Cross Country Team Easily Wins from B. C.

Six Maine Men Cross the Tape Before a Boston Man, Making Score of 15-46 A Slow Race for Our Men.

Captain Barnard's harriers ran the legs off the Boston College cross country team Saturday afternoon. It was an easy victory for the Maine team. The first six men to cross the finish line all wore the Blue. Pease was the shining star for Maine finishing with a strong sprint up the athletic field to the finish at the goal posts. There were 22 men that started and 17 crossed the finish line, completing the distance of five and one-half miles in the time of 37 minutes, 11 3-5 seconds.

At the end of the first quarter of the football game, the harriers lined up in the order of their numbers at the south goal posts of the athletic field. At the sound of starter "Prof." Grover's whistle the harriers stepped off at a fast clip, with a B. C. harrier in the lead, running past the grandstands and out the North gate where Herrick who was acting Captain for the day on account of Capt. Barnard being injured in one of the practice runs, jumped into the lead. When Herrick reached the Phi Kappa Sigma house he had five other Maine harriers with him. Main Street hill was a little too much for the Boston men and they took their time by walking up over it. This gave the other Maine runners a fine opportunity to overtake them and they placed themselves quite a distance in the lead of O'Brien the B. C. captain, who tried to gain the lead a little farther in the race, but did not have the ability to keep ahead of the Maine harriers. On coming down Standpipe hill, O'Brien tried to take the lead, but "Midget" Raymond shot by him as if he was standing still, followed closely by A. O. Wilson and Pease. "Midget" handed the lead over to Wilson on the return to the college who held it until he reached Orono bridge when Pease, who had been running strong all of the way, with Herrick close behind took

University is Honored With Student from India

Mr. Cheema Comes To Us From the University of Punjab

We have a student from northern India at the University this year. Mr. Cheema, who is making a study of plant breeding, comes from the lands near the Himalayan Mountains. He studied at the government college in Lahore, India and was for two years a student at the University of Punjab, the land of fine rivers. For some time he worked in the wineries at Reims in France. Then he worked in the Fruit and Cider Institute in the University of Bristol. Before he came to Maine, he worked for six months on the Federal Horticulture Board in Washington. Mr. Cheema has not only been a student for several years, but he has travelled in every state of the United States.

Phi Kappa Phi Society Announces New Pledges

At a meeting held Oct. 26, the following students were elected to Phi Kappa Phi: Frank Swan Beale, Me., Eastport; Marion Catherine Bragg, Lt., Bangor; Clarence Holmes Drisko, Me., Columbia Falls; Lucy Helen Kilby, Ae., Eastport; Florence Ulmer Salley, Fr., Bangor.

John Barnard to Lead Cross Country Friday

Captain Barnard Came to Maine With a Big Prep School Reputation as a Distance Runner

John H. Barnard, captain of the cross country team, says that we have a well balanced team this year, and if all goes well, we will win the state meet again this year.

"Johnnie" is a graduate of Gardiner High School, in the class of 1918. While in High School, he was a distance and cross country man. In 1916, he was captain of the cross country team which won the Kennebec Valley championship.

In college, he won his "M" during his freshman year in the meet with Holy Cross. Last fall, he finished fourth in the state cross country meet, and thirteenth in the New England Championship meet. Owing to illness, he was unable to participate in track work in the spring.

Last spring he was elected captain of the cross country team, and although he was unable to run Saturday due to a torn ligament, he will probably run in the State meet.

University of Maine Debating Club Organized

Students Must Show More Interest in Their Work, as It Is One of the University's Greatest Activities

Maine has organized a debating club at last! The big question now is whether or not the fellows will take enough interest in it to make the organization a success. A meeting of all University men interested in debating was held in Estabrooke Hall, Monday evening, October 11. Only a small number of students were present, due to the fact that it was the night before a holiday as well as the evening on which the various house-meetings were held. Professor Bailey outlined the pleasures and benefits that would be derived from a good debating society and offered to assist in every possible way in the formation of such a club and in carrying on such debates or discussions as it might undertake. An organization was formed and Mr. Hatch elected temporary president and various committees appointed to formulate some definite working basis for the society.

The next meeting was held the evening of Tuesday, October 19. A constitution which was drawn up by the committee appointed at the first meeting was adopted with a few minor changes. A list of nominations for officers of the club was submitted by the executive committee; from this list the following officers were elected for the first semester: President, W. E. Hatch, Vice President, Mr. Blanchard; Secretary and Treasurer, P. L. Gray; Executive Committee, K. E. Gibbs, A. E. Kirtledge, M. C. Niles. The next act was to elect Professor Bailey an honorary member. After a short discussion on the various problems confronting the society, it was voted to hold the next meeting in 1 Estabrooke, Tuesday evening, November 2, at 7:15, and discuss the following resolution:

Maine Night Proves To Be Great Success

Governor Milliken and Governor-Elect Parkhurst Are the Principal Speakers

One of the biggest and most enthusiastic Maine Nights in the history of the University was held Friday evening Oct. 29. The event took place in the gym instead of the Alumni Field on account of the weather. Things took on a holiday air quite early in the day with alumni members arriving every hour. Above the ordinary sounds of campus life were heard the happy "remember-the-time?", etc. of returned graduates.

The undergraduates marched in about 7.30. The co-eds led with classes following in order. Special seats were reserved for the many alumni members. At one end of the gym a stage was erected. The seats for the speakers of the evening were on the stage while near it were honor seats for football and cross-country team members. The speakers and members of the teams were ushered in with selections played by the University of Maine band.

Prexy Monohon introduced the speakers in his customary pleasant and genial manner. He first introduced Captain Smith, the hardworking full-back of this year's team. Captain Smith spoke briefly on the games already played and what he confidently expected to be the outcome of the few remaining games to be played. Governor Milliken, the next speaker, in proof of his high regard for the energetic qualities of "Red" Derocher, personally led a cheer for this "animated torch." He acquitted himself in such a manner that his audience was left wondering if a splendid cheer leader had not been lost when Governor Milliken decided to enter politics.

The third speaker was Joe McCusker, trainer of Bananas and representative of the Boston alumni. His speech ended only too quickly to satisfy his interested listeners.

Governor-elect Parkhurst was next. A stranger would have had difficulty determining whether the cheers were being interrupted by his speech or his speech interrupted by the cheers.

Pat McCarthy talked of the first football teams of Maine and compared them to the team of today. Telegrams were then read from the many alumni associations including some from the New York and San Francisco alumni.

Don Coady, representing the student body told about the college customs.

Hon. P. H. Gillen spoke about the value of the University and what it deserved.

Hon. A. R. Day pictured very vividly the future of the University.

The last speaker was Prexy Aley. He spoke on the needs of the University and what he hoped it would get from the legislature. He was here interrupted by Senator Gillon who said, "The House will pass it and the Governor will sign it." Having made his point, Prexy Aley stopped and the program was concluded with cheers and the singing of the Stein Song.

Theta Chi Fraternity Holds Initiation Banquet

Gamma Chapter of Theta Chi Fraternity held its 13th annual initiation banquet Friday night following the Maine Night celebration on the campus and as in previous years the event was memorable for the initiates, the undergraduates, who make up the remainder of the active membership and large number of alumni who came to Orono from far and near to participate in this get-together meeting in the interest of the fraternity and the University.

Shortly before midnight the 65 members of Gamma Chapter gathered around the festive table to partake of the excellent menu that had been prepared for them and from that time until the banquet closed about 4 o'clock with the singing of the Theta Chi song

Alpha Chi Sigma Smoker Proves a Great Success

The Meaning and Purpose of the Fraternity was Explained and the Chemical Students were Brought Together

That even a chemist can find time for recreation was evident on last Thursday evening when the honorary chemical fraternity, Alpha Chi Sigma, gave an invitation smoker, which all chemistry students were urged to attend.

The group first assembled in the lecture room of Aubert Hall, where Paul Armstrong acted as chairman of the informal meeting. He explained that the purpose of the gathering was to promote closer relationship between the faculty and the students of the department. Mr. Armstrong then asked Stephen Beaker to tell on what basis elections to the fraternity were held. Scholarship, he said, was an important, but not the only qualification necessary, to be elected to membership.

Professor Brautlecht was the next speaker. He laid stress on the importance of a university education and of better co-operation between instructing staff and students.

The chairman then asked Mr. Eberman to talk. With his usual wit he re-

The University of Maine Press Club Is Organized

Much More Interest Should be Shown in This Branch of Student Activity

The University of Maine Press Club which has not been active at the University for a number of years was re-organized at a meeting held last Tuesday of all students interested. The object of the club is to assist the University in the publicity which the University receives thru the daily papers. Meetings of this organization are to be held in Coburn Hall every Monday at 4:45. All men and women of the University who are contributing to papers are expected to attend these meetings. News and special stories concerning the University will be made public at these meetings. Mr. A. L. T. Cummings was elected President and Frederick Marston was elected Secretary.

The Old Maine Spirit Is Coming Back Again

More Real Maine Spirit Was Shown at Maine Night Than at Any Other Time This Year

The old Maine spirit! Just how much it meant to the boys on the field Saturday, we cannot really tell, but at any rate we know it helped for how they did fight! It was at the Maine Night rally as well as the game and now let that same Maine spirit appear on Whittier Field at Brunswick next Saturday and we'll show Bowdoin where they get off.

There will be no special train but extra accommodations will be provided for the students on the 6.15 from Orono

The Maine Blue out-classed the Colby football team on Alumni Field Saturday by the score of 22 to 0. The Waterville boys only threatened the Maine goal once during the game and "Fat" Hussey then came to Maine's rescue in time to save the game. The whole team looked as though it had been through some hard practice since their game with Bates last Saturday. There was hardly a weak spot in the Maine machine and it resembled the team that Coach Baldwin developed last fall.

Captain Raymie Smith was the main feature of the game and by his line-plunging was responsible for the first Maine touchdown. Several times he broke through the Colby line and threw their runner for a loss. Early in the game he was put out for what the official termed as a personal foul but the incident was plain to the spectators. Maine should not have suffered this loss. His place was well filled by Dresser who is a consistent worker.

"Midget" Ginsberg was the main-spring of Maine's wonderful success. He managed the team to perfection and it is the first game that they have showed any ability in the aerial line. Probably Georgie learned a few stunts while in the aeroplane last week. Maine tried several passes and a majority of them were powerful ground gainers for the club.

The playing of Miles (Mickey) Finnegan was another feature of the game. He was in most every play of the game and twice during the afternoon he recovered fumbles that led to scores for Maine. His defensive work was excellent and at time one would think that Verne Beverly was back in the game when Mickey would chase a punt down the field.

Small and Foster were the chief ground gainers for they both have two

University Outing Club To Be Organized

Student Interest Is Necessary to Make the Club a Success

The Outing Club which is really un-organized as yet, has hopes of being a real club in the future. It has a double purpose in view. One is to give the students, who so desire, a chance to go out for a healthy good time during the week end. The other purpose is to expand and grow into a real organization similar to the well known Dartmouth Outing Club.

There have been four trips thus far. These have been combinations of canoeing and hiking trips. The first excursion was to Chemo and to the other end of the pond. The next trip was thru Old Town, Pushaw Stream and Pushaw Pond. The third was through Birch Stream.

The fourth one took place Sunday through Old Town and up the Penobscot to Sunk Haze Stream. The trip was continued up this stream until noon time when dinner was cooked on the bank. The party returned by the same route to Old Town. Plenty of excitement was furnished by the rapids, rocks and booms, which were encountered during the trip.

The next trip will probably be to Veazie, across the Penobscot River and through Eddington. It is hoped that the students will show live interest in this club and make it a live organization.

In 1915 Maine played Bowdoin at Brunswick. We had a special train and everybody went. When we left the campus we did not feel that we had already won the game but we were all going with the determination to help win the game. We were going down to Brunswick to support the team and as it meant the championship to us if we won it, we were all willing to give our last ounce of strength and our last penny to be at that game and to do our bit.

At Maine Night last Friday the speakers told us that they had never seen such spirit before. If they were here now they would tell us that they had never seen such rotten spirit before. Just think, we don't know yet whether the band is going. We aren't going to have a special train. We can't tell whether or not there will be enough to have a cheering section. Here it is a championship game, and not enough enthusiasm to even talk about the trip.

In 1915 we won that game at Brunswick and the championship, too, because the student body backed the team. After the game they all went to Portland and they let everybody know that Maine had won. They bought out a thousand seats at Keith's Theatre and every seat was taken by a Maine man. Will there be a thousand of us go to Portland? Are we going to let Portland know that Maine once more heads the list? Portland is expecting us and when we don't show up what will she think that we are? Do we want the people of Portland to put us down for a dead bunch? Do we want the people all over Maine to put us down as such? Of course we don't. But they will unless every last one of us goes with that team to help win the game and the championship.

For nearly five years, now, we have been without a college magazine which could properly be called our own. With the disappearance of the "Blue Book" in 1916, along with many other activities which were curtailed by the late war, the student body has felt the need of a literary publication such as is being maintained by other large colleges. Not very long ago, there appeared in the "Campus" a signed communication propounding the possibility and promising outlook for such a magazine at the University of Maine.

Not until last year was a first attempt made at a revival of the "Blue Book." Due to various insurmountable obstructions, however, the proposition had to be abandoned. But this year, at the very outset, an enthusiastic organization of members of the faculty and of senior students was formed for the purpose of promoting such a movement. This organization is known as the "Contributors' Club," consisting of 24 members, the maximum membership being limited to 30.

The plans for this new magazine are now complete. The name of it is "The Maine-Spring." It contains over 50 pages, and is cleverly illustrated in four colors. There will be three issues during the year. The first number, designated as the "Xmas Number," will appear during the first week in December. Then there is the Easter Number and the Commencement Number.

The material in the magazine will consist chiefly of literary papers submitted by student talent. All contributions for the Xmas Number should be in by November 10.

Beginning this week, teams of two or more students will canvass the faculty and student body for the purpose of

Resolved: That the Democratic Party should be retained in power for the next four years.

Hastings, Kittredge, and White will appear on the affirmative, and Blanchard, Sweatt, and Niles on the negative. The topic should be of particular interest at this time and should arouse lively discussion as the debate falls on Election eve. The formal debate will be short and will be followed by an informal discussion of the resolution in which all present who are interested will be invited to take part.

Professor Bailey is able and experienced in anything which pertains to debating or public speaking, and with his help and the support of the student body, the club cannot fail to be a success.

Debating is a most excellent thing for all who engage in it and benefits the mind in the same way that athletics benefits the body—teaching one to think accurately and express himself clearly which is a tremendous asset to anyone today.

This year is indeed a bright one for the University, with the largest student body in the history of the institution, a football team which bids fair to win the State Championship, a whale of a good cross-country team, and prospects of a much needed appropriation from the legislature this winter. The Maine Masque has been revived and started out with a large amount of promising material; in addition, several other student organizations are being revived. Nearly all the colleges of Maine's calibre, and many smaller ones, have well-developed debating societies. There is no reason why Maine should not add debating to the list of her college activities and have a trained debating team along with the various athletic teams.

It is the intention of the members of the club to conduct inter-class debates on subjects of interest, and later on, when the members have attained some proficiency in debating and the club is on a sound working basis, it is hoped to revive inter-collegiate debating between Maine and other colleges. Also it is hoped that it will be possible to hold a mock faculty meeting, a mock trial, or a mock senatorial debate. In fact, there are a great many things of this sort which can be done outside the regular debating.

Membership in the club is open to all male students of the University. No dues are to be collected, but certain fines are to be exacted for non-attendance. All Maine men are invited to attend these meetings which will be held in 1 Estabrooke. The date of future meetings will be announced. Let's go, fellows! Give the Debating Club a boost!

Phi Mu Girls Hold Hallowe'en Party

On Saturday night, Dean Merrill's home was, from attic to cellar, the scene of a gay Ghost Party given as a Hallowe'en celebration by the girls of Phi Mu. The guests were met under the trees by a witch and ghosts, then were conducted into the house where they, too were transformed into shades. Blindfolded, they were led over stony paths, blocked by many obstacles. Their journey through the Chamber of Horrors was accompanied by weird music, the clanking of chains, rattling of bones, and touches from clammy hands, while groans and shrieks from tormented souls were heard on all sides. The old witch, huddled in a dark corner, told the fortunes of all who wished to know their future. The entire tale of his downfall was narrated by the shade of the villain in Poe's "Black Cat," accompanied by a chorus of groaning ghosts. After this, the most recent shades were led on high to a chamber where the guides showed them the seven heads of Bluebeard's wives, "reeking," as one of the guides put it, "in their gore." A severed head with long floating hair could be seen from under a bed, exciting the pity of all passers-by. Some sufferers from rheumatism were treated by the guests with most surprising results. One of the most interesting events of the evening was the descent backward of the cellar stairs, with a candle in one hand and a mirror in the other, by several of the girls, in order to see their future husbands. All five saw a husband; we believe that a certain young man at S A E will have some adjustment on his hands, or will have to become a Latter Day Saint.

Hallowe'en refreshments of pumpkin, doughnuts and coffee were served during the evening.

Go to Bowdoin Saturday

Saturday morning. There will be a celebration in Portland Saturday night if Maine wins. There is a train leaving Brunswick for Portland at 5:08 which will take us there victorious we hope.

The outcome of the games so far look encouraging but we must go prepared to fight. And in order for the boys on the team to fight, the entire student body must stand behind them. Anyone who has received his allowance or a new check, and who has a perfectly good pair of lungs is expected to be at this game Saturday.

Maine must get the championship. Let everyone know that the entire school plays the game here, not only the fellows who make the team. This is a good chance to advertise the University. Show everyone what Maine means to the individual.

There will be a Student Chapel the last part of the week and everyone should come to hear the final plans about the game. Let this trip be a record-breaker.

and Maine Stein Song, there was not a single dull moment in the evening's proceedings.

Winthrop L. McBride, 1921, was toastmaster and after cleverly introducing each regular speaker called on several of the old men to make remarks.

Speakers on the program were: Percy R. Seamon '08, of Boston and Ralph C. Heath '08, New York, members of the Grand Chapter of the fraternity; Joseph A. McCusker '17; Frank E. Donovan '19; Edward L. McManus '21; Michael Ryan '20; Fred Webb '23; and Harry S. Newell '24. Impromptu remarks were made by Ralph T. Coffey '14 and Frank A. (Pat) French '17. Telegrams from several brothers who were unable to be present were received.

How Large is an Atom?

ATOMS are so infinitesimal that to be seen under the most powerful microscope one hundred million must be grouped. The atom used to be the smallest indivisible unit of matter. When the X-Rays and radium were discovered physicists found that they were dealing with smaller things than atoms—with particles they call "electrons."

Atoms are built up of electrons, just as the solar system is built up of sun and planets. Magnify the hydrogen atom, says Sir Oliver Lodge, to the size of a cathedral, and an electron, in comparison, will be no bigger than a bird-shot.

Not much substantial progress can be made in chemical and electrical industries unless the action of electrons is studied. For that reason the chemists and physicists in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are as much concerned with the very constitution of matter as they are with the development of new inventions. They use the X-Ray tube as if it were a machine-gun; for by its means electrons are shot at targets in new ways so as to reveal more about the structure of matter.

As the result of such experiments, the X-Ray tube has been greatly improved and the vacuum tube, now so indispensable in radio communication, has been developed into a kind of trigger device for guiding electrons by radio waves.

Years may thus be spent in what seems to be merely a purely "theoretical" investigation. Yet nothing is so practical as a good theory. The whole structure of modern mechanical engineering is reared on Newton's laws of gravitation and motion—theories stated in the form of immutable propositions.

In the past the theories that resulted from purely scientific research usually came from the university laboratories, whereupon the industries applied them. The Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company conceive it as part of their task to explore the unknown in the same spirit, even though there may be no immediate commercial goal in view. Sooner or later the world profits by such research in pure science. Wireless communication, for example, was accomplished largely as the result of Herz's brilliant series of purely scientific experiments demonstrating the existence of wireless waves.

brilliant runs to their credit. Their work will not be forgotten by those spectators who eagerly followed the game.

Newman Young showed his old time pep when he came into the game. He will be an important factor when Maine meets Bowdoin next Saturday at Brunswick. He ran ten yards for a touchdown in the third period of the game after catching a forward pass thrown by Ginsberg only to fumble the ball on being tackled. Goode recovered the ball but only carried it a short distance to be downed for a touchback.

On the line Pat Hussey, Roemer, Mulvaney, and Murray were important factors. Jack Barron played opposite Mickey Finnegan and he nailed the Colby backs for no gain every time they came his way.

Summary of the Game

A strong cold wind swept the field from south to north, and Colby kicking to Maine gave her the advantage. Roemer received the kick for Maine and carried ball to the forty yard line. Smith made five, through right tackle. Foster made first down. On the next play Maine lost four yards by a bad pass. Colby was penalized five yards for off side play which put the ball on Maine's thirty-five yard line. Smith then carried the ball twenty-eight yards to the three yard line. The Colby yard held for three downs. On the next down Foster went, a big hole made by Finnegan for a touchdown. Colby then kicked to Maine and Foster carried the ball back to the sixty-five yard line. Maine was penalized and in the next play Small punted to Colby's thirty-five yard line. McGary gained four in a line plunge and Sullivan was downed by Finnegan after making ten yards on punt formation. McGary made first down on Maine's forty-five yard line. McGary was nailed by Finnegan after a gain of five yards. Ginsberg got McGary's punt and came back to Maine's thirty-five yard line. Maine fumbled on the first rush and Colby recovered the ball. Werne carried the ball to Maine's eight yard line. Ginsberg made a pretty tackle and had he lost his man Colby would have easily scored. Hussey replaced Badger. The Colby backs tried three times to break Maine's line, but were not successful. On the fourth trial Maine received the ball on her own eleven yard line. In the next play Small carried the ball to Colby's forty-three yard line which ended the period.

The second period began by Small punting to Werne who fumbled and Finnegan recovered for Maine on Colby's eighteen yard line. Small then circled the end for a touchdown. Hussey kicked the goal. It was in this period that Foster made his great run. It was one of the most brilliant runs ever seen on Alumni Field. He carried the ball seventy-two yards for a touchdown. A score was nearly made when Brig Young received a pass from Ginsberg and ran ten yards to the Colby goal where he fumbled when tackled. A Colby player recovered but was downed for a touchback.

In the last period Colby made a bad pass and the ball bounded over the Colby goal where a Colby man fell on it and Maine was given a safety. The rest of the game was played in darkness and when the whistle was blown Maine had the ball in her possession on Colby's ten yard line.

over the lead and he was never headed, reaching the goal line a few yards ahead of Wilson, who had put up a scrappy fight all of the way. He was in turn followed by Berg, who is a new man this year and shows the making of a star cross country man. He was followed by Loughlin, another Maine harrier that showed all the old time fight and vim, all thru the race. Herrick and "Midget" Raymond finished in a tie. They appeared to be in as fresh condition as when they started. The fine sportsmanship of these two men was shown on the return of the harriers to the finish when Capt. O'Brien tried to gain the lead after he had passed the standpipe, but Raymond and Herrick showed their heels to the B. C. captain, and kept Maine in the lead, later handing it over to Wilson. They dropped back with Loughlin, the other veteran and jogged along to the finish for lack of competition.

The first Boston College man to finish was Dolan, followed by Capt. O'Brien and then Dooley and Russel of the same team. The other B. C. man to finish that counted, was Caffery.

The first five Maine men to finish that counted were: Pease, Wilson, Berg, Loughlin and acting captain Herrick. The others finishing as follows: Sixth Raymond (M); eleventh, Kneeland (M); thirteenth, Cohen (M); fourteenth, Mahoney (B.C.); fifteenth, Meservie (M); sixteenth, Stevens (M).

The time was 37 minutes 11 3-5 seconds, distance 5 1/2 miles. Score Maine 15, Boston College, 46. Officials, Brooks Fairchild; Judges, Beverly, McBride; Timers; Starter, Grover.

Alpha Chi Sigma Smoker Proves Great Success

sponded with a blackboard lecture on the camouflaging of foods that customarily disagree with our stomachs, so that that organ of digestion and indigestion might be deceived, the luxury no longer giving pain along the alimentary canal. He claimed to have performed an experiment to ascertain the value of the idea, the results of which are set forth in the following poem written by himself, and reproduced here solely on its merit for humor and originality:

The last speaker was Mr. Pearsoll, instructor in junior quantitative. In his earnest manner he urged that we look beyond what we now consider our daily routine drudgery of weighing, titrating and distilling and comprehend the responsibilities devolving upon us because of our superior education, which will enable us to occupy positions of trust that those less fortunate than ourselves must forego.

The meeting then adjourned to the library where a pleasant social gathering ensued, and peanuts, smokes and cider were consumed in considerable quantities. Alpha Chi Sigma promises yet more of these good times for the chemicals. They will surely be looked forward to. Those who attended Thursday wish to extend hearty thanks to the fraternity.
