Interesting Speakers
Here for Maine NightStudents Formed by Classes and Marched Into Hall. Meeting Was Most Spirited of Many Years.

Friday night, November 4, was celebrated all over the country, and especially at the University of Maine, as Maine Night. The meeting was characterized by spirit and pep, both on the part of the speakers and on the part of the students, in fact it is considered to have been the most spirited of any in several years.

The students formed by classes outside of the hall, the seniors meeting on the lower floor of Coburn Hall, the juniors at Lord, the sophomores at Aubert and the freshmen on the upper floor of Coburn. The co-eds formed at Balentine and Mount Vernon and marched to the hall, where a special section had been reserved for them. The other classes followed in order, the seniors first. The freshmen, as usual, occupied the balcony. It was noticeable that while the freshmen cheered for '25, they also cheered for '24 and most of all for Maine. The general trend was toward a united effort for Maine rather than by classes. This was shown by the announcement later in the evening that the parade onto the field on Saturday would not be divided according to classes.

After the students were assembled in their places, the speakers and football team marched in to the accompaniment of cheers and hand clapping. "Cal" Sargent, acting as cheerleader, called for several cheers for the team and for Maine.

"Buck" Fifield introduced Judge, "Dutch" Bernheisel who acted as chairman for the rest of the evening. "Dutch" was a prominent football player of the class of '15, playing end and quarterback. He acted as chairman in a most efficient manner and proved to be a pleasing and spirited speaker.

The first speaker introduced was Paul Murray who played as tackle during his football days of '11, '12, and '13. He spoke on Maine Spirit in a manner which convinced one that he knew what he was talking about. He believed that the fraternities could help the team by

Chemical Society Shows
Motion Picture Here

The Department of Chemistry under the direction of Professor C. A. Brautlecht, exhibited motion pictures, on the evening of November 2, in Alumni Hall, illustrating the manufacture of coke; the process of making iron pipe from the iron ore and on sandstone products. These pictures were shown in cooperation with the United States Bureau of Mines and were open to all students interested in chemical engineering. The pictures were instructive and were enjoyed by those present.

On Wednesday, Nov. 9, there will be a meeting of the local Maine branch of the American Chemical Society in Room 335 of Aubert Hall.

Hold Tryouts for Girls'
Glee Club This Week

Tryouts for the Glee Club are to be held this week. Those in the Operetta of last year are eligible if their ranks are satisfactory and all others who wish are invited to try out for it.

Lucy Chamberlaine, is leader of the Club this year, "Betty" Hunt is her assistant, and "Bert Smith" is manager.

The prospects for the Club are very good for there is much material among new and old students. The concert program will include selections by the mandolin Club of which Edyth Twitchell is director.

Prof. J. H. Toelle
Speaks in Chapel

Prof. J. H. Toelle of the Department of Economics spoke at chapel Monday and Tuesday in behalf of the program which the Economics Club presents this week for the benefit of the student body. He gave a terse summary of the subject matter with which two fine speakers are to deal, namely the Disarmament Conference at Washington. The first man is Bishop Brewster of Portland who takes this for his subject exclusively on Wednesday at 30 Coburn Hall.

Professor Toelle quoted Postmaster-General Hays as saying that this coming conference is the most momentous thing in present day events and mentioned the importance of the great leaders who are to be present such figures as Briand and Viviani, orators of France, Lloyd George Balfour and Leigh, men of political fame in England. He mentioned the importance of the reception which the men at Washington will give these representatives, whether they will be wearing palm beach suits or overcoats, figuratively speaking.

Professor Pitcairn of Columbia is the second speaker which the Economics Club has secured to address an audience on Friday evening on the present day conditions in Japan and the Orient in their relation to the Washington conference.

"The coming events should be regarded as of great importance," Professor Toelle urged, "for both men bring messages."

Mr. Moulton Talks to
The Senior Electricals

On Thursday morning October 27, the seniors in electrical engineering enjoyed a short talk by Mr. A. B. Moulton '18. Mr. Moulton is connected with the Radio Corporation of America and is engaged in research work for them. H. H. Beveridge '15 is closely associated with him there.

They are engaged in experimental radio work in studying and in perfecting new apparatus that is being put on the market.

During the course of his lecture Moulton dwelt on some of the recent developments in radio art. Much interest was aroused in his description of the developments in perfecting an eight mile aerial to be controlled at one end. Much work is being done in perfecting this.

Among other interesting things he mentioned that he intended to go to Warsaw in the near future to carry out preliminary investigations for a high power radio plant which the Polish government is seeking to erect. The plans for the radio station call for an expenditure of several million dollars. H. R. Butler '20 will accompany him.

Crawford Adams Opens
Lyceum Entertainments

A large audience greeted the Crawford Adams Concert Company in the Chapel Thursday evening and for two hours listened to a fine musical programme. Crawford Adams, violinist, who is always warmly welcomed, responded again and again to the enthusiastic encores. The pianist gave several fine selections and the reader was greatly enjoyed, being especially pleasing in her interpretation of childhood.

Bishop Hughes Speaks
To a Large Audience

A crowded chapel greeted Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of the Methodist Episcopal Church on Sunday evening, November 6, 1921, when he gave a very interesting and educational lecture to the students and their friends.

Mh. Clark, Secretary of the M. C. A., acted as chairman and introduced the other speakers, who were Rev. Clinton Wilson of the United Parish Church, Rev. Fairchild of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. Sherman of the Baptist Church in Old Town and Rev. Whiteside, District Superintendent of the Methodist Church.

After a short song service, followed by a prayer by Rev. Clinton Wilson, Bishop Hughes was introduced.

The lecture of Bishop Hughes was based on four words in the parable of the Prodigal Son, "He came to himself." The main point of all that he had to say was that the religious life is the natural life, and that when we go away from it, we go away from ourselves, and when we come back, we simply come back to ourselves.

For a period of five years, Bishop Hughes was president of a college in the Central West and 2500 students passed under his trust. He always corresponded with the students before they came to register and on registration day had them so well catalogued that he knew John Smith was coming from a certain town and that Brown was coming from still another town. From his experience in dealing with students, he divided them into two classes. In the first class are those who know it all the day they arrive, and in the second class are those who will admit they don't know much.

The student who goes to church on Sunday and listens to a sermon on repentance may come away disgusted because he can find no application for that in his daily work. The next Sunday, he may go again to church and the text is "Have Faith in God."

There are two reasons to account for the fact that the student is in college. By coming to college he admits that he doesn't know much—which is repentance and secondly, that he is glad of the chance to know more—which is faith.

Katherine Sargent Is Chosen for Delegate

At a meeting of the Student Government Association held in Coburn Hall, Monday noon, Katherine Sargent was elected as representative of our Student Association to attend the National Student Government Convention at Simmons College.

After this election Miss Roach, Agent for Student Volunteer Missionaries talked to the girls, giving them an idea of conditions in colleges in America, China, and Japan. In Japan, the women are studying for the purpose of bringing freedom to women. Missions enter in this work in all of its phases, for only by this work does one gain the most intimate knowledge of the people and their customs. In China, missionary work is mostly the development of latent capacities while in South America, people go in for too much freedom and one has to suggest restrictions there.

Miss Roach is a young woman of marked initiative and she left with the girls an impression that she is one who can think and do and who can lead others to do the same. She made a strong appeal to the girls to remember that big things are done, not only for self but for others.

Professor Pollard Will Speak at County Rallies

The State Department of Education has started a new system of county rallies. These rallies are under the supervision of the Extension Department of the University of Maine.

Prof. Pollard will speak at the following places: Foxcroft, Nov. 9; Skowhegan, Nov. 10; Farmington, Nov. 18. Miss Chadbourne will speak in Belfast. This movement has just started and more information will be given later.

Bowdoin Defeats Maine
First Time in a DecadeHard Battle on a Muddy Field Results in 14-7 Score. Small Makes Most Spectacular Play.Bates Team Wins First Place in Cross Country

Bates College for the second time in its history won the annual State Cross Country Championship with Captain Ray Baker as the individual winner. Captain Bill Hart of Bowdoin started a fast pace from Alumni Field and held first position until the last mile and a half of the race when Baker easily took the pace and kept it until the end.

The stamina and pluck of the Bates runner was shown by his remarkable finish, completing the last mile of the race with his left foot bare, having lost his shoe in the mud.

The day was anything but auspicious for a cross country grind. Thursday night, there was a downpour of rain and Friday morning a drizzle of snow and rain, making the course muddy and rain soaked.

Maine men were fairly well grouped thruout the contest and it was evident from the beginning the real contender would be Bates. Johnny Barnard, last year's captain and veteran harrier was forced to leave the course at the top of the standpipe hill, due to cramps. The first to cross the tape for the blue and white was Captain Herrick 3, followed in turn by the four other men who counted: McKeeman 6, Patten 9, Berg 11, Laughlin 13. McKeeman and Patten are new men in the cross country game and should prove valuable additions to the team.

The record of the standpipe course is 32 minutes flat and Baker's time Friday was 34 minutes and 15 seconds.

Preliminary Rally
Held Friday Noon

A short rally was held Friday noon for the purpose of "settling the dope concerning the meet and the football game," to quote Manager Fifield. After a band selection and a few rousing cheers led by Ned Lawrence, Manager Fifield urged once more that the students spread over the course during the state meet and cheer the boys along. He then assigned meeting-places for all of the classes Maine Night and indicated the order in which they were to enter the hall.

He announced that in the parade before the Bowdoin-Maine game, all students were to mingle, instead of going in order of classes as usual. This was to give the freshmen a chance to learn the cheers. Men owning white sweaters were requested to hand in their names, as a new plan—of forming a white block M on the bleachers—was to be tried out. He strongly emphasized the fact that only students were to be allowed in the bleachers, and said that in order to enforce this rule, all student season tickets were to be collected as the parade passed through the gate. The meeting closed with the Stein Song.

University Orchestra Makes
First Appearance

The University orchestra made its first public appearance on Wednesday, November 1 at chapel service. The two selections "Les Petits Pas" and "The Blaze of Glory" were played under the direction of Perry Boyd '22, leader of the organization and showed a group of efficient musicians ably handled. The performance was repeated on Thursday and all who heard the orchestra forecast a good season for the representatives of the college along musical lines.

On a muddy field, swept by a gale of snow and rain, Maine met her first defeat in twelve years at the hands of her old rival, Bowdoin. The game was witnessed by a record crowd, who defied wind and sleet to see Saturday's battle for the state championship. The Blue warriors fought hard to the very end, but an unlucky break and clever work by McCurdy and Eames gave Bowdoin the advantage in the first few minutes of play, resulting in the final score of 14 to 7.

After a short kick which went off side before it had gone 15 yards, Maine kicked off to Bowdoin. The ball was received by Morrill, who was downed on Bowdoin's 31 yard line. The White team punted on the first down, and, with the advantage of the gale, the long kick rolled over the Maine goal line. Failing to make first down Maine returned the punt. The ball was stopped on Bowdoin's 45 yard line, where Morrill fumbled and was nailed for a loss by Dwelley. Small made a substantial gain of 12 yards, but in the next three plays Maine failed to gain ground.

Bowdoin was penalized and Small tried to punt, but the White players broke thru and were down upon him almost before he received the ball. McCurdy blocked the kick, recovered the ball, and with the aid of Eames dashed 35 yards to the first touchdown of the game. Smith kicked the goal making the score 7 to 0 with Bowdoin in the lead. Maine received the kick and Cohen

Campus Board Plans
Dance Program This Year

The "Campus" board has selected a committee to carry out a dance program this year. An afternoon dance will be given in the gym sometime before the Christmas vacation. This dance will be in progress all afternoon and those who have one hour or more at leisure can easily avail themselves of this opportunity to enjoy a few hours of inexpensive recreation.

A more elaborate affair is to be given later on, in the gym also. This dance will be held in the evening and the gym will be decorated for the occasion. For this event the board intends to edit a "scandal sheet," composed of personals, witticisms and campus talk. These will be distributed at intermission, and the only way to obtain these sheets will be to attend the dance.

These dances are for the sole benefit of the student body and readers of the "Campus," as all proceeds are to be used for the purpose of inserting more and better cuts in this paper. More information regarding dates and so forth will be printed later.

Enforce New Rule for Reporting Deficiencies

A new ruling has been put into effect this year by the Deans of the University, requiring the instructor to report to them, semi-monthly, the names of all students who are doing unsatisfactory work in their studies. All students who are thus found to be down in their standing are notified at once, in order that they may be warned in time to get busy and bring their ranks up, either by better application, or by individual help from their instructors.

This system should be particularly effective in keeping the athletes eligible, as well as students who represent the University in other activities, for in most cases in the past, students who were getting low rank did not realize it until it was too late to do better.

A Coat Checking System

At the dance in Alumni Hall Saturday evening, November 5, three overcoats were stolen from students who were at the dance and left their coats in No. 1 Alumni. This is the first time for many years that a loss of this kind has occurred. It seems to us that this incident brings home to us more strongly than ever before the need of some system of coat checking.

The only available place left in Alumni Hall seem to be in Room No. 3 and in the chapel. It seems to us that either one of these places could be fitted up and used for a check room.

This check room could be managed by one of the organizations on the Campus or by some worthy individuals to be designated by the board of administration on application to them.

We believe the students would much rather pay five cents for the proper care and protection of coats and wraps than to run the risk of their being stolen.

We now have wireless news service and airplane flights as a daily event. What next?

Support Chapel

The chapel exercises as a whole have proven very satisfactory, everyone is agreed, but there is one part of the exercises which is not receiving its proportional part of the support. That is the singing.

The students are not cooperating with the leader in an attempt to make the singing as good as possible. Do not be content to stand idly by and "let George do it"—sing as best you are able and don't worry about disturbing those in front of you, they should not sleep during chapel anyway. Let us make the next chapel sing the best ever!

The fighting spirit of Maine was demonstrated in a most conclusive manner at the game Saturday and the cross country run Friday. The fight shown by the teams and the support given them by the student body was something to be proud of. Altho both teams fought a losing battle they represented their University well.

Maine Spring to Appear Some Time This Month

The Editorial Board of the "Maine-Spring" is planning for the first edition of the paper to be out before Thanksgiving. In spite of the difficulties which have been met, an unusually fine edition is promised. The type will be larger and the page will be the usual magazine size.

The probable contents of the first edition are as follows:

Story: "The Tangled Web," Ruth Tucker.

Verse: "Just Autumn," Mary McLean.

Essay: "To Those Who Died," Harriet Weatherbee.

Sketch: "On Cora's Gate," Marion Day.

Verse: "On Moving," Carl Stevens.

Story: "You'll Love Her, I Know," Grace Reed.

Verse: "Seieng it Thru," A. L. T. Cummings.

Essay: "Stradivarius," John McNeerney.

Story: "The Hare and the Tortoise," Carl Stevens.

Story: "Spell of the North," Arabelle Hamilton.

Verse: "Autumn Dirge," Anonymous.

Story: "Old Stuff," W. Webling Jr.

The lateness in getting out this edition will make the second number come out soon after. The editors are working on this second edition now. Contributions both of verse and poetry are solicited. Anonymous writings are not desired. However, the name of the writer will be withheld if it is so desired. Local matter is not accepted. A subscription drive is now going on. Each new subscriber is helping to advertise and finance the publication.

The Fruit Show Was Very Great Success

The Horticultural Department made a big name for itself Tuesday and Wednesday, October 25-26 when it held its big exhibit of fruits and flowers. The purposes of holding this show were two fold. In the first place it was of great educational value to those horticultural students who are interested in producing fruit, flowers, etc. Secondly, and perhaps of more immediate importance, was the purpose of raising funds to help defray the expenses of an apple judging team which is going to the New England Fruit Show to engage in an apple judging competition.

This fruit exhibit was staged on the afternoon and evening of Tuesday and Wednesday, October 25 and 26. The agricultural club had charge of the affair and the general committee was composed of Tibbetts, Eastman and Hatch. This committee was aided by a committee on advertising, one on decorations, a police committee and a special committee on side-shows. Wednesday night was feature night when all the side shows were going full force. Each show had its own "barker" who yelled the merits of his show in an enticing manner. The booth that was perhaps most popular was conducted by the freshmen in the course. This consisted of hitting the "nigger" on the head, not with base balls but with rotten apples. A wrestling match between "Strangler" Lewis and "Kid" Davis, also conducted by the freshmen, drew large crowds of wrestling fans. Another feature of importance was the fortune-telling. The "barker" and clown, Miss Katherine Dennison, drew numbers of the spectators to have their past, present and future told by Miss Frankie Webster.

In addition to these were a number of others which assisted nobly in collecting the expenses of the apple-judging team. Among them was the fat man which was indeed a sight which amazed many. In fact, medical men have studied this fat man for years endeavoring to uncover the mysteries which surround him. Then there were games of chance, wild men and menageries, all of which were patronized by numbers of the visitors throughout the evening. Large num-

Theta Chi Initiation Was Held Last Week

Probably the most widely talked of event of the past week was the Theta Chi initiation. Last Wednesday the initiates presented on the campus, a miniature circus.

The men were dressed to represent the various parts. Undoubtedly the best make up was the parody on the Maine band, impersonated by "Mike" Allen. Two of the initiates staged a gladiatorial combat, accompanied by music from the "Maine Band". The task imposed on one of the initiates was to obtain girls' signatures on the back of a cupie doll. Unfortunately, the doll has been lost. Earnest Scott and Arthur Huston were detailed to announce in the girls' dormitories the fact that a reward will be paid to the person who returns the missing doll.

The initiates are: Allen, Wm M.; Bouchard, George; Huston, Arthur; Lincoln, Frank; Malloy, Walter; Nowland, James; Reid, Reginald; Savage, Hoyt; Scott, Earnest; and Titcomb, Byron. The initiation began October 17, and will be fully terminated with the presentation of the initiation banquet to be held Maine Night.

Contributors' Club Holds Meeting Nov. 2

The Contributors' Club meeting was held Wednesday evening at the home of A. L. T. Cummings. A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Thelma Kellogg.

Following the business meeting, Dean Stevens gave a short sketch on the purpose of the short story and read a short story of his own production entitled, "A Matter of Life or Death."

After a discussion of this paper, Isreal Chasman read a prose poem, "Eden Flowers" which was greatly enjoyed by the members of the Club. His purpose in writing this paper was to obtain the criticism of the members of the club in their discussion of it.

Refreshments of ice cream, cake, and punch, were served, thus closing another successful meeting of the Contributors' Club.

J. L. Bernard Gives a Talk to Physics Club

Mr. J. L. Bernard gave a very interesting talk at Physics Club meeting on the organization and building up of an air mail service. This movement was started by a man named Pregor who got $1,500,000 from the government to establish a mail route from New York to Washington. The first flight was made in 1918 and took a period of two hours. When organized they flew by night, carrying 400 lbs. of 1st class mail at 2 cents, 40 letters being considered a pound.

Some of the difficulties to be overcome are, bad weather, mountainous country, danger from fire, and cold weather. Some of the principal causes of fire are: back-firing of motor, vibration of gas lines, and breaking of a connecting rod. All these menaces have been overcome as much as possible by inventions which improve the machinery that is faulty.

One of the main air routes of mail service today is the route between N. Y. city and Sacramento. This trip was first flown in 1919, the time required for the entire flight being 39 hours. Today large planes are used which carry 2000 lbs. of mail or approximately 80,000 letters per trip. Each trip costs about $2200.00. The revenue from the mail carried amounts to $3100 so that the mail route is more than self-supporting.

Mh. Bernard also mentioned the great aid that the radio compass and telephone are to the aviator and the need at the present time of men acquainted with this kind of work. The lecture was very interesting, especially because of the accounts of some of Mr. Bernard's own experiences as a pilot.

Many Alumni Return For Maine-Bowdoin Game

A few of the alumni back for Maine Night were:

Paul Murray '14, Kenneth Colbath '20, Clifford Dennison '19, Winthrop Mc Bride '21, Art Lowell '21, Hi Donohue '15, Verne Beverly '20, George Potter '20, Roger Woodman '20, Roger Castle '21, Harold Pratt '21, Harold Sawyer ex-'22, James E. DeRocher ex-'21, William Cobb '21, Lee Shorey ex-'20, Alonzo Tuck ex-'20, Darrell Harvey ex-'23, Willard Wight '20, John Walker '20, Donald Cody '21, Donald Small, Leslie Bannister '20, Helen Clark Potter ex-'21, Eleanor McCusker ex-'23, Dorothy Hart '21, Effie Weatherby '21, Ida Anderson '21, Helen Simpson, Mary Pulsifer '20, Helen Read '21, Polly Miller '21, Corinne Furbush ex-'22, Marguerite McFadden ex-'22, Bernice Whitney ex-'20.

Have Freshman Smoker At the S. A. E. House

The third smoker of the year was held at the S. A. E. house November 1. The numerous freshmen from the various fraternities and the two dormitories arrived at 8 o'clock. The evening was spent playing cards. Pipes were given all those attending as souvenirs of the occasion. About 10 o'clock ice cream and cake were served. A flashlight picture was taken of the group. Then the remainder of the evening was spent around the fire place telling stories. The smoker broke up around eleven.

Former Maine Student Playing for West Point

A former Maine student, Walter C. White, "Woppie," is reported as playing a stellar game of football at West Point. He is filling the position of end, which is the position he held on the Maine team when he made his letter in the fall of 1916.

He is a member of the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity, and the son of Reverend Albert C. White, former pastor of the St. John's Parish, Orono.

MAPLES NOTES

Dr. and Mrs. Clark and Miss Eleanor Clark spent the week-end at the Maples with Miss Catherine Clark.

Mrs. H. W. Fifield has been spending several days with her daughter, Miss Doris Fifield.

Mr. R. M. Norwood was the guest of his daughter, Mss Hope Norwood, on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Towne of Milo were on the campus Saturday to attend the Bowdoin-Maine game.

The R. O. T. C. is to have a regular department in the "Campus" hereafter and it is the intention to have a publicity man in each company who will report upon the activities of that company.

The class in Mt. 3 enjoyed their mid-semester preliminary examination on Tuesday, November 1. The hour was passed in a pleasant review of past happenings and in deep meditation. A very enjoyable time was held by all.

On Friday afternoon the R. O. T. C. unit will take part as usual in the Armistice Day parade in Bangor. The first battalion consisting of A, B, C, and D companies will form in the gymnasium at 11:30 and take the trolley for Bangor at the University waiting room. The second battalion will form at 12 o'clock and also take the trolley for Bangor. After the parade everyone is to return to the campus at once and report. The Bangor Railway and Electric Company has very kindly offered to transport the entire unit free of charge. The officers are very well satisfied with the progress made by the men thus far and feel confident that a good showing will be made by all on Friday.

On Saturday the R. O. T. C. formed in the gymnasium instead of on Alumni Field, and after the roll call all took seats in the chapel, where they were addressed by Capt. Adams. Capt. Adams explained the plans for the Armistice Day parade and then went on to describe the organization of the R. O. T. C., its purpose, the training of officers, and its relation to the United States Army, which consists of the Regular Army, the National Guard, and the National Army. He described the method of dividing the country into corps areas, the assignment of the various units to these areas, and told what would be expected of each unit in case of war. He emphasized the need of trained officers in case of a war, and showed how the R. O. T. C. was meant to supply those officers. In conclusion he urged all freshman and sophomore students to consider carefully the proposition of whether or not to continue their military course through all four college years, thus obtaining as much military education as possible.

Junior Class Elects Officers for the Year

On Tuesday, November 8 was held the election for junior class officers. The results were as follows: Chub Thomas, president; Jerry Dunn, vice president; Boob Murchie, secretary; Joe Beckett, treasurer; Ivan Pease, chaplin; Dave Hoyt, basket ball manager; Pat Cooney, Goldie Goldsmith, Scraper Hay, Stubby March and Pete Wilson, Junior Prom Committee; Ack Ackley, Biss Bisson, Len Lord, Buck Thomas and Spider Webb, Junior Week Committee; Si Dobbins, Stan Hall, Speed Merritt, Sim Raymond and Spike Spear, Executive Committee.

Phi Kappa Phi Pledges

Phi Kappa Phi is an honorary society, founded at the University of Maine, to which members of the senior class are elected each year for excellence in scholastic standing. It has been the custom to elect the first seven members during the fall term and to elect the remainder in the spring.

In accordance with this custom, the following people have been elected to Phi Kappa Phi: Rhendena Ayer Armstrong, H. E. Rockland, Lynwood Scott Hatch, Ch. Eng., Oldtown, Stanley Jordan Johnson, Ch. Eng., Bangor, Ian McNiven Rusk, Ce., West Townsend, Mass., Perry Rufus Shean Ee., Patten, Mary Ellen Thorpe, Ms., Presque Isle, Dorothy Trefethen, H. E., Wilton.

Maine Masque Meets

A meeting of the Maine Masque was held in Estabrooke hall on Wednesday, November 2. Various topics of importance were discussed. The play "Easy Mark" was chosen as the short play to be given in combination with a dance in the near future. A faculty publicity member of the council was chosen. After considerable discussion, the constitution was amended. The meeting was closed in due form by President March.

Bishop Hughes Speaks to a Large Audience

If again the student goes to church it happens that the text is the Cross, and he says to himself, "The first Sunday, Repentance, next week, Faith, and now today the Cross," and wonders where he will hear anyone talking about the cross in the next seven days.

The young man who is studying agriculture must take up the cross of agriculture, for it means getting up at 4.30 A. M., working in the blazing sun till noon and then after a short rest, going back to work until the sun goes down, and keeps that up for forty years. When I was on my way back from a long trip in Nebraska, I saw two men, younger than myself standing on the platform with their backs stooped. What did it? They have been carrying the cross of agriculture. There isn't any easy way of being a farmer and I have made the discovery that there is a great deal of difference between an agriculturist and a farmer."

If a young man goes into business or commerce, he must also take up the cross of business. "Around Boston for instance, every morning a great crowd of men rush to catch that 7:02 train, work till noon with the possibility of a short lunch hour and then again the mad rush for the 5:15 train.

There is nothing worth doing in this life, unless we pay the price. The same thing is true with reference to the curriculum of education. It means studying that book when you would rather go to the movies or take a walk in the spring. It is true also that there isn't any easy way to become a scholar. "There is no royal road to geometry; the only way to do it, is to take up the cross."

"Weren't you deeply religious when you were a child? I sometimes wonder now after I have been preaching for 30 years, if I am as deeply religious as I was as a boy. There is something fine in each one's life if we only give it a chance to make ourselves good men and good women."

Bishop Hughes closed his speech by again calling to mind the four words "He came to himself" and requested if all his illustration were overlooked and forgotten at least to remember that "on the evening of November 6, 1921, a man stood on the chapel platform and asked you to give the angel a chance to write in glistening letters beside your name, "He came to himself."

day was 32 minutes 23 2-5 seconds. On a dry field there is little doubt that he would have lowered the mark by a minute or more.

Coach Flack is putting the team thru some hard work this week and every effort will be made to whip the team into shape for a favorable showing at the New England meet over the Franklin Park course at Boston, Saturday, November 12.

Co-eds Give a Cheer

The co-eds were not to be outdone in helping the cross-country team in the meet Friday. Balentine had its own cheering section, led by "Kay" Dennison '23, Doris Twitchell '23, Ardelle Cooney '23, and Betty Hunt '24. As the runners passed the library, the girls lined up on either side of the course, gave a few rousing cheers and a hearty handclap, before going to Alumni field to await the finish.

Thursday Club Gives Party in the Library

On Friday evening, October 28, at 8 o'clock, the Thursday Club gave a Halloween Party at the Library. The members of this club are wives of the faculty members and for this occasion the men were invited. The room was very attractively decorated. The decorating committee was composed of Mrs. Pollard and Mrs. Sweetser. The entertainment committee: Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Shibles, Mrs. Wilbur and Mrs. Brann; those on the refreshment committee: Mrs. Dorsey, Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Ashworth.

Twelve tables were arranged with a different game at each table. The winner at one table moved to another; prizes were awarded the winners of the greatest number of games. Refreshments of pumpkin pie, doughnuts, cider and big red apples were served.

The election for the Sophomore Girls' Organization was held the first of last week. The names of the nominees had been posted two weeks previous. The results were: President, Ruth Waterhouse; Vice President, Ethel M. Bird; Secretary, Anna Daley; Treasurer, Alice Doble. This is an organization of the girls only and is entirely independent of the regular sophomore class organization.

Interesting Speakers Here for Maine Night

not allowing any noise in the houses the night before the game in order that the players might get the full amount of sleep.

At the conclusion of this speech, Judge Bernheisel read some telegrams that had been received from Maine men in Boston, Washington, and New York, where meetings and banquets were being held in commemoration of Maine Night.

The second speaker of the evening was "Hamp" Bryant, Graduate Manager of Athletics. He spoke of the transition period thru which Maine athletics are now passing. He said that considerable fun had been made of the budget system which has been adopted by the Athletic Board, but that it was working satisfactorily. The finances are in good condition, about eleven hundred dollars less having been spent than was planned for under the budget. The attempt is being made to raise the scholastic standing of the athletes and keep them eligible. For this reason, the names of those who are slightly down in rank are submitted to the manager and an effort is made to help them in their studies. Thus far, only three notices have been necessary. He stated that the alumni could help Maine greatly by exerting their influence to have good preparatory school men come to Maine. Not only athletes, but also students are included among those upon whom he would exert influence.

Following a selection by the band, "Spike" Mayo was introduced. Mr. Mayo is President of the Boston Alumni Association, and Vice-President of the General Alumni Association. In his speech he said that he sees many of the graduates and can judge the tone of the University from them. Every organization has had difficulties in the last six months, but Maine is coming through in good shape. He expects two things of Maine athletics: Keep them clean, play them hard, and tell the world about it. Few people hear and know what is going on at Maine and this is one reason that more interest was not shown in the legislature last winter.

Mr. Mayo's telegrams were read, among others, one from Schenectady, N. Y. where fifteen Maine Alumni were holding a banquet for Maine Night. Another was from the Maine Alumni of Aroostook County.

Colonel Strickland, President of the Board of Trustees, was the next speaker. He spoke on the position of the trustees. He stated that they "stood for a clear field, a clean fight, and to the devil with the fellow who quits." He expressed the willingness of the Board to back the University to the limit, if the students work.

After the band had played again, it was announced that two barrels of sweet cider had been donated by Coffin '14. The announcement was met with wild cheering and hand clapping.

Other telegrams were read by the chairman, from Philadelphia and Oxford County alumni. He then introduced "Tom" Riley a University of Michigan man who coached the Maine football teams of 1911-15 which produced four championship teams. He stated at the beginning of the speech that he could not make a "peppy football talk," but it is certain that he held the entire attention of his large audience as shown by the intense and noticeable quiet which prevailed during his entire speech. He told in his speech of the work in preparation for the game with Bowdoin in 1911, as follows: Bowdoin had won from Maine for four or five years preceding 1911, and as a result it was in the hearts and minds of the Maine men that they couldn't win. It was absolutely necessary to get his idea out before Maine could defeat Bowdoin. That year there were only fifteen or sixteen on the squad, but they were all working. Riley introduced the system of a talk every night after practice, and this talk was all of trimming Bowdoin. Then after the talk the lights were extinguished and the men stood in the dark and thought of nothing but football and of defeating Bowdoin. And it was in 1911 that Maine beat Bowdoin! Parker, the captain of that team was loyal to Maine from the word "go," and said that he would give his two legs if Maine could trim Bowdoin. It was Charles Rice, Dempsey, Sawyer, and Baker who created the Maine spirit, loyalty and feeling.

Riley went on to say that the new system in athletics here is like a new machine, and that it could not be expected to start with 100% efficiency. In closing he said to stand behind the team "no matter what the result, that doesn't matter, but rather, that every man does his best and gives his all."

Mr. Bernheisel then read several telegrams, one of which shows the distance to which Maine spirit and loyalty have spread, that from the Golden Gate Chapter, of San Francisco.

Coach Brice was the last speaker called upon. Judge Bernheisel explained the coach's policy of working for the future and forming a basis from which to work in future years. He put it up to the students in a very effective way whether they were putting as much into athletics as they were taking out and also that it was necessary to make some sacrifices. He spoke of the second team and their praiseworthy courage, stamina, and stick-to-it-iveness. Cheers were then given for the scrubs.

Coach Brice said that before he came he had heard that Maine was a difficult team to coach—that the team and scrubs would not train, but that since practice began to his knowledge, the squad of about sixty men have all trained and that they have gone into every game in perfect physical shape, except for minor injuries. Nevertheless he had never spoken to the men in a very emphatic way on the necessity of training. He expressed his appreciation of the work done by the scrubs and took that opportunity to publicly state his appreciation. Cheers were then given for the members of the squad, for the team, and for Maine. After the singing of the Stein Song, the students passed out.

A large number of the Alumni and friends of the University were able to return for the annual Maine Night and helped to make it one of the best in years.

Bowdoin Defeats Maine First Time in a Decade

ran the ball back 15 yards to the 25 yard line. Another exchange of punts and it was Maine's ball on the 33 yard line.

Here came the most thrilling play of the game, when Maine's veteran half-back, Small, declared Bowdoin's left end and raced 67 yards for a touchdown. After this spectacular run, along the very edge of the sideline, and eluding all would-be tacklers, Small kicked the goal, thus tying the score and bringing cheer to the Maine supporters. Maine received the kick and after a few short gains the period ended.

On the first play of the second period Maine was penalized. After two substantial gains by Cohen and Blair, Maine lost the ball on a fumble. Recovering the ball Bowdoin tried the first two forward passes of the game which were decided failures. Morrill was nailed for a loss by Reardon and in the next play Smith made a gain of 10 yards. This was followed by a successful pass which placed the ball on Maine's 7 yard line. Here another pass was attempted, but proved unsuccessful. Then followed two line plunges which put the pig-skin over for Bowdoin's second touchdown. Smith kicked the goal making the score 14 to 7. Maine kicked off to Bowdoin. Bowdoin returned the kick and was penalized 5 yards. Blair made a gain of 7 yards which was followed by a fumble by Cohen. Bowdoin kicked from her own 20 yard line and the play stopped in mid field ending the first half.

The third period began with Bowdoin kicking off to Maine. Blair returned the kick and Bowdoin gained steadily advancing to the 20 yard line where Maine braced and held. Here Bowdoin attempted a field goal with no success. The play seersawed back and forth, the team playing on the offensive seeming to have the advantage. The period ended with Bowdoin carrying the ball on Maine's 40 yard line.

The last period began with Bowdoin making steady gains, Woodbury making a run of 15 yards to Maine's 17 yard mark. This time Bowdoin tried a place kick which went low and struck the ground near the goal posts. Maine took the ball on her own 20 yard line and gained steadily by fierce line plunges by Cohen, Small, and Merritt. Bowdoin braced and held for downs in mid field, then rushed the ball back to Maine's 30 yard line in short plunges. Again Woodbury broke away for a run of 25 yards. Here Maine rallied and the game came to an end with the ball on her 5 yard line.

Chemical Society Shows Motion Pictures Here

Mr. M. R. Lourie will read a paper before this meeting on organic electrochemistry. Following that 4 reels of pictures will be shown illustrating the manufacture of Armco ingot iron. This process should be interesting as Armco iron is very extensively used and is known chiefly because of its resistance to rust under ordinary conditions.

The Maine branch of The American Chemical Society was established at Orono in 1912. As there are only a few members within convenient traveling distance of Orono, a large attendance at its meetings has not yet been realized. It is hoped, however, that future industrial development in this section of Maine may warrant a division of the Maine Branch into two sections, an Eastern and a Western.

During coming weeks, moving pictures will be shown dealing with gold mining, milling and smelting, the mining and extraction of radium, the story of coal, manufacture of cement and other topics of interest to the students.
