at the Tarratine Club in Bangor. Recognition keys were presented to members of the past year's editorial board.

William Treat, retiring editor-in-chief, presided as toastmaster, introducing the speakers: President Arthur A. Hauck, registrar James A. Gannett, custodian of Campus funds, Prof. Reginald Coggeshall, of the department of journalism, and Jack Moran, sports editor of the Bangor Daily News.

Mr. Moran, guest speaker of the evening, cited the importance of spirit to success, remarking that the "grass always seems greener on the other side of the fence," no matter what job one has.

"Pick out your object, aim at it, and don't stop until you achieve it," he said.

He stressed the merit of the sports section of a newspaper, saying that it provides worthwhile inspiration for children as opposed to sordid crime news.

'Prism' Staff Will Hold Banquet Sunday Night

The annual Prism banquet will be held Sunday, May 21, at Merrill Hall. At this time, shingles will be awarded members of the board. Definite plans for speakers have not yet been made public. W. Dwight Barrell, editor-in-chief of the Prism, will serve as toastmaster and the editors-in-chief and business managers of last year and next year will be guests.

China Has Five Chances to Win

Dr. McReynolds Speaks On Far East To Int. Relations Club

China's five hopes for defeating Japan are: first, the chance that Japan may go bankrupt; second, American and British financial aid to China; third, the possibility of the French and English lining up against Japan (proposed alliance with Russia); fourth, a war between Russia and Japan; and fifth, the chance of China's becoming a member of an alliance against Japan, declared Dr. George E. McReynolds, of the history department, in a lecture to the International Relations Club last evening at the Phi Kappa Sigma house. The officers for the following year were also elected at that time.

The Japanese economic system is steadily growing weaker, Dr. McReynolds stated, because the gold supply is nearly exhausted, and, furthermore, Japan has an adverse balance of trade. Unless she gets help, Japan will be forced to economic collapse if the war continues indefinitely.

Of importance also, the speaker pointed out, is Japan's change of policy toward Soviet Russia. Japan is more conciliatory toward her western neighbor, as may be witnessed by the recent fishing treaty made between the two countries and by the decrease in the number of border incidents.

Charles Peirce was elected president of the International Relations Club during a business meeting preceding Dr. McReynolds' lecture. Other officers elected for the coming

Maine Masque Elects Heads

Thirty-Three Pledges Receive Initiation Before Banquet

George Risman, '41, was elected president of the Maine Masque at the recent meeting following the initiation banquet held last Thursday evening at the P.V.C.C. Other officers elected at this time are Joseph Ingham, '41, vice president; Ruth Trickey, '40, secretary; Edward Brann, '40, business manager; Thomas Smith, '41, ticket manager; and Frances Sawyer, '41, historian.

Thirty-three pledges were initiated before the banquet. A skit, a composite of the four Masque productions of this current season, written by George Risman, was presented by George Risman, George Cunningham, Frederick Libby, Julia Warren, Barbara Ashworth, and Betsy Warren.

Clark Kuehly, retiring president, was presented with a traveling valise. Risman, next year's president, is chairman of the Maine Campus poll committee. He has been acting president of the Biology Club, was recently elected president of the Liberal Club, and is a pledge of Tau Epsilon Phi, social fraternity.

Ingham was recently elected news editor of the Maine Campus, and has been in charge of Masque publicity the last two productions. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi, social fraternity.

Ruth Trickey has been secretary of the Masque for the past year. She is a member of the University Trio, Students Arts Club, and Alpha Omicron Pi, social sorority.

Students Opposed To Pump Priming

Two-thirds of the student body who took part in the recent Maine Campus poll were opposed to the so-called pump-priming process, a process which has been the subject of several debates given by members of the Debate Club in the past year.

A total of 555 votes were cast. Of these, 316 were in opposition to the above question concerning a government program of keeping money flowing. A large number of students were doubtful on this question, due perhaps to its current nature.

Voters were nearly equally divided on the chain store tax question, the 'yes' votes winning by a slight margin. In this, the final Maine Campus poll for the year, the students showed their approval of amending the neutrality act so as to discriminate against aggressors.

The results of the votes cast on the question of the continuation of the mayoralty campaign showed the student body to be of the same opinion as they were at the time of the former vote. That is, greatly in favor of it. Four hundred eighty-three were in favor of its continuance, with 60 opposed, and 12 undecided.

The tabulations concerning the Maine Campus columns have not as yet been completed.

Robert Elwell, of the class of 1942, and president of the national organization, will be present. Other officers are: Lyle D. Wiggins, class of 1942, secretary; Merrill Bull, of Washburn High School, treasurer; Vaughn Lovely, class of 1942, state reporter.

BARRELL EDITS

1100 Copies Sold; Fitzpatrick Is Business Head

The 1940 "Prism," which has a theme of informality, will be available to members of the junior class on Friday and Saturday of this week at the treasurer's office, it was announced today by Dwight Barrell, editor-in-chief. Others may receive their copies of the "Prism" at that office on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

About 1100 copies of the book, dedicated to Dean Emeritus George D. Chase, have been sold under the direction of James Fitzpatrick, business manager.

Unlike preceding years, the pages are finished in natural color rather than the glossy white. The cover, a medium blue with tall dark blue lettering into which is woven the class numeral, is also different.

The introduction to the Prism is done in various colors, including the two shades of blue, the University's colors. Pictures of campus buildings and the dedication to Dean George D. Chase are included in this section.

Individual portraits of the members of the junior class with write-ups of their activities make up the main section of the Prism. The senior class has individual pictures and write-ups, while the sophomore and freshman classes are listed in their sections.

Both student and faculty sections have many informal pictures. There are also informals of many of the activities of the University, such as Maine Day, Intramural carnival, Junior Week, and Commencement Week.

Besides the class sections there are divisions for social and honorary societies. Men's and women's athletics also make up a section. William Chandler and Gerald Schmidt are co-editors of the men's athletics, and Priscilla Bickford is women's sports editor.

The Prism staff is made up of thirty juniors. Mary F. Cooper, Elspeth Johnson, Rachel Kent, and Marion Fitzgerald are associate editors. Marcia Finks, Elizabeth Mulholland, Virginia Pease, and Elizabeth Jones are assistant editors.

Class Day, the final meeting of the seniors for the year, will be held on Friday. The pageant, given under the supervision of the All-Maine Women, will also be presented on that day.

The traditional Alumni Day, with a varied program of frolic and seriousness, will be held on Saturday, climaxed by the Alumni Banquet in Memorial Gymnasium at 6:00 o'clock where classes will sit in order of their graduation. Throughout the day, class reunions, class stunts, and the annual meeting of the Alumni Association will be held.

Baccalaureate Sunday, June 11, besides including the morning services, will also feature an informal senior-alumni sing on the Oval in the evening. The week-end will wind up on Monday with the graduation exercises in Memorial Gymnasium.

The complete program for the week-end is:

New Arts Courses

On first analysis, the new elective curricula for underclassmen in the College of Arts and Sciences seem to correct some of the deficiencies that have long existed in that college. The purpose of the revised curricula, which is self-evident, is laudable. However, we believe that the new program may be a little too ambitious in some respects.

To begin with, the numerous and varied topics to be studied in both the first and second year divisions of the social science course give rise to several questions. Will underclassmen have the background necessary for an intelligent study of these topics, most of which are dealt with in advanced economics and government courses. Do Maine secondary schools supply this background or are the students expected to take supplementary courses along with this study of the general social science questions? How thoroughly can these important subjects be handled in the limited time allotted to each? Will there be any change in the treatment of these topics when they are again brought forward in the advanced courses? These, we believe, are significant questions which should be considered in inaugurating this new program in the social sciences.

There are other criticisms we might make of the social science course. In the first place, it tries to cover too broad a field. Moreover, the subjects covered seem unrelated and isolated in several instances, giving the impression of a lack of continuity. Each topic in itself is of vital importance to society; yet, we fail to see how all the subjects can be treated adequately in a more or less limited amount of time. We predict that, because of the limited time for each topic and the fact that the majority of freshmen do not have the background in economics, history and government to get the maximum out of such a course, students will derive only a smattering of unrelated factual knowledge. We hope, however, that this prediction proves to be incorrect.

There is less criticism to make of the new courses in "Western Civilization" and in the natural sciences. The outline of the history course seems to be very complete. However, the beginning of the course, that is, the lectures on early Greece, appears to give a rather jumbled and incoherent picture of that era. Otherwise than that, it has great potentialities. The revised course in the natural sciences is a worthwhile innovation, especially for those who have no intention of majoring in this field but who do recognize the need for a greater understanding of the physical world in which we live.

After this criticism, we should have something more constructive to offer. As a junior majoring in one of the social sciences, we feel that we have some qualifications for making these recommendations. In the first place, we believe that underclassmen should not delve directly into the middle of the study of the more important social issues of the day. On the other hand, they should first receive training in basic studies such as elementary economics, American government, sociology, and American and European history. We believe that these five courses are basic for an intelligent study of the social sciences.

Alice Smith Is Elected President Of 4-H Club

Alice Smith, a sophomore, was recently elected president of the 4-H Club. She is the first girl to hold that office, in the history of the college 4-H Club. Miss Smith is past secretary of the 4-H Club, social chairman for the Wesley Foundation for the coming year, and was recently elected archery manager. She is secretary of Phi Mu social sorority.

The year's activities of the club will be ended with a picnic May 23.

Osborn Helps Prepare Co-op. Chemistry Test

Mr. Lawrence L. Osborn, instructor in chemistry, has been acting as collaborator in the preparation of the 1939 Co-operative Chemistry Test for College Students, which is being used throughout the country.

This set of examinations is prepared jointly by the Co-operative Test Service and the American Chemical Society, through the latter's division of Chemical Education.

Kents Hill swamped the freshman baseball team 13 to 4 Tuesday afternoon at Orono. The Frosh made a game of it up to the 4th inning when McNeilly was batted out of the box. Small pitched for the freshmen to the 7th and Barrows finished up.

The bright spot of the game from the Maine point of view was the fine all-round play of Nat Crowley at third. Crowley and Bowers were the only freshmen to make two hits. The Frosh made six hits altogether.

Wight pitched the whole game for Kents Hill and did a fine job. Delaney, batting third for Kents Hill, made three hits including a homer. In all, the boys from the Hill made 13 hits on the Maine hurlers.

President and Mrs. Hauck Hold Senior Reception

Among recent activities held for seniors was the annual reception at the home of President and Mrs. Arthur A. Hauck last Thursday evening.

President and Mrs. Hauck, Dean Edith G. Wilson, Dean Lamert S. Corbett, Dana Drew, and Ethelyn Parkman were in the receiving line.

The sophomores are still in there. They won the volleyball tournament. Unless the other classes get a move on, the sophs will win the coveted plaque for tennis.

State Engineers Set Research Day, May 18

The second annual Research Day, sponsored by the New England Council and the Engineering Societies of New England, will be held in Augusta on May 18.

There will be an afternoon program in the State House, featuring exhibits displayed by the various industries in the state and the educational institutions, followed by a series of talks on research by educational and industrial leaders.

The evening program will consist of a dinner at the Augusta House followed by a talk on research in the textile industries and others.

The members for next year's council include Elizabeth Kruse, president; Elizabeth Peaslee, secretary; Dorothy Upcott, treasurer; Rachel Kent, Priscilla Bickford, Barbara Ashworth, Elizabeth Mosher, Virginia Jewett, Margaret Maxwell, and Margaret Steinmetz. Dean Edith G. Wilson will again serve as faculty adviser.

Ricker is coming down Thursday to match their tennis ability against Maine ability, sharpened by competition with Houlton.

Off-campus girls are to be assessed 40¢ for the W.A.A. banquet, all others 15¢. The banquet must be signed up for and paid for by Saturday.

As the result of a protracted study of statistics, it has been determined that exactly half of the Elms girls have either contracted marriage, or contacted fraternity pins. There have been three marriages, the latest being that of Jaquie Bisson and David Vachon.

Added to their collection of frat pins is that of Jane Page, upon whom S.A.E. Frank Czar Collins has hung his pin.

Another Elms addition to hung fraternity pins is the sweetheart pin of Ed Marsh's that Betty Gammons is now wearing. Congrats!

Still another recent Elms pledge is the pin that Becky Hill wears. Is anyone surprised?

Varsity Baseballers In Finale Next Week

Kenyon Optimistic, Lacks Reserve Pitchers

With one of the toughest weeks of the season in sight, and the State Series well under way, Coach Kenyon places all his hopes on his two ace hurlers, Bud Browne and Art Chick, who will be given the opportunity to show themselves against Bates this Friday afternoon; Northeastern Univ. on Saturday, May 20; and Bowdoin at Brunswick, Tuesday, the 23rd.

The Bears, as well as the other Maine colleges, has her weakness in the late batting season. Pitching, thus far, is way ahead of the hitting. But Maine's greatest trouble is her large amount of errors. "Errors are to be expected," said Bill Kenyon, "but they all come in bunches to win the game for our opponents." This statement is evidenced by last Monday's game with New Hampshire where errors in the first inning, followed by a barrage of runs, added to Maine's defeat.

At present the Pale Blue has broken even with the Bates Bobcats, but, barring some unforeseen incident, Maine should again prove herself superior to the Lewiston miners.

Despite the Boston sports papers' build-up of Northeastern as one of the heaviest hitting teams in action, the coach believes that his boys can vindicate their previous defeat in Boston and take the Massachusetts team over after a hard fight.

The probable battle between Maine's Browne and Bowdoin's White will undoubtedly be one worth seeing.

Varsity Golf Team Wins Fourth Match

The varsity golf team placed second to Bowdoin in the State Golf Series by a victory over Bates 7½ to 1½. In the Series the Maine golfers have scored three victories and one defeat as to four out of seven victories in all their matches up to date. The tuff-diggers have defeated Colby twice by 6½ to 2½ and 8 to 1 margins. Playing for Maine were Horace Bracey, Larry Burney, Sam Tracy, Clayton Mersereau, Eddie Anderson, and Hank Piorkowski.

The golfers are now turning their attention to the Maine State Individual Intercollegiate Meet which is to be held at the Augusta Country Club May 26, 27, and 28. Harry Hood, of Bowdoin, defending champion, is favored to repeat, but the field will have able golfers, any one of whom may upset the dope.

Intramural Outdoor Soft Ball Under Way

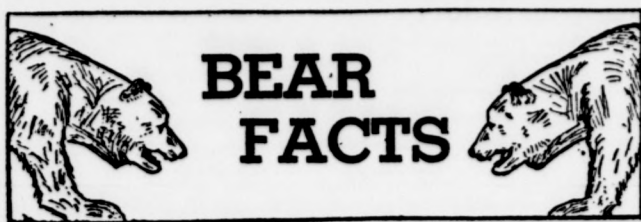

With the final play-offs coming up in a few days, the contest for the Intramural Outdoor Baseball championship is developing into a real scrap.

The results to date in the Southern League leave the Independents and Phi Gamma Delta the remaining contenders.

The outcome of the struggle will undoubtedly prove interesting, for it was Phi Gamma Delta who won the league championship last year.

In the Northern League at present there are four possibilities for winner. Kappa Sigma, Phi Eta Kappa, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Beta Theta Pi have all come through the preliminary rounds successfully. Phi Eta Kappa looks like the best bet in this league, however. The finals in the softball tournament proved that the Phi Eta Kappas are a power to be reckoned with.

As was expected, the recent State Track Meet was won by Bowdoin with Maine as runner-up. This week, however, the tables might and probably will be reversed, for in the N. E. Meet the Pale Blue, through the brilliance of their several individual stars, should outshine the conglomeration of Black and White Stars.

Of course, the power and balance of some of the out-of-state teams gives Maine no chance of winning the N. E.'s. However, the Pale Blue should figure high in the scoring. If Smith runs true to form, he should have little trouble winning the mile and half-mile. Just how fast he'll go is up to the opposition. He is capable of smashing the present record of 4:18½ in the mile and he can probably come close to the half-mile record. Smith is a great runner and the N. E.'s should definitely prove it.

Dyer, Johnson, and Bennett might all place in the weight events in the N. E.'s. Dyer and Johnson have been improving with each meet. Bennett, however, has run into a slump for some reason. Despite this, we believe that Bennett is made of real stuff, the stuff that makes winners and honest-to-goodness athletes. . . . Bet he places in the N. E.'s!

Going back to the State Meet however, it was Bowdoin, Bowdoin from start to finish. Somehow or other, their runners seemed inspired with a desire to take away Maine's supremacy in track, and for the second time in twelve years, they were successful. An example of this found Bill McCarthy the victim.

Johnny Daggett's jump of over 23 feet was more than enough to clinch first place for him, but there were only a few inches separating Dolan, of Bowdoin, and McCarthy, of Maine, second and third place men respectively. Dolan, feeling that his distance was quite secure, left the broad jump with still one more jump, in order to limber up a bit for the high jump. Bill McCarthy had one more try and in a proverbial do-or-die he bettered Dolan's mark by two inches. The latter, seeing his flight, ripped off his sweat suit and trotted up to his mark in preparation for his last try. As Dolan came galavanting down the runway with a look of determination written all over his 6 foot 3 inch frame, McCarthy turned his back—he could see it coming. Dolan leaped over 22 feet for the longest jump in his career!!

The Black Bears have the most grueling schedule of any college baseball team in the state. Reason—participation in both the Maine and N. E. Conferences. This week the Bears had a schedule of five games, and next week they have five more.

Oh say, can you see another pitcher for me, sings Coach Bill Kenyon. As if having five games a week weren't enough, Kenyon has only two dependable pitchers, Bud Browne and Art Chick, to carry the load. . . . And both of these are graduating.

According to the Portland Evening Express, Doc Gerrish is the second leading batter in the state, batting .439 up to and including Monday. Ken Clark is Maine's second leading sticker, and Whitten occupies the third position. The team on the whole is batting .198. . . . We nominate Fred Johnson as the best third base coach in the state. Fred is baseball smart, and he's a master at heckling the opposition.

Bruins Second In State Meet

Smith and Dyer Double Winners; Johnson Takes Hammer

The University of Maine track team finished second in the State Track Meet held last Saturday on Garcelon Field, Lewiston, leading Bates and Colby by a good margin and bowing to Bowdoin, the new state champions.

Two Maine men, Don Smith, in the distance events, and Hal Dyer, in the weight events, were double winners. Despite their brilliant showing Maine only scored 32½ points to Bowdoin's 66½. Bates edged out Colby for third place, 18½ to 18. This makes the 24th win of the state title by Bowdoin since 1895, while Maine has topped the events 17 times. It also marked the second loss of the title since Coach Chester Jenkins took over coaching duties.

Maine lost the meet due to an unbalanced team, and the failure of the other two Maine colleges to edge out points from Bowdoin's well-balanced aggregation. Maine, extra strong in distance runs and weights events, barely average strength in the jumps and hurdles, is woefully weak in the dashes.

Again it was Don Smith leading the mile and half mile events, tying the previous meet mark, held by Ossie Chapman, of Bates, set in 1929 with a time of 1 minute 56 seconds. Hal Dyer, rangy weight star, held back his best throw in the shot put and a good heave in the discus until this meet, resulting in a dual win in these events, his shot-put mark being just a half inch short of the previous record at 46 feet.

Johnny Daggett, of Colby, was the high scorer of the meet, scoring 11 points. During the meet, he showed great courage, finishing the century and the pole vault on a badly pulled muscle in his leg, thus handicapping him in these events, and giving Bowdoin more points.

Other double winners in the meet, beside Smith and Dyer, were Daggett, of Colby, who set a new meet record in the broad jump, leaping 23feet 2½ inches to better the record formerly held by O'Connor, of Maine, and Bob Hamblen, of Bowdoin. Donald Webster, of Bates, set the other meet record, jumping 6feet1½ inches in the high jump to beat the height of 6 feet 1¼ inches held by Guy Palmer, of Maine.

Three Weight Men Are Possible Scorers

By Warren B. Randall

Although Bowdoin more than doubled Maine's score in the State Track Meet last Saturday, nearly the opposite is expected to happen in the New England's this week-end at Durham, New Hampshire. The Pale Blue should score between sixteen and twenty-two points, most of them coming from first places. Bowdoin will be lucky if she gets more than ten points.

Don Smith, Maine's great middle distance runner, will run the mile and the half, and has a very good chance of winning them both. Stan Johnson and Bob Bennett will compete in the hammer throw, facing some of the best men in the country. Both should place, and they have an outside chance of finishing one-two. Between them, at any rate, Maine ought to get at least five points. Hal Dyer, who has been improving rapidly in the shot put, has a good chance of getting a point or two in this event, and another point in the discus throw. Smith, Johnson, and Dyer all won their events in the State Meet.

Frosh Tennis Team Meets Ricker Here on Tuesday

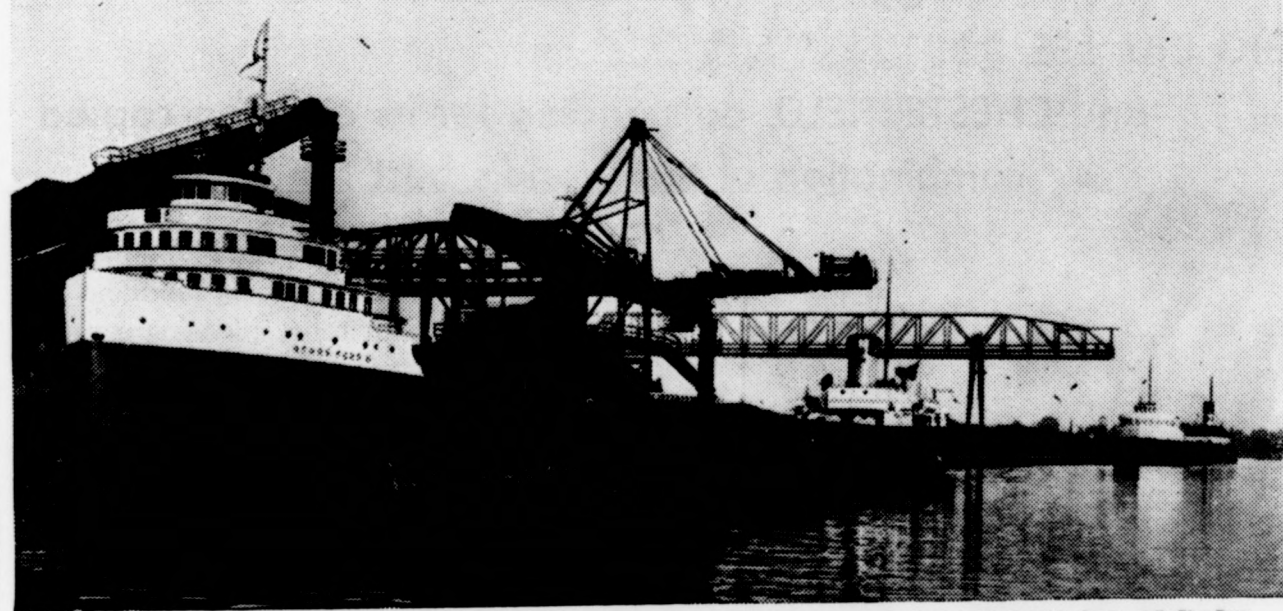

The Frosh Tennis team meets Ricker Classical Institute on the campus courts Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

The freshmen have a strong team. They opened the season by defeating Houlton 8 to 1. This was followed by a 6 to 3 defeat of Portland Junior College, and a 6 to 0 defeat of Wascokeag. The team should continue undefeated against Ricker and Caribou.

Plans are being made for the annual W.A.A. banquet to be held May 24 at Balentine. Betty Libbey is chairman of the committee with Marjorie Deering, Jane Holmes, and Betty Gammons assisting.

Room Drawings

The annual drawing for rooms in the women's dormitories for 1939-40 will be held at 15 Coburn on May 22 and 23 at 1 p.m. Present juniors and sophomores will draw on May 22 and freshmen on May 23. Juniors in Home Economics should draw for Balentine. Students who plan to room together should make up their groups in advance.

RAINBOW ON THE RIVER

THERE's a rainbow on the River Rouge by the Ford plant—oil in a thin coating, washed from metals and parts by the water used to cool or clean them.

To most folks that colorful coating spelled just oil; no more. To Ford men it spelled "waste." They dipped their fingers in it . . .

rubbed them together . . . reflected.

A few days later a strange device was installed where the stream flows through a narrow channel into the mooring slip. It was an oil skimmer.

Each month that skimmer reclaims thousands of gallons of oil. Reclaimed, it is used as fuel in the open-hearth building.

Poor Richard said straws show how the wind blows. That's how the wind blows at the Rouge. Pennies saved where pennies can be saved safely are multiplied into millions by large-scale Ford operations.

At the end of that rainbow on the waters of the Rouge, Ford owners find extra value, lower price.

Acknowledging woman's place in journalism, he emphasized personality as one of the chief assets of a girl reporter, urging all with "reportorial aspirations" to "be yourself" and not to "let the movies fool you about reporting." Women's natural curiosity, a prime requisite of a newsman, makes them good reporters, he added.

"Don't miss opportunities; the stories are always there if you just know where to look for them," he concluded. Charles Peirce, the new editor-in-chief, Peter Skoufis, the new business manager, and William Hilton, retiring business manager, also spoke.

BLAKE

mate and one of the first to arrive at the scene, spent the afternoon searching the shore for his friend's body. Shortly afterward, several other students joined him.

Although Booth was badly shaken, he was one of the first to man the bateau, brought from Old Town, which started immediately to grapple for the body. The canoe-mates had been friends both at the University and at Freyburg Academy.

The bateau was under the direction of Chief Guy Moors, of the Old Town police. Assisting him were other police, sheriff deputies, and state troopers. Monday, Howard Gottschalk, a professional diver working for the Crandall Engineering Co. of Boston, arrived but did not dive because of the swift water.

Blake was a member of Delta Tau Delta social fraternity, and was a brilliant student.

Surviving him are his father, W. D. Blake, of Brownfield, his brother, Warren, of Augusta, and his wife, the former Frances Peterson, of Portland.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Peabody Law School announces that under authority of the Maine Legislature it is now accepting students as candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Laws, which will be conferred upon the satisfactory completion of a three-year course in law at said school.

A standard law course is given on a full daytime schedule, with competent instructors, using the Harvard case method.

Admission to the school is limited to those who have completed not less than two years of college training, having one-half the credits for a bachelor's degree in a reputable four-year college. It is preferred, where possible, that the applicant for admission shall have completed his college course.

The Legal Profession in Maine looks now particularly to the colleges of our state for a regular but conservative increase in the membership of the Bar. To provide this reasonable annual increment and to utilize to the best advantage the facilities of the small law school and to provide classes of a size most suitable for the case method of instruction, we desire to register approximately fifteen students in the First Year Class this fall. It would be appropriate if the Maine colleges were uniformly represented. Our ideal would be attained with three from Bowdoin, three from Bates, three from Colby, three from the University of Maine, three from Portland Junior College.
