Maine Defeats Colby In Fourteen Innings

Colby Fails to Score After Second Inning.
Osgood's Timely Hit Gives Maine 5-4 Victory.

After fourteen innings Maine finally secured the run necessary to defeat Colby 5-4 in the State Series game at Waterville Wednesday. With Jowett on third, Bear Osgood came thru with the single that decided the game. Colby got a four run lead in the first two innings, but Maine gradually cut it down until at the beginning of the seventh the teams were tied 4-4. From then to the fourteenth no one crossed the plate and the interest and excitement grew more and more keen as the game went on frame by frame.

Colby got her three runs in the first inning, when Royal cleated a homer with Williams and Lanpher on bases. In the second Haines followed Wilson's two bagger with a single, driving in their last tally of the afternoon.

Lunge hit for three sacks in the second and got the run on an error. In the third and fourth Maine tallied again and in the sixth Lunge repeated with a triple to deep right and come in on Johnson's single. This tied the score.

Neither team loosened up again until the fourteenth when Jowett got a safety and was advanced by King's sacrifice. Then after Cal Sargent fled out, Bear Osgood seemed to be due for a pass, but when one came right across the heart of the plate, he drove deep into center field and Jowett crossed the rubber. Colby got a man on third in her half and it appeared the game might go into fifteen innings, but he got no farther.

Maine Makes Great Gain in N. E. Meet

Maine entered seven men in the New England Intercollegiate Track Meet which was held Friday and Saturday, May 19 and 20 at Alumni Field of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute. Rainy weather had prevailed for a few days previous and light showers fell early Friday but the afternoon was bright and clear. Conditions were not favorable for record performances however as the track and field were heavy and a strong wind which blew from the north handicapped the runners and sprinters who had to face it.

Trials started at 4:15 P. M. Friday, four of the five men competing qualified, Strout in the hammer throw, Cohen in the shot put, Lawrence in the quarter and Kneeland in the half mile. Huston put up a good battle in the pole vault, finally losing out at 10 ft. 10 in.

Saturday afternoon Strout placed third in the hammer throw and McKeeman fourth in the two mile giving Maine a total of three points. Considering the performances of the track team in the New England's for the last five years we have moved up a notch as we only obtained in those years a total of one point.

Boston College and M. I. T. tied for honors in the meet. There were no exceptional performances during the two day meet. Bowdoin and Bates scored more points than usual due to Tootell, Baker and Luce who won their events.

Pageant Will Be Unique In the History of Maine

Locomotive Lion, First Cadet Corps and Bolivar Are a Few Features of the Celebration

Memorial Day is going to see the "Old Lion" of 1860 and 1865 in working order again for the big Maine Pageant! "Pep" Towner has employed a crew of men from the B. R. & E. to bend and spike down the track to the ties and a coach is going to be furnished by the Maine Central Railway which will be Maine's Ancient Rival Tastes Defeat. Much Touted Bowdoin Team Unable to Solve Jowett's Delivery.

With old sol casting its glistening rays on Alumni Field, Maine defeated Bowdoin Saturday in one of the most exciting games ever witnessed by the 2,000 spectators that completely filled the new grandstand. Time and time again did Coach Houser's pupils come to bat only to take the strikeout route which was delivered to them by Jack Jowett. With Prescott on the receiving end Jowett breezed eleven of the Brunswickites and proved himself to be a hurler of no mean reputation.

Bowdoin started the ball rolling in the first inning by chalking up two nest-eggs which were made by giving a free ticket to Jones and a hit by Smith and Hill. Not to be outdone Maine evened up the counters in her half of the second when Lunge singled and Rusk running for Lunge who was badly spiked in the Maine-Colby game took second on Johnson's timely single over second base and scored when Monroe sent a pretty single over the shortstop's head. Prescott next singled sending Johnson to third; Cobb running for Prescott stole second and Johnson scored on Morrill's bad catch from Handy to get Cobb stealing. Jowett was out on an infield hit, Morrill to Hill.

In the fourth stanza Maine again tallied two counters on singles by Lunge and Johnson coupled up with an error by Small and Handy's wild peg over second base.

Then came the lucky seventh in the first half with Bowdoin going out in one, two, three, order. In the last half the band played the Stein Song and then the feature of the game came when Jowett swatted out a circuit clout to the center field fence.

Bowdoin up to the ninth found Jowett invincible, she made her final attempt in her half to score and managed to squeeze one run across on an error and single.

Hebron Academy Wins Interscholastic Meet

Before a large crowd of spectators Hebron finished first with 36 1/4 points in the Annual Interscholastic meet held on Alumni Field Saturday. Portland High was second with 25 5-6 points. Deering High was a close third with 22 points while Cony High was fourth with 21 points. The other teams finished in the following order: Gardiner High 7 1/4, Morse High 7, Dover-Foxcroft 5, Island Falls High 4.

One meet record was broken. Keyte of Dexter High clearing the bar at 5 ft.

Boston University Team Defeats Maine Players

Boston University defeated Maine 7-4 in the drizzling rain of Thursday afternoon. Driving the second ball pitched far into left field for a homer, B. U. started the first frame with a bang and followed it up with another run on two well placed hits. At the end of the seventh, they had secured seven tallies but were held there the rest of the game.

The outfield played well, Monroe especially, but the infield gave very poor support. Nichols pitched the first three innings and after B. U. had gotten three runs in the first two innings, held them scoreless for the third. Torsleff took the mound in the fourth and gave them gooseeggs after the sixth but between the fourth and the seventh they got four runs.

Maine hit Small hard, getting men to first every inning but the first and last. They were unable to follow the hits up properly and sent only four men across the rubber. In the fourth Foster drove a hot one into left center and made all four bases. A three base hit by Al Johnson followed by a double brought in another run in the sixth. After two were out in the seventh, Maine got a triple and a pass but couldn't hit them in. In the eighth, Cal Sargent hit for three bases and Monroe slammed the ball for a complete circuit, giving Maine two more runs and bringing her total up to 4. In the next inning the Blue went out in one, two, three order.

truly typical of the coaches of 1860. "Ed" Veazie, one of the original firemen of the road, is going to come up and take charge of the "Lion" for the pageant. In short, 1922 is going to see 1860 exactly as it was.

Pictures have been taken for publicity purposes and for the "Book of the Pageant" which will be printed so that everyone may see the story of the progress of Maine in printed form. "Ab" Lincoln signing the Morrill Act and the pictures of men in the old Spanish War uniforms are but two of the best reproductions that one could wish to see. The Tableaux of Maine in the World War and the photographs of the three remaining members of the old college band, which went overseas, are more familiar to us and portray events which are dearest and saddest to us. The Band is going to play for the interlude of the Pageant.

Not the least of Maine's achievements is represented by the College Life of the Present in which every organization on the campus is to take part. The chief

Ballots Are Cast For Wash. Alumni Gift

The Washington Alumni Association watch is presented to the member of the graduating class, who in the opinion of the faculty and students has done the most for the university during his course.

This award is made as the result of a secret ballot by the students and passed upon by the President and faculty. Thus ballots were distributed in chapel on last Wednesday and Thursday for the students to vote on the following names:

Achsa M. Bean, Herbert W. Fifield, Reynold W. Graffam, Winslow K. Herrick, Albert E. Johnson, Frederick F. Marston, Ian M. Rusk, Carl A. Sargent, Catherine C. Sargent, Carl T. Stevens, Newman H. Young.

The result of the ballot will not be known until Commencement.

This Washington Alumni Watch was first awarded in 1918 to Lee Vrooman of Greenville and the custom has been continued each year. In 1919 it was awarded to Jeremiah Reardon of Concord, N. H.; in 1920, to Frank Preti of Portland, and in 1921, William Bangs Cobb of Woodfords.

Speakers Are Announced For 1922 Commencement

This year's Commencement promises to be the best in the history of the University. Extensive plans have been made and everything is now in readiness. An unusually large attendance is expected.

The Baccalaureate address will be given by Rev. A. H. Robinson of Plainfield, New York, who comes very highly recommended. As in preceding years it will be given in the chapel, Sunday morning, June 4.

The Commencement speaker is to be President Kenneth M. Sills of Bowdoin College. President Sills is well known

Maine Tennis Team Loses to Augusta

The University of Maine Tennis team lost to the Augusta Country Club racquetters Saturday afternoon, May 13th, six out of seven matches. The Augusta team took the three doubles and three singles, the remaining match resolving into a pretty fight between Hanson of Maine and P. V. Hill. The former was victor in three sets.

The Augusta C. C. has a very strong team this year and this is their second victory over a Maine College team. The Blue team has come along fine this year and it is hoped to get a dual meet with Bates either May 31st or June 1st.

Summary:

DOUBLES

P. V. Hill and W. T. Johnson of Country Club defeated Durham and Brewster of Maine 6-8, 6-2, 6-2.

Martin and Titcomb of Country Club defeated Hanson and Barton of Maine 6-1, 6-3.

Flynt and Dunmack of Country Club defeated Durham and Curtis of Maine 6-0, 6-3.

SINGLES

Dunmack of C. C. defeated Durham of Maine 6-1, 6-2.

Johnson of C. C. defeated Barton of Maine 6-0, 8-6.

Flynt of C. C. defeated Brewer of Maine 6-3, 6-0.

Hanson of Maine defeated Hill of C. C. 9-7, 3-6, 6-3.

Track Club Cabaret Closes Junior Week

The eighth annual Cabaret and Dance was given in the gym Saturday evening, May 20, under the direction of the Track Club.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Mason, to whom much credit is due. It consisted of fancy dances and musical numbers.

The decorations were of black and white as the preceding night.

The Maine Banner

Another great opportunity for displaying our colors has been lost. At the Bowdoin-Maine game last Saturday no Maine banner was in evidence. This game was probably the turning point in the state series for this season, an important occasion. Yet, we did not seem to consider it important enough to see that our college was properly represented by its insignia. Let's not die in our tracks just because classes are over for this year.

Lend your efforts to making the big pageant a success.

Junior Week Programs

Last week we published an editorial
on the prevailing tendency to place too great a strain on the finances of each class with special reference to the Freshman Hop. Now we have another complaint regarding Junior Week programs. During Junior Week, the committee produced programs to be sold for one dollar and twenty-five cents each.
The sale of a program costing this much cannot be very great and there you have another item by which the class goes further into debt. We would strongly recommend that in the future such programs be made more cheaply and yet contain the desired information. If such a plan be followed out Junior Week programs may become an asset instead of a liability. We would say that we do not mean to criticize the committee so much as to register complaint against the continuance of the custom.

Silence: A trick of the human gullet that conceals weakness or emptiness.

Posters

In one of our issues in the early part of the winter we published a protest against promiscuous posting of bills and placards on the Campus. This habit on the part of advance agents and local publicity men, has been an unnecessary evil and at its cessation last winter we thought it had become a thing of the past. But, during the last week or two the evidences of this evil practice have become even more in evidence than ever. We feel that the telephone pole and trees on our Campus are necessarily part of our college property and should not be completely plastered with glaring announcements. We are particularly opposed to these posters when they deal with things entirely foreign to our college affairs and functions. Let us all go on record as being firmly opposed to any such marring of the beauty of our Campus. Every student should religiously avoid doing such undesirable work himself, and moreover should take it upon himself to remove all such things from the pole and trees which have been imposed upon by the publicity fiend.

Liberal College Spirit

Every Maine student is schooled in college spirit from the time he arrives here as a freshman until he leaves as a senior. We believe that all this has not been in vain and that the sons and daughters of Maine really do have a big conception of the meaning and value of college spirit with the self-denial and sacrifices that it involves. But, as far as we have advanced in this direction, we have fallen far short of the ideal. We have not succeeded in developing that liberal college spirit which goes to make a more complete success. The really big man or woman is the one with broad conception and ability to visualize many things.

College spirit at the University of Maine seems to embrace athletics alone.
If we are to attain the ideal our college spirit should include all branches of logical student activity. Our spirit should work for achievement in scholastic fields of endeavor. We are too prone to think that our scholastic attitude is purely a personal matter. We must never lose sight of the fact that we may serve our Alma Mater by diligent application in this field as well as in any other. The immediate results may not appear to affect the college but in the end they are more far-reaching in influence than athletic achievements.

Diligent work on student publications is also of great importance. Our publications are sent out all over the country at regular intervals during the college year, primarily for the purpose of proper representation of the University.
Who, then, can say that student activity
in this field is not far reaching in result?
Isn't this fact sufficient to stir our college spirit? Wouldn't you say that this was another field worthy of our best consideration?

Debating is an activity which presents vast opportunity to the student who desires to place his college in an advantageous position. In past years we have shown an amazing tendency to ignore this field. This year attempts have been made to give debating its proper position here. Now it is up to the student body to support debating as it would a baseball team. If anyone is inclined to doubt the value of debating let us point out Bates College as a shining example.
Bates is much smaller than we are and should have as many prerequisites of success as should the University of Maine. Yet Bates has won very desirable world-wide publicity thru its debators.

In regarding student activity from a musical standpoint we may say that here is another field in which Maine may ex-cell if we, the students, really want her to. We have our band, orchestra, glee clubs and musical clubs. If the students with musical talent will participate with these organizations, will play the game
in this direction, so as to make Maine
musically on a par with the best colleges in the country, they will be serving the University as well as the man who plays on the varsity football team.
Dramatics is also a worthy field of student endeavor. If the students who are interested in our dramatic societies
here do not lose their interests and do lend their endeavors to make these societies bigger and greater factors in our college life, they may be considered active in the highest sense. If we all become interested in these societies the work of those who actually belong to them will not be in vain.

These various fields of endeavor which we have mentioned should be placed on an equal basis on the shelf of college activity beside athletics. These things are not of value only from the standpoint of representing our college but they are also an important factor in the education of the student. The broader our training the more worthy is it of the name education. Each student can not actually participate in every activity but he can keep an active interest in activity and boost it to higher success.

Know and believe in yourself and what others think won't disturb you.

5½ inches set a new mark in the running high jump. The former record of 5 ft. 4½ inches was held by McCobb of Camden High. Another notable performance was in the shot put won by Ralph Jackson of Deering High at 44
ft. 9¼ inches.

Dan Torrey of Deering High was the high point scorer of the games, placing in four events and scoring 13 points.
He nosed out the brilliant young sprinter, Harold Farrington of Cony High by a single point, while close behind in the race for tallying honors were Harold Littlefield and Lewis of Hebron with 11 points each.

Torrey captured the 120 yard hurdles and the 880 yard run; finished third in the 100 yard dash and fourth in the 220 hurdles. Farrington won both the 100 and 220 sprints and placed third in the broad jump. Littlefield breasted the worsted first in the low hurdles, and was second in the high hurdles and the quarter mile dash, while Lewis was the star of the weight events, taking first in the hammer, and second in the shot put and discus throw.

The races were very close in all the dashes. O. Harris of Portland led up to the very tape in the 220 and was edged out only by a hair when Farrington of Cony caught the string first.

There were 30 runners to start in the mile, and the field gradually sifted out until it stretched almost a lap rear-wards. Ward of Gardiner, and Linnell of Deering fought a great battle in the stretch, the former winning in the last spurt.

The summary:

to the members of the University by his former speeches here. His coming is looked forward to with great pleasure.

The Commencement officers have been chosen as follows:

Valedictorian, Ian Rusk.
Historian, Frederick Marston.
Poet, Herbert Fifield.
Prophecy, Katherine Sargent, Stanley
Hanson.
Gifts, Achsa Bean, Albert Johnson.
Chaplain, Carl Stevens.

Debating Society Holds Election of Officers

The Debating Society spent a very pleasant evening at the home of Professor and Mrs. Mark A. Bailey Tuesday, May 17. Election of officers for the coming year was held. The Society adjoined for refreshments, followed by games.

The officers for the coming year as elected were:

President, Howard E. Wilson.
Vice-President, Theodore Hatch.
Corresponding Secretary, H. L.
Richardson.
Recording Secretary and Treasurer,
Frank W. Hussey.
Publicity Committee, Edward Curran,
Henry Paul.
Campus Publicity Agent, Henry Paul.
"Key" Committee, Prof. Bailey, Morse
Wilson.

The Society voted to give each varsity debater as he graduated a "key" suitably inscribed.

They look forward to a very successful year next winter. Plans are being formulated to establish a Debating League with some other colleges in New England and to place the University in her rightful position on the debating map.

Track Club Officers Elected for Next Year

The Track Club has been active the past year in interesting new men to come to Maine, and has offered for the second time the Track Club Scholarship which is awarded to the freshman showing greatest development in his track ability.

At the regular meeting, held at the Phi Gamma Delta House, May 23, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, D. T. Stearns.

Seven Maine Graduates At Hartford High School

The following letter has been received by Dean Stevens in connection with the appointment of Miss Minerva French to a position on the faculty of Hartford
High School.

Hartford, Conn.

May 4, 1922

Dear Sir:

You may be interested to know that we added three of your graduates to our teaching force the first of February—
Miss Corrine M. Barker, Miss Antoinette T. Webb, and Mr. Willard C. Sis-son. This makes a total of seven Maine graduates on our list.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) Clement C. Hyde
Principal

INTERCOLLEGIATE

Syracuse University—The Syracuse
University and Cornell baseball teams, which resumed relations last Saturday
after a lapse of 16 years, are to play two games next year. It is understood that an agreement has been reached between the two institutions for a home series in the spring of 1923, and that the dates for the contests will soon be arranged.

The game Saturday at Ithaca where Cornell won from Syracuse 3 to 2 in a stirring battle, did a great deal in ce-menting the relationship between the colleges. Spectators who watched the two teams Saturday declared that it was the greatest tilt ever staged at Cornell.

Dartmouth College—The modern college student is not a lounge-lizard according to R. W. Husband of Dartmouth College, who spoke at the meeting of the National Educational Association recently held in Chicago. Instead of spending summer vacations paddling canoes, jazzing or playing "ukes," 90 per cent of the undergraduates, he said,
spend their summers in law offices, factories, shops and banks. Some are soda fountain clerks; others work in machine shops.

University of Wisconsin—Wisconsin
by a vote of 1431 to 248 has decided to readopt the custom of making freshmen wear green caps. By an overwhelming majority it was also voted to re-introduce class rushes.

Dennison College—Old Bay State laws
have invaded the middle west. Students at Dennison College in Ohio are not allowed to have Sunday dates, notwithstanding the fact that they had petitioned the faculty to remove this restriction.

Bowdoin College—Frank A. Mumsey,
New York publisher and owner of the New York "Sun" and "Herald" has recently given $100,000 to the endowment fund of Bowdoin. Although this gift makes the quota for which the drive was set, the campaign will be continued until June.

Princeton University—Princeton is to erect a new chapel to replace the old one burned down two years ago. The new building will be virtually a small cathedral, and will cost close to a million dollars.

Marquette University—Marquette has had plans drawn up for a new science building. This makes the fourth new building that they have built within the last year. The structure is to cost about $175,000. Construction is to begin in a month or so.

University of Minnesota—Abolishing
all regulations for class attendance for Seniors and allowing Juniors cuts equal to one-sixth of the total credit hours was recommended in a resolution adopted by the Upperclassmen's Association at the University of Minnesota.

Iowa State University—Building plans for the Iowa State new library building are now in the hands of Des Moines architects. The building is to cost between $400,000 and $500,000, with the possibility of enlargement to a million dollar structure.

The student boycott at Iowa City has proved effective in that there has been a reduction of prices at cigar stores, soda fountains and billiard rooms. The large theatre is not under the restrictions because of the large overhead expense that it must sustain. The barbers are still holding out.

"You told me to file those letters, sir,"
said the new yeoman.

"Yes," returned the officer.

"Well, I was just thinkin' that it'd be easier to trim 'em with a pair of scissors."

Many College Graduates In Electrical Industry

College men and university presidents who are interested in statistics as to the distribution and influence of college alumni in industry and the world of affairs will find much material of interest in a recent investigation which has been made by the Western Electric Company, Inc. This Company is the oldest manufacturer and distributor of electrical apparatus in the world. As the manufacturing unit for the Bell Telephone System, the Western Electric Company has long been concerned with complicated problems of apparatus development and quantity manufacture. Its roll of employees in this country shows students from 214 American institutions and some thirty-four European universities. All told, there are 1,645 college graduates among the 48,000 workers on the Company's payroll.

The University of Illinois heads the list with seventy-six graduates. Pennsylvania comes next with seventy-four, Massachusetts Institute of Technology with sixty-five, and the University of Michigan and Cornell tie for fourth place with sixty graduates each. The University of Wisconsin is represented by fifty-six graduates, Columbia by fifty-one, Armour Institute of Technology by forty-two, the University of Minnesota by thirty-four and Ohio State by twenty-two. Stevens Institute, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Carnegie Tech and Cooper Union are each represented by about twenty men.

The old institutions, where arts college work is still of major importance, are almost as well represented as are the technical schools. Thirty-eight from Harvard, twenty-nine from Dartmouth and about twenty each from Yale, Amherst, Pennsylvania and Williams are concerned with the business and manufacturing interests of the Western Electric Company.

The entrance of college women into industry is marked by the names of Barnard, Vassar, Bryn Mawr, Wellesley, Hunter, Smith and others on the list of alumnae with this Company.

The thirty-four representatives of European universities come from all the large technical schools of Europe. From the University of Petrograd, and Anatolia in Turkey on the east to London and Manchester, the Arts and Metiers of France, the College of North Wales and the University of Ireland on the west—from Copenhagen, Christiania and Stockholm on the north to the Naval University of Genoa on the south,—the technical schools of Europe have contributed to the solution of the design and manufacturing problems of the Bell System's telephonic communication.

The "Sodalitas Latina" Initiates New Members

The "Sodalitas Latina" met Thursday in Wingate Hall. The following initiates were taken into the organizations: Dr. Ellis, Miss Marion Bragg, Mildred Nelson.

The officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Katherine Cary; Vice-President, Ruth Bessey; Chairman Executive Committee, Mary Copeland.

Blessings on thee, little dame—
Bareback girl with knees the same,
With thy rolled down silken hose
And thy short transparent clothes;
With thy red lips, reddened more,
Smeared with lipstick from the store;
With thy make up on thy face,
And thy bobbed hair's jaunty grace,
From my heart I give thee joy—
Glad that I was born a boy.

Interesting Program at Junior Chapel Exercise

At the annual Junior chapel which took place on Friday, May 19, "Chub" Thomas, president of the Junior class, presided. After a selection by Jack Reid's orchestra, the Chaplain, Ivan Pease led in prayer. Then followed a brief resume of the class and its activities since it first entered college in the fall of 1918, following which Chub Thomas presented the speaker of the morning, Professor Weston. His customarily witty speech, which he said could be as short as possible or stretched as long as necessary, was on the subject of Faculties. He announced at the outset that he was going to give no pointers to the student body on crabbing the faculty, for that would be like carrying water to the ocean. He divided the faculty, like Gaul, into three parts, the Agricultural or Temperamental Faculty, the Arts and Science, or Sentimental Faculty and the Technology, or Mental Faculty. He then went on to define and comment upon the three parts.

At the close of chapel, next year's Senior Skulls were tapped.

One way to keep others off your toes is to be on them yourself.

LAW STUDENTS

THE BOSTON
UNIVERSITY LAW
SCHOOL

Trains students in principles of the law and the technique of the profession and prepares them for active practice wherever the English system of law prevails. Course for LL.B. requires three school years. Beginning in the Autumn of 1923, one year in college will be required for admission. In 1925 the requirement will probably be two years in college. University of Maine students may obtain both A.B. and LL.B. degrees in six years by application at University of Maine for special arrangements. Benjamin G. Lamme

VISITORS at the Chicago World's Fair, in 1893, saw the first extensive use of alternating current ever undertaken, when Westinghouse lighted the entire grounds with this type of current. This achievement marked the beginning of the commercial development of alternating current for power purposes, and brought the induction motor into a prominence which it has never since relinquished. Great and rapid have been the developments since that day, but the most impressive aspect of this progress is not to be found in the spectacular evidences that are visible to everyone, but rather, in the vision and fundamental soundness and determination that have been quietly at work blazing and clearing the trails which the electrical art has followed.

There is, for instance, the synchronous converter. This machine is the most efficient and economical means for changing alternating to direct current, which the operation of most street railway systems and many other processes require. Without it, the development of alternating current to its present universal usefulness would have been tremendously retarded.

The synchronous converter, in its present perfection, is but one of the great contributions to electrical progress that have been made by Benjamin G. Lamme, Chief Engineer of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company. Mr. Lamme, in 1891 when he was Chief Designer, conceived and developed the converter, which, first used commercially in connection with the great Niagara power plan, has since come to be indispensable to large producers of power.

When a man has played so vital a part in electrical progress that his knowledge and vision have contributed to practically every forward engineering step, it is perhaps misleading to attempt to identify him particularly with any one development. His work on the induction motor, the turbo generator, the single-phase railway motor, and the synchronous converter is but typical of the constructive ability which Mr. Lamme has brought to bear on practically every phase of electrical development.

A man of foresight, visioning the alternatives in a problem as well as its hoped-for results. A man whose mind combines great power of analysis with the gift of imagination. A prolific technical writer, whose style is unequalled in clearness and simplicity of expression. Few engineers so thoroughly predetermine the results they actually achieve. Few men capitalize their experiences so completely. And few indeed have at once his thorough technical equipment, his commercial understanding, and his broad human interests.

An institution which has builded its success largely on engineering achievement pays Benjamin G. Lamme affectionate loyalty and respect. The young engineer on his first job, as well as the most seasoned co-worker, finds in him understanding, sympathy, wise counsel, and a conscience; to all of which his associates, in preparing this article, are proud to bear witness.

Bangor's Prominent Men Support President Little

Very gratifying to the friends of University of Maine is the attitude of enthusiastic cordiality and cooperation shown by Bangor's prominent men of affairs and by the newspapers of that city in reference to the administration of President Little. Commenting on his inauguration, the Bangor Commercial published this splendid editorial:

"The University of Maine now has its sixth president in Dr. Clarence C. Little and we predict for the institution an increasing measure of service under the leadership of President Little. The University has generally been very fortunate in its heads. It has had a fine roll from President Allen succeeded by that grand man, President Fernald, beloved by the student body; President Harris, a remarkable chief executive of splendid administrative ability; President Fellows, a man of ripe scholarship and President Aley, a notable national figure in the educational world.

"President Little comes to his task bringing the qualification of scholarship and wide service and the energy of comparative youth. At the age of 34, he has already established an excellent reputation as an administrator and scholar. That he is wise, is shown by the care that he exercised before accepting the position offered and his provision that his election must be acceptable to the state authorities as well as to the trustees of the institution.

"President Little has advantages not possessed by his successors in that the policy of the state is now established toward the University of Maine. There have been many discussions and many legislative contests owing to the unwillingness of certain parties to give to the University the full meed of help to which it is entitled from the state but we think that there will be no more trouble on this score for the sentiment of the people of Maine is well established; that the university shall have the requisite financial aid that it requires to perform its task of affording a suitable college education for the boys and girls of Maine.

"We believe that the time has passed when the trustees and president of the University of Maine will be obliged to importune the members of legislature and lobby in behalf of a thoroughly legitimate appropriation for the college and expect that ample provision will hereafter be made without controversy. The pathway of the university has not been an entirely roseate one in recent years for the administrative heads have been expected to furnish the requisite educational advantages without adequate funds. The University of Maine is not self-supporting and few colleges are. Most educational institutions either are largely supported by their states or call upon their graduates to furnish the needed funds. The Orono institution, while rich in loyal alumni has not a roll of wealthy graduates. It has only been in recent years that it has turned out large classes and these recent graduates have not as a rule become so established as to be able to make large contributions to their alma mater.

"We believe that the trustees have chosen wisely. They have been importuned in behalf of many candidates but have prudently sought to obtain the best talent available and the present instance has been one of the institution seeking the man. The high references in favor of Dr. Little, based upon his real service in the educational field are the best guaranty of his ability to fill his new position to the satisfaction of all and to the highest advantage of the university."

Tennis Championship Captured By Colby

Colby captured the Tennis Championship, Tuesday, by defeating Bowdoin in the finals; both singles and doubles. Maine, represented by Barton, Curtis, Durham and Hanson, was eliminated, along with Bates, in the first round, altho the sets were hard fought.

Monday night, the opinion seemed to be that Bowdoin would win again as they did last year. Gow and Sackett for Colby upset this dope. After losing the first two sets in doubles 3-6, 3-6 they turned the tables by winning a hot contested set 7-5 from Partridge and Bishop and the next two games came along 6-3, 6-3 without so much trouble. Gow came thru in singles by taking three straight sets 6-3, 6-4, 6-3 from Partridge of Bowdoin.

DOUBLES

First Round:

Lord and L. Bishop, Bowdoin defeated Durham and Curtis, Maine 6-3, 7-5. Gow and Sackett, Colby defeated Roberts and Stanley, Bates, 6-0, 6-4. Partridge and H. Bishop, Bowdoin defeated Barton and Hanson, Maine 6-3, 6-4. Ireland and Purinton, Bates, defeated Shoemaker and Eddy, Colby, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4.

Semi-final Round:

Gow and Sackett defeated Lord and L. Bishop 5-7, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2. Partridge and H. Bishop defeated Ireland and Purinton, 6-2, 6-0, 6-0.

SINGLES

Sackett, Colby, defeated Curtis, Maine, 6-3, 6-0.

Partridge, Bowdoin defeated Purinton, Bates, 6-1, 6-2.

H. Bishop, Bowdoin defeated Hanson, Maine, 4-6, 8-6, 6-0.

Gow, Colby, defeated Roberts, Bates, 6-2, 7-5.

The summaries:

Singles, semi-finals:

Gow of Colby defeated H. Bishop of Bowdoin, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2; Partridge of Bowdoin defeated Sackett of Colby, 6-2, 6-3, 6-0.

Finals, doubles:

Gow and Sackett of Colby defeated Partridge and H. Bishop of Bowdoin, 3-6, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-3.

Singles:

Gow of Colby defeated Partridge of Bowdoin, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

Bolivar Will Return For Commencement

In these days of the Bananas dynasty as the Maine God of Fortune, all real students wonder what sort of an animal Bolivar used to be in days gone by. Bolivar and Bananas are as symbolical of Maine as the Maine "Hello," and we know that all symbols have traditions, legends or tales connected with them. Bolivar is not an exception as a scan of the "Tales of Bolivar's Children" by E. E. Chase will show.

It so happened that Seldon '03 got it into his head that in order to be a regular fellow and a regular collegian he must do a big thing. And the natural college criminal instinct developed in Seldon the idea that he must either commit a murder or pull off a grand larceny stunt. His chance came when fortune whispered in his ear that an elephant was let loose in Veazie. Now, transporting an elephant from Veazie to Orono is no mean engineering feat, and consequently Seldon's materials of engineering had to be of the finest grade and of the newest type. His complete stock consisted of Spike Stewart, Razon Bunker, fifty feet of rope, an axe, a sledge hammer and a pitch fork.

When the traction trio arrived in Veazie and inquired about the stray elephant the good Veazians telephoned to the Insane Hospital to inquire if any of the patients had escaped.

After considerable scouting, the object desired was found to be a tin elephant advertising the wares of a Bangor clothing firm. A push car was stolen and the elephant was transported to Webster.

"What will we do with the brute?" thought one of the company after the deed was done.

"Paint him blue and white and take him to the game Saturday as a mascot," retorted Seldon. This was the best thing that any freshman has ever said or done.

Of course the simple christening exercises were held before the game. Maine won and Bolivar became famous spontaneously. But then came the rub. The clothing firm missed its piece of property and so far as the student opinion of or respect for the firm was concerned there was not the matter of even a Chinese hoorah. But the police department was called upon, and as the students and the Bangor police were firm friends, tact and diplomacy must play a part. Consequently a wooden duplicate was sawed out, painted and planted over the bleachers while the original Bolivar was sunk in the river for safe keeping. It was a practical joke practically played on the firm when the manager arrived with the Bangor police. Next Saturday the original Bolivar made its second appearance, and again the clothing firm took steps to recover its property, this time having two or three detectives register as students and thus try to solve the mystery that surrounded Bolivar. Things were made so comfortable and warm for these great Hock-shaws that they soon gave up the task, and Bolivar remained with the Maine boys as an emblem of Maine sportsmanship, giving way only to Bananas.

Maine Masque Holds Its Annual Election

The Maine Masque held its annual election last Monday evening at the Masque rooms in Alumni Hall. The following is the result of the election: President, J. M. Horne. Vice-President, M. C. Niles. Business Manager, B. M. Patten. Stage Manager, G. K. Stackpole. The Masque has had a very successful season this year and next year even greater success is expected as many plans have been completed for next season.

Everything for QUALITY~ nothing for show

THAT'S OUR IDEA in making CAMELS—the Quality Cigarette.

Why, just buy Camels and look at the package! It's the best packing science has devised to keep cigarettes fresh and full flavored for your taste. Heavy paper outside—secure foil wrapping inside and the revenue stamp over the end to seal the package and keep it air-tight.

And note this! There's nothing flashy about the Camel package. No extra wrappings that do not improve the smoke. Not a cent of needless expense that must come out of the quality of the tobacco.

Camels wonderful and exclusive Quality wins on merit alone.

Because, men smoke Camels who want the taste and fragrance of the finest tobaccos, expertly blended. Men smoke Camels for Camels smooth, refreshing mildness and their freedom from cigaretty aftertaste.

Camels are made for men who think for themselves.

By a Score of 1-0

Bates went down to defeat on Alumni Field Wednesday afternoon in a hard fought game of baseball. The day was ideal and a large crowd of the student body and supporters were present. It was a pitcher's duel from the beginning with the Garnet twirler depending upon his ability to shut Maine out. Jowett pitched a good game, consistent in his work and backed up by a well organized field. Maine had several chances to score could a hit have been made. Noticeable among the Maine men who played a good game was Prescott who has held down the catching berth this year. Chief Johnson made a catch in left field which robbed Bates of a chance to score. Al Johnson and Bear Osgood played consistent ball and were counted on in the pinches. Osgood has been one of the most dependable men thruout the season. The only and final run came in the ninth inning. Al Johnson after stealing second was brought home by chief Johnson on a single to the third base man who muffed the ball.

ALUMNI NOTES

Thomas F. Judge, general manager of the paper manufacturing plant of Lord Northcliffe, dropped dead May 12 at Grand Falls, N. F. Mr. Judge was born in Biddeford and was a graduate of the University in 1900. He installed paper-making plants at Woodland, Maine, Asheville, N. C., Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Grand Mere, P. Q., and Grand Falls, N. F.

H. Styles Bridges '17, recently county agricultural agent in Hancock County, has been elected secretary of the New Hampshire Federation of Farm Bureaus with headquarters at Concord, N. H.

New York University—Smoking has become so prevalent among the women students of New York University that they are demanding private smoking rooms where they may enjoy their cigarettes between classes and at other times. They complain that at present they are "forced to smoke on the sly." It is claimed that now at least 25 per cent of the women in the university are habitual smokers and that the number is steadily growing. The college authorities are believed to be considering favorably the proposition to set aside rooms for the use of the smoking co-eds next year.

Jiggs: "Prof. Dingus has at last discovered the missing link."

Jaggs: "Where did he find it?"

Jiggs: "Under the bureau, I understand."

"What is a pessimist?"

"He's a guy that complains because his bank roll is so thick that it breaks the stitches of his wallet."

Traffic Cop: "Say you! Didn't you see me wave at you?"

Mirandy: "Yes, you fresh thing. And if Henry were here he'd paste you one for it."

"I hear some of these profs. lead a fast life."

"I doubt it. None of them passed me this year."

"What do you call a man who plays a saxophone?"

"It depends on how rotten he is."

The hardest things in all this land
To find, are two—this verse will show
it:

A needle in a haystack and
A pretty girl who doesn't know it.

Voice—"Hello, is this the weather bureau?"

"Yes."

Voice—"How about a shower this afternoon?"

"Take one if you need it."

What does young Jinks mean by sending me one carnation a day, right along?
Why, don't you know? He's saying it with flowers and he stutters.

Hokus—They ought to make a good couple.

Pokus—Why?

Hokus—Well he's a young blade and she's a keen woman.

In the spring a Co-ed's fancy
Lightly turns to thoughts of clothes,
Whether skirts are short or longer,
Where to get the gayest hose.

When she sits and thinks in English

It is not of writer's woes,

Not the plots or plans of Shakespeare,
Nor or grammar, but of clothes.

Equals added unto equals

Give an equal sum, one knows,

Organdy goes well with gingham,

And that sum will equal clothes.

If flies are flies,
Because they fly,
And fleas are fleas
Because they flee,
Then bees are bees
Because they be.

Magistrate of Irish Court, (after a turbulent scene against the general public)—"The next person that shouts 'Down with England,' I'll have thrown out."

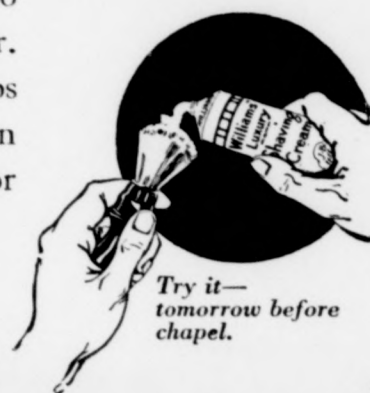

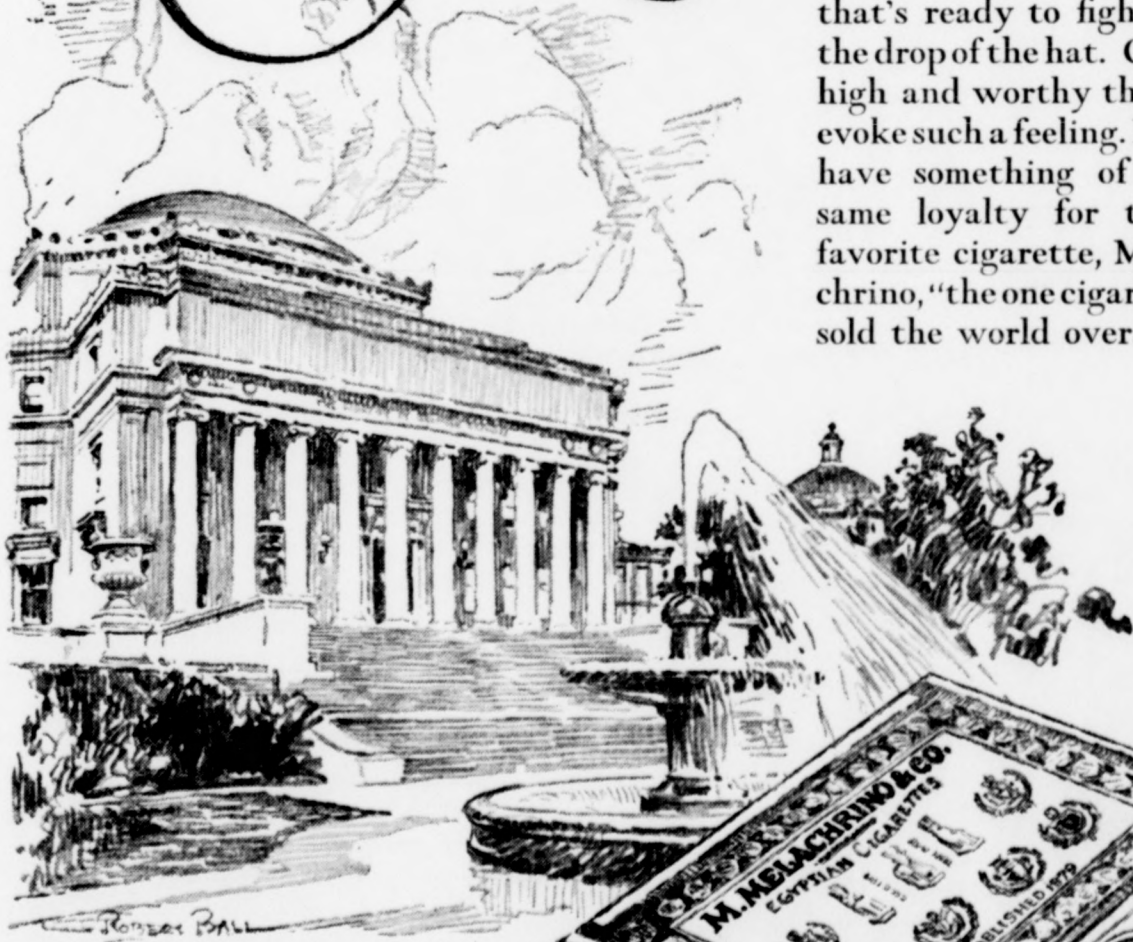

Prisoner, (excitedly)—"Down with England!"

Bonus—bona—bonum!

IMAGINE the agony of the old oaken soldiers of Rome who were compelled to shave soapless before meeting the enemy. Not so good!

Today—bonus or not—you college veterans will not decline a good thing. Williams' Shaving Cream does away with all tease expressions and puts you in the right mood.

That rich white lather that stays rich and thick, softens whisker resistance and reduces razor action to a pleasant painless purr. Williams' Shaving Soaps have been a tradition among college men for generations.

It's the kind of loyalty that's ready to fight at the drop of the hat. Only high and worthy things evoke such a feeling. Men have something of the same loyalty for their favorite cigarette, Melachrino, "the one cigarette sold the world over."

Remember that Melachrino is a master blend of only the finest Turkish Tobaccos as originated by Miltiades Melachrino. Egyptian cigarettes are simply those that originated in Egypt. But the tobacco is what you want to know about—and if it's Melachrino—it's right
