Maine Wrests Victory
From Conn. State Team

Maine Football Team Defeats the Connecticut Aggies 14-0, in First Game of Season.

Although being outweighed nearly two to one, the University of Maine football squad won their first victory last Saturday afternoon on Alumni Field under a scorching sun. Being up against a team composed of men, the greater part of whom had been hardened by military training during the summer months, the Maine grid squad showed up remarkably well and not any special one but all deserve the highest of credit.

The game kept the interest of the loyal Maine supporters from start to finish and was not won until the final whistle. The music of the Maine Band and cheering section ably led by Ned Lawrence, helped in no small part to gain the victory. Coach Cuddy Murphy's line considered by some to be too light to stand the attacks of the opposing side showed that these few were mistaken as the line held like a stone wall in the pinches.

The orange-clad linesman of Conn. Aggies opened up holes in the Maine line now and then making it look at first as if things might go wrong but this did not last long as the Maine line tightened and kept the visitors within bounds of the 15 yd. line at all times.

The aerial route tried six times by Conn. Aggies proved in every attempt except one to be useless. Coach Brice's men resorted to end runs and were very successful. Blair, Merritt, and Small made end runs that in every case counted at least 25 yards while Gruhn made line plunges that made the pigskin travel. It was Gruhn that plowed through the center of the Aggies' line for the second touchdown. Daley and Ryan with their line plunges made the greater part of the

Time-honored Bag Scrap
Won by Class of 1926

The time-honored bag scrap between the freshman and sophomore classes occurred on the 23rd of Sept. after the Connecticut-Maine football game. Immediately after the game the Frosh and Sophomores rushed from the grandstand and took their places, Freshmen at the north goal; Sophomores at the south. The three large canvas bags were placed on the fifty yard line. The object of each class was to get the bags back to its own goal line.

When all were ready a pistol cracked and the scrap began. The freshmen had some difficulty at first, as they did not understand just what to do, but soon finding out, they worked like Trojans and managed to force two of the three bags into their own country, the other bag was captured by the sophomores.

The scrap lasted five minutes and it was a bedraggled class of '26 that streamed from the field, hot, tired, many with their clothes nearly torn from their backs, but still VICTORIOUS. The shouts of Hurrah '26! echoed over the campus, and mingled with them was the roar of the college whistle and the ringing of the bell in Wingate Hall. The celebration lasted until supper time, when everyone was ready to stop.

New Members Announced
For Junior Mask Society

The Junior Mask Society's new members for the coming year were announced between the halves of the football games Saturday afternoon. They are to be as follows: "Hank" Small, Sigma Chi; "Wym" Foster, "Rat" Kennison, Phi Eta Kappa; "Phil" Taylor, Phi Gam; "Hutch" Hutchinson, Phi Kap; "Louie" Horseman, Theta Chi; "Ted" Monroe, S. A. E.; "Fat" Lunge, "Eb" King, "Olie" Berg, Sigma Nu.

The Old Maine Spirit Is
Rampant at First Rally

The first rally of the season opened Friday night with such pep and snap as to leave little doubt that the old Maine spirit is going to be rampant on the campus this year.

"Chub" Thomas, president of the Athletic Association, led off for speakers. He said that no one this year could give the excuses why we did not win that were made last year. Then we had no president and a new coach. This year we have one of the best presidents in New England and a coach that everybody knows. In addition we have for assistant coach, Cuddy Murphy, one of the best linesmen of this section.

Another good reason why the spirit should be good this fall is that the cross country squad are all eligible and are out holding up their end. The only thing now necessary is for the students to get out and support their teams, and to get after the men and help keep them eligible.

Coach Brice was the next speaker. He gave a brief outline of the football situation as it stands. Due to ineligibility.

Frosh to be Instructed
In use of the Library

The week beginning October 9th will be LIBRARY INSTRUCTION WEEK for members of the freshman class. All divisions of freshman English will be sent to the library for one of the three periods during that week, to take a personally conducted tour of the library building.

An introductory talk on how to use a library was given in freshman Chapel last Tuesday by Mr. Walkley, the librarian. Only a few points were mentioned, and more detailed explanation will be made to the small groups in the library building.

If you know any one library well, it is comparatively easy to become acquainted with others by simply familiarizing yourself with the points in which they differ. The most common differences are (1) arrangement of reading rooms and stacks; (2) location of books, magazines and newspapers in these rooms and on the shelves; (3) rules and regulations for the use of books.

Most up-to-date libraries are practically alike in (1) the card catalog or index of books in the library; (2) the Dewey decimal system of classification, which governs the arrangement of books on the shelves; (3) the most important reference books; (4) magazine indexes. All these will be explained when the freshman classes are taken thru the library next week.

Rules and regulations are made only in order to give everyone an equal chance at the books, since there are not enough books to go around. Reserve books are kept in the library so as to be ready for all readers, and other books have a three week time-limit with privilege of renewal for another three weeks, if no one else has a request in for that book.

Any student registered at the University may borrow books without formally registering at the library. All that is necessary is to sign the book-cards, leave them at the desk, and return the books on time and in good condition.

The library hours are not the same as given in the M. C. A. book, since they had to be shortened last year. Evening hours are from 7 to 9 p. m., Sunday hours are from 2.30 to 4.30 p. m., and the Library closes at noon Saturday.

World Famous Author
To Lecture at Maine

Hugh Walpole, Renowned English Novelist, Secured by the English Club with President Little's Aid

On Tuesday evening, October 10, Hugh Walpole, the widely known English author, will lecture at Alumni Hall on the subject of "Books and Friendship." Although the lecture is nominally under the auspices of the English Club, it is, in fact, being sponsored by our President, Dr. Clarence C. Little. The English Club was very desirous of securing the services of Mr. Walpole, but did not feel able to do until President Little offered to guarantee the lecture financially. To avoid any possibility of the affair being a financial failure, a new kind of campaign has been organized with the idea of selling a minimum of 400 tickets at fifty cents and thus securing the guarantee. The results of this campaign will be the first indication of the loyalty and confidence of the students in Dr. Little.

This campaign is to take the form of a tag day with tickets sold instead of tags. On the morning of Monday, October 9, two flying squadrons of co-eds under the captainship of Nadine Gellerson and Iome Irving, will sell tickets on the campus with the slogan of "One Hundred percent Sale on Ticket Day." The fundamental assumption is that each student will purchase a ticket.

Hugh Walpole is a world famous English novelist, equally renowned as a literary critic. He has also the advantage of being a brilliant public speaker. In a recent interview, Mr. Walpole explained

First Chapel Exercise
Conducted by Dr. Little

The first chapel of the season was held Thursday. Immediately following the opening hymn, President Little addressed a few words to the freshman and then read in a rather humorous fashion the rules and customs found in the handbook, and urged all students to comply with them. He then went on to present to the student body the vital problem concerning our university, a problem which must be met and solved personally by each one of us—the administration of the university.

"Let us make the University of Maine a model University; not so large in numbers nor rich in terms of wealth, but large in viewpoint and rich in mental resources."

This he expressed as the ideal towards which we all must strive. He compared our college career to a football game, and used the football analogy throughout.

"Courage is essential to every student," he continued. "Without it, he cannot be loyal to self, friends, and community. No matter what the set-backs, never give in to the temptation to quit."

He then quoted Roosevelt's slogan and Coach Flack's byword, "God hates a quitter."

OBITUARY

The sudden death of Louis Carver Southard '75 brings to a close the career of one of the University of Maine's prominent men.

Mr. Southard graduated from Maine with the class of '75, later receiving several degrees from his Alma Mater and was admitted to law practice in the highest courts by 1889. He made his home in Massachusetts and served his State in both the House and State Senate, during the early part of his practice. He was a lecturer at the University of Maine Law College for a number of years, and with his retirement served as president of the Boston Alumni of the University.

A member of the American, Massachusetts, and Boston Bar Associations, the Boston City Club and Chamber of Commerce, the Buddingstone Club, besides being associated with several industrial concerns about Boston, his death brings to many a feeling of great loss.

University of Vermont
Defeats Maine ElevenMaine Football Team in Midseason Form
Holds Vermont to Single Touchdown.Cross Country Prospects
Seem Bright this Year

Cross country is a sport that very little has been heard of yet Maine has good cause to feel proud of her cross country record in the past. Since this form of athletics has been a sport Maine has only lost two state championships; has led in the New England Championship runs and has had the honor once of being the National Collegiate champions. The sport is not a spectacular one but requires a lot of hard work and training daily for the few races that are run. The course varies from four to six miles in length.

In all probability no dual meet will be held this year, the State Meet will be held at Lewiston the day before the Bowdoin game, November 3rd, the following week the New England will be held at Franklin Park, Boston, and the next week the Nationals will be held in New York. These meets furnish keen competition as some of the best teams in New England and in the U. S. compete for honors. Maine was fortunate enough last year to win the New England championship after conceding the State Meet to Bates by a few points.

Graduation took two of our best men, Capt. Herrick and Barnard who were consistent performers during their four years of college competition. Barnard served as Captain during his junior year so both men knew what it was to fight for Maine and her interests. Four letter men are in college, Capt. McKeeman, Patten, Raymond and Webb. All of these with the exception of Raymond were on last year's team, Raymond being ineligible, he being the mainstay of the team during his freshman and

The Freshman Reception
Enjoyed by All Present

The Freshman Reception was held in the chapel on the Saturday evening following registration. The receiving line headed by Dr. and Mrs. Little, and the presidents of the student christian association included many of the prominent people of the University and Orono. The opportunity to meet Dr. and Mrs. Little and members of the faculty was taken advantage of by many.

Following the formal reception, Ivan Pease '23, chairman of the Reception committee took charge, and instituted a bit of a novel feature in the line of getting acquainted. Short words of greeting were extended by "Pete" Wilson, president of the M. C. A. and Doris Twitchell, president of the Y. W., "AB" Clark, secretary of the M. C. A. also spoke. Mr. A. L. T. Cummings, whose entertaining abilities are well known both at the University and all thru the state gave some of his French dialect readings including his poem on the MAINE HELLO. Dr. Little concluded the program by giving a warm word of welcome and urging the entering students to start the year in right by attending the Orono church services and lining up with the Christian activities of the campus. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing and getting acquainted in the gym, where refreshments were served. Reiche's orchestra furnished the music during the reception and for the dancing.

The reception and dance as in former years was under the auspices of the Y. W. and M. C. A. and much credit is due to the committee in charge, Ivan Pease '23, and Margaret Manchester '23.

If the students of the University of Maine ever see a better played, harder fought football game than the Vermont game of September thirtieth, they have an unprecedented treat in store for them. To be sure, Maine lost, but she lost in a masterful way. Beck, ex-Lehigh star and all-Southern halfback, was stopped many times by Gruhn, who was flawless on defense. McKechnie, at end was immovable on the defense and fast on the offense. Lord and Captain Lunge were strong in the line as were both Blair and Small in the backfield. In fact, it is very hard to pick individual Maine stars. The whole team showed mid-season form. The college may well be proud of the men that can make such a fine showing against great odds.

Maine won the toss and chose to receive. Captain Johnson kicked over the Maine goal and the ball was put in play on the 20 yd. line. Small made a yard, which was followed by a 3 yd. loss. Blair punted to midfield and the ball was returned to the 36 yd. line.

Vermont started things off with a 6 yd. gain. Beck made 2 on a line plunge and O. Johnson made it first down. Yarnell gained four, placing the oval on the 22 yd. stripe. Yarnell tried again and added three on a line buck. Beck plugged through for two and then six more and first down. He continued his onslaught and added four. O. Johnson made two off tackle and placed the ball

Coach Clark Conducts
Fall Baseball Practice

With the arrival of Coach Wilkie Clark on the Campus, fall baseball has taken a new lease of life. Every afternoon the diamond is busy with hopeful freshmen and sophomores who are putting forth every effort to get a tryout for next spring. The annual freshman-sophomore game takes place during the fall furnishing a good opportunity for the coach to observe the work of the new men and also to keep the old men in trim. Capt. Prescott has been with the men daily, helping to mould them into shape. Many of the veterans are on the football team which relieves them of fall practice.

The weather for the last few days has been ideal for baseball and a large squad of men have been in attendance. Maine loses this year both her most dependable pitcher and catcher and it is hoped that the entering class may furnish some material to fill these places which will be left vacant next spring. There are several good prospects which have shown promise in daily practice especially among the pitching candidates. In all probability the freshman-sophomore game will be played this coming Saturday and opportunity will be given the student body to judge what the freshman class has for ball players.

Senior Skull Society
Of Service to University

The Senior Skulls founded in 1906 is an organization composed of eleven seniors who are chosen at the end of their junior year for popularity and activity in college affairs. The object of the society is to maintain friendly spirit among the fraternities, to promote college customs, and to render service to the university whenever possible. The Skulls this year are Ike Prescott, Ned Lawrence, Ed Kneeland, Joe Beckett, Dave Hoyt, Len Lord, Mac McKeeman, Bucky Thomas, Chubby Thomas and Jack Jowett.

Advice to Freshmen

We are taking the first opportunity to extend a hearty greeting to you new Maine men and women entering in the class of 1926. We are glad to see you and expect you to help to make this a big year for Maine.

It would also seem as though this were an ideal time to give a little real advice, as friends who have had just a little more experience in this particular part of the world. We want to start you off right on this journey and direct you around the avoidable bumps that you will encounter later on.

Freshmen really are placed in a trying position. They find themselves in a strange environment, encountering new problems, meeting new situations every day. Yes, everything is strange to the average frosh and he finds oftentimes for the first time in his life, that the world is lacking in kind-hearted individuals who will lend a sympathetic ear to the unfortunate and who will lend their efforts to smoothing away the difficulties of the oppressed.

Our message is this: Do not regard these small obstacles as insurmountable mountains and refuse to go on; neither must you refuse to consider your problems and go blithely on your way. You are here for a purpose and the more closely you stick to that purpose, the greater will be your rewards. Yours is the opportunity for self-development and unlimited achievement.

To use an old, but effective phrase: be real Maine men and women. The real Maine man is a good sport; he never squeals, he never quits; and he is never licked. Stick to it; work hard now for most senior honors are won during the freshman year.

Every student has a chance but no cinch.

M. C. A. Drive

We would call your attention to the M. C. A. drive coming Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Don't fail to consider this organization. We do not intend, as a paper, to tell you how you should think, but we simply want to make sure that you do think. Consider the cause, its value to you, and to the university. Don't contribute just because others do and yet don't fail to do so just because you haven't considered deeply enough to take action. At least let us try to do things intelligently. There's a goal to strive for.

Let's Wake Up

We said last spring when we announced our editorial policy that we were to, among other things, give credit when it was due, and offer criticism where it was necessary. Since then, we have found occasion to express hearty approval and commendation several times. But this time we are going to criticize, or perhaps we might better say, endeavor to stir things up. Some of you may disagree and argue to the effect that things seem to be moving with an unusual degree of smoothness. That is the very point upon which we wish to make our criticisms. Things slide by too smoothly, so smoothly that people don't seem to be aware that anything is happening. Apparently nothing calls for any enthusiasm on the part of anyone. Who would dare call that a healthy condition and where oh where is that old Maine spirit about which we used to boast?

Lest we appear too general in our statements, let us use last Saturday's football game as a concrete example. It is true that the students marched on to the field in accordance with the old custom. But stop and consider a moment; then see if you do not agree with us when we say that everyone marched calmly in there as if they were going to some afternoon class in a distasteful subject. Our point is that everyone seems to be so satisfied to sit back and watch the wheels go round that they are unaware of great occasions when they do arise. If we do not realize that the day when Maine plays Vermont is one when we should experience real thrills, then it's high time that someone administered a kick.

The most constructive point in this criticism is that this is merely the beginning of the year and that we have many opportunities before us. Let's not allow that winter feeling of stagnation to overcome us now. In fact, why stagnate at all? We are not asking such a very big thing; why, we are only suggesting that everyone try to keep awake and simply keep a normal, healthy interest in things.

Athletic Heads Speak at Second Rally of Season

The second football rally of the season was called last Friday night, Sept. 29. The crowd was smaller than that at the first rally but under the leadership of Stackpole as cheer leader they made up in noise what they lacked in numbers. It was noticeable that a good percentage of the gathering were coeds.

At the beginning of the evening the good news was given out that Cuddy Murphy is to be with us for the rest of the year. He will finish the football season and then turn his attention to the weight men. He was then introduced to speak a few words about the football team. He said that in the game Saturday, on the part of the team there would be no stalling or waiting, but that it would be a fight from the beginning. He said that the team was all ready and that if the student body would show as much fight as the team, we would out-fight Vermont if we did not defeat them.

Dave Hoyt, the manager of football, was the next speaker. He sent out a call for more freshmen to come out and work for assistant managers. He said that next week secret practice is to begin and that every night except Wednesday the students are requested to keep off the field and grandstand. Wednesday night they are welcome and will see scrimmaging.

Manager Hoyt was followed by that great old timer Stut Brooks, of the class of '14, who in his day was the captain of the cross country team and is now the assistant coach of the cross country squad. He asked every man to stand behind the head of the University who, as he put it, "is a man's man." He urged that everyone get out to the rallies. Referring to those "good old days," he told of an incident when one night there was a very small crowd to a rally. This crowd banded itself together, took the band, went out and rounded up every man on the campus and brought them to the rally. In speaking of the cross country squad, he said that it was the best looking squad he had seen since 1909. "There are sixty-two men out," he said, "so that it is going to be a fight to make the team but it is going to be more of a one to beat it."

Coach Flack arose to say that he did not feel so much like crabbing as he did last year. He said that cross country prospects looked unusually bright this year. The first night forty-two men reported of which forty-one had no scholastic conditions. All of the varsity men are eligible. He said if a man gets out there and runs for eight weeks he has to use a lot of will power to keep from dropping out and quitting. Men like that are the kind that go to represent Maine in the different meets. He said, "The men may not be good runners but they will be good racers." How good, depends upon how much the student body wants them to make good. He went on to say that how the Maine team would play in the football game Saturday would not depend entirely upon what the coaches had taught them, but also depended on the attitude of the students.

The next speaker was Clyde McKee-man, captain of the cross country team, who gave out the dope on the cross country squad. To illustrate the spirit of the men he told of the occasion last year when after the New England meet, the men still came out to run in two to six inches of snow and slush who had not a ghost of a show of making the team. That he called real Maine spirit.

As usual the best was saved for the last and Prexy Little was introduced. He said that the team Saturday was going up against a team that was better trained, more experienced, and more confident than ours. In life we are going to run into just that sort of thing. We will be pitted against men of more experience and greater physique. He also brought out that games with colleges out of the state are just as important as those in the state. He said that the game was more than a football game; it was a fight for a principle, the principle of men going up against men of more intelligence and training. In speaking of the cross country squad he said that altho a man might not have to use his brains to run he did have to use a whole lot of will power. He expressed the desire that at the end of the next rally that the students would form a parade led by the band and make a tour of the campus.

Hare and Hounds Chase Given by the Y. W. C. A.

The annual Hare and Hound chase given by the Y. W. C. A. in honor of the new girls, was held Saturday, Sept. 31.

The Hares left Balentine at 9 A. M. in two divisions, the Reds, led by Connie Turner, the Blues, by Cracker King.

An hour later the Hounds left following the trails which had been made for them. Along the way stunts were performed, songs sung and cheers given, all of which helped to make a gay time.

The Blues were the first to reach the goal, which was on Standpipe Hill, Kay Hunt '26 being the winner of the blue ribbon.

Lunch was served in an informal manner at 12 o'clock and photos taken of the bunch.

A baseball game was played by the two teams, the Reds winning by a small score.

The party dispersed early in the afternoon, in order to reach home in time for the game.

Mrs. Estabrook and Miss Huesman were the guests of the day.

The girls wish to express their gratitude to Chef Ward and the University truck who so kindly helped in various ways to make the chase a complete success.

Sophomore Owl Pledges Announced for 1922-23

The members of the Sophomore Owl Society for the coming year were announced Saturday afternoon between the halves of the football game. This society is for the advancement of athletics and to instill Maine spirit in the two lower classes. "Ollie" Berg announced the names of new members as follows: "Pick" Boyden, "Red" Weber, "Ben" English, "Bleth" Blethen, "Weary" Smith, "Bill" Elliott, "Joe" Murray, "Doc" Turner, "Pat" Patten, "Bozo" Gruhn, "Jim" Blair, "Mase" Mason, "Jim" Cobb, "Tim" Laurie, "Rep" Repshaw, "Bunt" Buntin.

Miss Teresa Huesman Is Girl's Athletic Director

The University is very fortunate this fall in having Miss Teresa Huesman of Minneapolis, Minn. as the new Director of Girls' Athletics. Miss Huesman was graduated from the University of Minnesota, and then did two years' graduate work at Wellesley, in the department of Hygiene and Physical Education. For the past few summers she has taught swimming in a summer camp. Her practical experience has thus made her very well fitted for the position she now holds here. Miss Huesman is very enthusiastic over her life-work, and has already introduced several innovations into the course in physical training.

Faculty Holds Reception

Wednesday evening, September 27, a reception was given in the Library to President and Mrs. Little by the Deans and their wives, and the Director of the Experiment Station, Dr. Morse and wife. The evening was spent in a most informal reception which was greatly enjoyed by each one present. Punch and crackers were served during the evening.

The M. C. A. started its service campaign early this year, for over 400 handbooks were sent out to prospective freshmen in advance of registration.

Freshmen Given Cordial Welcome to University

If ever a "fellar needs a friend" it is when as a freshman he strikes the campus for the first time without knowing where to go or what to do next. Much was done to make things a little easier for both the entering men and women by the Y. W. and M. C. A. Before arriving on the campus every girl received a personal letter from someone of the Y. W. girls and every entering student that registered in advance received a "Freshman Bible" together with a letter from the M. C. A. Trains were met in Bangor Sunday and Orono Monday and Tuesday by M. C. A. members headed up by Pease '23 and Littlefield '25.

In every room where there was a freshman girl flowers with a Y. W. "Welcome" card were left to greet the girl on her arrival, in the dormitory. In the Orono and off campus houses where freshman girls were expected a personal word of greeting was left.

Tuesday and Wednesday of registration the Blue Triangle of the Y. W. and the "ASK ME" button of the M. C. A. greatly aided the newcomers in getting in the right pews.

Maine Mascot Passes to Happy Hunting Grounds

Bananas the fifth, the Maine Mascot, has passed on to remembered with the rest of the Banana line of mascots. She died Sunday, Sept. 24 of intestinal trouble. Falling sick Friday, she was unable to march with the student body on Alumni Field before the football game Saturday afternoon and died Sunday.

Bananas the fifth is the second University of Maine mascot to die while in service. Bananas the third died last spring of ptomaine poisoning shortly after coming out of hibernation. Bananas the fourth was disposed of after living on the campus for a few weeks, as were the two other bears who served previously as mascots. At various times, two tin elephants, one canvas elephant and six bears have served as mascots for Maine teams.

Arrangements are being made to secure another bear and it is hoped that she will be with us in time for the next game.

First Religious Meeting Brings Out Large Crowd

The first Thursday night religious meeting in 30 Coburn Hall was well attended and all voted it a great success. Special music was furnished by a piano solo by Miss Friend and a violin solo by Miss Armstrong. Words of welcome were spoken by Miss Doris Twitchell, president of the Y. W. C. A. and by Arthur Wilson, president of the M.C.A. President Little spoke in his first chapel address of the importance of these meetings and the fact that one hundred seventy-five attended this meeting speaks well for their success during the year.

These meetings are held every Thursday evening in 30 Coburn Hall at 6:45 P. M. The speakers are selected from the student body and the topics discussed are of vital interest to all.

S. A. E. Informal

The S. A. E. fraternity held its first informal house party of the year on Saturday evening, Sept. 30. About twenty-five couples were in attendance. Excellent music was furnished by Carl Libby's orchestra. Refreshments were served and the affair was a great success.

NOTICES

To correct a misunderstanding that seems to have been current at the time of registration, the M. C. A. cabinet wishes it to be known that the M. C. A. handbooks were for every student.

As there are still plenty of handbooks available, a call at the M. C. A. office will provide one.

There will be a meeting of the Maine Student Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers, at 7:30, Thursday evening, in 14 Wingate Hall. The purpose of the meeting is election of officers. All Civil Engineers are requested to be present.

Cross Country Prospects Seem Bright This Year

sophomore years, he should be an added source of strength to the team. Eligibility is an unknown quantity this year every cross country man being eligible, which speaks well for Coach Flack and his methods of training. The men on the team have not just slid by but are in good standing in their studies which demonstrates the fact that a man can be an athlete and a student as well.

As soon as college opened Coach Flack issued a call for candidates and over sixty responded, the largest squad to appear for cross country in the history of the institution. Most of the work has been on the cinders until the men were accustomed to the routine and in all probability they will start over the course this coming week. The work gradually becomes harder and after a few weeks training the squad will be ready for their races. There are many promising freshmen who will be a credit to Maine and her team during their stay in college. It is too early to predict just who will and who won't make the team for time trials have a lot to do with that end of the game.

Practically all the men from the second squad and those who did not make their letters are out for the sport, many for their last year. Capt. Lawrence of the track team has reported for work and is daily practicing with the squad. It is urged that if there are any more men in college who have any ability for running to come out and convince yourself that you can't run, before you graduate, because in many instances you will find that you have fooled yourself.

INTERCOLLEGIATE

M. I. T.—The Massachusetts Institute of Technology has at present two new buildings under construction. One of these is designed with the purpose of preventing the occurrence of a catastrophe at the Institute like that which took place in the Harvard Physical Laboratory last spring. It will be in the nature of a Compressed Air Laboratory. One part of it will take care of machinery in which the pressure comes up to 2000 to 4000 pounds per square inch. The rest will contain a laboratory for the testing of submarine torpedo propulsion machinery.

The second building is a garage that will provide storage space for two caterpillar tractors, the Institute snow plow, and three cars.

Dartmouth—Two of Dartmouth's tennis stars took part in the Swiss National Tennis Championship Tournament at St. Moritz, Switzerland in August. In the doubles in which they worked together, they were runners-up and in the singles, both players made their way up to the fourth round, but were defeated there. In the mixed doubles, W. E. Howe, this year's varsity captain and Miss Brokaw of New York City reached the finals, but were beaten there. J. P. Carleton, the other man, who is starting as Rhodes scholarship man at Oxford this year, plans to return to St. Moritz this winter to take part in the famous ski-jumping events at the popular winter resort.

Gert—Does poetry run in the blood?
Bert—Of course it does. Haven't we all heard of the "poetic vein".

The Old Maine Spirit is Rampant at First Rally

only four of the first team are out this year, and as a result it is necessary to fill in with new men. These new men Coach Brice stated would need to have lots of fight, Maine spirit, and the support of the student body. In spite of the fact that there are several new men on the team, he feels sure that the team to take the field Saturday will be stronger than last year's team.

Coach Brice was followed by Cuddy Murphy, the assistant coach, who gave the dope on the line. Graduate manager Bryant laid especial emphasis on the fact that all athletic teams organized this year must bear the brunt for two years, as next year the freshmen are to be barred from varsity teams. Hence it is especially necessary to get all good men out this year that they may have the training.

The cheers that greeted Prexy Little left no doubt that he is a great favorite with the students. He set the key words for the year: "Be a good sport, cheer your team and do not yell at the mistakes of the opponents, get disappointed but do not get discouraged."

The band played three or four selections to start with and throughout the rally gave proof that our boast is well founded when we say that we have the best band in the state. The speeches were punctuated throughout by peppy cheering led by Ned Lawrence.

Real Service Must Be Engineered

Many of the men whose names are writ large in engineering history are design engineers; men like Westinghouse, Lamme, Stanley, Hodgkinson, Tesla, Shallenberger. Their inventions have the quality of usefulness, of reliability, of productability; which is an involved way, perhaps, of saying that they have the primary requisite of all really great inventions: Serviceability.

Engineering history abounds in instances of near-genius that produced no product, and of great developments that never reached completion; and most of these instances are explained by the lack, somewhere in the system, of that ability to give real Service.

Service, in a machine or a system, or wherever you find it, is not there by accident but because it was incorporated by men who understood what was required and knew how to provide it.

Much more is required of the designer than facility in calculation and mastery of theory. He must have first hand and thorough familiarity with manufacturing operations and with commercial and operating conditions. It takes more than mere ingenuity and inventiveness to design apparatus that will be really serviceable and will "stay put."

The design engineer, in the Westinghouse plan, is responsible for the performance of the finished product. He cannot possibly have the proper understanding of operation unless he operates and tests, unless he spends time and thought in investigation and study, not in the laboratory or drawing room, but right on the operating job. Here, most of his ideas will develop; and here he will see and prepare for all the different things which the product will later have to encounter. Then when he comes to put his creations on paper, his calculations will be necessary and helpful to check the conclusions which he has reached, and this right use of them requires training and a high degree of understanding. This proper balance of the physical and mathematical conception of things is what constitutes engineering judgement.

It should be thoroughly understood that the primary function of the design engineer is the conception and the production of new or improved apparatus, and familiarity with the practical is essential to the proper discharge of this duty.

It is this view of designing that makes this branch of Westinghouse engineering so important, so effective, and so productive of real developments.

on the goal line, but Vermont was given a five yard penalty for offside play. Beck regained the loss, but Driscoll fumbled on the next play, and the crowd breathed easier when Maine recovered.

Blair got off an unfortunate kick from behind the line and it was Vermont's ball on Maine's 12 yd. line. Beck did not gain. O. Johnson made five on a line plunge and went off tackle for three more. Yarnell made it first down. Yarnell gained a yard. Maine got another lucky break when Beck fumbled on the goal line. McKechnie recovered. Gruhn gained four yards off tackle. Vermont was offside on the next play and the penalty gave Maine first down. Gruhn failed to gain. Small got away for a pretty dash around left end and out of danger and added twenty yards. Gruhn made half a yard. Maine opened her forward passing game with a ten yard peg. Blair to Merritt. Gruhn hit the line for five more. Small failed to gain and Blair slashed through for five and first down. The quarter ended with the ball on Vermont's 45 yd. stripe. Blair failed on a line plunge. Maine fumbled and Vermont recovered.

Beck made but three yards on a wide end run. Fraser nailed him in time to prevent a longer gain. Beck made four. Driscoll three and Beck made first down. O. Johnson made six in two tries. A forward, Yarnell to Semansky, netted 10 yds. Beck made four, then three, and Yarnell made first down. Yarnell made three and Johnson made first down. Beck hit center for four, and the ball was on Maine's one yard line when the half ended.

SECOND HALF

Blair kicked off to the 2 yd. line and Beck furnished the sensation of the game by dashing through the whole Maine team and planting the ball on the Blue's fifteen yard line. On the very next play Driscoll scored with a pretty quarterback run off tackle. Driscoll dropped the goal. Score Vermont 7 Maine 0.

Capt. Johnson kicked off to Maine's five yard line and Gruhn returned it to the twenty. Vermont took a 15 yd. penalty for holding. Gruhn made another first down. Blair gained three, and a forward to Small failed. Vermont was fined five yards. Gruhn added a yd. A neat pass, Blair to McKechnie netted fifteen yards. Gruhn made a yard, Small made two and a pass to Merritt gave twenty-five. The ball was on Vermont's eight yard line. Two line bucks and a forward pass failed, and Vermont had the ball on her own twenty yard line.

Driscoll made two yards around end. Beck followed with six and then first down. Johnson gained four and followed with two more. Yarnell made eleven yards in two tries and Beck three. The quarter ended on Maine's forty-five yard line. Monroe replaced Lord at center.

Beck went off tackle for first down and Driscoll made a yard. Johnson, Yarnell and Beck gained, but a holding penalty spoiled the good work and put the ball in midfield. Johnson made three yards and a forward to Driscoll brought four. Yarnell gained seven and first down. Eastburn entered for Garrity. A forward pass failed and Maine received the ball. Cutts replaced Merritt.

Blair advanced the ball twenty yards in three rushes. Cutts and Gruhn each added two and Small lost ten on an attempted forward. Blair kicked to Beck on his 40 yd. line. Driscoll made two and Beck first down. Johnson failed to gain. Maine lost 15 yds. for unnecessary roughness. Johnson gained first down. Yarnell made eight and Vermont received a holding penalty. Beck attacked center for eleven in two tries and the game ended.

World Famous Author to Lecture at Maine

that he does not regard novel writing as an amusement, but as a serious pursuit. In his eyes it is something to which all one's heart should be given. His characters are not mere portrayals of people he has met, but are creations of his imagination. His scenes are as varied as his characters and his plots. Russia, Cornwall, the London of Bloomsbury, and the London of Mayfair—all are familiar to him, and to all he gives the proper atmosphere.

Although he is still under forty, Mr. Walpole has written eleven novels which have placed him in the front ranks of authorship, including his famous stories of Russian life, "The Dark Forest," and "The Secret City." During his lecture tour in America last year, Mr. Walpole was greeted by record breaking audiences and made a deep impression by his magnetic, attractive personality. His views on contemporary literature aroused unusual interest. There is every indication that his present tour will be even more successful. In Maine Mr. Walpole will lecture in three places, Portland, Bowdoin, and the University.

The following list of girls has been approved by the committee as co-ed saleswomen for the sale of tickets on Ticket Day for Mr. Walpole's lecture.

Which Type of Research is of Greatest Value?

A stove burns too much coal. A man familiar with the principles of combustion and heat radiation makes experiments which indicate desirable changes in design. That is research.

You want to make a ruby in a factory, a real ruby, indistinguishable by any test from the natural stone. You begin by analyzing rubies chemically and physically. Then you make rubies just as nature did. Your rubies are the result of research—another type of research.

While melting up your chemicals and experimenting with high temperatures, you begin to wonder how hot the earth must have been millions of years ago, and what were the forces at play that made this planet what it is. Your investigation leads you far from rubies and causes you to formulate theories to explain how the earth, how the whole solar system was created. That would be research of a still different type.

Research of all three types is conducted in the laboratories of the General Electric Company. But it is the third type—pioneering into the unknown—that means most in the long run, even though undertaken with no practical benefit in view.

For example, the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are exploring matter with X-rays in order to discover not only how the atoms in different substances are arranged but how the atoms themselves are built up. The more you know about a substance, the more you can do with it. This work may enable scientists to answer more definitely the question: Why is iron magnetic? Then the electrical industry will take a greater step forward than can be made in a century of experimenting with existing electrical apparatus.

You can add wings and stories to an old house. But to build a new house, you must begin with the foundation.
