Make Extensive Plans
For Military CircusMade All Preparations for a Large Crowd.
Dancing Will Begin at Ten O'clock After the Show.

The plans for the Grand Military Circus, to be given by the local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and The Reserve Officers' Training Corps in Alumni Hall, Friday, December 2, are completed and everything is in readiness for the reception of the big crowd expected. From the extensiveness of the preparations, this event is sure to prove to be the biggest of the college year. The show in the "big top" will commence promptly at 7:30 P. M. and will continue until ten o'clock, when the dancing will start. Permission to run the dance until one o'clock has been applied for and it is thought that authority will be given.

In the "big top" there will be attractions extraordinary and the management assures the patrons that never again will they witness such a galaxy of brilliant performers and stars. A full sized eight act vaudeville will be one of the many features, including jugglers, a quartette, a truly marvellous clown gymnast, a clever saxophoneist introducing a novel act, a Caxa-soloist and other equally good numbers. Besides this great vaudeville show there will be the usual side-show features such as "the famous wild man from Orono," a real menagerie of the wildest and fiercest

Former Maine Student
In the Aerial Service

Captain A. W. Stevens of the United States Aerial Photography Service, a Maine man, is engaged at present in mapping the coast near Boston. Capt. Stevens graduated in 1908 from the University of Maine, as a Mechanical Engineer. During his college course, he showed his ability as a long distance runner, training for the two mile run. He was better fitted, however, for longer distances. During his course, he also showed his interest in photography, and there are at the University several of his photographs.

After his graduation, he went to Alaska where he was interested in mining. From there, reports came of his participation in sledge races of six and seven hundred miles.

Upon the outbreak of the World War he enlisted in the aviation service, where he received his commission in the photographic division. Later, reports came to this country of his confinement in a German prison camp. Friends who addressed letters to him at that prison, heard from his later in the form of aerial photographs which he had taken.

Captain Stevens is now engaged in mapping the Atlantic Coast near Boston. Several of his photographs reproduced in colors have appeared in the Boston Sunday Herald of recent date.

Good Average Ranks
In the Arts College

According to a recent interview with Dean Stevens, the midsemester ranks received in the College of Arts and Sciences are above the average. It is customary to notify all students having more than 25% below grade. Although the Arts and Science department has an unusually large registration this year, fewer letters of warning have been sent out than in any preceding year. This is due partly to the spirit of work which is shown on the Campus this year, and partly to a commendable regularity in attendance. The number of serious failures is very small, many failures being due to slight deficiencies easily made up.

Large Honor Roll from Mid-Semester Marks

The names of the students in the three colleges who by reason of the work performed are entitled to have their names placed on the dean's list are given below.

Rev. Everett Fairchild
A Speaker at Chapel

Taking a Text from the Gospel of Mark, the Rev. Mr. Fairchild Gives Sermon in Chapel

Taking as his text the passage in the gospel of Mark, descriptive of the passing of Christ by the sea of Galilee and of his reception by the men of the time, Rev. E. Fairchild, Pastor of the M. E. Church in Orono and a Maine alumnus, gave a most inspiring address in chapel the first of this week. He opened his talk with this question to the audience, "If Jesus Christ should walk across this Campus today, what would be your attitude toward him?" He enumerated the three types of feeling with which the men of the time received Christ. First there were those who ignored him; secondly, those who opposed him; and lastly, those who followed him. They ignore Christ for three reasons: They are too sensitive to the enormous pressure of economic conditions, their impulse for pleasure is too great, or the churches fail to challenge their allegiance to God. They do so at the peril of becoming self-centered and spiritually undeveloped, Mr. Fairchild maintained.

As to the cause of men's opposition to Christ he named four possible causes: ignorance, prejudice, moral laziness and abject servitude to sin and its consequences. This opposition brings blighted character, futile spending of energy and waste of talent, as the life of the well-known infidel Robert Ingersoll illustrated.

Speaking of the third group of those who met Christ as those who followed him the speaker found them doing so because they found in his person the ideal man, the only salvation from sin, and knowledge of the true God. When men come within this third group three inevitable consequences follow: their motives are purified, their thinking is cleaner and more lofty and their strong faith in God brings a stronger one in humanity.

Make Plans for Biggest Commencement in History

This fiftieth anniversary of the first class graduated from the University of Maine is to be the biggest commencement in history. There is to be an historical pageant tracing the history of the University from the year of its founding, 1868, to the present year. This pageant is being directed by Mrs. R. K. Jones, wife of the late Professor Jones '82, who was for many years, Alumni Secretary and Librarian. The pageant is to be staged outdoors on the Athletic Field.

Commencement will begin on Friday, June 2, instead of on Saturday as usual. The proposed order of events is: Friday A. M.—A varsity ball game. Friday P. M.—Literary exercises followed by a performance of the pageant. Saturday A. M.—Class day exercises. Saturday A. M.—The annual meeting of the alumni association. Saturday P. M.—Varsity game with Colby, which finishes the series. Saturday P. M.—Another performance of the pageant. Saturday evening—Alumni banquet followed by movies and an informal hop.

The definite hours are yet to be decided upon and the plans must be approved by evening—Alumni banquet followed by movies and an informal hop. The faculty, and by the Board of Trustees.

CAMPUS DANCE

The "Campus" Board held a most successful stag dance in the gym Thanksgiving afternoon from 2.30 to 5. A large number attended and spent the leisure hours of the holiday in dancing. Music was furnished by the Harmony Hounds who played all the latest hits.

It is thought that quite a reasonable sum was realized from the dance and this money is to be used to defray the expenses of putting more and better cuts in the college paper.

Intramural Association
To Have Winter Carnival

A Carnival Patterned After Dartmouth Winter Carnival to Be Held in February. Big Dance in the Evening.

Reduce Price of Tickets
For the Lyceum Course

The price of season tickets for the Lyceum Course has been reduced. This announcement is apropos of the near approach of the second concert of the series, which is a concert of the very highest class, and is coming Dec. 9.

There are four remaining concerts, all of them given by high class artists. And when one realizes that we may get these numbers for only about what the price of the same number of movie shows would cost, it seems that every last man interested in Maine should get in on this. The cost of the four remaining shows is only $1.75. Tickets will be on sale again in the Fraternity Houses and in the Dormitories and at the store.

Miss Melvena Passmore who, with Associate Artists, will be here Dec. 9, is spoken of in the highest terms. This one Concert is well worth alone the price of all the rest of the Course. Miss Passmore has been with the Boston Grand Opera Company, soloist with the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, and is to be with the Chicago Grand Opera Company after February, 1922.

Every student should get a Course Ticket and support the whole Lyceum Course. We cannot afford to be without influences of this character. The M. C. A. has obligated itself in large amounts on our behalf to provide this course this year. We ought to support it. It costs only $1.75 to get into all four remaining shows. There should be over two hundred more tickets sold on this basis.

Outing Club Has Began
To Show Real Activity

"It's time for hiking and skiing and snow shoeing," suggested Mother Nature. And so the boys got together last Saturday and hiked up to Great Work and Old Town by the back road and returned via the old Veazie railroad. There is nothing to be compared with a good long stroll and a lunch box tucked away under one's arm on a crisp cold day. The boys under the leadership of Mr. Griffin realize this. (The girls, too, should realize it, for there is nothing to stop them from joining in on such an occasion of wholesome jollity, and then, the more the merrier.)

The boys have interviewed Dean Boardman and other members of the faculty and have received some good pointers toward a successful "tramping" season.

Remember, these trips come every Saturday afternoon. Better pack up a lunch and see Griffin at 202 H. H. Hall as to time and direction.

The Old Orchard Seven
Pleases Chapel Audience

The Old Orchard Seven, all members of the student body at present, rendered a very pleasing program at the chapel exercises on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. Their principal selection was from the score of "Take It From Me" which they handled in an efficient manner. At an encore they replaced the more dignified instruments of the orchestra by jazz producers and gave the audience a very effective rendering of this style of music. Great applause was given the group and they were loudly called on for a repetition of their encore.

The Intramural Association is laying plans for a Winter Carnival this year, which will be the biggest event of the season, and should be equal in importance to Junior Week and Commencement. Although the committee in charge, which is composed of Bob Cohen, Roger Wheaton, and Bob Schenkel have not drawn up any definite plans as yet, or set any definite date, it is probable that the event will be held some week end in February. The committee hope that in order to make the affair as big a success as possible, every fraternity house on the Campus will hold a house party that Friday night.

Some Saturday afternoon the events will be run off as rapidly as possible, and will consist of such features as snowshoe and skii long distance races, relay races, obstacle races, and snowshoe dashes. It is also hoped that the co-eds and faculty will take an active part in the festivities. A cup will be awarded to the house that wins the Intramural Snowshoe Relay Race, and possibly cups will also be awarded in

The College of Arts and Sciences to Hold Rally

An Arts and Sciences rally will be held Thursday evening, December 8. This is to be one of the most interesting and unique events of the year. The College of Arts and Sciences is the only department in the University to hold a rally of its own. The object is a real get-together of students and faculty. There will be a vaudeville entertainment with sketches written by Professor Ellis, Dean Stevens, and Professor Whaler. There will also be an exhibition of student talent. A representative has been chosen from each fraternity to muster the talent of the house. Refreshments will be served after the entertainment.

The rally committee consists of Miss Russell, chairman; Professor Kueny; Professor Ellis; Miss Kellogg; Director of Music Sprague; Professor Whaler; Mrs. Bailey; Parry Boyd; Carl Stevens; Molly Perkins; Mary Coughlin; and Herbert Fifield. The committee has been busily engaged and expects to stage something well worth seeing.

The rally is open only to members of the Arts and Science faculty, their families, and to Arts and Science students.

Returned Delegate Gives
A Report Before Council

The women of the college held a Student Government meeting Friday noon in 30 Coburn. Katherine Sargent gave a short talk on the National Student Government Council, which was recently held at Simmons College. She and Marie Hodgdon attended the Convention as delegates of the University of Maine.

Among the meetings, our delegates attended a discussion of problems in co-educational institutions and compared our problems with those of other universities. Their problems were much the same as ours although, by comparison, our laws were found to be much more liberal than those of any other institution. One point in common with every school whether coeducational or not was the "Honor System" by which each student is put on her honor to obey the prescribed rules and to report any breach of conduct.

The next Student Government Convention will be held at Randolph-Macon College.

Honorary Fraternities

There are on the Campus, here at Maine, many honorary and professional fraternities representing nearly every course of study in the University. The greater part of these fraternities are chapters of national organizations. It seems to us that the opportunities offered the members of these numerous groups are not being used to the fullest extent.

Meetings are not being held as frequently as they should be and the attendance at the meetings is very poor. It seems to us that the great trouble here is in the fact that the officers of the organizations are not doing their duty for if they did their duty the programs arranged would be such that a member of the fraternity would not wish to miss the meeting.

It would seem that if these units should function as they were originally intended to the spirit of the entire University as well as the particular group would improve. Get together and start your organizations working.

"People who are really busy don't talk about it—they work."

"Picking the proper man for office should be a part of the creed of every student interested in the betterment of this University."

Where? Oh, where are the freshman toques?

The Circus

The circus which is to be given Friday evening, December 2, in the gymnasium by the combined efforts of the R. O. T. C. and the Veterans of Foreign Wars deserves the support of every student and faculty member in the institution.

This circus is the first affair of the kind to be held here for many years and promises to be one of the most entertaining performances held in the gymnasium. The best talent of the University is taking part in the production and all are doing their best to make the circus exceed all expectations. The expenses of the circus have been necessarily very heavy and if the wholehearted support of the students is not obtained the production can not be a financial success.

The proceeds from the circus are to be used in erecting a fitting memorial for the University of Maine men who gave their lives that we might have justice. It has now been three years since the wires of the country flashed word throughout our land that the great war was over. During this time much has been said about the memorial for the Maine heroes but very little action has been taken.

The time has now come when the actual work of raising money for the memorial is at hand. By the combined action of the R. O. T. C. and the Veterans of Foreign Wars the circus is given in order to allow the entire student body to take an active part in the erection of the tablet. Every student in this University had a friend or acquaintance who gave their all. Now is the time to show that you appreciate, in a small measure, their sacrifice.

You are not asked, however, to give a sum of money but simply to attend the circus, enjoy yourself, and urge your friends to attend as well. Are you coming thru? Don't die on third base!

Don't forget the Maine "Hello."

Speeches in Spanish at El Circulo Espanol Meeting

S. Morse. Three new members were initiated into membership at this time according to the society's ritual—Misses Gladys Staples, Una Greenlaw, and Mildred Lombard.

Rev. Ashley Smith Will Speak at Joint Meeting

The Christian Endeavor Society and the Epworth League will hold a big union meeting next Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock at the M. E. Church, to which everybody is cordially invited.

The speaker of the evening is to be the Rev. Mr. Ashley A. Smith, pastor of the Universalist Church of Bangor. Rev. Mr. Smith is widely known as a very excellent speaker, and the committee in charge are exceedingly fortunate to procure his services.

Special music will be furnished. The Christian Endeavor Society is invited by the Epworth League to attend their regular meeting at 7 o'clock in the Methodist vestry.

BALENTINE NOTES

Alta Jones and Elizabeth Pendleton spent Thanksgiving with Rhanda and Grace Armstrong at their home in Rockland.

Ethelyn Percival entertained a party of friends at her home in Bangor Thanksgiving Day.

Irene Guppy went to her home in Garland for the holiday.

Evelyn McGlaughlin and Louise Bartlett were with Elizabeth Harkness at her home in Veazie Thanksgiving Day.

Gladys Merrill and Margaret Wolf spent Sunday with Helen Hathorn in Orono.

There were a great many of the girls who went home for the holiday. Those who could afford the cuts stayed for the week-end and those who could not, returned for classes Friday.

Theresa Jackson, who has been at home ill for the past week, returned Sunday night.

Tulane is preparing for the biggest day in its history—Thanksgiving—when Centre College invades the green wave. Queries are pouring in already for information and seats for the greatest inter-sectional contest the south has known. The Hullabaloo school has leaped into fame over night.

Registration reports at Yale which are now complete show that the University has a total enrollment of 3,449, an increase of 182 over last year.

It was near the end of the scene. The poor starving girl cried out "Bread." And the curtain came down with a roll.

Maine Harriers Meet Defeat in Nationals

Jack Moakley's famous Cornell team easily won the intercollegiate cross-country championship which was held over the new six mile course at Van Cortlandt Park Monday afternoon, November 21. Not only did the Ithacans retain their title as the best of the collegiate hill and dalers but they established a new record for turning in the lowest number of points, 18, which was almost a perfect score. The individual winner was R. E. Brown who made the record time of 32:20½ min.

The field, was one of the biggest that ever started in an intercollegiate run. No less than eighty-eight harriers paraded up to the starting line and of this number only three failed to finish. Thirteen colleges figured in the team scoring, as follows: Cornell, Princeton, Syracuse, Yale, Penn State, M. I. T., Dartmouth, Harvard, Maine, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Colby, Cincinnati.

For the first time since 1915 Maine's cross country team competed in the national hill and dale contest. The first year the Orono harriers won the meet defeating Cornell by a close score and the next year placing fifth.

Weather conditions in Orono made it extremely difficult for the team the last week before the race. The only available place to run was over the Orono roads which were filled with snow and ice making it impossible to do any speed work which was badly needed. Could the team have had the level, grassy courses of the New York teams, the showing of the Maine men would have been much better. Experience gained from the big race will help the men for next year's training.

Coach Flack has performed wonders with the material he has had to build on and student members and alumni feel justly proud of his work. With the ineligible ready to run next year, veterans of this year and new men, prospects seem bright for the future of cross country. Only two men are lost by graduation, Capt. Herrick and Barnard. Both have been representatives of the cross country squad during their four years in college and have contributed greatly to its successes. Both men have been captains and have worked hard not only for individual honors but for the success of Maine and her teams.

The cross country squad this year has been composed of the following men: Herrick, Barnard, McKeeman, Patten, Wilson, A. E., Laughlin, Berg, Kneeland, Webb, Pease, and Noyes.

Ideal Man

The requirements for the ideal college man have been set forth by the women of Drake University. According to the co-eds there, a perfectly proper man must meet fifteen conditions. The requirements are as follows:

1. He must make a good appearance, but need not be handsome.
2. He must be careful in personal appearance, but not a "dandy."
3. He must be jolly, accommodating, considerate, and a true sportsman.
4. If an athlete and meeting other requirements, so much the better, but if not athletic it need not detract.
5. He must be a good conversationalist and realize that a girl is not flattered by having nonsense talked at her all the time.
6. He must show respect and reverence to the aged.
7. He must show the same gentleness with men as with women.
8. He must not sit serenely in the street car while an old man or an old woman stands and then arise suddenly and offer a seat to a pretty girl.
9. He must not drink or smoke or be guilty of the attendant evils.
10. He must not sneer at religion or joke lightly about it.
11. The young women recognize no difference in standards for men and for women and declare such distinctions as false.
12. The young women can only truly respect those men who live by principle and not by opinion.

Fraternities and sororities at the University of California have formed an Interfraternity Marketing Association with the object of enabling its members thru the larger buying power of the organization to secure prices about one-third under the present wholesale quotations. It is a non-profit organization, and incorporated under the laws of the state of California.

Miss Vena Field and Miss Marie Hutchinson were the guests of Miss Ethelyn Percival, for a Thanksgiving party on Thursday at her home in Bangor.

Miss Daphne Winslow was the guest of Miss Lindsay at Orrington for the holiday.

Photos of the "Maples" and the "Maples" girls were taken last week.

Miss Catherine Clark and Miss Helen Burton were the guests of Mrs. Corbett for Thanksgiving.

Miss Ruth Weeks spent Thursday with Mrs. Richard Dodge in Bangor.

All-Maine Team Picked By A Campus Dopester

Much comment has been made upon the obvious weakness of those who choose All-Maine teams, and it has been suggested that the Campus pick out a team. With this in mind, a Campus reporter interviewed Moose Williams, who in spite of his extreme reticence, is one of the greatest football dopsters in this vicinity. The team picked by Mr. Williams is composed as follows:

Re—Gibbon, Bowdoin
Rt—Berkel, Colby
Kg—Lunge, Maine
C—Enholm, Colby
Lg—Cook, Colby
Lt—Lawrie, Colby
Le—Soule, Colby
Qb—Young, Colby
Rhb—Moulton, Bates
Lhb—Small, Maine
Fb—Cohen, Maine

We learned thru last week's "Campus" that Company C is a conspicuous company because it has a conspicuous commander. But we are of the opinion that there are other units in the R. O. T. C. corps much more conspicuous—for instance the headquarters company of non-commissioned "officers." This gallant staff of labor seekers headed by the head works of the corps, the Colonel, was standing by the roadside the day of the Governor's visit when Professor Kueny came strolling by. The prof looked them over, pondered awhile at the handsome figure of the Colonel, and smiled forth.

"What's this, the K. P.?"
No, the Colonel didn't blush!

Student: "What are they?"

Co-ed: "Your feet."

What are the three quickest ways to send a message?

"Telegraph, telephone, and tel-a-woman."

Miss Baker: "I haven't one, but I should think it would be a mighty uncomfortable thing to have."

Mr. Whaler at Contributors' Club: "My only criticism of the story is that I simply couldn't get interested in the girl."

The University of Kansas has added a new course in Handicrafts to their curriculum, clay modelling, jewelry and metal work, book binding will also be taught.

The flames were leaping round his neck.

One of a freshman's hardest tasks is to avoid becoming corpulent. The Dean, the Blue Book and innumerable seniors at one time or another give him advice on almost every subject under the sun.

A fat freshman has to be good-natured—he can neither run nor fight—but his good nature does not exempt him from punishment. One of the saddest sights on the campus is to watch a 220
lb. frosh trying to beat a sophomore cross-country runner to the subway station.

When a fat man goes down on his knees to propose to a girl, he invariably snaps the buttons off his suspenders.
A fat man spends more for Turkish baths than he does for tuition.

Altho there is little danger of any same student breaking such rules, we suggest the following "don'ts" for freshmen who might wish to fight fat.

Don't sleep too much.

Don't eat unless you are hungry.

Don't drink alcoholic beverages.

Don't take a cab—walk.

Above all never work between meals.

—McGill Daily.

It is not an uncommon sight to see students running about the campus in their own automobiles, but at Stanford University a certain freshman has a private Curtis army airplane to travel around in.

He had been reading knightly romances and grew dissatisfied with the present sordidness of the world. He believed it to be his duty to inject some romance into the daily grind.

On a rainy, muddy day he sallied forth to perform some knightly errand.
He beheld a bewitching princess about to step from his limousine upon the dirty pavement. Hastening forward, he spread his fur coat under her dainty feet.

She looked at him in surprise.

"Well, of all the damn fools!" she exclaimed.

the form of athletics. Boxing, wrestling,

An evening was devoted recently at the University of Indiana to explain to the freshmen the mysteries of the university library. An explanatory lecture was followed by actual demonstrations of the use of the index system.

Who can discriminate more carefully than the college man? To his natural equipment are added the resources of culture and the associa-leads naturally to the choice

beasts ever collected in one show or more, a show for those who are not married and who do not immediately contemplate same and many other attractions, just as good but far too numerous to enumerate them all here.

A novel system of selling the ticket will be installed this year which is expected to prevent the delay and inconvenience experienced at the entrances to the shows (this applies especially to the show for "men only.") Two or three booths at which tickets may be purchased will be placed about the hall and enough tickets, good at all shows, may be purchased at one time to admit "John and his girl" to all the shows and buy "her" enough pink lemonade and peanuts so that she will not mind the ride on the "B. R. & E." afterward. The dance will be run on the same principal as last year, namely, each dance will be paid for at the rate of 5¢ per couple, the tickets purchased from the booths being the medium of exchange. It would be well to add that no money will be accepted anywhere save at the ticket booths. There is, of course, no limit to the number of tickets you may buy. Get them by the foot, yard or mile.

The University of Maine Band will be there and will render some of its famous selections and the Hound Dogs will furnish the "jazz" for the dance.

The date is December 2; the place is Alumni Hall; the time, 7:30 P. M.; the object, Maine's Gold Star Men; the price 50¢ (that's the blue seats, we have them higher in price and higher in altitude and we are looking for YOU.)

Changes in Faculty of College of Agriculture

Several changes in the faculty of extension at the College of Agriculture have been announced.

Harry E. Bickford '17 who has this year been assistant county agent in Aroostook, is to be county agent in Hancock, succeeding H. Styles Bridges '17, resigned. Mr. Bickford is a native of Searsport. He served two years in the war, 10 months of that period overseas. On his return from service he became foreman of Upland farms in Ipswich, Mass., and was for a year and a half foreman of the Ayredale farm in Bangor. Mr. Bickford is to have charge of P. S. Thorson's big farm and stores in Ellsworth.

Edward W. Morton '19 who was two years and a half instructor in dairying in the College of Agriculture extension service, afterward county agent in Cumberland and later in the insurance business, is returning to the extension force and will be located in Aroostook. H. and John H. Philbrick '15 will cover that big county, both having headquarters at Presque Isle.

Miss Ruth F. Caney, home demonstration agent in Cumberland county, has resigned. She will be succeeded by Miss Della May Ingerson, a native of Jefferson, N. H., who was graduated from New Hampshire State College in 1911 and has been teacher of domestic art and science in the Hampton High School.

These appointments have been made on recommendation of the Farm Bureau executive committees in the respective counties, and await confirmation by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Intramural Association to Have Winter Carnival

the other races. This point is to be decided later.

That night the committee plans to stage a big dance in the gymnasium. It is planned to have the carnival patterned after the Dartmouth Winter Carnival which is the big event of the winter season there. In order to do this, cooperation will be needed from everybody connected with the University. Not only is it intended for this to be the grand event of the season this year, but also for it to be an annual event, with the possibility of its growing larger and better every year it is repeated.

Rev. Everett Fairchild a Speaker at Chapel

Mr. Fairchild closed his speech as he began it by asking the same pointed question in a slightly different form: "Jesus Christ does walk across this campus today and what is your attitude toward him?"

Co-ed Medium Gets in Touch with Longfellow

During a recent spiritualist seance in Bangor, Madame Flunkino, the celebrated co-ed medium, came into telepathic rapport with the no less celebrated bard, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. The details of the seance are copyrighted by the Orono Psychical Society, but through the extreme courtesy of Madame Flunkino herself we are permitted to print here in advance one out of some twenty-three new poems now first given to the world by our great Maine poet.

Readers of The Maine Campus have always been Longfellow enthusiasts, so that the poem we print will have a special appeal to them.

Mr. Longfellow at the same time kindly added an explanatory note, which Madame Flunkino has expurgated and turned over to us. It reads: "Dear Strugglers on the Sands of Time! If it had been my rare fortune to attend the University of Maine instead of Bowdoin, my best known poem would have been as here telephated."

A PSALM OF LIFE

Tell me not, in mournful numbers,
Mid-semester is a dream;
Talk no more of rosy slumbers
Where marks are not what they seem.

Life is real—among co-eds,
And a grade is not the goal;
Dost thou think we all are doughheads
When we miss the Honor Roll?

Not enjoyment mathematical
Is our destined end today,
But to act—as every radical
Bobbed-haired goddess leads the way.

Art is long, and Art's our study
Even when the fair are deaf;
No wonder, then, our hearts beat muddy
Funeral-marches to an F.

In our world of quizz and rattle,
Physic pains and chemic stench,
Be not like dumb Aggie cattle,
Be a hero on a bench.

Trust no Future, idle Freshman!
Ere you hit your Final sod,
More vitamins you need than Fleishman
Ever canned in cakes—trust God!

Lives of great profs all remind us,
Would we keep our lives humane,
We must throw our books that blind us
Over the hedge of Lover's Lane.

Over the hedge, so that another,
Plodding a trigonometric bog,
A forlorn and A-wrecked brother,
Seeing, dies like a poisoned dog.

Let us, then, be synecopating,
With a heart for any she,
Half believing, still debating:
Can I scrimmage through, by D!

M. C. A. Deputation Have Good Services

The Deputation Team of the M. C. A. carried on a most successful series of meetings at Old Town Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The meetings were held at the Methodist Church, but the boys from the other two churches came in.

The feature meeting of the series was Friday night, and may be called a father and son frolic, as there were forty boys and forty dads there. They were led in games and stunts by the M. C. A. fellows, and several interesting talks were given to which a response was made by one of the Old Town dads who was present. Old familiar songs were sung after which light refreshments were served.

In order to show their appreciation of the meeting, the fathers and sons, in closing, gave nine rals for each University fellow there, including Mr. Clark, the M. C. A. Secretary. Not to be outdone by this, the University men formed a cheering section of their own and gave a cheer for the Old Town fathers and sons. The Rev. Mr. March pastor of the M. E. Church, paid the Maine boys an extremely high compliment, and said that the work they did there was highly praiseworthy.

The men who participated in the meetings were Linwood Hatch, George Severance, Stubby March, Guy Griffin, J. A. Nichols, Bill Connon, Arthur Wilson, Chester Baker, and Harvey Bean.

The freshman class of Willamette College raised $700 in a campaign for a new gymnasium.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Maine Campus is not responsible for the sentiments of letters published in the correspondence column. Signed communications from graduates, undergraduates and members of the faculty will be placed in print if they are not of too great length.

No communication will be admitted to this column without the name of the writer being attached, not necessarily for publication.

York Village, Me.
November 21, 1921

Maine Campus,
Orono, Maine
Gentlemen:

An editorial in the November 16th issue of the Campus regarding a new Maine Song Book attracted my attention.

In the high school where I am teaching, there are several Colby teachers. At different times there have been gatherings at the home of one of these teachers, where there has been singing and playing. The book of Colby songs has been very much in evidence. Those teachers are advertising Colby. I would have liked to have had a Maine Song Book at those gatherings, so that I might have advertised Maine a bit.

Just before I left Maine I tried to buy a Maine Song Book at the University Store, but was told that they were sold out, and that they were not ordering any more of the old issue as a new book was being planned.

I, too, agree with the one who wrote in that editorial, "There is no better way of making or keeping our traditions than in this way. Let somebody lead, let us all get together and put this thing through."

Yours sincerely,

O. E. Underhill Jr. '21.

Distinguished Guest Is To Be at Military Circus

Major E. E. Philbrook, commander of the Maine department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be a guest here at the Military Circus Friday night. Major Philbrook is very prominent throughout Maine. He is a major on the Governor's staff; president of the Maine State Poultry Association and is Senator Hale's campaign manager. He has a long and very creditable war record having served in the Philippine Islands during the Spanish American War as captain of the famous 46th Infantry under General Pershing. He also saw active service against the Moros and was in the expedition that captured the Filipino rebel, Aguinaldo.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars are very fortunate to have Major Philbrook here for Friday night. It may be of interest to know that Charley Rice was in the employ of Major Philbrook up to the time of his enlistment in the army.

Pastor of M. E. Church Speaks Before Y. W.

Mr. Everett Fairchild, pastor of the Orono Methodist Church gave a very interesting talk to the Y. W. C. A. in the Balentine reception hall on Sunday evening. He gave a history of the early Puritans, giving in detail the points of their struggle in England and their efforts to reach a land where they could worship in freedom and where they might have liberty to profess their beliefs.

In closing he recalled the fact that it was on these principles of freedom of belief, the rights of the individual, and the faith and courage to profess individual beliefs that our government of the people, by the people and for the people was founded.
