Maine Takes Victory From Worcester Tech

University of Maine Team Defeats Worcester Five, 49-26 in Best Game of Basketball Seen in Bangor This Year

In the best game that has been played in City Hall in Bangor for some time, the University basketball team defeated the fast Worcester Tech five by a score of 49-26. The game was featured by the clever passing of both teams and the individual shooting of Berry of Tech and Holmes and Newell of Maine. Berry was the individual star for the Worcester five and displayed an excellent brand of basketball, scoring nineteen points and many times breaking up the Maine rally.

The entire team from Maine played good basketball and showed themselves to be a well coached outfit. Worcester started the fireworks by scoring eleven points before Capt. Newell's team got started. Then when the Maine boys got started, they evened the score and quickly took the lead, the score at the end of the half being 34-17 with Maine having the advantage. In the second half Maine opened up with Berg, Holmes and Newell going strong. In this period Coach Flack shoved in many substitutes. Berry of Worcester and Berg of Maine gave

Phi Beta Kappa Chapter Installed at University

The Charter Members of the Delta Chapter of Maine Phi Beta Kappa assembled in the lecture room of the Library at 5 p.m., Jan. 26, 1923, with visitors including delegates from other chapters, and guests. The ceremonies were conducted by Dr. Charles F. Thwing, President of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, who was assisted by Dr. O. M. Voorhees, Secretary of New York City. The exercises included the reading and informal presentation of the charter, initiation of six Foundation Members, formal election of officers, and initiation of six alumni and of four members from the class of 1923 of the College of Arts and Sciences. After the signing of the Chapter roll, thirty-eight members, guests and delegates adjourned to Balentine Hall, where an informal dinner was served at 6:45 p.m.

At the public meeting in Alumni Hall, following the dinner, Dean J. S. Stevens, president of the newly organized Chapter, presided. Dr. Thwing and Dr. Voorhees also occupied the platform. After a violin solo by Mrs. Noyes, Dean Stevens opened the meeting by remarks on the history, aims and ideals of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, of which this, the Delta of Maine, is the 95th to be instituted. The Charter was then formally presented to the College of Arts and Sciences by President Thwing, and graciously accepted by Pres. Stevens.

The Chairman then read the names of the newly elected members, and called upon the alumni and undergraduate members to come forward and take places on the platform. The following alumni were present and were appropriately greeted by Pres. Thwing: Pearl Clayton Swain, '99, Portland High School; Fred C. Mitchell 1900, Principal of the Classical High School, Lynn, Mass.; Hon. Carroll S. Chaplin 1904, Mayor of Portland; Miss Lennie P. Copeland, 1904, Assistant Professor of Mathematics, Wellesley College; A. W. Sprague 1905, Director of Music, Univ. of Maine; Robie L. Mitchell 1907, Attorney, New York City. The following members of the class of 1923 took their places in a similar way: David Gross, Mildred E. Lombard, Mabel B. Peabody, Mary C. Perkins.

Delegates from other Chapters were then called upon as follows: from Bowdoin, Hon. E. M. Simpson of Bangor; from Bates, Prof. F. A. Knapp; from

Program Is Complete For Winter Carnival

Keen Competition Will Keep Enthusiasm to Highest Pitch. First Hockey Game on Campus Between Maine and Colby

The program of the Second Annual Winter Carnival at the University of Maine opens Thursday evening. At that time the clever play, "The Lion and the Mouse," will be presented by the Maine Masque under the direction of Prof. Mark Bailey. Between the acts, music will be furnished by the University of Maine Band.

After the play there will be an elaborate display of fireworks in front of Balentine Hall, which will include the symbol of the Carnival, the Polar Bear, and a brilliantly lighted Maine banner.

The following day, Friday, will be a busy one, starting off with the long distance skii and snowshoe races at nine o'clock. Trials for the other skii and snowshoe races will take place on the Stillwater River. Keen competition is assured by the large number of entrants who have been steadily improving since they started practicing. The skii jumping will also undoubtedly furnish many thrills.

The afternoon program on Friday begins at two o'clock with a hockey game between Colby and Maine. This will be the first real game played at Orono and

Maine Joins With Other Colleges in Athletic Rules

Robert Hampden Bryant, graduate manager of athletics at the University of Maine and Prof. Archer Grover returned Tuesday, Jan. 30, from Boston, where they assisted in the organization of the New England College Conference on Intercollegiate Athletics. The conference includes five charter members: New Hampshire State, Massachusetts Agricultural College, Connecticut State, Rhode Island State and the University of Maine.

By agreement of representatives of each institution, athletics will be conducted on an honor system basis and athletes declared eligible by one college will be accepted as such by the others. No attempt will be made by members to view other members with suspicion.

That each of the five institutions concerned are state institutions has no significance, says Mr. Bryant. Other New England colleges willing to subscribe to the same conditions and seeking admission to the conference will be considered for membership.

Marked steps in several directions are taken by the conference, especially in legislation against the transfer problem. Rule Two of the code adopted states that "no man who has obtained a varsity letter in another institution shall be permitted to participate in intercollegiate athletics."

For transfer students who have not previously been varsity letter winners, the rule requires one year of residence before eligibility. These measures are best set forth in rules that were adopted: Rule 1—Bona Fide Students—No one shall participate in any intercollegiate athletic contest unless he is a bona fide matriculated student regularly enrolled as a candidate for a bachelor's degree or its equivalent, and doing full work as defined by the regulations of the department in which he is enrolled.

Rule Two—Migrant Students—No person who has participated as a college student in any intercollegiate athletic contest as a member of any college team shall be permitted to participate in any intercollegiate athletic contests as a member of any team of another college until he has been a matriculate in such institution under the conditions as set forth in rule 1 for a period of one year.

University Play to Open Winter Carnival Program

The Lion and the Mouse, a play staged before the Christmas holidays and under the supervision of the Masque and Domino societies, will be the opening event for the Winter Carnival. It was deemed fitting to put on the play again because first, the play was received with enthusiasm by the few who were able to see it and second, because only a small percentage of the students and faculty who will attend the Carnival did see it. There will be many added attractions so the play may not be thoroughly recognizable by anyone.

Rehearsals of the Lion and the Mouse were started again at the beginning of the spring semester. The cast of the play have remembered their parts very well considering the lapse of time since the production was first staged. This proves that the so-called actors and actresses have been well drilled in their

Enthusiastic Rally Held For Girls' Basketball

At an enthusiastic rally in Alumni Hall last Wednesday evening, the girls encouraged the basketball team to play their best in the New Hampshire State game.

"Cracker" Ring, captain of the team, was chairman, and Doris Twitchell, the cheer leader.

"Prexy" Little, in a rousing speech, appealed to all the girls to come and bring at least one person with them. "Bring your spirit with you, too," he said. "Don't just occupy a seat." "Prexy" also urged that the girls work up their own cheers, some that would be characteristic of them.

Miss Huesman, "Johnny" Johnson and "K" Dennison appealed to the girls to come and support the team. "We can win if we have the support of all the girls," said "K" Dennison.

A Debate Arranged With Boston College Team

The Debating Society has arranged for a debate with Boston College, to take place in Boston on March 2. Maine will take the affirmative of the question: Resolved, that the U. S. Should Adopt the Townner-Sterling Education Bill. The Maine team will be composed of E. M. Curran '25; T. W. Monroe '24; and H. L. Richardson '24.

was beaten by Colby during the winter carnival last year but the team had very little practice and a short time on the rink before the game.

Before the opening face off, Captain Berry of Colby and Stearns of Maine consulted and decided that the game would not decide the sextet which will oppose Bates for the winter sport carnival championship of Maine at the Augusta winter sports carnival, the latter part of this month. Maine will oppose Colby again Friday afternoon on her home rink in Orono, the winner of the game having the pleasure of meeting Bates at the Augusta carnival. Stone was the outstanding player for Maine, spending a busy afternoon with the stick.

Coach Murphy has labored under all kinds of handicaps with the stormy weather and the poor condition of the

Maine Meets Defeat At B. A. A. Games

Bowdoin won the relay race with the University of Maine, at the B. A. A. games Saturday night, winning by about twenty-five yards. Steve Palmer of Bowdoin got a five yard lead at the start and Ed Kneeland was unable to close it up. Strong gained on Johnson of Bowdoin in the second lap but still the latter was able hand on a three yard lead to Mason of Bowdoin. O'Connor was unable to keep up the pace, so that Webster of Bowdoin was able to finish with a twenty-five yard lead on Ned Lawrence.

One of the features of the games was the Hunter mile in which Joie W. Ray broke his own record with four minutes, nineteen seconds. Ray Buker finished a close second defeating James J. Connolly of Georgetown University.

Bates College defeated Boston University. Holy Cross defeated Georgetown and Boston College.

M. I. T. defeated Harvard. Brown defeated Dartmouth. U. of Vermont defeated the Mass. Aggies and New Hampshire State.

Alumnus of University Dies at Colby College

Prof. Henry W. Brown of the English department at Colby College, who died in Waterville, Sunday, was an alumnus of University of Maine, class of 1881. He was appointed to the Colby faculty in 1912, after having taught 25 years in New Hampton Literary Institution. He was a member of Phi Kappa Phi and of Phi Gamma Delta.

Maine Has Received Large Bequest in Two Years

Within two years the University of Maine has been the legatee under the provisions of two wills, the probating of which has been the occasion for much interest by its alumni, alumnae and friends.

On April 15, 1920 the will of the late Frederick W. Hill of Bangor was probated and among its provisions was the following paragraph relating to the fund left by him to the University:

"The principal of said trust fund shall always be kept intact and shall be safely invested and only the income thereof shall be applied for purposes of said University, except that none of it shall ever be used to pay for the erection or repair of any building or ever be used to purchase real estate."

This fund which is to be known as the Frederick W. and Marianne Hill fund and is estimated to amount to

The Maine-Spring Again Makes Its Appearance

The first issue of Volume III of the Maine-Spring is now on sale at the book-store. Although rather late in coming out this year, in several ways it shows improvement. Both the poetry and prose are of interest to the readers.

Among the short stories is "Ambergris," written by Molly Perkins. Among the essay contributors is Henry Chung, a Chinese student, who has done his first work for the Maine-Spring. "The Lay Mind vs. the Philosophic" is sure to please those who who care to do a little thinking. Mr. Flewelling is keeping up his standard of good composition by parodying the characteristic style of Vachel Lindsay. "The Old Town Hall" is the name of his piece of verse.

The policy of the Maine-Spring has been to publish material of a wide in-

The Carnival

After the many weeks of planning, after much talk and useless conjecture, Maine's big Winter Carnival is finally on the scene. On the eve of the affair we wish to add just one more word of comment in our editorial columns.

The plans for the carnival have been extensive; no pains have been spared to place this mid-winter fete on a par with affairs of similar nature, all over the country, as evidenced by the fact that all classes have been excused on Friday and Saturday.

One necessary factor remains to make all the extensive preparations worthy of existence. That is the attitude, the interest of all students whether they be participants or spectators. As a final word, we would merely suggest that it might appear much more fitting for the individual to devote the following week-end to supporting Maine's Carnival than to take advantage of the two extra days for a vacation at home.

Class Bells

As members of the modern age, with its demands for efficiency above all else we would call attention to the little peculiarities attending the system of bells which calls us to our classes.

People coming here for the first time, from other parts of the country never fail to mention the 'frightful irregularity' of our bells and sometimes even go so far as to express their doubts as to whether we ever really know the correct time.

In our own self-satisfaction we were rather inclined to discredit the remarks of these people at first,—put them down as over-zealous or a wee bit daft, but we must admit that they would not be denied—we were forced to see the light. It really is true that discrepancies do exist. The last bell for the eight o'clock class never rings in coordination with the eight o'clock bell. The same bell never rings at exactly the same time for two days in succession. One can never count on being at class on time unless he allows at least five minutes leeway.

These little characteristics of our system as they have been called to our attention, do not, perhaps, do a great deal of harm; a second or two each way will ruin no one. One might even say that such an easy-going system was romantic in its aspect but it certainly is not in accordance with the modern idea of efficiency.

The New Semester

Now, that the haze has cleared away and we may review the scenes of examination time activity, the average student experiences sensations closely akin to those felt by every individual at the New Year season. We are all starting off on a new lap of college life whether we are aware of much change in our schedule of classes or not. Nearly everyone is in that frame of mind when new resolutions come most easily, when one, contemplating the newness before him, is vaguely aware of the desire to do justice to it.

Having led you up to this point, we ask you to stop and contemplate. Before you is a clean, unsullied slate, no marks there to wipe out, nothing to erase, nothing to undo. You are passing thru one of those moments in life which will lay an authoritative finger on your future and say whether or no success will be yours. Yes, do stop and consider; lay your plans for the rest of the year; make those resolutions which shall govern you for this next period of college life. Decide now, if that new leaf is worth turning. If it is, turn it and govern your pen with an iron hand, henceforth.

A New Book

For those, who desire to watch the panorama of college life from ringside seats, the new book, "Town and Gown," by Lynn and Lois Seyster Montross is of interest. It is a book which portrays in thirteen episodes, modern college life with regard to its customs, its morals, its social aspect. The characters of these sketches are remarkably true to life and are types that are to be found in any modern state university.

Anah Temple Stages an Indoor Circus at Bangor

Not only is this a gala week here on the campus but also in Bangor, where the Anah Temple, Mystic Shrine, is staging an indoor circus which is by far the biggest thing of the kind which has ever been attempted in the state. The first three nights of the week are given up to the sideshows and circus, while on Thursday night the festivities will be brought to a close with a grand masked ball. Reports from all over the state indicate that Bangor will be flooded with the largest crowd it has ever known, and the Auditorium will be packed to the roof during the four nights of the circus.

While the barkers for the sideshows may be amateurs in this line, it is guaranteed that you will not be able to distinguish them from the most accomplished professionals, and the circus performance itself is anything but an amateur affair, as the performers are real circus acrobats, bareback riders, etc., who have been imported for the occasion. Real circus horses will gallop around the ring and real circus stars swing from the trapezes.

Everybody has a chance to try his luck at winning baby dolls, candy, and resplendent Shrine blankets. In one booth chances are sold for two round trip tickets to Washington, or the equivalent in money, the lucky winner being given his choice. Sideshows galore are promised, and stirring music by the Temple band will give the final touch to make it seem like a grand combination of Barnum and Bailey's and Ringling Brothers' circuses.

Thursday night the sawdust rings will disappear, and the floor will be crowded with masked dancers in costumes of every description. While it is not required that fancy dress be worn, no one will be allowed on the floor without a mask during the first part of the evening. Hundreds are coming from out of town to attend the ball and many beautiful and novel costumes will doubtless be displayed. It will be worth the price of admission just to see the colorful throng whirling by, and to hear the music which will be the best it is possible to procure.

Informal Dance Given By Balentine Hall Girls

An informal dance was given at Balentine Hall, Saturday, January 27.

The room was attractively decorated in blue and white. Festoons were hung across the room and caught on the pillars, which were bound with strips of blue and white. Streamers were attached to the door in a drapery effect.

Among the order of dances was a unique novelty. The members of the party formed in a double line and each received a clay pipe on which was printed "Balentine Hall" and decorated with a blue ribbon.

At intermission the guests were taken to the reception rooms, where ice cream and fancy crackers were served. Punch was enjoyed throughout the evening.

Reiche's orchestra furnished music for the dancing, which was greatly enjoyed. The chaperones for the evening were Mrs. Hendrickson, Miss Kellogg, and Mr. Whitcomb.

University of Utah—The new varsity corduroy trousers will soon appear on the campus at the University of Utah as their wearing has been both indorsed by the Senior and Junior presidents. The upper classmen will be distinguished by the light colored corduroys, which are expected to create a desire among lower classmen to some day have the honor themselves.

Business Meeting Held By the Two Year Hecks

The Two Year Hecks held their mid-year election of officers of their club last Wednesday evening in Winslow Hall. In accordance with the By-laws of this organization, the officers were chosen from among the first year men.

Following is a list of the men which were chosen to carry on the work of this comparatively young organization:

President: Mansell R. Garland, Ellsworth Falls; vice-president, Robert W. Day, W. Kennebunk; secretary-treasurer, Merton S. Curtis, Paris, Maine.

Following this election, Mr. Garland and Mr. Day presented the pros and cons of the Dairy Industry in Maine. This very interesting debate was followed by a general discussion of the question of the evening, in which all the members of the club took part.

It is planned to ask Dr. Morse, the director of the Experiment Station, to speak to this group on the subject of the work of the Station and its relation to the farmer's interests. This subject is one of general interest to the men entered in the School course and the meeting bids fair to be both entertaining and instructive.

Dr. C. A. Brautlecht Lectures at Meeting

At the last meeting of the Maine Section of the American Chemical Society, held Tuesday evening, January 16, Dr. C. A. Brautlecht, head of the department of chemistry, delivered an interesting, illustrated lecture on the Chemistry of Fuel, Heat and Light.

Dr. Brautlecht traced the development of each from the primitive times to the modern age. The first topic taken up was the use of pine knot and carboniferous wood as torches. This was followed in successive stages by the olive oil lamps, fish oil and tallow candles, coal, Davy safety oil lamps, alcohol lamps, kerosene, acetylene, benzene, sulphur and phosphorous matches, natural and artificial gas and finally electricity.

At the close of the lecture, a social hour was spent in one of the laboratories where refreshments were served.

The next meeting of the section will be held Friday evening, February 9th, at 7.30 P. M. in Aubert Hall.

Contributors' Club Holds Its Bi-weekly Meeting

The bi-weekly meeting of the Contributor's Club was held in the Library on Thursday evening, Feb. 1. Thirteen members of the club were present.

Molly Perkins read a sketch and two poems. Other works of prose and poetry were read and discussed. Dr. H. M. Ellis told about a poetry contest that had recently been held by the Southern Methodist University of Dallas, Texas. This contest was open to all undergraduates of colleges in the United States. Oddly enough, the prize was won by a member of the University running the contest. The vogue of having prose and poetry contests throughout the United States is increasing. Doctor Ellis is of the opinion that this points the way to a time when everyone will be using poetry as the chief mode of expression.

The Campus board recently created a new department by electing a Military Editor. It is a very desirable position on the board and is rewarded in the usual way by the distinctive pine tree charm. But such positions are for only one year's duration and should be filled by some one in the future who is acquainted with the work. Such means of becoming acquainted, is furnished by the opportunity of reporting for the Military Editor. Such reporters when duly elected to the Campus Board receive a "shingle" in recognition of their service. Several freshmen and sophomores who are interested in working out for such honors are requested to report to the Military Editor for assignments. Such men will be given the opportunity to become better acquainted with the work and officers of the Military Department.

"It's too deep for me" said the drowning man as he slowly sank to the bottom.

The sighs of relief? That Maine cleaned up the Winter Carnival at Waterville?

Freddie Webb's hardness?

That sleighing parties are very much the thing these bracing nights?

Those good looking Kappa Phi Kappa keys?

That Ed Kneeland has a very intellectual look since mid-years?

That moustaches make one look so professional?

That the English department is still flunking the usual percentage of all classes?

That this is the time for some new resolutions?

The popularity of afternoon classes for the A. B.'s?

That the migratory birds are beginning to fly?

How popular that Home Nursing course is?

Prospective candidates for the Carnival events?

That "Ted" Currier is human after all?

The wonderful moon this past week?

The sleighing parties?

That the Balentine phone has been out of order over the week-end?

That the library is trying to freeze out the Sunday crowd of students?

That the relay squad has been coming back in piece-meal fashion?

That expectant look on the faces of some when the carnival is mentioned?

That the co-eds have a real basketball team as well as the men?

The pep with which the co-eds put on their games and entertainments?

The exodus from the campus?

That this is the time to start a new slate?

Plans Being Organized for R. O. T. C. Summer Camp

Plans for the R. O. T. C. summer camp are under way. Exact information as to the location of the camp is not yet available but it will be either at Fort Ethan Allen in Vermont or at Camp Devens. It is a very creditable fact that last year's basic unit at Camp Devens was 50% University of Maine. Thirty-five men have already signified their intentions of attending the coming camp but that is only a little over a half of the allowable quota, which is sixty-six men for the U. of M.

The object of the summer camp, which is maintained by the Government, is to supplement the theoretical text book work with actual problems and practice under field conditions. The work consists of rifle and pistol practice or outdoor ranges, demonstration of machine gun, trench mortar and the one-pounder. There is also a demonstration of combat by cavalry and field artillery of the regular army. The R. O. T. C. units also participate and demonstrate field maneuvers.

There is much competition at the camp between the various college units. At one camp a captain offered a reward of several gallons of ice cream if his company won the honors. They won alright. The regular army badges are awarded for excellence in rifle or pistol marksmanship and several of these have been won by U. of M. men.

The basic course should be of especial interest to Freshmen as it would be a great aid to them in their sophomore year's study which is considered the hardest year of the entire course.

Williams—By the opening of her new library building has been placed among the number of those colleges which have modern library facilities. The building is the last word in college libraries, and no effort has been spared to make it as imposing as possible. The stock room has a capacity of 220,000 volumes and is divided into seven floors, with electric elevator service. The Chapin room, which contains a vault to guard the Chapin collection, is appointed in bronze and oak. A reading room appointed in marble and quartered oak is another interesting feature of the building.

Following a solo by Mrs. Newman, the speaker of the evening, Dr. C. F. Thwing, President Emeritus of Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, spoke on a quotation from Walter Bagehot: "Use your mind." He emphasized by the use of statistics of honor men from the Harvard Law School, the relation of close application to undergraduate studies and success in legal studies, which requires straight thinking and accurate reasoning. He urged the need of straight thinking in the problems of our civilization today, namely, the government, the school, the Church, and property, and made a strong plea for individuals who must be trained as leaders, as leadership is one of the most crying needs today.

Maine Joins With Other Colleges in Athletic Rules

including a full season of the sport in which he last participated.

Rule Three—New students—No student shall participate in intercollegiate athletics until he has been in residence one year and shall have completed the institutional requirements to advance him to the next class in addition to meeting the entrance requirements of the college.

Note—Attendance during summer sessions is not counted as residence for the purpose of this rule.

One of the chief things stressed was that the organization is not one in which competition for "championships" is to be a chief aim. The main purpose of the conference was to bring about a closer cooperation on the part of New England colleges in the maintenance of high standards of eligibility and in the administration of intercollegiate athletics. It is understood that no member of the conference is obliged to participate in a mutual schedule; and furthermore, there shall be no announcement of conference championships by officials of the conference.

It was the opinion of the conference that a careful effort should be made to balance work and interest in intercollegiate athletics with the other and main factors of the educational program.

terest, and to exclude local matter. In the introduction to Volume III, the editor has expressed the following: "The literary magazine of any college should be, at its best, a mirror of the thinking processes of the college, or rather, of its individual human units. To be a mirror which presents an undistorted reflection, the magazine cannot be restricted in its subject matter."

This year The Maine-Spring is offering two prizes to its undergraduate contributors. For the best work of prose twenty-five dollars will be given, while the award for the best verse is fifteen dollars. This contest is open to all undergraduates of this University. The contest closes May 5th. The judges will be faculty members, chosen by the Contributor's Club.

respective parts by Professor Bailey and Instructor Wallace.

Two members of the former cast will be unable to play this time so substitutes have been found. Miss Fisher will take the part of Miss Molly Perkins as Mrs. Rossmore, wife of the Judge. Mr. Patterson was chosen to take Mr. Niles' place as Judge Stott. The new members have learned their parts very well in the short time given them and by the night of the play will be experienced performers.

Gladys Staples, the last speaker of the evening urged the girls to come out for the Carnival events, especially the 100 yd. dash, and the relay. "We want not only Mt. Vernon and Balentine, but also Balentine Annex, and North Hall represented in the relay this year," she said. She ended by urging everyone to go on the snowshoe hike to Old Town on Saturday.

The cheering and singing, led by Doris Twitchell, was full of "pep."

Music was furnished by an orchestra composed of Florence Merritt, Betty Peabody, Sarah Wiswell and Alice Bunker. The rally ended with the Stein Song.

The Russian Quartette To Sing Saturday Night

The Russian Cathedral Quartette is to be here Saturday night. We are informed that this is "Without question the finest male singing organization in the world today."

To accommodate the Carnival crowd who will want to go to this very fine concert, the hour has been moved up to 7:30 so that all can go and still be in time for the dances. The price of single admissions has been reduced from the usual 65 cents down to 40 cents. Surely no fellow would keep his girl from enjoying a concert of this fine type when they can go at such a low figure.

great interest will be aroused since Colby defeated Maine at the Waterville rink last Saturday. The team, under the careful supervision of Coach Murphy, will put forth their best efforts to avenge that defeat. An exhibition of fancy skating will immediately follow the hockey game.

A big feature of the afternoon will be the famous snowball battle between the Freshmen and Sophomores which is becoming an annual occurrence. No single event of the entire Carnival will furnish more amusement to the spectators. The battle will be in charge of the Senior Skulls.

Friday evening at eight o'clock the formal Carnival Ball, the big social event of the week, will be held in the Gymnasium which will be attractively decorated with the colors of the University. Besides the regular fraternity booths, there will be attractive booths for the non-fraternity students and friends of the University. The music for the Ball will be furnished by Ray Thompson's Portland Orchestra, which has an enviable reputation around Portland. The dance programs will be on sale at the University Store and by the Intra-Mural delegates at the fraternity houses and dormitories.

On Saturday morning relay races for surrounding high schools are scheduled. Following this event the finals for the fraternity relay and the Girls' Dormitory relay will be run off.

Saturday afternoon will be given over to Inter-Collegiate events. Trophies of real value will be awarded to the winners of each event. Maine has already successfully competed in the Carnival held at Waterville and will prove to be a strong contestant in each event in the coming Carnival. Some of the best men are "Bill" Elliott, who won the skii jumping contest at Waterville two weeks ago, Clyde Patten, who won the snowshoe race at the same time, and "Scraper" Hay who is also a skii jumper of ability. Along with other events comes the well remembered faculty snowshoe race, in which keen competition is expected. To wind up the sports program an exciting contest of skii jooring will be held.

Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock The Russian Cathedral Quartette will present an interesting and enjoyable entertainment under the auspices of The Maine Christian Association. To conclude the week's program open house parties will be held in each fraternity house.

Great efforts have been put forth by the Intra-Mural Association to make the Winter Carnival a success both financially and otherwise. The special committee for the Carnival composed of Merle C. Niles, Chairman, R. C. Stevens, and John Donovan Jr. and the Carnival Ball Committee composed of John S. Behringer, Chairman, H. C. Reiche, and L. J. St. Clair deserve special mention for the work spent in preparation for the event.

Maine Has Received Large Bequests in Two Years

$500,000, is the largest sum ever received as a bequest by the University and is especially appreciated by all alumni and friends of Maine since it was bequeathed by a man, not a student or alumnus of the institution. Such a fund assures in part, at least, the future of the University, since it provides not for buildings and equipment, but for maintenance the most important consideration.

The second bequest was that of Oliver Crosby, late President of the American Hoist and Derrick Company of St. Paul, Minnesota. Mr. Crosby was a graduate of Maine in the class of 1876. Shortly after graduation he went to St. Paul arriving there with scant means, but due to hard work and unceasing application advanced rapidly and founded the company of which he became president. The estate was valued at approximately $1,000,000, and the will as probated Dec. 13, 1922, states that, "bequest is made for the specific purpose of erecting a building to house the Department of Mechanical Engineering and always to be known as and bear the name of Crosby."

They Weighed Air— and Charles II Laughed

SAMUEL PEPYS says in his diary that Charles II, for all his interest in the Royal Society, laughed uproariously at its members "for spending their time only in weighing of air and doing nothing else since they sat."

This helps to explain why Charles has come down to us as the "merry monarch."

The Royal Society was engaged in important research. It was trying to substitute facts for the meaningless phrase "nature abhors a vacuum," which had long served to explain why water rushes into a syringe—the commonest form of pump—when the piston is pulled out.

Denis Papin had as much to do as anyone with these laughable activities of the Royal Society. Papin turned up in London one day with a cylinder in which a piston could slide. He boiled water in the cylinder. The steam generated pushed the piston out. When the flame was removed, the steam condensed. A vacuum was formed and the weight of the outer air forced the unresisting piston in.

Out of these researches eventually came the steam engine.

London talked of the scandalous life that King Charles led, and paid scant attention to such physicists as Papin, whose work did so much to change the whole character of industry.

The study of air and air pumps has been continued in spite of Charles's laughter. In the General Electric Company's Research Laboratories, for instance, pumps have been developed which will exhaust all but the last ten-billionth of an atmosphere in a vessel.

This achievement marks the beginning of a new kind of chemistry—a chemistry that concerns itself with the effect of forces on matter in the absence of air, a chemistry that has already enriched the world with invaluable improvements in illumination, radio communication, and roentgenology.
