M Club to Stage Big Vaudeville Show

Elaborate Plans Made for February 23

Fellows, you want to get busy immediately and make a date with that pretty young lady, for the "M" Club benefit show to be held Monday evening, February 23.

The "M" Club is one organization on the campus which should have the utmost support of 100% of the student body. Every real student probably enjoys nothing more than the contests between the U. of M. men and the men from the other Maine colleges on the gridiron and the diamond out there in Alumni Field.

Have you ever stopped to consider the calibre of the men of which the "M" Club is composed? They are men who exert themselves to their utmost every year to bring honor to our university in football, baseball, cross country and track. They are the men that you saw last fall win the football championship from Bowdoin with a score of 18-0. What happened down to Waterville last fall? Why several men now belonging to the "M" Club went down there and cleaned up Colby, Bates and Bowdoin in Cross Country and won for us another state championship. What is going to happen between now and June 1? Men belonging to the "M" Club are going forth and win championships in relay, track and baseball for the University of Maine.

If you don't attend another social function this year attend this show for the benefit of the "M" Club.

The "M" Club will present one of the biggest social functions of the year in Assembly Hall, Monday evening, February 23. The program will consist of movies of the headline type and several high class vaudeville acts.

It is stated by good authority that during the whole evening there will be no dull moments but that the entire performance will cause one continuous series of hearty laughter.

Judging by all indications at present, this benefit show promises to draw a larger audience than any function held this year. The committee composed of "Squirt" Lingley, "Dean" Wood and Burleigh Waterman promises a big surprise, so don't forget the date and come if possible. Admission will be $1.50. Further information will be published in the Campus and watch the bulletin board for important notices.

Blue Book Will Be Revived Immediately

Sigma Delta Chi to assist the Sophomore Owls

In 1916 the Blue Book was revived by the Sophomore Owls. It was published in 1916 and 1917 being discontinued once more the latter part of 1917.

At a recent meeting it has been decided that the Blue Book would be revived immediately. The editorial department has been taken over by the Sigma Delta Chi, the honorary journalistic fraternity and the business department by the Sophomore Owls. The editors are H. C. Crandall, editor-in-

In line with the coming Blanket Tax campaign the student body will no doubt find the treasurer of the Athletic Association's report an interesting bit of reading. It shows the high cost of collegiate athletics and the vital necessity of student support for these athletics financially. At Maine, this is done thru the Blanket Tax.

The report is as follows:

Maine Law Club Met Thursday Jan. 22

Hon. W. H. Looney of Portland was Speaker of Evening

The January meeting of the University of Maine Law Club met at the Phi Eta Kappa Chapter House on Thursday evening, Jan. 22d. Mr.
Preti, Mr. Sweatt, and Mr. Webb entertained. The speaker of the evening was Hon. William H. Looney of Portland, one of the Trustees of the University. Mr. Looney read a scholarly paper on Professional Ethics in which he discussed in a helpful way the duties of the attorney to his client and particularly the duty of maintaining the honor of the profession. He spoke also of the need of a thorough training in the best models

Inter-Mural Track Meet Planned For February

Keen Competition Expected. Relay Race will Furnish Big Feature

The great interest displayed by the students in the recent basketball games and in the coming boxing tournament has encouraged further enterprise in the field of inter-mural athletics on the part of the I. M. A. A. About the latter part of February, inter-mural track meets will be held, in which each house will be expected to enter several contestants. The meets will be composed of relay races and many field events. Team prizes will be awarded to the relay teams finishing first and second, while the participants in the field events will be presented with cups for first, second, and third places.

The field events of the meet will be as follows: 50 yard dash; 300 yard run; 600 yard run; 1000 yard run; 45 yard low hurdles; high jump; pole vault; shot put. But two men from each house may be represented in the dashes while any number may compete in the field events.

The relay races will be the crowning features of the meets. It is urged that each house be represented in these races as well as in the various field events. Other races that will excite a great deal of interest are the snow shoe race, the rack race, the fat man's race, and the three legged race.

In addition to the above events there will be two races in which only those who are invited to run can partake.
The most important of these is the invitation race for "M" men, exclusively. The other will be for freshmen only and will aid a great deal in discovering dormant material.

The house whose representatives score the greatest number of points in the entire meet will receive one point on the inter-mural cup. Thus far, the Theta Chi, Sigma Nu, and Delta Tau Delta have been the winners and contenders for the cup. This year promises to bring forth more competition for inter-mural honors than ever before.

In addition to arousing interest in track, the prime objects of the meet is to strengthen the material on hand and to discover new material in preparation for the state meet which will take place next spring. The three best men in each event will probably be considered as having the best chance of representing Maine at the State Meet. It is expected that Bowdoin will enter some very good men on that occasion and the cooperation of every man who possesses track ability is needed to enable Maine to defeat them.

Y. W. C. A. Play and Dance Great Success

The entertainment given by the Y.
W. C. A. Saturday evening, Jan. 24, under the direction of Professor Harriman was considered a great success by all those who attended it. The student body, faculty and friends of the college gave the girls their hearty support and attended the affair in such large numbers that the assembly hall was nearly full.

The numbers on the program were announced by Rena Campbell, the manager of the entertainment who was dressed in a comical clown suit. Turgeon's orchestra furnished music for the plays and dance. One of the hits of the evening was the Dutch dance given by Ruth Small and Florence

Class Hockey Planned by Intra-Mural Association

Schedule will be Played After Finals. Good Competition Promised

Directly after the finals, there are to be some fast hockey games between the different class teams. Each class is to be represented by a hockey team.
There is no doubt but what there will be some fast teams for each class has a wealth of material. Coach Rider and the managers of the four class teams will manage this sport. Informal hockey this year is to act as a preliminary for varsity hockey next year in much the same way as Intra-Mural basketball acts as a preliminary or forerunner of varsity basketball next winter.

So far there has been quite a number on the ice each night working out for it. But there should be a much larger number than there is. The best way to make hockey popular is for everyone to talk hockey.

There has been some difficulty in flooding the rink. The pump that has been used was placed in a low position and did not have power to drive the water up where it should be. This difficulty has been largely overcome by placing the pump in a higher position.
"Ham" Robbins '20, a former B. A. star in hockey was to coach the team. He will be graduated the end of the month so the team will lose his service which is to be regretted.

If everyone will only talk hockey, however, and more men get out each night to work out for it, there is no doubt but what hockey will be a success.

Interesting General Lecture Course to be Offered

College of Arts and Sciences to Give Series of Fifteen Lectures

The College of Arts and Sciences of the University of Maine has arranged a series of weekly lectures of a popular nature, along lines of work connected with the departments in that college.

Courses of lectures have been scheduled as follows:

- 1919-20 English; Education and Philosophy.
- 1920-21 German and Romance Languages; Biology.
- 1921-22 History and Economics; Physics and Mathematics.
- 1922-23 Ancient Civilization and Latin; Chemistry.

These courses will be repeated in the same order.

In the Spring Semester of 1920 a course of fifteen lectures will be given on the subjects announced in this circular. The course will begin Wednesday, February 4, at four-fifteen P. M., in the lecture room of Coburn Hall, and continue thru the Semester at the same time and place.

Registration for this course is open to all students in the University and proper credit is given for its completion. The lectures are open to the public and are without charge.

The University Store Company was organized for and by the Athletic As-Maine's athletics. Today the stock, which was one worth about $1180, is valued at $10,000, all of which is paid.

The store has netted the Athletic As-

Blanket Taxes Go On Sale Saturday

The Price of the Tax for this Semester will be $5.50 for Equipment of Relay, Track, and Baseball Men

The sale of Blanket Taxes will start again on registration day. This semester's tax will be for the support of baseball, track, and relay. There is exceptionally good material for all of these sports and Maine never had a better chance for a clean-up year. But all this material will need a lot of coaching and a lot of equipment. We do not want to lose a track meet or a baseball game just from the lack of a little coaching. We do not want to see our baseball team go out on the field in all kinds of suits, each of a different color and make. And we do not want our track men to appear in the various togs they brought along from prep school. To equip them we must have money. And we must equip them. We can not send the baseball team on its Massachusetts trip without dressing all the players up in a U. of M. baseball suit. The advertisement for Maine would be detrimental.

Monte Cross is coming back to coach the baseball men. Rider and Baldwin are here to coach the track men. We have the best of coaches but it takes money to keep them here.

The price of the tax for this semester will be $5.50. That is none too much. See what has to be done: Equip baseball men, track men, and relay men. Supply them with coaches.
Send the teams on trips. And guarantee expenses for the visiting teams.
This is what you will get in return.
There are seven home baseball games, one or two track meets, and the Campus. The tax also gives you the privilege to vote in the A. A. The $5.50 is not a gift, it is a season ticket to all of the athletic activities.

You may pay your tax to any of the committee: Friend, Potter, Ham, Blake, and Miss Ritter.

Editorial

In this issue appears the financial statement of the Campus for the fall semester. A few words of explanation would not be out of place. It is seen that the Campus is on a firm financial basis at present and will according to estimates finish the semester with a small surplus. In the past, trouble has been experienced in the business department of the paper but the system of checking now carried out by the president of the University has helped greatly to bring about the present stable condition.

It is the policy of the Campus to present the best paper for the money available. No person connected with the paper receives money for services and all the money expended goes into the Campus. The money is expended in the year that it is received and but a small sum is carried over, just enough to start the paper in the fall. This is done because we feel that the money paid by a student body should be turned back to that student body and not laid up for some future body to receive the benefit from it. The Campus is not and should not be a money-making proposition in the strict sense of the word.

Dere Aunt:

It has been a long time since I write but I seed cousin Tonsils an he ast me to write, as he is prevented from doin so. Adenoids is too busy studyin so I thot I'd write an say that Tonsils is still lovin toward you all. But they is a class of fellers here, the softmores, or moresofts, I guess you call them, and they don't encourage maternal lovin. No, nor any other kind of lovin if its a freshman that's doin it. Tonsils sez he don't want to hurt these fellers by goin against there principles or they mite hurt his feelins afterward. He is very sensitive and just hates for the moresofts to hurt his feelins. So I gotta tell all the gossip but I can't as well as Tonsils cos I'm only a girl an can't get hold of gossip as well as these here frat houses. That reminds me, I never heard that poor Adenoids got that Herpicide for her hare. She sed she woodn't dare use it anyways, as it has got 98 per sent Alkohol in it. Guess it must have been drunk up before Tonsils cood send it, don't you think so?

I had a swell time visitin around Xmas vacation. In Portland I seed Makwarry jazzin around with a reel queen at Pythian Temple. I seed Jess Willard, too. Rushin a blonde, he wuz an enjoyin the process somethin orful. Tanny Ambrose wuz kind of lonesome lookin on. I rekon it wuz becos Six Links wuz closed. I stopped over in Gardiner a while an met Freelin, lookin happier than he has for a long while. Then up at Thomaston I seed Kid. I never knowed he lived there, but he acted like it wuz home, sweet home. Every time I changed trains I ran into H—, goin to various sections of the United States to see his girls. At East Orrington I didn't see Red's bright head so I ast the station gaent an he sed he seed a streak of light headed toward Massachusetts the first of vacation. Burly Whattaman wuz way up north, huntin for wild games, I guess, but it wuzn't the rite season for huntin.

It seemed kinder nice to get back on campus. Many of the boys are glorious in new neckties there girls gave em and minus there frat pins. I should say, speakin offhand, that the girls got the best of the bargain. The moresoft president has got a orful pretty Bostony lookin new tie. At last the moresofts have come across with the freshman caps but they must of been a orful mistake, cos they are orful good lookin. (The caps, not the moresofts). If I wuz to choose between a moresoft and a mudscow, I'd lay my money on the mudscow for real speed every time.

Tony and Bill neerly got a divorce recently cos Tony seed a female hare net hanging from the top button of Bill's coat, an it wuzn't her harenet. But Bill prodused a good alibi.

A sad thing occurred in the M. C. A. Ambrose an a bunch of his frat brothers wuz all sittin in a row. Three of there coed friends came in and stood up alongside. Do you know, those poor boys got immediate paralysis of the lower limbs an there they sat, just sufferin to give there lady friends a seat, but teetotally unable to do so.

They is a few cases of mumps around here but its only coeds what has got em so if the boys won't keep away from the coeds its there own fault if they catch the mumps. We had a play here last Sat. nite. Anna was prepossessing but rather fast as Harry, and Minnie tried to make a good Count and did as well as cood be expected with such a difficult proposition. The vodeville acts wuz very snappy—just think of who wuz in them.

Yep, it were some night. Everybody is packin up expectin to flunk out. The exams are feendish an I expect home will see its little sunbeam before long. The next time you send a chocolate cake please mark it underwear, so the moresoft girls won't beat me to it.

THAT ATHLETIC FIELD FENCE

Dear Editor:

We are fortunate at having a beautiful campus, here at the University of Maine. But there were two big features that tended to spoil the good appearance of it. One was the old power house; but that is being removed. The other is the board fence about the athletic field. That is the worst relic of antiquity to be found, and it is a great pity that the fine looks of the rest of the campus should be marred by this useless apology for what should be there.

If a college the size of Bates can afford an excellent fence about their field, why can not we, who are much larger and stronger than they are, have one too. Bates has a wire fence, supported by iron posts. We should have this at least, if not an entirely iron one, there are many disadvantages to a board fence. It looks too cheap, is not up to date, and is undurable. It is also very hard and costly to keep a wooden fence in decent repair, as is clearly exhibited in our own case. Some may say that a wire fence would not prevent people from standing outside and looking through during games while they would be unable to see thru a wooden one. I wish to ask who the person is that would stand outside, in prefect view of their friends who are inside, and watch a football game? If anyone is small enough for that, we don't want his entrance fee. A man like that would be a 'Blanket Tax Dodger,' anyway. I know this would not happen, as it does not at Bates, and the iron fence about the Harvard stadium is a perfect success.

The large high schools of Massachusetts have iron, or wire fences around their ball parks. If a mere city can afford one, why can not the whole State of Maine afford a suitable equipped athletic field for its University.

The field itself, and track, are very good; or with a little care they would be excellent; and the cement bleachers are a fine addition—but that old wooden fence spoils it all.

Maine cannot afford to build a new wooden fence in place of the old one, because although the cost of building would be less than that for an iron or wire fence, the cost of keeping it in repair would soon make up the difference. A metal fence stays put!

A fence like the one at Bates, that is, wire with iron posts, would cost approximately one dollar a rod for wire, and two dollars a rod for iron posts and labor. The labor cost might be lightened by our civil engineering department, as this would afford them excellent practical training. As it is about 1600 feet around the field, leaving out the length of the cement bleachers, the total cost of this great improvement would be about three hundred dollars or less. The University cannot make a better investment, pertaining to appearances of the campus.

We have the athletes. Why not give them this advantage due to them of being able to be proud of their athletic field. They should at least have as much as the larger prep schools.

When one comes for the first time along the walk in front of Hannibal Hamlin Hall, that building and the trees and fraternity houses on the opposite side make a very favorable impression; but when you see that fence with the old tumbled down ticket office, you think that here must be a cattle yard. It is unlike Maine to tolerate such a landmark.

The faculty should be in great favor of a wire fence, in place of this ancient memorial, because it is not in favor of numerals being painted about the campus. This old wooden fence furnishes dangerous temptation, and the disease spreads to walks and buildings.

Let's all get in back of this, and help to boost Maine by having a respectable wire fence about our Alumni Field in time, if possible, for track and baseball seasons when people come to visit. These visitors see the athletic field and that is about all. By its appearance they will judge the University of Maine.

It would not be a bad idea while we are about it, to put an iron railing along each side of the field, just inside of the cinder path; that is, only

W. B. Cobb Elected Football Manager

William B. Cobb '21 was elected manager of football for 1920 at the University of Maine Thursday. He was assistant manager of football at the University before he entered the army and served overseas. Cobb received 244 votes, R. R. Owen 154, and W. C. Plumer 100.

Shirley Jordan '22 and Carl Oaks '22 were elected assistant managers for the 1920 team.

Delegates Speak at Chapel Wednesday

At chapel Wednesday interesting talks were given by Wyman E. Hawkes '22, Robert Owen '21 and Rena Campbell '21. These students represented the University of Maine at the Student Volunteer Conference held from Dec. 31 to Jan 4 at Des Moines, Iowa. At chapel, they told of the proceedings of the convention and of the ideas and policies promulgated there. About 8000 students attended this convention, representing 1000 colleges and universities.

Raymond Walkly Elected Librarian

Raymond L. Walkly of the Public Library of Minneapolis was elected librarian of the University of Maine at a meeting of the board of trustees held Friday. He is a graduate of Yale University and of the Albany Library School and will assume his new duties March 1.

Miss Ethel G. Wigmore, assistant librarian, has been in charge following the death of Professor Ralph K. Jones, librarian for a number of years and a graduate of Maine.

Sophomore Hop Will Occur Feb. 6

The Sophomore Hop will occur Friday, February 6th in the gym. This annual dance is given, as the name indicates, by the sophomore class, and is a formal function. According to custom, the freshmen will not be allowed to attend. It is expected that they will hold their banquet on that date although no plans have been announced. It has been customary to hold the Sophomore Hop and the Freshman Banquet on the same date for well grounded reasons.

Des Moines Convention Reported at Balentine

Sunday evening January 18, at the Y. W. C. A. meeting held in Balentine Hall, the three delegates to the Des Moines Convention spoke to the young ladies. The speakers were Mr. Hawkes, Mr. Owen and Miss Campbell.

Mr. Hawkes set forth the object of Missionaries. He took up the economic question of evangelization and spoke of the need of earnest Christian workers in the field of foreign missions.

Mr. Owen in turn, discussed the Chinese question. He gave reports from notes he had taken from the Chinese speakers at the Convention. He emphasized the fact that Christian Missionaries in China have so far been successful but if their success is to continue they must receive the cooperation of American students.

Miss Campbell gave a very interesting account of her trip to the Convention and of her stay there. She explained the work of the Y. W. C. A. and closed with an appeal to the young women that they might respond in some way to the needs of such places as South America where educated women are needed.

At the present time the President, Vice-President, Speaker of the House, all but two of the Cabinet, 69 out of 96 Senators, 305 out of 435 Representatives, and all of the Justices of the Supreme Court are college trained men.

In front of the two grandstands, Don't let this suggestion pass by, make it materialize. Here's hoping for immediate action.

Sincerely,
Maine '23

It Is Said

THAT the M. C. A. Room was basket is either lost, strayed or stolen.

THAT "Jack" Greene is "there" when it comes to winning prizes in raffles.

THAT the Y. W. C. A. should be complimented upon the successful entertainment which was presented Saturday. Where is the Maine Masquerade?

THAT the "Blue Book," the literary magazine, is to appear this year for the first time since 1916. The literary lights should get busy.

THAT issuing a college newspaper in the period of finals is nothing like a soft snap.

THAT finals to some of us are a case of "Many are called but few are chosen."

THAT many are already making their good resolutions for next semester.

THAT the University of Maine is one of the few institutions of its kind in the country owning and operating its own printing plant.

THAT basketball, hockey and boxing will go a great way toward keeping us from hibernating this winter. Get into some of these sports.

THAT more should be out encouraging the relay candidates. The weather is cold but you are dressed warmer than they are.

THAT the destruction of the old power house should be completed.

THAT the "M" Club vaudeville show is going to eclipse any production ever staged east of Boston.

THAT YOU should show that you are backing Maine athletics by buying that Blanket Tax.

THAT he who registers now avoids the rush.

THAT Maine hopes to have Monte Cross for baseball coach this spring.

THAT we wish the "Communications" column to be an expression of college opinion. Send in your ideas.

Lottery Held at North Hall

Last Saturday a very interesting lottery decided the fates of three of the North Hall girls. The four girls who have been doing Household Administration work are to teach in Old Town this semester and the three who have been teaching are to do the work in the house.

The girls will serve in three positions: cook, assistant cook and housekeeper, taking turns at each position for a period of six weeks.

Last Saturday, the girls drew for positions and as a result, Mary Pulsifer is to be cook; Dot Holbrook, assistant and Gertrude Peabody will act as housekeeper.

The other four girls who will teach in Old Town are Frances Bartlett, Leona Gilman, "P-Nut" Snow and "Jack" Jackson.

At a recent election Eleanor Jackson was reelected as president of the house.

Alumni Notes

James B. Perkins '09 of Boothbay Harbor, has been appointed enforcement officer for Maine under the national prohibition law. He is 38 years of age, a member of the board of selectmen, town auditor and superintendent of schools of Boothbay Harbor, was county attorney of Lincoln county three terms and is a member of the present Maine Legislature and secretary of the Democratic State Committee.

Cales of Bolivar's Children

Realizing that the tradition of Maine should be known by the student body, the CAMPUS will publish each week instalments from "Bolivar's Children" which sets forth these traditions in a very readable manner.

sides paying $500 on the grandstand. It has supplied the Association with athletic goods at wholesale prices, and every year has furnished each M man with a sweater. Moreover, it has already laid aside $3000 towards a building to house the Associations offices and store.

Prior to 1904 the only 'store' where one could buy cigars or chewing-gum was maintained by two or three students in Oak Hall. Just who started the enterprise is not certain. Whenever the student owners left school it was customary for them to auction off their stock. In the spring of 1904 two brothers, A. H. and F. M. Sampson, were the highest bidders, offering $900 for only $400 worth of stock. The Sampson brothers occupied Nos. 106 and 108 Oak Hall until the Library mover from Coburn Hall to its present location. They then moved into the basement of Coburn Hall and installed a telephone exchange, post-office, and barber-shop, and took over the sale of text books formerly controlled by the Library. It was not until January, 1911, that the Athletic Association succeeded in buying out the two brothers. About $1200 worth of stock was purchased from them, nearly one-half of which was paid by the students at five dollars a share.

goes down to the suburb called 'Enormous Enterprise.' I walked down with her last night after the skating rink closed and she invited me in. Her father was sitting in the kitchen when we went in. Ted, he was the same guy I punched the night we made the quick get-away out of Frenchy's place. He didn't get a good look at me, for he walked into the parlor when he saw that she had company. I don't care about being entertained in the kitchen as a rule, but last night I thanked God for the chance and prayed that the girl wouldn't speak my name, for I knew that her old man was looking for a guy named Mike Mahoney. I edged around so as to be contagious to the door and rushed the 'bonnes nuits' all I could. Just as I turned to go the girl grabbed my sleeve. 'Aren't you going to kiss me?' she asked softly and sweetly.

"It was too bad to offend the child, and I decided to make a good job of it. She snuggled into my arms, looked up into my face—"

"She couldn't have been very dam tall," cut in Garry, with a grin.

"Shut up, you mutt," said Mike, forgetting for the moment that he was a freshman. "Looked up into my face with her eyes dancing in black danger signals, and kissed me a smack that must have echoed up in Pea Cove. Then she jumped back laughing, half screamed, 'Oh, you Mike Mahoney, and I went for the door contemporaneously with the explosion in the parlor. Nor did I stand upon the manner of my going. They may have a nice home there, but I like quiet myself."

"I slammed the door on my way through, and the irate father cleaned it off the hinges when he hit it. In

Maine Alumnus
Arrested In Bangor

R. H. Fogler '14 Subject of Practical Joke

Raymond H. Fogler, formerly executive secretary to Dean Leon S. Merrill at the College of Agriculture, arrived in Bangor, Friday morning on his way to Exeter where he was married to Miss Mabel Peabody Friday noon.

An amusing incident enlivened, for a comrade from the campus in the conspiracy, Mr. Fogler's half hour stop in the city, for the bridegroom-elect was the victim of a practical joke, which resulted for a few moments in his thinking that he was arrested on suspicion of being an escaped Bolshevik. And so well was the game carried out that he was actually thankful to Professor Sweetser of the University who happened (?) to come along and identify him.

Mr. Fogler is now employed as an executive secretary in the W. C. Grant Chain Stores at the main offices in New York.

Mr. Fogler has many friends in Bangor and Orono who will wish him and his bride much happiness. Mr. Fogler is a native of West Rockport, a graduate of the University of Maine in the class of 1915. He received his degree also at Princeton and came to the university as secretary to Dean Merrill, leaving last September to take up work in New York. He has made a study of store conditions and his work is of importance, the position being one of the most responsible in that line.

the dooryard I looked back to size up my handicap, and I ran right off over that ten-foot embankment into the road. My destination was some thickly populated place and I turned in the air to face uptown. Just as I hit the dirt on my hands and knees a gun went bang behind me, and I jumped ten feet straight ahead and started to fly. I heard running steps just behind me and I flew faster till the steps were only a patter in the distance. Up the road a piece I passed two men, one on each side of the road, and another man jumped out to grab me; but I ran right over him and kept on going until I laid down to die in front of the Catholic church.

"I didn't know anything much until Trim Murphy came along and picked me up. 'Good time, Mahoney,' he said. 'But what did you run clear up here for?'"

"A h— of a good time," I moaned. And then asked, 'Did he hit me?'"

"Why, he's clean off his nut," said Murphy to Kid Flanagan. It took them ten minutes to get the story into my head. You see, when I ran over that bank I landed right on the mark with a bunch of runners who were training for the dashes in the celebration next week, and it was the starter's pistol that scared me so. I did that two-twenty under the watch in twenty-three seconds and broke their old record by a whole second. And now I'm going after the college record too. Get those shoes as quick as you can, will you, Ted?"

After we managed to stop laughing Garry Fisher had a question to ask. "How can you hold this record without belonging to the club, Mike?"

"I do belong," retorted Mahoney the sprinter. "They sell Budweiser there for fifteen cents a bottle, and I joined last fall after I'd been here a week."

You may say that I claim too much credit in saying that I made a runner out of Mike. Maybe I do; but if I hadn't taken him down to Frenchy's that night he'd never have found out he could run; and it was his three points in the quarter that saved the state meet for us that spring. Figure it out for yourself. Do I deserve credit, or not?"

Letters Give Testimony of Interest Shown

The students of the University of Maine who are looking forward to the Institute on Constructive Christian Democracy held by Hon. J. Stitt Wilson on the Orono campus Feb. 11th to 14th (inclusive) will be interested to know that Mr. Wilson has during the past year spoken in the following colleges and universities of the United States: University of Pennsylvania, Ohio State University, University of California, Stanford University, Oregon University, Idaho State College, Pomona University, Occidental University, University of Southern California, University of Texas, Wyoming University, Toulain University, University of Nebraska, Kansas University, University of Arkansas, University of Idaho, Arizona University, and the great State Agricultural colleges of Idaho, Oregon, Colorado, and Texas.

Mr. Wilson is this week speaking to the students of New Hampshire State College, and next week will speak at the Massachusetts Agricultural College before coming to the University of Maine for his Institute.

Last week Mr. Wilson was at Ohio State University (6000 students) and the below letter adequately expresses that college's appreciation of his addresses:

Ohio State University
Columbus, Ohio
Jan. 15, 1920

Dear Mr. ———:

Mr. Stitt Wilson completed his meetings last night, Wednesday. He gave his addresses Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights, and Wednesday at Convocation. Our estimation is that he spoke to 1800 different students at least once. Thirty-one girls and 141 men signed his cards on the last night. I am attaching lists for you and Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Wilson's message was the greatest spiritual, sane, thought, heart and humanity challenging challenge that our university has ever had from the first real prophet I've ever set under and listened to. Our university will be everlastingly grateful to you for giving him to us and to him for the new life he has given to us.

Sincerely,
(Signed) Huntley Dupre

J. Stitt Wilson

(By a personal friend)

Passionate lover of humanity, not humanity in the general sense, but just plain, ordinary folks—a great heart throbbing in unison with the longings and aspirations of human beings everywhere. We walked down the streets of the city and a legless cripple selling lead pencils shouted out his name and with a joyous smile grasped his hand; we entered a small town hotel dining room and a worn, tired little waitress came up to him with a smile saying, you are "our friend," and that night she trudged through the cold for a mile to attend his meeting; two state leaders of organized labor seeing us passing, rushed out to greet him, pouring out the confidences of their heart, as though to a friend they knew could be trusted; we entered a most magnificent hotel in California and the proprietor, a millionaire, hurried to the door to welcome his guest who had been assigned the best suite in the house; poor people and rich, ignorant and educated, successes and failures, alike greeted this great hearted man with unfeigned gladness, for was he not their friend? Let his name be placed upon the bulletin boards and the crowds come streaming in, for they have learned to know that when J. Stitt Wilson speaks they shall hear one who not only thinks profoundly, but is moved by a rare insight into the deeper yearnings of the human heart. In him they see one who is indeed a "friend of man."

Small wonder that a man so honored in his home country has made such a profound and lasting impression upon students and faculty alike in the scores of institutions in which he has been speaking during the last months. At the Colorado Agricultural College where a general assembly had been called, the Dean announced that only two or three times in ten years had classes been dismissed for such a purpose, and yet at the end of that meeting the faculty met and voted to suspend (Continued on Page Four)

Morrill. Miss Philips gave a very pretty Greek dance.
The tragedy "A Set of Turquoise" was very well staged. The costumes were attractive and the parts were well taken. The comedy "Sarah's Young Man" almost brought the house down with its series of humorous situations. The part of Mr. Mogridge, a victim of the green monster, was played exceedingly well by Clara Whalen. The other characters were very cleverly acted.
An enjoyable dance followed the entertainment. Constance Turner presided at the punch bowl. Quite a little money was realized from the sale of the punch.
The dance was chaperoned by Mrs. Hills, Mrs. Estabrooke, and Mrs. Pinkham.
The Y. W. C. A. is very grateful to all those who helped to make the entertainment and dance a success. Especially is it grateful to Professor Harman who coached the plays and to the boys who helped with the scenery and the work at the hall.

Service. While in training the men will receive salaries sufficient to meet their expenses.
Undergraduates will spend their summers in New York City, learning the "ropes" of the banking business. They will follow the laboratory method of doing real bank work in Wall Street. Training of the scholarship students is under the supervision of the Bank's Educational Department.
After graduation students will finish training and be assigned to one of the more than 50 foreign branches of the Bank. These are located in South and Central America and Europe. Some students may be assigned to branches of the International Banking Corporation, located chiefly in the Orient.
The Bank announces that its resources now exceed one billion dollars. This is a new record for any bank in the Western Hemisphere. New branches are constantly being started, enabling students to advance in new fields when assigned.
Fred S. Willard, of the University of Maine, is a holder of one of the Bank's scholarships now and will continue his training in New York next summer.
S. P. Danforth is an alumnus of the University of Maine and a former member of the Class. He is now located at the Pernambuco Branch of The National City Bank of New York.

pend all classes for an hour on each of the two following days in order that all might hear his great message. This experience is typical. In institution after institution, in the final meeting when the students are challenged to commit themselves to the Christ spirit of love and service for their fellowmen, the whole student body has responded en masse. No life containing a flaw, or the slightest vestige of insincerity could move audiences so profoundly. Indeed, it is because back in the freshman year at college he committed himself without reservation to the service of his fellowmen, under the guidance of the spirit of Christ, and thru the succeeding years has never swerved from that purpose, that he speaks with such compelling power today.

In a very real sense J. Stitt Wilson is a prophet, possibly a little ahead of his day right now, certainly far ahead

Junior Masks To Give Fine Dance

There have been dances given by the Junior Masks before, but the dance this year promises to be one of the best. The committee composed of "Bob" Owen and "Hep" Pratt, promises that the snappiest orchestra that can be found will give those who attend this event the best dance held on the campus this year. The affair will take place in the gym and is to be informal. The Junior Mask has given a formal dance for the benefit of the Junior Class for many years but it was felt this time that an informal dance would best suit the occasion. The Junior Mask has always been unusually successful in whatever it has undertaken. The revival of this annual dance will be an event well worth attending. Further announcements will be made by the committee in charge when plans have been fully completed.

1921 PRISM NOTICE

Junior writeups, and pictures must be to the editor by Feb. 7. Assessments of $2.00 must also be paid before that time or no picture will appear in the Prism.

twenty-five years when as a North-western student preaching in a church in the heart of Chicago near Hull House he came in contact with the human misery and suffering attendant upon the modern industrial system, at the time operating largely for profit with little consideration for the human by-product. Stitt Wilson could not reconcile the squalor and poverty and suffering of that Chicago district with the Spirit and teachings of Christ and tossing his text-books into his trunk, he went out into the country to be alone with God and wrestle with the problem. There it was he caught the great vision of the social implications of Christ's teachings, and steadfastly through the intervening years in Great Britain, on the continent and in America, he has been translating that vision to all who would stop and hear. Fortunate indeed are the colleges of America that at this critical hour such a prophet as J. Stitt Wilson is at hand and ready to speak.
