The University of Maine is the state's center of learning, discovery, and service to the public. As the flagship university of the University of Maine System and the state's land-grant and sea-grant institution, the University of Maine has the unique responsibility for providing high-quality undergraduate and graduate education programs, public service, and basic and applied research.

Located in Orono, within close proximity to the ocean, lakes, and mountains, the University of Maine offers an inspiring learning environment. There is plenty of open space on its 1,200 acres, where students are offered the diversity and the challenge of a large university in an invigorating atmosphere of a small college. The campus is located 10 miles north of Bangor, Maine's third largest city.

The University's undergraduate and graduate educational offerings are built upon a liberal arts and sciences foundation complemented by profession-oriented education in a wide range of disciplines, many of which are found nowhere else in the state. Because of their responsibility to teach, conduct research, and serve the public, faculty members are able to incorporate the new knowledge they uncover with classroom activities, often giving students hands-on experience in the research process.

The University offers its students, faculty, and staff, as well as the people of the community and the state, an outstanding athletic tradition. Maine's 19 Division I sports entertain more than 150 intercollegiate events on campus each year attracting 200,000 spectators.

The University of Maine was established as the Maine College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts under the provisions of the Morrill Act, approved by President Abraham Lincoln in 1862. In 1897, the original name changed to the University of Maine. The institution opened September 21, 1868 with twelve students and two faculty members.

By 1871, curricula had been organized in Agriculture, Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, and electives. From these courses of study there gradually developed the Colleges of Life Sciences and Agriculture (later to include the School of Forest Resources and the School of Human Development), Engineering and Science, and Arts and Sciences. The School of Education was established in 1930 and received college status in 1958. The School of Business Administration was formed in 1958 and was granted college status in 1965. Women have been admitted into all curricula since 1872.

The Maine Agricultural and Forest Experiment Station was founded as a division of the University in 1887. In 1912, the Maine Cooperative Extension, which offers field educational programs for both adults and youths, was initiated. The first master's degree was conferred in 1881; the first doctor's degree in 1960. Since 1923 there has been a separate graduate school. The Summer Session as a separate entity dates from 1902. A Continuing Education Division offers evening and Saturday courses from the several curricula.

In 1980, the University of Maine was given Sea Grant College status by the Federal Government under provisions of the National Sea Grant College Program Act.

THE MAINE FACTS

- Fall 2005 enrollment totaled approximately 11,400 students, nearly 2,200 of whom are graduate students. The student body includes residents of 47 states and 76 countries. Seventy-seven percent of Maine's students are full-time.

- Maine is one of just 151 institutions (4 percent) nationwide to be classified by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching as a "Doctoral Research - Extensive" university, the highest classification possible.

- More of Maine's high school valedictorians and salutatorians enroll at the University of Maine than all other Maine colleges and universities combined.
- Maine is the largest residential college community in Maine. Maine student housing is at capacity, with 3,763 students choosing to live on campus.
- The average SAT score of the 2004 entering class was 1,081, 55 points above the national average, and 75 above the state average.

DR. ROBERT KENNEDY

PRESIDENT

Robert A. Kennedy, Ph. D., became the president of the University of Maine on April 15, 2005. A plant biochemist with a long and distinguished scholarly career, Kennedy has held academic leadership positions at some of the nation's most prestigious universities. He has been at Maine since July 2000, serving first as Vice President for Academic Affairs. One year after his arrival, he was promoted to the position of Executive Vice President and Provost.

At Maine, Kennedy has played a central role in developing and executing the university's teaching, research and statewide public outreach missions. He has led the university's well-received strategic planning process, which has helped to provide direction for four years of growth and advancement in targeted critical areas.

"I am grateful for the opportunity to lead the University of Maine at this exciting time in the university's history," Kennedy says. "As all Black Bear fans know, Maine enjoys national and regional prominence in intercollegiate athletics. In competition and in the classroom, Maine student athletes have enjoyed tremendous success in the past several seasons. I look forward to the continuation of that success this year.

"With its wide-ranging mission of teaching, cutting-edge research and public engagement, the University of Maine is a true statewide resource, which will play a central role in developing and shaping the state's future."

Kennedy began his academic career on the faculty of the University of Iowa, followed by faculty appointments at Washington State University, The Ohio State University, the University of Maryland and Texas A&M University. He served as Associate Dean and Director of the Colleges of Agriculture and Life Sciences and the University of Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station for one year, before being promoted to the vice presidency for research at that university's Maryland Institute for Agriculture and Natural Resources. Immediately before coming to UMaine, Kennedy served for eight years as Vice President for Research and Associate Provost for Graduate Studies at Texas A&M.

In the late 1980s, Kennedy worked for three years in the Division of Molecular Biosciences and the Division of Cellular Biosciences at the National Science Foundation in Washington, D.C.

A Minnesota native, Kennedy earned his undergraduate degree in plant science for the University of Minnesota in 1968 and a Ph.D. in botany from the University of California, Berkeley in 1974. Kennedy and his wife, Mary, a professor of biochemistry at Maine, have four sons.

ATHLETIC ADMINISTRATION

BLAKE JAMES

INTERIM ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Blake James was named Interim Athletic Director by President Robert Kennedy and began his duties on July 23, 2005. He served the past two years at Maine as the Senior Associate Athletic Director, overseeing marketing, ticketing, retail operations, athletic development along with men's and women's track and field and cross country, men's soccer, men's basketball and baseball.

Prior to coming to Maine, he worked in athletic development at Providence College, where he established the "Friars Forever" campaign and the Friar Athletic Fund. He began his career at the University of Miami where he worked in corporate sales and athletic development with former Maine Athletic Director Patrick Nero. James also worked at the University of Nebraska.

He received a bachelors degree in marketing in 1992 from Minnesota State University – Mankato and earned a masters degree from St. Thomas University (Miami, FL) in 1994. James and his wife, Kelly, reside in Veazie with their daughter, Haley, and son, Ryan.

TERRY KIX

SENIOR WOMENS ADMINISTRATOR

Terry Kix is entering her third year as Maine's Senior Women's Administrator, overseeing several areas, including summer camps and student-athlete services.

She is also in her 15th year as head coach of the Maine field hockey team. In 2002 and 2003 she led her team to a spot in the America East Championship game, while the team reached the conference tournament each of the last four seasons. She has earned America East Coach of the Year honors three times (1995, 1997, 2002). Overall she has compiled a record of 161-102-5, including 1996 and 1994 ECAC Championships.

A 1985 graduate of the University of Connecticut with a degree in sports marketing, Kix was a celebrated athlete while playing for the Huskies. She was a member of the 1981 National Championship team, and participated in the final four each of her four seasons at UConn. She earned All-America honors during her junior and senior years.

HAROLD ALFOND SPORTS ARENA

One of the finest college hockey facilities in the country, the Harold Alfond Sports Arena has served the University community since 1977. Completed in February of that year, the building was dedicated by Mr. Alfond and officials of the University on November 18 at the Maine-Acadia hockey game. Thanks to the demand of sellout-after-sellout at the old capacity of 3,800 and a $2 million gift from Mr. Alfond, Alfond Arena underwent a significant expansion project prior to the 1991-92 season.

Mr. Alfond's generous gift represented, at the time, the largest one-time (non-posthumous) cash contribution ever received by the University of Maine.

Since 1968, Mr. Alfond has donated more than $6.5 million to the University of Maine.

The construction provided an additional 1,200 seats to each side of the Arena, to increase the capacity to over 5,200 for hockey games. In 1998, additional luxury boxes were added giving the arena its current capacity of 5,641.

Included in the Arena expansion were additional concession areas and rest rooms, locker rooms, ticket offices, souvenir stands and improved media facilities. With the expansion, Alfond Arena also became the home of the Black Bear basketball teams, which had played home games at the Bangor Auditorium from 1988-91.

In addition to being the home of the Black Bears, the building is used by youth, high school and senior hockey leagues, and for concerts and graduation ceremonies.

Alfond Arena was originally built with the generous contributions of more than 2,000 people, headed by Mr. Alfond. An addition to the south end of the Arena in 1988 houses the Black Bears' impressive locker room facility, which includes fully equipped weight and training rooms. Included in that expansion project was an attractive lounge for use by the hockey program and the university community.

In 1990, an office addition was completed, providing the coaching and administrative staffs much needed room to perform effectively. Entering the 1993-94 season, the Black Bears had played before standing-room-only crowds in 138 consecutive regular season games.

In 1995-96, Maine led Hockey East in total attendance for the fourth straight year. The Black Bears finished 10th in the nation in total attendance (104,176) and 11th in average attendance (5,483) in 2000-01. In 2003-04, Maine moved to 12th in overall attendance (104,599) and 11th in average attendance (5,505). Maine was third in Hockey East in total attendance during the last two seasons.

During 2004-05, renovations were completed during the construction of the Shawn Walsh Hockey Center that included renovated men's, women's, and visitor's locker rooms. Inside the arena, a new Hockey Hall of Fame, Bear Necessities and concessions areas were added to improve the fan experience at Alfond Arena.

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

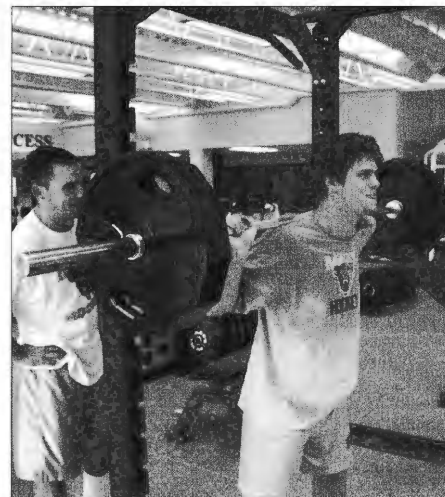

The Maine strength and conditioning program is a sophisticated blend of science, technology, nutrition, and one-on-one attention to each athlete. Maine ice hockey players make a year-round commitment to physically preparing to play their sport at the highest level.

That physical preparation addresses numerous components that are critical to athletic success, including strength, speed, power, agility, flexibility, metabolic conditioning, and motivation. The Maine strength and conditioning staff tailors a strength and conditioning program that matches the student-athlete's individual needs with the sport-specific physical demands.

Maine hockey players will train this season in a new facility in the Shawn Walsh Hockey Center. The 2,000 square foot weightroom contains four multi-purpose power racks, four benches, custom-made dumbbells ranging from five to 100 pounds, four Olympic platforms with weights and bars, along with several selectorized machines. For cardiovascular work, six stationary bikes are provided, along with a stairmaster. A Woodway Force treadmill is also available, which provides a challenging workout with resistance. The area also includes room for a slideboard and plyometric training.

Maine hockey players can also use the Intercollegiate Athletic Strength Center, located in the Memorial Gymnasium. The physical elements of the Strength Center reflect the strength training and conditioning philosophy. The 1,600-square foot facility contains more than 8,000 pounds of weight, four multi-purpose power racks, four bench press stations, dumbbells ranging from five to 130 pounds, and numerous selectorized machines. A fully equipped plyometric training area is located just off the Strength Center.

In addition, the Latti Fitness Center is also used by the Black Bears. The 5,000-square foot facility, located in Memorial Gym next to Wallace Pool, was first dedicated on October 6, 1989, and has recently been completely renovated. A total of 28 state-of-the-art cardiovascular machines and numerous selectorized machines are available to supplement the conditioning and rehabilitation of Maine student-athletes.

SPORTS MEDICINE

College athletics places extreme physical demands on the players. To meet this reality, Maine has a highly respected sports medicine staff to help its student-athletes with any health related situation.

The Maine sports medicine team includes six full-time and one graduate assistant certified athletic trainers, a team physician, an orthopaedic physicians, a wide variety of medical specialists and student athletic trainers. The Maine team physician, Dr. Craig W. Curtis, holds a doctor's clinics on campus four days per week, and the orthopaedic physician holds clinic once per week. In addition, a physical therapist is in the athletic training room three days per week, and a team podiatrist visits bi-monthly. Other specialists on the Maine athletic health care team include an optometrist, a chiropractor and a dentist.

The staff is headquartered in the Mike Kessock Sports Medicine Center, located in the Memorial Gymnasium, and houses some of the newest technology in the field of sports medicine. This facility, located inside Memorial Gym, serves all injury prevention, treatment and rehabilitation needs of the student-athlete.

The Cutler Student Health Center, located adjacent to Memorial Gym, also serves as an on-campus resource capable of handling x-rays and laboratory work for student-athletes.

Maine hockey players will be treated this season in facilities located in the Shawn Walsh Hockey Center. The sports medicine facility is divided into two areas – a hydro room and a therapy room. The focal point of the hydro room is a Hydroworx 500 series therapy pool. The pool includes jets that provide a current for resistance training along with an underwater treadmill. Also included in the hydro room are two whirlpool tubs. The therapy room includes three treatment tables, two taping stations, and standard therapeutic modalities.

Prevention of injury is a primary focus of the athletic training staff. Black Bear ice hockey players are screened for conditions which could predispose them to injury and placed on programs to prevent these injuries.

If an injury does occur, the athlete is placed on a daily injury treatment and rehabilitation program designed to return the athlete to the ice as quickly and safely as possible. Certified athletic trainers utilize the latest in treatment and rehabilitation techniques to aggressively return the athlete to competition. All Black Bear ice hockey players are supervised by a member of the sports medicine staff from the first day of rehabilitation until total recovery has occurred.

TIM WHITEHEAD

HEAD COACH • FIFTH SEASON
HAMILTON COLLEGE '85, MAINE '92

Head Coach Tim Whitehead enters his fifth season at the helm of the University of Maine men's ice hockey program. With Whitehead behind the bench, the Black Bears have continued the success that has defined the program for nearly two decades.

In his first four seasons as head coach, the Black Bears have advanced to the NCAA Tournament all four seasons, reached the NCAA National Championship game twice and won the Hockey East Tournament Championship. Over the four-year period, Maine has a 103-42-22 record. In nine seasons as a head coach, Whitehead has a career record of 179-137-33.

Despite a slow start to the 2004-05 season, Maine went unbeaten in eight straight games in January. Key wins down the stretch of the season gave the Black Bears home ice in the Hockey East playoffs for the sixth straight season. Maine defeated UMass-Lowell in two games to advance to the Hockey East semifinals, where the Black Bears were defeated in double overtime by Boston College.

Maine advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the fifteenth time in school history. The Black Bears were up for the task of playing Minnesota on their home ice, as Jimmy Howard had 37 saves in the 1-0 overtime loss. Off the ice, the Black Bears were also successful as ten student-athletes were named to the Hockey East All-Academic team, the most in school history.

The 2003-04 season began with the Black Bears knocking off two-time defending National Champion Minnesota in the first game of the season and captured the Maverick Stampede Tournament title. After winning the first seven games of the season, the Black Bears were ranked first in the nation.

A loss at UMass-Lowell on February 27 set the stage for Maine's amazing run in the postseason. Beginning with a 4-3 overtime win in the season finale against Boston College, the Black Bears won eight straight one-goal games. The winning streak included a three-overtime thriller against Massachusetts in the Hockey East Championship, won by the Black Bears 2-1. Maine also pulled together for a 5-4 win over Harvard in the first round of the NCAA's, overcoming a three-goal deficit by scoring four goals in the third period. After an overtime win over Wisconsin, Maine faced Hockey East rival Boston College in the Frozen Four and came away with a 2-1 win. The season ended with a 1-0 loss to Denver in the National Championship game. The team led the NCAA in winning percentage and team defense on the season.

With the team's 33-8-3 record also came numerous individual honors, with Jimmy Howard, Todd Jackson, Prestin Ryan and Colin Shields all earning second-team All-America honors, the most in a single season for Maine since the 1993 season. Howard was named Hockey East Tournament MVP, and Howard, Ryan, Shields and Jackson earned All-Hockey East honors. Michel Léveillé was named conference Rookie of the Year, Howard was conference Goalie of the Year, Jackson was named Best Defensive Forward and Ryan was named Best Defensive Defense-man. Whitehead was named a finalist for the Spencer Penrose Trophy.

In addition to success on the ice, the Black Bears excelled during the 2003-04 season in the classroom. Maine led Hockey East with seven student-athletes named to the All-Academic Team. Goalie Frank Doyle was named the Top Scholar-Athlete in the conference with a 3.86 grade point average.

Doyle and Todd Jackson both earned CoSIDA Academic All-District honors, with Doyle also earning CoSIDA All-America honors. Doyle was also named the 2004 "M" Club Dean Smith Award recipient.

In the 2002-03 season, the Black Bears started fast, compiling a 15-1-2 record before the New Year and was ranked first in either the USA Today/American Hockey Magazine or U.S. College Hockey Online Poll for seven weeks. On the season, Maine posted a mark of 24-10-5.

Whitehead led Maine to the Black Bear Classic and Everblades College Hockey Classic Championships. Maine finished the regular season in third place in the Hockey East standings, just two points out of first place. The Black Bears earned their fifth-straight NCAA Tournament berth where they lost to Michigan in the West Regional in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Honors for the team included Hockey East Rookie of the Year Jimmy Howard, and Hockey East first team members Martin Kariya and Francis Nault, while Lucas Lawson was named to the second team. Cliff Loya was named the Hockey East/Old Time Hockey Best Defensive Defenseman Award along with earning the New England Hockey Writers Association Outstanding Defenseman Award.

Whitehead's student-athletes had success in the classroom as well. Five student-athletes were named to the Hockey East All-Academic Team, while Kariya and Doyle received 2003 Verizon University Division Academic All-District I At-Large First Team honors. Kariya was named to the National Verizon Academic All-America Men's At-Large Division First Team and won his second-straight "M" Club Dean Smith Award as top scholar-athlete at Maine.

Whitehead returned to Maine for the 2001-02 season to serve as an assistant coach under head coach Shawn Walsh. When Walsh passed away on September 24, 2001, Whitehead was named interim coach. Following the season, Whitehead was introduced as the third head coach in Maine history on April 8, 2002.

In his first year with the Black Bears, Whitehead led the team to a record of 26-11-7, and finished as the NCAA finalists. The Black Bears finished tied for second in the Hockey East regular season, second in the Hockey East Tournament and fell just short in the NCAA Championship game. In the process, Whitehead coached two Hockey East first team members in Mike Morrison and Peter Metcalf and two All-Americans in Metcalf and Niko Dimitrakos.

Whitehead recorded his 100th career victory against Harvard on March 23, 2002 in the NCAA East Regional in Worcester, Mass., with a 4-3 overtime victory. Whitehead, who won the American Hockey Coaches Association (AHCA) Spencer Penrose Award as the National Coach of the Year in 2002, finished as the runner-up for Hockey East Coach of the Year. Previously, Whitehead was honored as a finalist for the award in 1997 and 2001.

Whitehead came to Maine after serving as head coach of UMass-Lowell for five seasons where he compiled a record of 76-93-11, including a 19-16-3 record in 2000-01 in which the River Hawks advanced to the semifinals of the Hockey East Tournament with a win over New Hampshire. Prior to running the UMass-Lowell program, Whitehead spent five years as an assistant with the River Hawks under former Maine assistant Bruce Crowder.

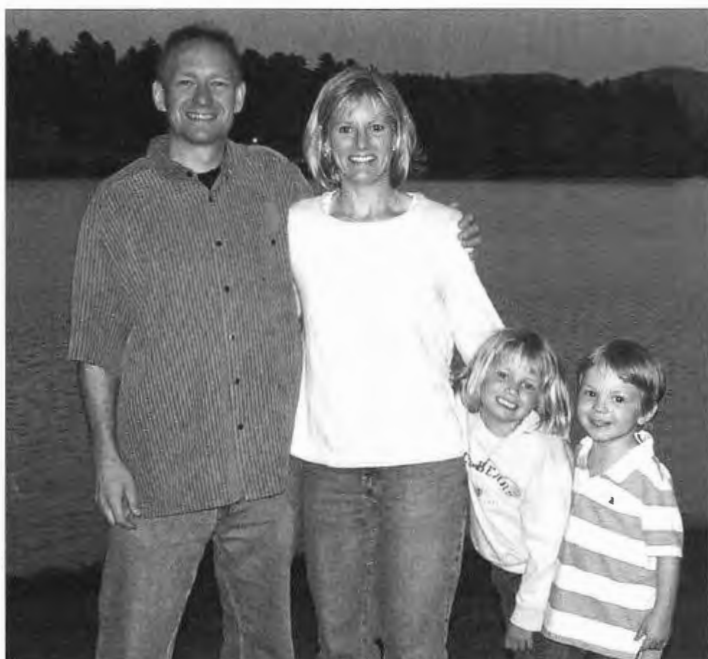

Previously Whitehead served as an assistant at Maine in 1990-91 with Shawn Walsh. That team made it to the Hockey East Championship game and advanced to the semifinals of the NCAA Tournament. Maine finished the season with an impressive 32-9-2 mark; only four Black Bear hockey teams have won more games in a season.

Before coming to Maine, Whitehead spent two seasons as an assistant coach at Middlebury College, and played two seasons of professional hockey in Europe prior to that.

Whitehead graduated from Hamilton College in 1985 with a bachelor's degree in government, and earned his master's degree in education from the University of Maine in 1991.

Whitehead and his wife Dena, are the parents of two children, a daughter, Natalie, 6, and a son, Zachary, 4.

GRANT STANDBROOK

ASSISTANT COACH • 18TH SEASON

MINNESOTA-DULUTH '61

Grant Standbrook begins his 18th season at Maine as assistant coach and the primary recruiter. Since coming to Maine in 1988, Standbrook has coordinated recruiting of classes which have consistently ranked among the best in the nation.

Those recruiting classes at Maine have formed the foundation for the program that has won five Hockey East Tournament Championships, advanced to nine Frozen Fours and won two NCAA Championships. Overall, Standbrook has been on coaching staffs that have won five NCAA Championships and been in the title game three other occasions.

In recognition for his career work as an assistant coach, he was the recipient of the 2005 Terry Flanigan Award, presented by the American Hockey Coaches Association.

At Maine, he has coached 31 All-Americans, including David Cullen, Steve Kariya, Paul Kariya, Scott Pellerin, Jim Montgomery, Garth Snow and Mike Dunham. Eight of his players at Maine have been U.S. Olympians, two have been Canadian Olympians.

Before joining the Black Bear staff, Standbrook was an assistant coach at Wisconsin where he played an integral role in the Badgers winning three national championships during his 12-year tenure at that school. Together with head coach Bob Johnson, Standbrook built a college hockey dynasty, winning national titles in 1977, 1981 and 1983 in addition to reaching the NCAA Championship game on two other occasions.

While at Wisconsin, he recruited and coached several All-Americans, Olympians and future NHL players, including Chris Chelios and Mike Richter.

A noted coach of goaltenders, Standbrook recruited and guided current NHL players Dunham and Snow while at Maine.

From 1970-75, Standbrook was the head coach at Dartmouth College where he inherited a program with just 29 wins in the previous 10 years, and led the team to the Ivy League Championship game in his third season. He also coached soccer and lacrosse for the Big Green.

In 1987-88, he was the head coach of Varese-Kronenberg of the Italian league where he led the team to a second place finish.

He was an assistant coach of the 1976 U.S. Olympic hockey team, and the U.S. National teams in 1974 and 1975 and has coached several teams for USA Hockey.

Always an innovator in training methods and techniques, Standbrook initiated weight training and off-ice variations of resistance training with his teams in the 1960s, well before such training methods were accepted by most in coaching circles.

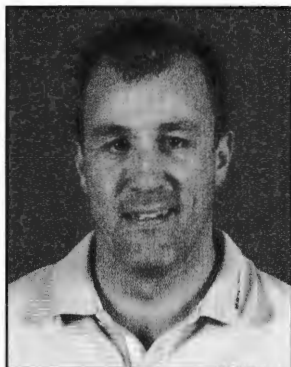

A native of Winnipeg, Manitoba, he is a 1961 graduate of the University of Minnesota-Duluth. Standbrook was a two-year letterwinner for the Bulldogs, scoring 22 goals and adding 24 assists in 31 career games as a center on the hockey team. The team lost only eight games during his junior and senior seasons. He also was a member of Minnesota-Duluth's track and field team. A versatile athlete, Standbrook finished second in the Manitoba Judo Championships in 1954. He also played on a Canadian national championship soccer team in 1962 and was a prolific scorer in lacrosse.

Standbrook and his wife, Joy, reside in Bangor and have three children, Todd, Jill and John. They have six grandchildren – Rose, Emily, Gracie, Peter, Grant and Luke.

He works extensively with the Black Bear defense, which has become a hallmark of the program. In 2003-04, the team allowed an NCAA-low 1.56 goals per game, which established a new Maine record. The previous record was set in the 2002-03 season, in which the team allowed just 2.33 goals per game. In 2004-05, Maine allowed 1.98 goals per game, which was third in the nation, and the penalty kill unit was second in the country.

Naval ROTC, The Best Choice You Will Ever Make

The Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps (NROTC) program is designed to provide college students with a Navy training experience that will complement their education as well as provide them with an opportunity for a commission in the Navy or Marine Corps upon graduation.

The Naval ROTC program is available to graduating high school seniors and current undergraduate students. High school seniors are eligible to apply for a four-year scholarship; applications are due during their senior year. Three-year and two-year scholarships are available to current undergraduate students and are awarded based on grade point average, naval aptitude, and physical readiness. Academic performance in math and science courses is considered as well. The Navy currently supports Naval ROTC Units at two institutions in Maine: Maine Maritime Academy and the University of Maine at Orono. Additionally, nursing students enrolled at both the University of Maine and Husson College are eligible to enroll in Naval ROTC, and may apply for nurse option scholarships.

The Navy ROTC is designed to provide students with the leadership and management skills necessary for success in the naval service. The program focuses on academics, physical fitness, and leadership development. The program offers courses in the following areas: Introduction to Naval Science, Navigation, Naval Weapons Systems, Engineering, Seapower, Leadership and Management, Ethical Decision Making, Amphibious Warfare, and Evolution of Warfare. The Department of Naval Science offers a minor in Naval Science. The minor requires the completion of 23 credit hours in Naval Science courses.

The Program provides students with a challenging, but tremendously rewarding college experience. Scholarship benefits include full college tuition and fees, $250.00 a semester for books, and stipend of $250.00 per month. Additional activities include summer training cruises, formal military functions, Color Guard, field trips, and drill competitions.

Upon graduation, Naval ROTC students are awarded a commission as an officer in the Navy or Marine Corps, and can choose one of the following challenging career paths: Naval Aviation, Submarine Warfare (Nuclear), Surface Warfare (Conventional or Nuclear), Navy SEAL, Navy Nurse Corps, or the United States Marine Corps.

To enter the Naval ROTC Program, a student must be a United States citizen, at least 17 years old at time of enrollment, physically qualified, and of sound character. For two or three-year scholarships, students may apply for enrollment during their first or second year of a four-year degree program. Four-year scholarship applicants must apply during their senior year of high school. Students may gain more information about the Naval ROTC Program by contacting:

THIS IS HOCKEY EAST

Consistently labelled the strongest conference from top to bottom, the Hockey East Association, encompassing 10 established Division-I hockey programs, celebrates its 22nd season in 2005-06. Hockey East has continued a steady rise to prominence since its founding charter on July 11, 1983, when the possibility of an apparent Ivy League break-off threatened the existence of the ECAC. In response, the Athletics Directors from Boston College, Boston University, New Hampshire, North-eastern and Providence announced the formation of a new Division I men's ice hockey conference. Together, William Flynn of Boston College, John Simpson of Boston University, Andy Mooradian of New Hampshire, Joe Zabilski of Northeastern, and Lou Lamoriello of Providence launched Hockey East. Lamoriello assumed the role of the league's first-ever commissioner.

Later that same summer, the Board of Directors added the University of Maine and the University of Lowell (now UMass Lowell). Official conference competition of the seven-team league began with the 1984-85 season, and expansion broadened the league to nine teams with the additions of Merrimack College (1989) and the University of Massachusetts (1993). The entry of the University of Vermont this season lifts the conference membership to 10 teams.

Since its inception, Hockey East has set new competitive standards for college hockey success, compiling an impressive .654 collective winning percentage against non-conference opponents in the last 15 seasons of play, including a record .705 during the 2002-03 frame. Over the last 13 seasons, Hockey East has cemented itself as the nation's most elite league, having earned 20 of the 52 of the berths in the NCAA Frozen Four championship tournament and boasting four NCAA title winners: the University of Maine in 1993 and 1999, Boston University in 1995 and Boston College in 2001. Three of the four Frozen Four participants in 1999 came from the Hockey East ranks.

However, it is the quality of its individual players as leading athletes that most sets Hockey East apart from the rest. A total of 61 Hockey East alums played in the NHL in 2003-04, including elite talents Tony Amonte, Bill Guerin, Brian Leetch and Keith Tkachuk, all members of the 2002 silver-medal U.S. Olympic team. Paul Kariya, who gave Hockey East its first NCAA championship when he steered Maine's offense as a freshman in 1993, captained Anaheim to a run all the way to Game 7 of the Stanley Cup finals in 2003.

Hockey East has proven to be an equally strong presence off the ice. Both in the classroom and in the community, Hockey East athletes continue to demonstrate their commitment to overall excellence. The Hockey East All-Academic Team honored a record 61 student-athletes for outstanding academic achievement during the 2004-05 campaign. Hockey East athletes also make a tremendous impact on many community service programs across the region, volunteering with numerous youth hockey associations and community service organizations. Four Hockey East athletes have received the prestigious Hockey Humanitarian Award, two each from the men's and women's leagues.

The reach of Hockey East continues to grow as member institutions construct new state-of-the-art facilities, increasing capacities and amenities for the growing body of college hockey fans in New England. And the fans have responded — nearly a million spectators came out to watch Hockey East teams during the 2004-05 season, including the first-ever two-day sellout crowd of 35,130 for the Hockey East championship at Boston's TD BankNorth Garden.

CHAMPIONSHIPS – THE MAINE WAY

The decade of the 90's witnessed the historic rise of Maine Hockey under the guidance of Shawn Walsh to national prominence. National championships in 1993 and 1999 further cemented the 90's as the 'Decade of the Black Bear.'

The 1992–93 University of Maine hockey team stands as one of college hockey's legendary teams. The Black Bears 42-1-2 record has never been threatened in the modern era of college hockey. Only Cornell University's 27-0 record in 1970, the only NCAA Division I team to go undefeated, even approaches the mark set by Maine's first national championship team.

The Black Bears blazed through the regular season, suffering only one loss, a 7-6 overtime loss to Boston University (2/19), and two ties, a 3-3 tie with Providence College (10/24) and a 4-4 tie to Clarkson University (1/15). While freshman sensation Paul Kariya tallied a 100-point season (25-75-100) and won the 1993 Hobey Baker Award, linemates Jim Montgomery (32-63-95) and Cal Ingraham (46-39-85) chipped in on college hockey's most prolific scoring line. Montgomery would also be a Hobey Baker Award finalist.

Not to be outshone by the offensive display, future NHL standout goaltenders Garth Snow (21-0-1) and Mike Dunham (21-1-1) formed the nation's top goaltending tandem.

The national championship wouldn't come easy however, as Maine had to claw back from behind to defeat Michigan 4-3 to advance to the championship game. In the championship game, three Lake Superior State goals in the second period staked the Lakers to a 4-2 lead entering the third period. But, Montgomery and Kariya would answer, forever etching their mark in championship history. Montgomery scored three goals in a span of 4:35, all three goals set up by Kariya, to give Maine its first national title and a come-from-behind 5-4 victory.

The 1998–99 University of Maine hockey team traveled a much less direct route to its title. Unlike the '93 team, there would be no Hockey East title, regular season (finished second to New Hampshire) or tournament (Boston College would defeat Maine 3-2 in a semifinal game).

Regular season setbacks didn't deter this gritty Black Bear team however, as Maine got even with both Boston College and New Hampshire when it meant the most, in the Frozen Four.

This team would also be led by a Kariya, Paul's younger brother Steve. All-Americans Kariya and defenseman David Cullen would provide the leadership for a tenacious team that just never quit. The Black Bears clawed their way to a 31-6-4 record and a second national championship.

As with the '93 title, nothing came easy in the Frozen Four. After defeating Ohio State 4-2 and blitzing Clarkson University 7-2, the Black Bears would have to face Boston College in their semifinal game. Goaltender Alfie Michaud matched Eagles' goaltender Scott Clemmensen save for save, each stopped 35 shots, but shot number 37 by Bobby Stewart gave UMaine a 2-1 overtime win.

New Hampshire, led by Hobey Baker Award winner Jason Krog, awaited Maine in the championship game. The Black Bears couldn't protect a one-goal lead in the third period, and Maine found itself in overtime once again. In the end, Michaud simply would not let his team lose, making 46 saves to earn tournament MVP honors. Marcus Gustafsson's goal broke the deadlock 10:50 into overtime, giving the Black Bears their second national title.

Believe In Tomorrow™
National Children's Foundation

92% reaches the kids. 100% reaches your heart.

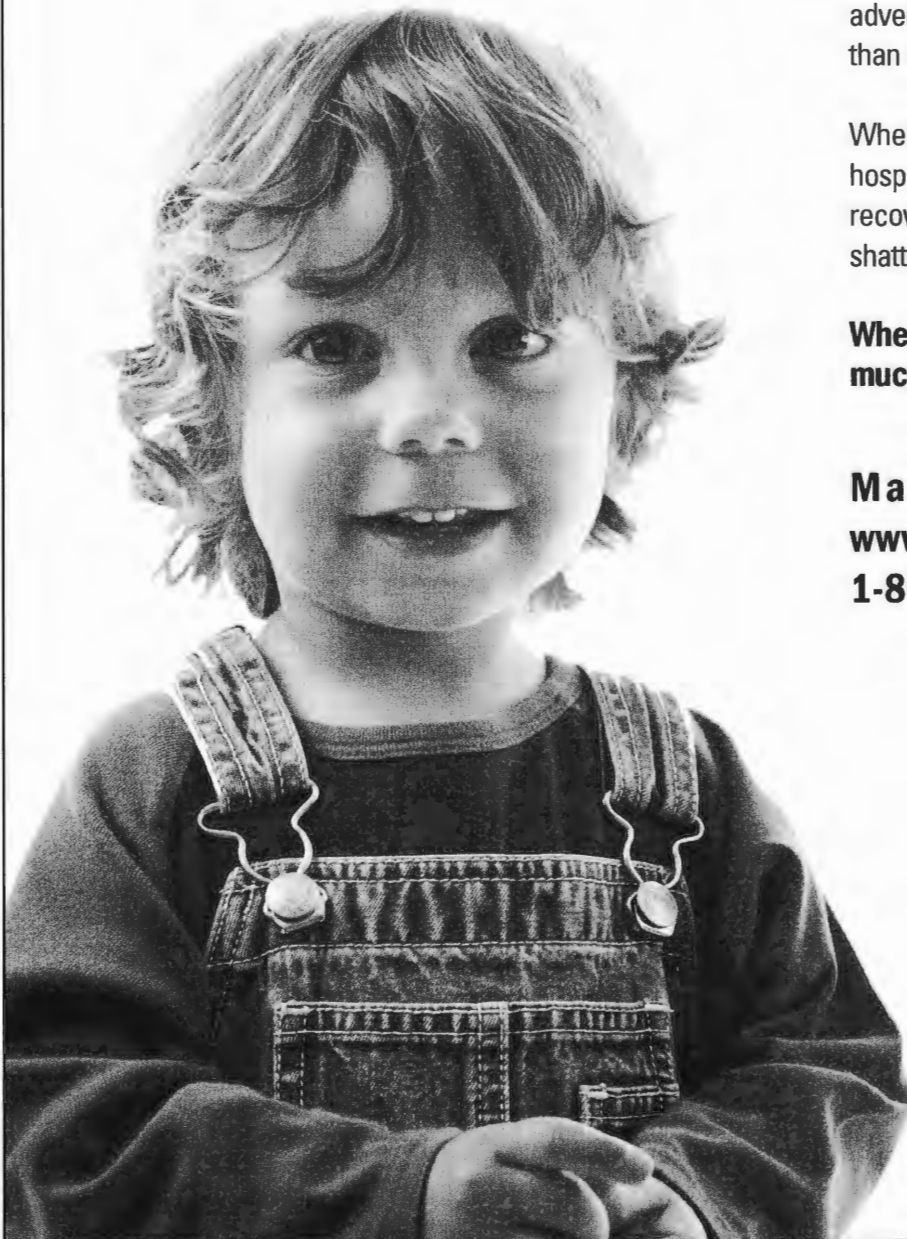

When 92% of each dollar goes directly to programs, you are making some child's life more bearable.

When you take their minds off pain and refocus it on adventure, they suddenly realize there's more to life than illness.

When you help build, donate or equip retreat and hospital housing for these children, you speed their recovery and restore some sense of normalcy to shattered families.

When kids believe in tomorrow they are that much closer to having one.

Make believing possible.

"innovative curriculum, international focus"

Experiential learning:

The undergraduate and MBA programs emphasize hands-on problem solving for Maine businesses and international consulting for firms like Hewlett-Packard Europe, Thyssen Lift Services in Poland, and Bosch of Germany.

Diverse student perspectives:

A diverse student body comprised of a higher percentage of international students than the University as a whole, representing dozens of countries.

Providing Careers in Maine:

Over 70% of our students from Maine begin their careers in Maine and almost 50% of out-of-state or international students choose Maine for their first job.

Research for a global economy:

The Maine Business School is the home of the William S. Cohen Center for International Policy and Commerce, whose mission is to enhance competitiveness for U.S. businesses, foster discussions of international policy issues, and accelerate global economic development in Maine and the nation.

Service that meets the needs of Maine and its businesses:

Through UMaine Corporate Affiliates, the Maine Business School is working to link up businesses, especially those located in Maine, with the resources of The University of Maine including research and development, workforce development through a variety of continuing education opportunities, and human resources through internships and full-time placement.

UMaine Corporate Affiliates

"Shaping the future of Maine business"

An Overview of Expanding Business Outreach at Maine's Flagship University

Research & Development:

UMaine's research and development units are renowned nationally and internationally; from the newly dedicated Advanced Manufacturing Center and Advanced Engineered Wood Composites Center to the new Center for Tourism Research and Outreach and Margaret Chase Smith Center for Public Policy. Details regarding opportunities for applied research from the business community of Maine will soon be accessible from our website.

Workforce Development:

Workplace Learning, a unit of the Division of Lifelong Learning, offers courses in supervision, leadership and management among others and customizes these programs for delivery at the workplace. Professional degrees in Business and Public Administration are offered at the Orono campus as well as at outreach centers in Belfast and Augusta.

Human Resources:

The Career Center at UMaine offers a full-service recruiting suite on campus in addition to on-line resume reviews and interview scheduling. An extensive range of programs makes internships possible for businesses in any field. On-line internships assistance and posting of opportunities make access to students possible regardless of location.

Corporate Citizenship:

Executive-in-Residence programs, the Maine Mentor Program, workplace tours and a variety of Advisory Boards present opportunities for business and community leaders to be engaged with young people in Maine and to encourage them to think of Maine as they start their careers.
