We're pleased to announce a new resource for UMaine employees. Your campus Confidential Resource Advisor (CRA) provides emergency and ongoing support to faculty and staff members impacted by sexual violence, relationship violence, and stalking. These are some of the ways your CRA can assist you:

- Helping you process your experience and think through next steps
- Connecting you with on- and off-campus resources for health, safety, and support
- Arranging employment accommodations and other supportive measures
- Creating safety plans
- Explaining reporting options to Title IX and/or local law enforcement
- Explaining university investigative and (non)disciplinary processes and/or law enforcement legal processes
- Providing prevention education and outreach through workshops, trainings, and consultations

These services are free and confidential to all UMaine employees and students. To learn more about the services your CRA provides, visit maine.edu/confidential-resource-advisor.

If you or someone you know has experienced sexual violence, relationship violence, or stalking, your CRA is available to help in person and on Zoom:
