REPORT OF SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT.

---

Although the schools were necessarily shortened, such was the efficiency of an excellent corps of teachers and such was the diligence of the pupils that the loss was less noticeable than might have been expected.

We were able to retain several of the teachers for the school year and the pupils showed unflagging energy, attending school in spite of illness and other difficulties.

The town shows great generosity in voting money for school supplies, but we are not able to keep on hand a constant supply of good books. Pupils who are careful of their books must often be supplied with battered, soiled books, they wear out so quickly and that in spite of frequent warnings and admonitions.

Perhaps if the parents would add their warnings the books would last longer. There is no evidence of malicious mischief but of extreme carelessness in many cases.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL.

Miss J. Grace Nickerson, teacher—a pupil of our schools and a graduate of Hallowell High School—a young lady who is anxious to fit herself for the best work. She showed much energy in the school room.

McKINLEY SCHOOL.

This was the newly established school. Miss Alice Libby taught for the year. She instituted a very successful League in which parents and children showed much interest. As a result they did much to make the school room attractive.

Miss Libby met all difficulties in a very calm and dignified manner and won the respect of all. The young pupils in particular made great strides in reading, writing and number work.

LONGFELLOW SCHOOL.

We were unfortunate in being obliged to change teachers so frequently but there are many faithful workers in this school who adapt themselves cheerfully to the changing conditions.

We were so fortunate as to secure Mr. A. G. Wright for the spring term. He was full of interest in his work and his aim was to interest his pupils, introducing many devices and facts from outside the text books and school room.

The fall term was under instruction of Miss Edna Lovejoy, a graduate of Farmington Normal School.

The winter term was taught by Miss A. Louise Barker, a Bates student, a brilliant young lady and a faithful teacher with most excellent methods. Everything moved along pleasantly and from the first a spirit of politeness, interest and devotion to work was apparent.

LINCOLN SCHOOL.

It is sufficient to say that Miss Izetta Royal had the charge of the school again for the entire year. Every detail of the work has been taken up most carefully since she has been in the school. Each pupil from the youngest to the oldest shows the thorough work done.

FRANKLIN SCHOOL.

Miss Ria Gordon, a teacher of long experience taught this school for the entire year. The pupils in this school are always eager and studious, and the work went on carefully and systematically.

MARY F. COLLINS, Superintendent.

February 18, 1903.
