Juniors Celebrate

Prof. Huddilston Speaks At Junior Exercises

Henry Small, President of the Class, Gives Address of Welcome in Chapel

Junior Chapel, which was held on Friday, was well attended by the students and friends of the University. The exercise began with a selection by the college orchestra, followed by invocation by Olie Berg, chaplain of the class of '24.

Henry Small, president of the class, gave an address of welcome in behalf of the Juniors. He told what it meant to be a Junior, especially during Junior Week. He compared college life to a football game with its four quarters. In the first quarter the team holds its own, but does not make much headway. The second quarter also is uneventful, but the players gain valuable experience. By the beginning of the third quarter, progress is noticeable, and plays are made ready for the touchdown and final victory in the fourth quarter. The Juniors have had a busy, eventful year, but are preparing for still greater accomplishments in their fourth year.

Prof. J. H. Huddilston delivered the address to the Juniors. He expressed

Track Club Cabaret and Dance Was a Success

The Maine Track Club held their annual Cabaret and Dance at the Gymnasium, Saturday, May 26.

The hall was attractively decorated in red and blue streamers. Under the balcony small tables were set with accommodations for two couples. Dainty lunch cloths of green crepe paper were laid on the tables.

During the dancing and intermission, a menu of sandwiches, ice cream, snake's hips, ginger ale, Neer Beer, and Supraphageal Garglions were served in the usual cabaret style.

The evening's entertainment which was greatly enjoyed by those present, was provided by Miss Rita Howard and Mr. Galen Kenney of Bangor, both excellent dancers. They gave a clever exhibition of the Society Waltz and the Argentine Tango in appropriate costumes. Miss Howard, in fancy dress, danced the Contortionist Dance very gracefully. Mr. Kenney sang, furnishing two numbers for the entertainment.

An order of sixteen dances, five of which were specialties, were enjoyed by the couples present. Excellent music was furnished by Barney's Society Orchestra of Boston.

The chaperones for the evening were the fraternity matrons and Professor and Mrs. Pollard.

Hazen H. Ayer Chosen Head of New Senate

The old and new Senates held their last and first meeting, respectively, Wednesday evening, May 23, at seventy-three in Alumni Hall.

It was voted to make the House of Representatives an inactive body, called into session, only by a two-thirds vote of the Senate.

Hazen H. Ayer was elected President of the new Senate, and Philip Harriman, Vice President.

The fact that the Senators have not been considering the meetings very important, made it necessary to pass the following law: that the senator who has more than two unauthorized absences will be automatically dropped and a new member elected in his place from the house which he represents.

The Senators also considered the matter of having a Graduate Manager to take charge of all non-athletic activities.

At present, plans are being made for a constitution which is to be drawn up this summer.

Junior Prom Fascinates As Gala Affair of Year

One Hundred Couples Whirl Under Blue and Red Lights of 1924 Class

The annual reception and Junior Promenade was held in the gymnasium Friday, May 25.

At eight o'clock the reception was given with Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Little, Dean and Mrs. J. N. Hart, Dean and Mrs. J. S. Stevens and Mr. Henry Small, President of the Junior class, in the receiving line.

Following the reception at nine o'clock the dancing was in order.

The hall was attractively decorated in the class colors of blue and red. At the center of the hall was a large dome constructed of narrow blue and red streamers, alternating in the circle. At either side of this were two smaller domes. Festoons were looped gracefully across the hall, meeting the three center ornaments. Around the gallery were hung fork shaped fringes which carried out the color scheme.

The fraternity and dormitory booths were attractively furnished, and decorated with the blue and red paper.

At intermission, ice cream, fancy crackers and punch was served.

The party was chaperoned by Mrs. Kate Estabrook, Mrs. Mattie Munson, Mrs. Mary Parker, Mrs. Ella Mason, Mrs. Mary Stuart, Mrs. Carrie Weeks, Mrs. Bertha Moulton, and Mrs. M. R. Chase.

"Three Live Ghosts" Amuses Gym Audience

The Maine Masque presented the interesting three act comedy, "Three Live Ghosts," Thursday evening in the chapel.

The University orchestra furnished some very pretty music before the play and between the acts, as is the custom junior week.

At the opening of the play, Bill Jones, Jimmy Gubbins, a young Cockney, and Spooey, whom the other two have found suffering from shell-shock in a German prison camp, have escaped from the Germans and returned to England. There they have found themselves "officially dead."

Jimmy Gubbins takes his two friends to his mother's home. Mrs. Gubbins tries to collect one thousand pounds reward which is offered by an American detective agency for Jones.

Jones, discovering his sweetheart, Rose Gordon, reduced to poverty and living in the same tenement, makes a bargain with Mrs. Gubbins. Rose is to have half of the reward and Mrs. Gubbins the other half.

Delta Sigma Mu Holds Initiation and Banquet

Delta Sigma Mu, the local debating fraternity, held its first annual formal initiation and banquet at the Penobscot Exchange, May 9. The members and initiates, all varsity debaters, kept song and oratory flowing freely and were little restrained by the dignity of their full dress attire.

Harrison L. Richardson '24 acted as toastmaster, calling for the following speeches: "President's Address," Howard E. Wilson '23. The four initiates then gave ten minute speeches on the following subjects: "The Status of Intercollegiate Debating," Theodore W. Monroe '24; "Sidelights on Professors," Arthur E. Wilson '23; "College as an Investment," Merle C. Niles '23; "What I Know and Don't Know About Women," Theodore F. Hatch '24. Impromptu speeches were then given by the members, after which the entire party occupied a box at the Bijou.

Sophs Win First Inter- Class Debate Wednesday

The Sophomores won the unanimous verdict of the judges in the Freshman-Sophomore debate last Wednesday evening. This was the first underclass debate held since the war. The quality of the debating in this contest would have done justice to most varsity teams according to the judges' statement.

The Sophomores, upholding the negative of the proposition, "Resolved, That France was right in invading the Ruhr," showed more thorough preparation and more carefully developed cases than their opponents. All six men spoke clearly and forcefully and contested sharply the points made by their opponents. As far as delivery was concerned it would be hard to pick the best man or to say that either class excelled the other, such was the excellence of all.

Mr. H. F. Bowden, opening the debate, showed clearly and conclusively that France was entitled to the reparations guaranteed her by the treaty of Versailles. He pointed out that while Germany was not harmed by the war, large regions of France had been ruthlessly destroyed by the German army. France could not herself rebuild these areas. Germany had promised to pay for rehabilitation and must be forced to live up to her agreement.

Mr. F. A. Soderberg, opening the case for the negative, showed that France had sinister political motives for entering the Ruhr. He quoted authorities to the effect that France was in the Ruhr for purposes of humbling Germany and would if possible annex this rich territory. He challenged the negative to declare whether France was in the Ruhr for reparations or conquest and showed that in either case the French action was unjustified.

Mr. J. H. Sweatt, continuing the case for the affirmative, showed that Germany was able to pay France reparations and was defaulting voluntarily. He quoted

Two Plays Presented At Second Arts Rally

Two plays, one a comedy, the other of more dramatic type, were presented successfully at the Arts Rally in Alumni Hall, Monday, May 28. A fairly large crowd composed of both faculty and students were in attendance.

The first play, Sham, portrayed the actions of a young couple who discovered a thief in their home upon their return from the theatre. Mr. Whitcomb, as the thief, convinced the newlyweds, Mr. Wallace and Miss Perkins, that not to have their house robbed was a sign that there was nothing of value in it. Therefore, the young householders tried to make him carry away different articles which they owned none of which had any value. A reporter (Prof. Bailey) comes to interview the couple, and an amusing situation ensues; however, the quick wit of the wife and the nerve of the thief save the day.

"The Finger of God" was the title of the second playlet in which the dramatic ability of the actors was shown in full.

"Olie" Berg is Elected President of the A. A.

The student members of the Maine A. A. Board were elected Thursday afternoon, May 17. The following officers were elected: Eric Berg, President; George Gruhn, Vice-President; Oren F. Fraser, Secretary; Hazen H. Ayer, Senior Member.

"Olie" Berg, the new president, is one of the well known students on the campus, having made the Sophomore Owls, Junior Masks, and having recently been pledged to the Senior Skulls. He is captain-elect of the basketball team and made his M in this sport and cross-country. He is a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity.

George Gruhn is a Sophomore Owl and chairman of the Hop committee. He has played on the football team for the past two years. He is a member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

"Ginger" Fraser is president of the Freshman class. He made his M on the football team. He is a member of S. A. E. Fraternity.

"Hot" Ayer is one of the most popular men on the campus and was recently pledged to the Senior Skulls. He was elected Cross-Country manager for next fall. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

Dormitory Council Given Autographed Engraving

Acting upon the suggestion of Judge Dunn of Orono, Hannibal E. Hamlin, a prominent lawyer of Ellsworth, Maine, has presented a nicely framed autographed steel engraving of his father, Hannibal Hamlin, to the Dormitory Council.

Hannibal Hamlin was Maine's only Vice President, serving during President Lincoln's first term of office. He was also the first president of the board of trustees of the University of Maine.

The picture of Hannibal Hamlin is a very welcome and appropriate addition to the reception room of the dormitory that bears his name. It is also a choice gift, as it is one of a very few autographed engravings.

Foster Stars at Bat, Bringing in Two Men on a Single, and Slamming a Homer

Maine took the Parentmen into camp on Alumni Field Saturday in the best played championship game of the year, 3 to 2. Nine innings of brilliant pitching and superior fielding made the game one to be long remembered. Colby was game and tied the score in the sixth frame after Maine had piled up a two run lead, but all in vain.

The Bears backed the excellent hurling of Jowett with deadly accuracy at the bat, and with wonderful work in the field; and this combination set the bells and whistles ringing and blowing on the Campus, Saturday night.

Bananas took a day off from his brick-laying and watched his college chums show the way to victory before the charming assemblage of Junior Week. It started like many another game. Both teams went down without scoring in the first, although a fine catch robbed Cooney of a hit.

Colby did nothing in the second. Fat Lunge drove out a two bagger in the Maine half at bat. Osgood bunted safely along the first base line. Howard misused on Stearns' bunt toward third and the bases were full. Then came Foster, a young man who made baseball that afternoon, and he drove the ball over second for a slashing single, which scored Lunge and Osgood and set the Maine stand in a tumult. The Maine Band played and the riot lasted several minutes.

Then the fireworks stopped. Stearns was caught napping off second and a swift peg, Lampher to Fransen put the k. o. on him. Jowett was out on a foul fly to Royal, a pretty catch. Foster was another victim to the deadly accuracy of Lampher and was out stealing second on a peg to Fransen.

Colby tied up the score in the sixth. Shanahan and Royal singled each on the first pitched ball. Shanahan was out on a force play off Fransen, Jowett to Stearns. On a wild peg to second to catch Royal, both men advanced. A wild pitch scored Royal and Fransen scored on a sacrifice fly to Foster. McGowan was out on a long fly to Dunham.

With two down in the sixth inning, Foster, the hitting hero of the day, sent a long hit to left field, which was turned into a home run and gave Maine its last and winning run. Jowett closed the chapter in brilliant fashion, striking out three men in succession in Colby's half of the ninth. The summary:

Bowdoin Weight Man Breaks World Record

The National Intercollegiate Track Meet was held Saturday at Franklin Park, Philadelphia, with all the larger colleges of the East and West represented. The University of California won the meet, easily defeating their nearest opponent, Princeton.

The only Maine team to be represented was Bowdoin, which placed Tootell. He broke the hammer throw record with a distance of 181 feet 6½ inches. The only other record to be broken was by Storrs of Yale in the javelin throw with a distance of 199 feet, 1 inch.

Final Point Summary: University of California 39½; Princeton 33; U. of Penn. 23; Cornell 13½; Penn. State 13; Syracuse 13; Johns Hopkins 12; Dartmouth 10.

The Colby Game

The victory over Colby on Alumni Field last Saturday was not only very pleasing to the University but was a credit to the members of both teams. Seldom has such a good brand of baseball been seen here. By defeating their strong opponents, the Maine men showed the ability their supporters have believed them to possess, but which was somewhat inevident during the Bowdoin game. The Campus takes this opportunity to congratulate the Maine team, Coach Clark, and the members of the Colby team on the excellent playing and true sportsmanship evidenced at all times.

Stay to Commencement if you possibly can. By so doing you will absorb more real University of Maine spirit thru contact with the Alumni and graduates than can be obtained any other way.

The last issue of the Campus for the year will be published June 6. As this will be a Commencement Number, new ideas, communications or contributions are especially solicited. Campus editors and reporters are reminded that everyone must do his part to make this a good paper.

Junior Week

The success that marked the carrying out of the Junior Week program is very gratifying, for besides furnishing much pleasure to those who participated, it showed that Maine's better days have indeed begun. The carefulness with which the program was arranged and the smoothness of its execution reflects a great deal of credit on the committees in charge of the various affairs and on the Junior Class as a whole.

The movies of the Pageant at the Strand theatre Wednesday evening were an innovation that met wide approval, for it gave many a chance to see the Pageant for the first time.

The Maine Masque play, "Three Live Ghosts," presented Thursday night, was a production of considerable merit, and furnished amusement and entertainment for a large audience. Every part was so well taken and executed that the spectators forgot about themselves, and laughed and sorrowed with the characters with a sympathy far greater than is generally accorded such productions by critical student audiences.

The Junior Prom was without question one of the best affairs of its kind in recent times. It was very well attended, the favors were pleasing, the decorations were elaborate and unique, and the music left little to be desired. The whole affair showed itself to be the result of much hard work on the part of the committee and others who volunteered their services.

Junior Chapel service was an impressive part of the week's program. The Address by Professor Huddleston, the Salutatory by President Small, and the Prayers by Chaplain Berg were all well delivered, fitting and timely.

The Track Club Cabaret was a fitting conclusion to the week. Much credit is due the organization and committee that made such an enjoyable affair possible.

On the whole, Junior Week left little to be desired in the way of entertainment. The Campus hopes that the Class of 1925, taking this as an example, may further the custom next year, and put forward a Junior Week program that will be even better than this year's.

A Junior Class Day

For all that Junior Week seems to be the result of well thought out custom, we believe that it is not made as much of as might be. When we stop to think that Junior Chapel, occupying only an hour's time, is the only use made of the day given to the Juniors, it seems that something is lacking. And what is more, altho the week is dedicated to the Junior class, the only occasion for which all the members assemble is Junior Chapel which is shared by the other classes. Does it not seem that there should be some other gathering of the members of the class during the week, when they could take council together, and come to feel some of the responsibility they are assuming as successors to the title of Seniors?

What we have in mind is something of the Senior Class Day sort. Anyone who has witnessed class day could not help from being impressed by its solemnity. What would Commencement be without Class Day Addresses, the Planting of Ivy, and the Senior Council? Would Commencement be Commencement with only the Graduation exercises and a round of dances and baseball games? Yet Junior Week has little more than the baseball games and dances. Surely new customs need to be made, that will give Junior Week the impressive ceremonies which, with the exception of one short hour's Chapel exercise, it now lacks.

We hope that the members of the 1925 class may be favorably impressed by this suggestion, and that in preparing their Junior Week program for next year they may plan a Junior Class Day that will set new custom by filling the need that now exists.

M. C. A. Given Portion of Military Circus Money

The treasurer of the Maine Christian Association recently received from the treasurer of the R. O. T. C. circus fund a check for $45.64 as the 40% of the proceeds that the Circus committee had apportioned to them in recognition of the worth of their service.

The members of the M. C. A. cabinet are very grateful to the Circus committee of the R. O. T. C. for devoting to their work the major portion of the proceeds.

Ever since the members of the M. C. A. cabinet first knew of their participation in the proceeds, they have planned to devote what money they might receive from this source toward the expense of sending one or two students to the College Christian Association conference at Silver Bay, N. Y. during the month of June.

The Silver Bay conference is an annual affair of great importance to College Christian Associations, but it has been two or three years since Maine has been represented there and it is only through the generosity of those responsible for the Circus and its success that one or two men will be enabled to attend this summer.

Many Elements Underlie High Success in Life

Rev. Clinton W. Wilson, Pastor of the United Parish Church of Orono, spoke in Chapel last week on the subject, "Success in Life."

He said that there are many elements which underlie success in life. The first thing a man needs is a clear perception of what he lacks. Some people will never achieve success because they believe they lack nothing and are willing to go about thinking they are perfect and striving for nothing more.

Education is an element in success. It gives us the tools with which to work, and places us in a position to act.

To succeed we must have an interest in our work. A boy who had been writing very ordinary themes received A on his descriptive essay of the janitor with whom he had just had a disagreement. This showed what the boy could do when his interest was in his work.

The power of discrimination is another element in success. Mr. Wilson illustrated this by the example of a professor of chemistry at Harvard. He took the students of his class into the laboratory on the first day and called their attention to a hole in the ceiling made by an explosion years before, when a student mixed his chemicals carelessly. The professor explained the danger of mixing chemicals and explosives indiscriminately, and dismissed the class for the day.

In closing, Mr. Wilson spoke of the hindrance to success caused by materialism. "One can never attain the highest success, if wealth is the supreme object of his life," he said. "The greatest success is that which money cannot buy, and the only kind worth striving for."

Track Club Elects

The following have been elected as officers of the Track Club for the coming year:

President, C. E. Noyes; vice president, A. M. Houghton; Secretary, B. M. English; Treasurer, J. M. Murray.

University of California Head Endorsed Military

President David P. Barrows of the University of California, who during the World War was a lieutenant colonel, and was on duty in Siberia in the Military Intelligence Department, recently addressed members of the Association of the Army of the United States on the subject of military training, President Barrows said:

"The weaknesses of our people were disclosed by the war by our experience with 5,000,000 drafted men. In my opinion no educational effort which the national government can make, at least for the male element of the nation, could compare in results with provision for a period of military training for every young man. Even though this period were no longer than six months it would suffice to do three things: to survey our youth physically, correct bodily defects and cure infectious complaints, train in cleanliness and personal hygiene.

"Six months' experience in camp and in the field would return the youth of our nation to their homes incalculably more robust, more healthful, more disposed to wholesome habits of life. In the second place, military instruction does one indispensable thing for a man's mind—it schools him to the habit of attention, makes him put his mind upon a task and keep it there. It uncovers the intellectual capacity of the nation as nothing else can reveal it, and distinguishes classes of the mentally weak for whom appropriate vocations must patiently be found. In the third place, military training teaches a man that he has duties as well as rights; that he owes his country, if occasion arises, all that he has."

Memorial Fund Total Reaches Sum $247,205

The Alumni Memorial Drive has been progressing smoothly and with more speed in the last week. "The Alumnus" states that had this speed been attained from the first, the drive would now have been near completion. As it is, the Alumni must make a strenuous effort to "go over the top" by June 8. The amount raised May 23, was $247,205, but subscriptions amounting to $30,900 have poured in since then.

The student body still remembers the $102,000 it recently subscribed, and watches the alumni eagerly. Will they do their share? They must! And they will!

Arthur Leroy Huston

The funeral of Arthur Leroy Huston was held last Wednesday at Dover-Foxcroft. The members of his fraternity, Theta Chi, performed their burial rites and a squad of picked men from the Sophomore class of the R. O. T. C. fired a volley over his grave, after which a musician sounded taps.

There were many beautiful flowers including a bouquet of roses and carnations from the members of the R. O. T. C. of which Mr. Huston was a member.

From "Sporting Tips"

"Sporting Tips" says: "If Maine licks Colby next Saturday and Colby in turn wins from Bates in their coming game, and Bates gets away with Bowdoin, all four will be tied at 3 won and 3 lost for the state title. Why not begin all over if such a condition exists? The teams should be in top form now."

"That boy Foster of Maine certainly hit them right in the Blue win over Colby Saturday. His stick spelled defeat for the Parent Club from the start."

"When I was a little child," remarked the sergeant, sweetly, to the company, "I had some wooden soldiers. I went to Sunday School one day and there was prevailed upon, by means of a touching sermon on giving, to give away my soldiers to a poor boy. Next day I wanted them back and cried."

"Don't cry, Bertie," said my mother, "You'll get your wooden soldiers back some day." And believe me, you lopsided, mutton-headed, goofus-brained set of rolling pins, that day has come!"

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor of the Campus
University of Maine

Dear Sir:

The Department of Physics wishes to make grateful acknowledgement to Dr. Lewis W. Riggs for a set of apparatus which has just been received from him. This includes two analytical balances, two polariscopes, one Nicol prism of unusual size, and a defraction grating. These gifts are highly appreciated by the department.

Yours truly,
James S. Stevens

NOTICES

The Campus wishes that persons or organizations before borrowing cuts from the University Print Shop would first ascertain whether the Campus has made provisions for the use of them. The Campus has been troubled greatly by that in the past, in that the Managing Editor, in making up the columns, plans on a specific cut, only to find it gone at the last moment. This applies particularly in cases where the cuts are owned by the Campus.

Mr. Piet Roest of Leyden, Holland, wishes to thank through the Campus the students of the University of Maine for the cordial reception extended him during his recent visit.

A course in X-rays and the theory of Atomic Structures will be offered by the Physics Department during the fall of 1923-24. The course will aim to cover the recent advances made in the study of X-rays and radio activity, and the light these advances throw on the constitution of matter. The theories of Atomic Structures and their interpretation of physical and chemical phenomena will receive special consideration.

Information about the course can be obtained from Mr. Bless, Room 302, Aubert Hall.

Prof. Charles P. Weston has accepted an invitation to be the principal speaker at the graduation exercises of Washburn High School on June 22.

When a Sister is a Brother

"What are we going to do now," inquired one of a group of men in one of the college studies the other day. "The girls are now calling their sororities 'fraternities' and insist that they are 'frats' as well as the men's organizations."

"After taking our knickers, cutting their hair short, and wearing our collars and ties they are now calling their sorority sisters, brothers."

Mullis, Engineer, Speaks At Meeting of Civil Club

Subgrades was the subject of an instructive lecture given the Civil Club, Thursday evening, May 17, by Mr. Ira B. Mullis, Senior Testing Engineer of the U. S. Bureau of Roads.

"The study of subgrades and the soil used in their construction is a new and complex study," said Mr. Mullis, "and the U. S. Bureau of Roads already has several tests for soils.

"Soil may be divided into two classes, the inert soil which is unaffected by moisture, and the active soil which takes up water very readily. Some soils have a greater capillary action than others. Dry soil will support almost any load but a road built of materials that readily absorb water is unstable. Cracks in concrete pavements are often due to the capillary action of the soil used in the subgrade.

"The reduction of the capillarity of soils is much sought after in the study of subgrades. Capillarity is not reduced by drainage but by higher temperatures and by mixing in granular materials."

The lecture was well illustrated with lantern slides showing the construction of modern roads.

Tim O'Connor Proves Most Uncordial Host

"Tim" O'Connor '23 who resides on the top floor, middle section, of Hannibal Hamlin Hall, is most unhostile to his callers. Last Sunday afternoon, while "Tim" lay reposed in Morpheus' Satin Hued Realm, a visitor appeared at "Tim's" door. Finding that apparently no one was at home, "she" opened the door and walked in. "She" at once discovered "Tim" stretched out full length indulging in an afternoon nap. "She" advanced and pressed "her" cold nose against "Tim's" cheek and was about to administer an osculation. "Tim" awoke with a start and found Bananas IV staring him in the face.

Without waiting for further preliminaries, he gave a leap and a bound, landing on the ground floor. He was last seen headed for the woods in the direction of Old Town. Any information as to his whereabouts would be greatly appreciated.

ALUMNI NOTES

Mr. Lawrence Davee, who has a position with the Western Electric Company in New York City, has recently been sent to Bloomington, Ill. for two months, to supervise the wiring of a trial installation of some new automatic telephone apparatus.

Miss Ella Hall '19 and Miss Lulu Sawyer '17 of Brewer recently staged a benefit dance for the Memorial Fund, in Brewer City Hall.

Arthur W. Abbott '14 varsity second baseman and catcher from 1911-1914, twice captain of Maine baseball teams, will lead the alumni nine in the game between the Alumni and Varsity on June 8.

Milton Hescok '21 of Monson has gone to Berlin, N. H. to accept a position as chemist in the research laboratory of the Brown Co.

Mr. Philip Carroll ex-'25, attended the Beta party last week-end.

It certainly seemed good to see so many of the "old familiar faces" at the State Meet. Their Maine Spirit was not dampened in the least and it sounded good to hear them entering into the Maine cheers.

Bucky Fifield '22, Don Davids '22, Wendall Gilley ex-'25, Guy E. Torrey '24, Wyman Hawkes '22, Frances Curran '22 and "Hi" Greene were among those who were back.

Debaters Elect

At a meeting of the Debating Society held Friday noon, May 18, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Edward M. Curran; Vice President, Frank Hussey; Corresponding secretary, Harrison Richardson; Recording secretary and treasurer, Theodore Monroe.

"Young man, can I get into the park through that gate?"

GENERAL OF THE ARMIES

WASHINGTON

April
Thirteenth
1 9 2 3

Lieutenant Guy E. Griffin,
Military Editor, "Maine Campus",
University of Maine,
Orono, Maine.

My dear Lieutenant Griffin:

Your letter of April 5th, telling me that you are about to issue a special edition of your college paper, "The Maine Campus", devoted to the R.O.T.C. unit in the institution, was awaiting me upon my return to Washington after an absence of two weeks. As a foreword to the paper the following paragraphs may suit your purpose.

Those young men who avail themselves of the opportunity to undergo the military training provided by the Reserve Officers Training Corps units in the various schools and colleges are performing a very high duty as citizens. The responsibilities of citizenship require more than a mere passive acceptance of its obligations and certainly more than a willingness to enjoy all its privileges and advantages, while accepting none of its duties.

The members of the R.O.T.C. unit at the University of Maine, should be proud of the accomplishments of their unit, for their individual contributions to its record is evidence of their patriotic effort to perform an important duty as citizens to the Government which fosters and protects their personal liberty and happiness. They have benefited as individuals and have so prepared themselves that in times of emergency they may be counted upon to serve more ably as defenders of their country and the great principles for which it stands.

Very sincerely yours,

John Pershing

When plans were being made for the Military Supplement of the Campus, one of the army officers suggested that General Pershing be requested for a foreword to the paper. General Pershing very kindly replied to this request in a personal letter to the Military Editor. A cut was made of this letter to be printed in the Military issue, but owing to the delay in mails during the flood, it did not arrive until recently and is printed in this issue.

INTERCOLLEGIATE

Harvard—"No discrimination on the grounds of race or religion" is the decision of the special committee on admissions at Harvard. The decision has been heralded in "The Nation" as the action saving Harvard's noble tradition. The Harvard "Crimson" reviews the committee's report, saying it was the expected decision. The committee prohibits the exclusion of negroes, and their residence in freshman dormitories is again allowed. It further recommends only one limitation—that on scholastic grounds. This aristocracy of intellect can hardly be criticized.

Columbia University—Fourteen year old Edward Roche Hardy, Jr., recently became a member of Phi Beta Kappa at Columbia University. Entering the University at the age of twelve, he attained senior standing at the end of two and a half years. He is the youngest member in the world of any Greek letter society based on scholarship.

College Education—A floating college with the ocean as its campus,—such a school is now being planned by a group of southern millionaires, backed in particular by Colonel E. T. Winston, of Atlanta, Georgia, whose slogan is "More visualization, less theory." They have purchased the steamer Logan, a $200,000 vessel with the capacity of 2,500 persons, to carry around the world 400 students who will study as they go. The ship is to be equipped with class rooms, libraries, gymnasium, swimming pool, laboratories and lounge rooms. Sports will be in charge of a trained athletic director. There will be a school band and orchestra. Religious activities will be directed by a member of the faculty, and in every way the life of the school will be conducted with a view to refined, healthful and intellectual living.

Columbia University—The insignia committee of Columbia University Athletic Association has honored seventy athletes for their performance in basketball, wrestling, cross-country running, swimming, lawn tennis and rifle competition. Forty-two of the awards were for varsity sports while the remaining twenty-eight were given to members of the freshman class, who were awarded their class numerals.

University of Nebraska—The University is making plans for a Memorial Stadium costing $430,000. The stadium will contain two football fields, a baseball diamond, a half mile track, and pageant grounds. There will be 30 handball courts and 12 indoor tennis courts beneath the grandstand.

Johns Hopkins University—A sympathetic strike as a protest against the suspension of one of the members of the sophomore class at Johns Hopkins is being threatened by his classmates. The sophomores believe that the only reason for the suspension was his active participation in the recent interclass battle, and if their belief is substantiated, declare their intention of walking out.

West Virginia University—Announcements are out for the second annual chemical formula contest. All students in first year chemistry are eligible and there will be keen competition for first honors. Each contestant is allowed three errors before he is dropped. About 700 chemical formulae have been prepared by the heads of the department for the preliminaries and fifty additional for the finals.

University of Pennsylvania—In a contest recently held at the University to choose the most beautiful co-ed, and the handsomest male student, the men insisted that there were no good looking co-eds at the university and they refused to cast any votes. The co-eds maintain that the man chosen is not handsome, and they will not take any notice of the matter.

Columbia University—A blind student, twenty-three years old, who has earned his way through Columbia by giving exhibition checker games, has received an intercollegiate medal for wrestling, has won one of the three law scholarships, and was during his sophomore year the president of his class.

Padre—You'll ruin your stomach, my good man, drinking that stuff.

figures to show that Germany was expanding commercially and industrially and that she was spending money on unnecessary internal development rather than pay her debt to France. He showed that the Krupps and other big trusts in Germany were enjoying unprecedented prosperity.

Mr. R. N. Haskell, speaking for the sophomores, pointed out that France had neither the moral or legal right to invade the Ruhr. He compared her policy to the old doctrine of revenge, "an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth." Quoting articles from the Hague Convention, Treaty of Versailles, and rulings of the Reparations Commission he concluded that France had no legal justification for invading the Ruhr and especially for seizing private property in payment of a public debt.

Concluding the affirmative case, Mr. C. L. Fales showed that France had no alternative except use of force if she wished to collect the reparations the negative admitted were due her. He firmly maintained that this course, and this alone, would work.

The last speaker for the negative, Mr. J. S. Behringer, showed that the invasion of the Ruhr was a poor policy, economically. He ridiculed the idea that the French soldiers could force the German peasants to work and quoted statistics to prove that France was daily losing vast sums of money as a result of the invasion and was getting only a fractional part as much reparations as before the attempt to collect by force.

The rebuttal speeches were even more interesting and warmly contested than the constructive speeches. Professor Mark Bailey presided. The judges were three faculty members of the debating council, Professor J. H. Ashworth, Professor J. H. Toelle, and Mr. Robert Dougall.

his sorrow that Junior Week could not last a whole month, especially when it comes so late in the spring. In former days Junior Week was held in March and lasted only one day and half of one night. Junior Week now is a great improvement over that but could be lengthened even more to include about thirty holidays.

"You Juniors," said Prof. Huddilston, "are enjoying the best part of your college life. The Seniors are through, their life in college is behind them, while you have your life ahead of you. It would be wonderful if one could always be a Junior, without being a repeater. You who are Juniors now will be Seniors in Maine's greatest year. We have a new president; the State has taken us up so we are now a real State University; new buildings will be started next year; we will have new rules for eligibility for Freshman athletics and a sub-Freshman week in the fall. All these will help make your Senior year one to be long remembered."

In conclusion Prof. Huddilston referred to a line of a popular college song which runs, "College days will ne'er come back," and stated that college days even when finished will mean more and more by their associations and memories as the years go by.

The exercises closed with the Stein Song.

The endeavors of a man to go straight in the face of temptation was the theme underlying the situation. Sent to jail at the age of 18, working his way upward after his release until he held a responsible position, Mr. Strickland (Prof. Bailey) again prepares to abscond with money not his own. A mere girl, one of his office force, shows him the straight way over which he must travel. The acting of Prof. Bailey and Miss Sarah Fisher was much appreciated.

Between the two plays, music was furnished by Prof. Carrington at the piano, and T. C. Heistad on the violin. Vocal solos by Alice Keene were greeted with approval.

Physics Club Holds Its Final Meeting of Year

The Physics Club met on Tuesday evening, May 22, for its last meeting of the year. The following officers were elected for next year: President, Mansfield M. Packard; Secretary, Madeline M. McPhetres.

Dr. Fitch very ably illustrated his lecture on X-ray tubes with numerous experiments with the X-ray apparatus. Some very pretty effects were obtained from a series of Geissler tubes. Interesting experiments were performed with cathode ray tubes and the effects of a magnetic field on the rays was studied.

Following the lecture, anyone desiring to do so was permitted to examine the X-ray apparatus more closely and to look at different objects with the aid of the X-rays.

Rifle Club Decision

At a recent meeting of the Men's Rifle Club it was voted that instead of the cup which the club awards to the man holding the highest average score for the year, a sweater or at least $10 toward a sweater would be given to the high point man. It is believed by the club that this will provide keener competition in the future.

Winners of the prize for last year and this year respectively are R. N. Haskell '25 and V. H. Somers '26.

Miss Iome Irving of Clinton was elected president of the Y. W. C. A. at a recent meeting and other officers were elected as follows: vice-president, Miss Ruth Bessey of Saco; secretary, Miss Edith Hannington of Calais; treasurer, Ruth Crockett of Woodfords.
