The University of Maine is the state's center of learning, discovery, and service to the public. As the flagship university of the University of Maine System and the state's land-grant and sea-grant institution, the University of Maine has the unique responsibility for providing high-quality undergraduate and graduate education programs, public service, and basic and applied research.

Located in Orono, within close proximity to the ocean, lakes, and mountains, the University of Maine offers an inspiring learning environment. There is plenty of open space on its 1,200 acres, where students are offered the diversity and the challenge of a large university in an invigorating atmosphere of a small college. The campus is located 10 miles north of Bangor, Maine's third largest city.

The University's undergraduate and graduate educational offerings are built upon a liberal arts and sciences foundation complemented by profession-oriented education in a wide range of disciplines, many of which are found nowhere else in the state. Because of their responsibility to teach, conduct research, and serve the public, faculty members are able to incorporate the new knowledge they uncover with classroom activities, often giving students hands-on experience in the research process.

The University offers its students, faculty, and staff, as well as the people of the community and the state, an outstanding athletic tradition. Maine's 19 Division I sports entertain more than 150 intercollegiate events on campus each year attracting 200,000 spectators.

The University of Maine was established as the Maine College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts under the provisions of the Morrill Act, approved by President Abraham Lincoln in 1862. In 1897, the original name changed to the University of Maine. The institution opened September 21, 1868 with twelve students and two faculty members.

By 1871, curricula had been organized in Agriculture, Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, and electives. From these courses of study there gradually developed the Colleges of Life Sciences and Agriculture (later to include the School of Forest Resources and the School of Human Development), Engineering and Science, and Arts and Sciences. The School of Education was established in 1930 and received college status in 1958. The School of Business Administration was formed in 1958 and was granted college status in 1965. Women have been admitted into all curricula since 1872.

The Maine Agricultural and Forest Experiment Station was founded as a division of the University in 1887. In 1912, the Maine Cooperative Extension, which offers field educational programs for both adults and youths, was initiated. The first master's degree was conferred in 1881; the first doctor's degree in 1960. Since 1923 there has been a separate graduate school. The Summer Session as a separate entity dates from 1902. A Continuing Education Division offers evening and Saturday courses from the several curricula.

In 1980, the University of Maine was given Sea Grant College status by the Federal Government under provisions of the National Sea Grant College Program Act.
DR. ROBERT KENNEDY

President

Robert A. Kennedy, Ph. D., became the president of the University of Maine on April 15, 2005. A plant biochemist with a long and distinguished scholarly career, Kennedy has held academic leadership positions at some of the nation’s most prestigious universities. He has been at Maine since July 2000, serving first as Vice President for Academic Affairs. One year after his arrival, he was promoted to the position of Executive Vice President and Provost.

At Maine, Kennedy has played a central role in developing and executing the university’s teaching, research and statewide public outreach missions. He has led the university’s well-received strategic planning process, which has helped to provide direction for four years of growth and advancement in targeted critical areas.

“I am grateful for the opportunity to lead the University of Maine at this exciting time in the university’s history,” Kennedy says. “As all Black Bear fans know, Maine enjoys national and regional prominence in intercollegiate athletics. In competition and in the classroom, Maine student athletes have enjoyed tremendous success in the past several seasons. I look forward to the continuation of that success this year.

“With its wide-ranging mission of teaching, cutting-edge research and public engagement, the University of Maine is a true statewide resource, which will play a central role in developing and shaping the state’s future.”

Kennedy began his academic career on the faculty of the University of Iowa, followed by faculty appointments at Washington State University, The Ohio State University, the University of Maryland and Texas A&M University. He served as Associate Dean and Director of the Colleges of Agriculture and Life Sciences and the University of Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station for one year, before being promoted to the vice presidency for research at that university’s Maryland Institute for Agriculture and Natural Resources. Immediately before coming to UMaine, Kennedy served for eight years as Vice President for Research and Associate Provost for Graduate Studies at Texas A&M.

In the late 1980s, Kennedy worked for three years in the Division of Molecular Biosciences and the Division of Cellular Biosciences at the National Science Foundation in Washington, D.C.

A Minnesota native, Kennedy earned his undergraduate degree in plant science for the University of Minnesota in 1968 and a Ph.D. in botany from the University of California, Berkeley in 1974. Kennedy and his wife, Mary, a professor of biochemistry at Maine, have four sons.

ATHLETIC ADMINISTRATION

Blake James

Interim Athletic Director

Blake James was named Interim Athletic Director by President Robert Kennedy and began his duties on July 23, 2005. He served the past two years at Maine as the Senior Associate Athletic Director, overseeing marketing, ticketing, retail operations, athletic development along with men’s and women’s track and field and cross country, men’s soccer, men’s basketball and baseball.

Prior to coming to Maine, he worked in athletic development at Providence College, where he established the “Friars Forever” campaign and the Friar Athletic Fund. He began his career at the University of Miami where he worked in corporate sales and athletic development with former Maine Athletic Director Patrick Nero. James also worked at the University of Nebraska.

He received a bachelor’s degree in marketing in 1992 from Minnesota State University – Mankato and earned a master’s degree from St. Thomas University (Miami, FL) in 1994. James and his wife, Kelly, reside in Veastie with their daughter, Haley, and son, Ryan.

Terry Kix

Senior Women’s Administrator

Terry Kix is entering her third year as Maine’s Senior Women’s Administrator, overseeing several areas, including summer camps and student-athlete services.

She is also in her 15th year as head coach of the Maine field hockey team. In 2002 and 2003 she led her team to a spot in the America East Championship game, while the team reached the conference tournament each of the last four seasons. She has earned America East Coach of the Year honors three times (1995, 1997, 2002). Overall she has compiled a record of 161-102-5, including 1996 and 1994 ECAC Championship.

A 1985 graduate of the University of Connecticut with a degree in sports marketing, Kix was a celebrated athlete while playing for the Huskies. She was a member of the 1981 National Championship team, and participated in the final four each of her four seasons at UConn. She earned All-America honors during her junior and senior years.
Academic Support and Life Skills

Academic Support

The University of Maine is committed to offering a comprehensive academic support program in conjunction with other University of Maine resources which can assist student-athletes in succeeding in their studies. Students must work just as intensely in the classroom as they do on the court, field, or ice in order to excel. Services include a variety of progressive and pro-active support programs which can assist the student-athlete in developing academically, professionally and personally throughout their college years.

Once on campus, first year student-athletes participate in orientation programs covering athletics, eligibility, and resources available on campus. These programs draw together many campus elements and provide opportunities to discover all that Maine has to offer both academically and culturally.

Academic Support Counselors provide:
- Discussion of goals and academic plans
- Ongoing academic eligibility, degree progress and NCAA certification
- Consultation for class registration
- First-year orientation programs
- Tutoring services
- Academic progress checks
- Individual meetings
- Monitored study hours

Academic Progress Monitored. The Athletic Academic Counseling staff monitors student-athletes’ academic progress throughout their college careers to ensure academic success in their chosen degree programs. To enhance knowledge of progress throughout the semester, academic progress reports are sent to course instructors twice each semester. In addition, student athletes report grades regularly to their assigned counselor and receive information regarding their status in meeting University of Maine and NCAA academic requirements.

Tutoring Services. The Tutor Program provides free tutors for all University of Maine students who need academic assistance in 100 & 200 level courses. The Tutor Program’s role is to help students “learn how-to-learn” course material and how to utilize the resources available on campus. Athletic Tutoring is also available through Academic Support Services as a supplement to class lecture and readings. Peer tutors meet student-athletes once or twice weekly to review course material, answer questions and prepare for upcoming exams.

Services for Students with Disabilities. The University of Maine Disability Support Services facilitates the education of any University of Maine student with diagnosed physical or learning disabilities by providing a point of accommodation and services to enhance success. In collaboration with these services, student-athletes receive additional support from a learning disability specialist on the Academic Support staff. Student-athlete referrals are made on an individualized basis.

Sezak Academic Center. In addition to several computer clusters available to all University of Maine students, student-athletes have exclusive use of computers (IBM and Macintosh) in the Sam and Ethel Sezak Academic Center. Computers in this facility are networked to the Fogler Library, campus intranet, and the Internet. This monitored study center is open at accommodating hours to fill the needs of student-athletes’ hectic schedules. Student-athletes take advantage by utilizing the Academic Center for obtaining required study table hours. In addition, ten IBM compatible laptop computers are available to student-athletes to use when traveling to athletic competitions.

Academic Achievement. In addition to the many conference and national honors, each spring the athletic department honors Maine’s Scholar Athletes, those student-athletes earning a 3.0 minimum GPA for the year. In 2005, a total of 171 student-athletes earned this distinction. In addition, 56 first-year students were honored as “Rising Stars” for earning a 3.0 or better in their first semester at Maine. The total of 227 honorees is the largest group in the history of the program, representing over 50% of the students who participate in Intercollegiate Athletics at Maine. In 2004, Maine was awarded the America East Academic Cup, representing the highest GPA among member schools with a 3.12 overall average.

In 2005, Maine again posted a 3.12 overall GPA, finishing second in the conference.

Life Skills

The goal of the life skills program is to assist student-athletes as students, citizens and aspiring professionals.

Life Skills Seminars. Student-athletes work with the Life Skills Coordinator and campus members to design and participate in life skills workshops covering a variety of areas: career development, team building, alcohol and drug education, and nutrition.

Multicultural Programs. The University of Maine and its Athletic Department have a commitment to supporting diversity within the campus community. A liaison relationship involving full-time staff members has developed between the Office of Multicultural Affairs and the Department of Athletics to promote an appreciation of diversity and to serve the student-athletes of different cultures.

Student-Athlete Advisory Committee. This organization is composed of members from each of the intercollegiate sports teams and meets with athletic and academic administrators regularly to help streamline and promote efficient communication between the athletic department administration and the student-athlete population. SAAC acknowledges the unique contribution student-athletes provide to the collegiate and community climate, and remains committed to positive involvement and excellence in each.

Outreach. Opportunities exist through the Community Outreach Program for student-athletes to gain public speaking experience while they give back to the community. Student-athletes speak at numerous schools and community groups during the year, including the “Winter Kids Program” which encourages 5th, 6th and 7th graders to commit to fun and healthy winter lifestyles.

Left: Kim Corbiit (women’s basketball) and Aaron Izaryk (baseball) were the 2005 M Club Dean Smith Award recipients. The M Club Dean Smith Awards are presented to the top male and female student-athlete for outstanding academic and athletic achievement.

Right: Academic Support staff Ann Maxim and Cristina Kerliske accept the 2004 America East Academic Cup.
SPORTS MEDICINE

College athletics places extreme physical demands on the players. To meet this reality, Maine has a highly respected sports medicine staff to help its student-athletes with any health related situation.

The Maine sports medicine team includes six full-time and one graduate assistant certified athletic trainers, a team physician, an orthopaedic physicians, a wide variety of medical specialists and student-athletic trainers. The Maine team physician, Dr. Craig W. Curtis, holds a doctor's clinics on campus four days per week, and the orthopaedic physician holds clinic once per week. In addition, a physical therapist is in the athletic training room three days per week, and a team podiatrist visits bi-monthly. Other specialists on the Maine athletic health care team include an optometrist, a chiropractor and a dentist.

The staff is headquartered in the Mike Kessock Sports Medicine Center, located in the Memorial Gymnasium, and houses some of the newest technology in the field of sports medicine. This facility, located inside Memorial Gym, serves all injury prevention, treatment and rehabilitation needs of the student-athlete.

The Cutler Student Health Center, located adjacent to Memorial Gym, also serves as an on-campus resource capable of handling x-rays and laboratory work for student-athletes.

Maine hockey players will be treated this season in facilities located in the Shawn Walsh Hockey Center. The sports medicine facility is divided into two areas - a hydro room and a therapy room. The focal point of the hydro room is a Hydroworx 500 series therapy pool. The pool includes jets that provide a current for resistance training along with an underwater treadmill. Also included in the hydro room are two whirlpool tubs. The therapy room includes three treatment tables, two tap-ing stations, and standard therapeutic modalities.

Prevention of injury is a primary focus of the athletic training staff. Black Bear ice hockey players are screened for conditions which could predispose them to injury and placed on programs to prevent these injuries.

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

The Maine strength and conditioning program is a sophisticated blend of science, technology, nutrition, and one-on-one attention to each athlete. Maine ice hockey players make a year-round commitment to physically preparing to play their sport at the highest level.

That physical preparation addresses numerous components that are critical to athletic success, including strength, speed, power, agility, flexibility, metabolic conditioning, and motivation. The Maine strength and conditioning staff tailors a strength and conditioning program that matches the student-athlete’s individual needs with the sport-specific physical demands.

Maine hockey players will train this season in a new facility in the Shawn Walsh Hockey Center. The 2,000 square foot weight room contains four multi-purpose power racks, four benches, custom-made dumbbells ranging from five to 100 pounds, four Olympic platforms with weights and bars, along with several selectorized machines. For cardiovascular work, six stationary bikes are provided, along with a stairmaster. A Woodway Force treadmill is also available, which provides a challenging workout with resistance. The area also includes room for a slide board and plyometric training.

Maine hockey players can also use the Intercollegiate Athletic Strength Center, located in the Memorial Gymnasium. The 1,600-square foot facility contains more than 8,000 pounds of weight, four multi-purpose power racks, four bench press stations, dumbbells ranging from five to 130 pounds, and numerous selectorized machines.

In addition, the Latti Fitness Center is also used by the Black Bears. The 5,000-square foot facility, located in Memorial Gym next to Wallace Pool, was first dedicated on October 6, 1989, and has recently been completely renovated. A total of 28 state-of-the-art cardiovascular machines and numerous selectorized machines are available.

If an injury does occur, the athlete is placed on a daily injury treatment and rehabilitation program designed to return the athlete to the ice as quickly and safely as possible. Certified athletic trainers utilize the latest in treatment and rehabilitation techniques to aggressively return the athlete to competition. All Black Bear ice hockey players are supervised by a member of the sports medicine staff from the first day of rehabilitation until total recovery has occurred.
The University of Maine Athletic Department continued a tradition of success during the 2004-05 academic year. Overall, eight teams reached postseason play and two teams won America East titles. Men’s ice hockey and baseball participated in the NCAA Tournament. While the Black Bears were excelling in competition, they also excelled in the classroom.

Academic Success: Maine finished second with a 3.12 grade point average for the America East Academic Cup after winning the Academic Cup in 2004. Men’s cross country, men’s outdoor track and field, volleyball and field hockey led the conference in team grade point averages. Softball and women’s swimming led America East in honor roll selections. Maine’s women’s ice hockey team led Hockey East in conference academic honor roll selections. Individually, more than half of all student-athletes were named Maine Scholar-Athletes with a grade point average of 3.0 or better.

Athletic Success: In the fall of 2004, the Black Bears began the season strong as the women’s soccer team and the volleyball team advanced to the America East Conference Championship game. Men’s cross country won their first America East title. The football team posted a 9-7 win over Mississippi State for the team’s first ever win over a Division I-A opponent.

The winter teams continued to build upon the success of the fall sports. The women’s basketball team won the regular-season America East title and played in the WNIT for the second time in three years. Men’s ice hockey reached the NCAA Tournament for the seventh straight season.

In the spring, the baseball team won the America East title and defeated Southern Mississippi in the NCAA Regionals held at Ole Miss.

Overall, the combination of athletic and academic success has enabled the University of Maine to build one of the strongest athletic programs in New England.

Right: Mike Lansing led the men’s cross country team to their first America East Championship. He added individual championships in the indoor 3000 meters, outdoor 5000 meters and outdooor 5000 meters. University of Maine Traditions

The Stein Song

Maine's Stein Song is one of the most recognizable fight songs in the country. Written in 1910 by Lincoln Colcord and made popular by Rudy Vallée, University of Maine Class of 1925, it became number one on the pop charts of that day. The song was named the nation's sixth best fight song in the 1998 book, College Fight Songs: An Annotated Anthology. The song is played at a variety of events on campus, including sporting events and graduation.

The Maine Stein Song
Fill... the steins to dear old Maine,
Shout 'til the rafters ring!
Stand... and drink a toast once again!
Let every loyal Maine man sing.
Drink... to all the happy hours.
Drink to the carefree days,
Drink... to Maine, our Alma Mater,
The college of our hearts always.

To the trees, to the sky!
To the spring in its glorious happiness;
To the youth, to the fire
To the life that is moving and calling us!
To the Gods, to the Fates
To the rulers of men and their destinies;
To the lips, to the eyes,
To the ones who will love us someday!

Fill... the steins to dear old Maine,
Shout 'til the rafters ring!
Stand... and drink a toast once again!
Let every loyal Maine man sing.
Drink... to all the happy hours.
Drink to the carefree days,
Drink... to Maine, our Alma Mater,
The college of our hearts always.

Bananas - The Black Bear

The black bear has been the mascot of the University of Maine since 1914.

Jeff, a black bear cub who was found on the slopes of Mt. Katahdin in that year, was loaned to the university by Old Town police chief O.B. Fernandez, who hoped that the bear might bring good luck to the football team.

Jeff made his debut at a rally in preparation for the Colby game, and as he entered the auditorium, the surprised crowd applauded enthusiastically. Thinking it only proper thing to do, Jeff gratefully stood on his head; the crowd went "bananas!"

Maine went on to whip Colby 31-6, and Maine has been going "bananas" for Black Bears ever since.

Former track and cross country captain Lloyd E. Houghton '42 presented the university with its own black bear cub the following year, and, remembering Jeff's enthusiastic welcome he suggested that the cub be named, Bananas.

At least 15 different black bears have carried on the name "Bananas" until the practice of having live mascots was banned after the death of "Cindy Bananas" in 1966.

In 1969, the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity began providing a "human Bananas" as a service to the university, and they continue to do so today. Additional support is provided by the Graduate M Club and the Maine General Alumni Association.

Bananas entertains at Maine athletic contests and other university special events, and also takes part in a variety of community activities and events.

In the fall of 2004, a newly designed "Bananas" mascot was unveiled at the first home football game. The "new" Bananas (pictured) will serve as the mascot for years to come.

University Crest

The University Crest embodies the history of the University of Maine and its position as the flagship university of the University of Maine System. The three flags inside the crest represent the institution's flagship status and symbolize its mission of teaching, research and public service.

Maine's natural resources, and the university's position as a land-grant university and sea-grant college, are depicted in the colors of pale blue and navy blue that stand for the sea and sky.

Maine Day

In 1935 President Arthur Hauck inaugurated "Maine Day," a day set aside for "spring clean-up" of the campus. Classes are suspended for the day and all of the campus community — students, faculty, staff, and alumni — pitch in to spruce up the campus. The day kicks off with a wake-up parade, followed by work projects throughout the morning. A gigantic barbecue is held in the steam plant parking lot at lunch-time for all volunteers. In the afternoon student teams compete for the "cooeeball championship" — volleyball played in the mud.

Athletic Success

Several Black Bears teams have excelled to regional and national prominence, including the Black Bear men's ice hockey team, the 1993 and 1999 NCAA Division I national champions. In the last 19 years and 22 of the last 23, at least one Black Bear sports team has competed in an NCAA Championship. The Black Bears captured their first national title in 1993 when they defeated Lake Superior State University, 5-4, then captured the 1999 NCAA crown with a 3-2 win over New Hampshire. The baseball team has made seven appearances in the College World Series.
There is no doubt that Alfond Arena is home to the greatest fans in college hockey. Anyone who has experienced the facility's big-game atmosphere knows how special a place Alfond Arena is. It is this passion and enthusiasm that truly gives the Black Bears a home ice advantage.

While this building remains one of the best places to see a college hockey game, some of its amenities have been improved, making Alfond Arena a better hockey facility to train and compete in. The University of Maine officially began construction on the Shawn Walsh Hockey Center in June of 2004. Locker rooms, office spaces, strength and conditioning areas, and the athletic training room have been enhanced for the men's and women's programs. These changes will better the student-athlete experience, assist with continuing to draw high-caliber student-athletes to Maine, and provide current Black Bears the best training areas to prepare for competition. In addition, fan-friendly improvements to concession areas, the sound system, and Bear Necessities, along with a new Hall of Fame that boasts Maine's proud athletic history, will complete the Alfond Arena makeover.

In recognition of his accomplishments as a coach and the visionary of the men's ice hockey program, the University of Maine is dedicating this project in memory of Shawn Walsh. The Shawn Walsh Hockey Center at Alfond Arena will provide the necessary improvements to keep the Black Bear men's and women's hockey programs among the nation's best.

While construction is nearly complete, fundraising for the project continues. For information on contributing, please contact the Black Bear Club at 207-581-1130.

Harold Alfond Sports Arena

One of the finest college hockey facilities in the country, the Harold Alfond Sports Arena has served the University community since 1977. Completed in February of that year, the building was dedicated by Mr. Alfond and officials of the University on November 18 at the Maine-Acadia hockey game.

Thanks to the demand of sellout-after-sellout at the old capacity of 3,800 and a $2 million gift from Mr. Alfond, Alfond Arena underwent a significant expansion project prior to the 1991-92 season.

Mr. Alfond's generous gift represented, at the time, the largest one-time (non-posthumous) cash contribution ever received by the University of Maine. Since 1968, Mr. Alfond has donated more than $6.5 million to the University of Maine.

The construction provided an additional 1,200 seats to each side of the Arena, to increase the capacity to over 5,200 for hockey games. In 1998, additional luxury boxes were added giving the arena its current capacity of 5,641.

Included in the Arena expansion were additional concession areas and rest rooms, locker rooms, ticket offices, souvenir stands and improved media facilities. With the expansion, Alfond Arena also became the home of the Black Bear basketball teams, which had played home games at the Bangor Auditorium from 1988-91.

In addition to being the home of the Black Bears, the building is used by youth, high school and senior hockey leagues, and for concerts and graduation ceremonies.

Alfond Arena was originally built with the generous contributions of more than 2,000 people, headed by Mr. Alfond. An addition to the south end of the Arena in 1988 houses the Black Bears' impressive locker room facility, which includes fully equipped weight and training rooms. Included in that expansion project was an attractive lounge for use by the hockey program and the university community.

In 1990, an office addition was completed, providing the coaching and administrative staffs much needed room to perform effectively. The women's ice hockey team played their first game in Alfond Arena in 1997, a 3-2 win over Sacred Heart. Over the past seven seasons, the women's ice hockey team has continued to build a strong fan base at Alfond Arena.

During 2004–05, renovations were completed during the construction of the Shawn Walsh Hockey Center that included renovated men's, women's, and visitor's locker rooms. Inside the arena, a new Hockey Hall of Fame, Bear Necessities and concessions areas were added to improve the fan experience at Alfond Arena.
