SPRIT OF JOLLITY REIGNS OVER HUGE CROWD AT CIRCUS

Marjorie Rowe Chosen Queen of the Winter Carnival; Other Features

With the rhythmic beating of tom-toms, the shrill squeaks of the flageolet and the rumbling bombs of the ballyhoo men, the third annual country circus began Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock and continued, favored by enormous patronage, until 1 o'clock the following morning.

Selections by the Maine band, members of which were dressed as "Weary Willies," a wrestling act by Morrison and Clark, stunts on the trapeze by Drew Stearns and Twombly, and Gardiner and Hall, a parade of notables (students impersonating well known professors) and constant merriment by a troupe of clowns, were the high lights of the main performance, which was from 8.30 to 9.30.

The side shows began to do business at 5 in the afternoon under the direction of Bentley Hutchins of Bangor. "Baby Dolls" were disposed of rapidly at two booths where spendthrift students matched their skill against old Dame Fortune. In one booth, a "hairy ape" of the Paleozoic age displayed himself to all for the modest sum of ten cents. A maze constructed for the occasion attracted many of the adventurous visitors

VARSITY BASKETEERS RIDE OVER P. A. C.

The basketball team opened the season Saturday night by a 38-14 victory over Portland Athletic Club. Maine scored 10 points before the opponents shot a basket.

Maine led the visitors by 11 points at the end of the first half and it looked as though a much larger score would be piled up the next half, but the visitors came back strong and made several good shots from the floor.

Maine rallied in the last half and made four baskets in succession.

The outstanding stars of the game were Captain Berg and Horsman of Maine and Price and Keen for P. A. C.

Miss Huesman, Coach of Women's Sports, Resigns

Miss Theresa Huesman, director of women's Physical Education and athletic coach, has just resigned. There will be none to take her place until after Christmas vacation. Owing to this fact, there will be no classes in physical education until after the Christmas holidays. The girls are put on their honor to take the regular hikes during this coming week.

A native of Minneapolis and a graduate of the University of Minnesota, Miss Huesman came to the University last year after having taken two years of special training in physical education at Wellesley College. She was responsible for the organization of the first girls' field hockey team ever to represent the university and it was largely through her endeavors that the Women's Branch of the University of Maine Athletic Association was formed.

Miss Huesman was a capable coach and a sincere friend of the University. It is to be regretted that she resigned at this time.

INTRA-MURAL ASS'N ANNOUNCES PROGRAM FOR THIRD CARNIVAL

Coach Brice Will Assist in Coaching Competitors; New Rulings

With snow here at last, preparations for the Winter Carnival are going along at a breakneck speed. Coach Brice has promised to help coach the Winter Sports teams and to assist in the selection of contestants in the competitive try-outs. The Physical Training Department has consented to cooperate to the extent of allowing Sophomores and Freshmen to try out for this team in lieu of the regular gymnasium work.

The question of whether or not the Maine Winter Sports team shall wear a white bear as distinctive insignia was placed before the Athletic Board, and they decided to sanction it, providing there was no serious protest from student organizations. The Student Senate will take action on this question immediately after the holidays.

At a recent meeting of the Maine Winter Sports Association, it was decided that the following events should count for points: ski jumping; snowshoe dash of 150 yards; ski relay of four men, a total of a half mile; a five mile ski cross country race; and a three mile snowshoe cross country race.

Elaborate Settings for The Comedy "Milestones"

Maine Students to Depict Eternal Conflict Between Cupid and Mammon

On Thursday evening, directly following the Christmas tree, the Department of Public Speaking will present the first play of the season, "Milestones." This is a three-act comedy by Arnold Bennett and Edward Knoblock and has had long runs in all parts of the United States and England.

The scene is laid throughout in the drawing room of the Rhead mansion in Kensington, England. The first act occurs in 1860, when the main characters are young men and young women. In the conflict between the progressive spirit of one of the partners in a business concern and the conservative spirit of the others, one love affair is shattered and another pair rises triumphant over every obstacle. In the second act, the second generation, in 1885, is faced with the same problem, can love overcome all obstacles, even family opposition? The third act shows the third generation, aided by a maiden great-aunt, who does not propose that their lives shall be spoiled as was hers, by opposition to marriage with the one she loved, fighting for the right to live their own lives and marry whom they wish. The play contains both light and heavy parts.

Although a large portion of the proceeds are to go to the Student Christian Associations, to help finance the expenses of delegates to the Student Vol-

Hosea Buck is Host To Harriers at Banquet

All roads led to Bangor last Thursday night, December 6, for the Cross Country Team and also Coach Kanaly, "Prexy" Little and "Hamp" Bryant, who gathered at Hosea Buck's for a banquet. Those representing the team were Ames, Hillman, Noyes, Gero, Patten, Hart, Berg, Raymond and Knowland.

The house was very attractively decorated with Maine colors and banners. The table was ornamented with little Japanese girl place cards and several blue candles and the banquet was served in six courses. "Prexy" Little was in form with his humor which kept the others constantly laughing.

After the banquet was over there was a meeting of the letter men who elected Clyde Patten as captain for 1924. During the meeting there were several

Local Barbers Thrive, But Not On Returns from Shaves, Mr. Shaw Says

That University of Maine students shave themselves was revealed by Mr. Shaw, proprietor of the University Barber Shop, in a conversation with a Campus reporter recently.

"We only get two or three shaves a day," said the barber, "and they are usually students who have overslept in the morning. The bulk of our trade is haircuts, and we have many pretty regular customers. The average of the students is from ten days to two weeks between haircuts. A gentleman should never go over two weeks," Mr. Shaw stated.

"Do the co-eds patronize you much?" the reporter inquired.

"Oh, we have quite a few Co-ed customers, especially since Jim came," was the reply. "Jim is a ladies' man, and has lots of patience with them."

While Mr. Shaw was talking his scissors were busily engaged. But his assistants were idle and decidedly interested in the interview. Suggestions came fast and heavy.

Mr. Shaw continued, "I have been here thirteen years—"

"And haven't killed a man yet," from Jim. "I guess these fellows want to get their names in the paper," the chief explained. "The short and garrulous one is 'Chris' Holman, from Kennebunk Beach. And the big gray chap is Jim Mullen—"

"From Eastport, Maine, where sardines come from," Jim again broke in.

"But don't put that in," he added. "they might think I'm one."

"Yes, I've been here thirteen years, and Orono and the University has become home to me," Mr. Shaw resumed. "I have watched many men come and go in that time."

"Take 'Ned' Lawrence now. He was an awful old 'Ned.' Every time he came in here he was up to something. He used to make out checks to me as George McLaughlin Shaw, my full name. I used to threaten not to cash them. One day 'Ned' stuck a sheet of fly paper on the seat of my pants. It came off, and I took it and slammed it down on his head. It stuck to his hair of course, and had to be pulled off and a shampoo was necessary before he got thru. But he was up to something else the next time he came in."

"Chris" and "Jim" could no longer be suppressed. "Tell them we have three barbers and there's no waiting," said one. "Tell them they are next," said the other. And other suggestions followed so fast that the poor reporter threw up his hands in distress.

"Guess we'll have to have another flood or something to keep the students on the campus so as to keep these fellows busy," Mr. Shaw remarked. "As it is, many of the boys go off to Orono or Old Town for their haircuts. Perhaps they don't realize that we have three barbers and can give them good service right here on the campus."

ALUMNI ASS'N WANTS STUDENT CO-OPERATION

Secretary Clark Says Seniors Are Indifferent to Organization

"It is of the greatest difficulty to interest the students, particularly the seniors, in the Alumni Association," said Alumni Secretary "Bob" Clark in a recent conversation with a Campus reporter. "Yet the backbone of any University is its alumni body, and the students of today will soon be members of that body."

"Our biggest problem is always with the graduating class," Mr. Clark continued. "The greatest number of lost alumni are recent graduates. Not until several years after graduating do many realize their attachment to their Alma Mater. But in time they nearly all get in touch with the Alumni Association, for that is the medium that connects them with the University. In this time, however, we have lost the support of a number of alumni who could have been of inestimable service to Maine."

"This is a deplorable condition, and one which we hope to remedy. To do so

Varsity Athletes Reminded of Ruling

The Athletic Board wishes the students to bear in mind during Christmas vacation the substance of Rule 9 of the New England Conference rules on eligibility which is as follows:

"No person shall be eligible to represent his institution in any intercollegiate athletic contest who, during the college year, has engaged in any athletic contest not connected with his institution."

(Note: The college year is defined as that period of time beginning on the official registration date at the opening of the college year and closing on the official commencement date.)

This is a very important ruling and will be followed to the letter. The student has his own choice. If he desires to participate in intercollegiate athletics he must confine his efforts to playing on the University teams.

This rule does not prevent men from playing summer baseball.

Hockey Team Has Good Prospects for Season

Several Veterans Out; New Rink to Be Largest in Maine

The Hockey schedule for the coming season has been arranged and includes some of the strongest teams in the East. The trip into Massachusetts during the first part of January will be strenuous, as the men will either be playing or traveling most of the time. But the prospects of a successful season are good. Among the strongest men on the team are: Captain Elliott who has played in Montreal and has been on the Maine team 3 years, ex-captain Stearns who has also been on the team 3 years, and Stone who has played in Massachusetts and has been on the Maine team two years. Both Baxter and Stover are experienced men who were on the Maine team last year that tied for the State Championship.

Work on the new rink is being rushed. It will be 100 by 150 feet, one of the largest in the state. It is to be illuminated by a complex system of lights that will make it as bright as day. This is necessary as some of the games will be played at night; and also, practice sessions will last until after nightfall. The game with Maine's ancient rival, Bowdoin during the Winter Carnival, is looked forward to with great interest, for the teams are both good and at that time they will be in their prime.

"Pat" French, Maine '17, To Coach at Lewiston

Frank A. "Pat" French, athletic director at Deering high school from the fall of 1919 to the spring of 1923 inclusive, and now a teacher at the local school was yesterday elected head coach at Jordan high school of Lewiston to succeed John Butler, former Bates and Catholic University athlete, who has been made principal. French will tender his resignation to the Portland School Board today, to become effective on January 1, and will take up his duties in Lewiston at that time.

While at Deering, the former University of Maine star turned out a state championship track team and football eleven that were amongst the best in the state. While his baseball clubs won no pennants, he piloted several good

BOARDMAN EXPLAINS PERSONNEL SYSTEM TO TECH FRESHMEN

Object Is to Keep Complete Record of a Student's Accomplishments

During the chapel hour last Friday the freshmen in the College of Technology had the personnel system explained to them by Dean Boardman and Professor Creamer. It is expected that this system will ultimately be enlarged to take in the entire student body. At present, however, it is being developed in the College of Technology. Professor Creamer has been appointed Assistant to the Dean and will have direct charge of the details of the service.

The primary object of the service is to bring the faculty and students closer together so that the weak and strong qualities of each student can be recognized. Frequent personal interviews will be held by the Dean and his assistant in order that each student may thoroughly know himself. In this way it is hoped to discover early in his course the student who is not fitted for the work in which he is registered.

The secondary purpose is to have a complete record of the student. This record will extend from his fitting school through the University to his graduate life. It will include family history, academic record, and college activities. At the end of the senior year rather complete data will be at hand which will be of great assistance in recommending our graduates for positions.

In determining the ranks three divisions are made: first: the scholastic record; second: the result of recommendations by both students and faculty; and third: the personal interview.

The method of procedure is as follows: each freshman in the College of Technology must fill in the blank which was furnished them at the meeting last Friday and submit it to the office of the Dean in Wingate Hall. The student is then assigned a period for a personal interview with Dean Boardman or Professor Creamer. The blank must contain the names of three members of the faculty and two students, all of whom have been more or less closely associated with the student. Letters will be sent out from the office of the Dean asking for certain information. This information, together with results of the interview are tabulated and weighted. The

New York Tribune Lauds Hillman For Generosity

New York, Dec. 4, 1923

The Editor of the Campus,
University of Maine,
Orono, Maine.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed is a clipping from the New York Tribune under date of November 27, 1923 giving an account of the recent cross country race up in Van Cortlandt Park. You may have received this long ago, but in case you haven't, I am sending it, in order that the true sportsmanship as shown by a MAINE MAN will not go by unnoticed.

Do you not think that that part of the account calling attention to the true sportsmanship on the part of a MAINE MAN warrants reprinting in the Campus in order that it may be distributed throughout the student body.

Yours for Maine,
Leon E. Lambert '16

The half-mile stretch at the end brought out many spirited finishes, and it must have been heartrending to the runners to see the precious line through foggy eyes, realizing that they were getting but four feet nearer with every stride. This in particular can be applied to Raymond, who finished third only because he had strength enough to carry him over the finish; no more. HILLMAN, his teammate, who was only a few yards in the rear, made little effort to overtake his captain after such a fine exhibition of gameness.

Hosea Buck—Maine Man

"If we had more Alumni like Hosea Buck more things would be accomplished here," is the sentiment we often hear at the University. Certainly every member of the University, whether student, alumnus, or faculty member, has ample cause to be grateful to Mr. Buck for his services to Maine.

In an official capacity Mr. Buck is a Trustee of the University, a member of the executive committee of the Trustees, a director of the University Store, and a member of the Athletic Board.

In addition to all these things, "Hosea" as he is familiarly known, is an ardent Maine man, of the class of 1893. Every worthy cause receives his support. For two consecutive years he has given a liberal sum to debating. He also has a pleasing habit of giving banquets at his home to the members of our championship athletic teams, and presenting them with sweaters.

It would be a well-nigh endless task for us to attempt to mention all of the many things he has done for his Alma Mater.

On behalf of every member of the University the Campus assures Mr. Buck that his generosity is appreciated and extends to him the grateful thanks of all.

Christmas Vacation

At the end of this week 1250 students of the University will be widely scattered in towns and cities of Maine and other states. Many of these men and women have considerable influence in their home communities. How they devote their vacation time can mean a great deal to Maine. If they devote it merely to pleasure seeking, the result will be negative as far as the University is concerned. But every one of these 1250 can do their Alma Mater a real service by going among the high and prep school seniors and influencing the most desirable of those boys and girls to apply for admission to the University of Maine.

Merry Christmas

This is a season of happiness for all of us, for we are soon going home for the most cheerful time of the year, the Christmas holidays. To help along the good spirit the Maine Campus wishes to all its readers a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Take the Campus Home

Why not take the Campus home with you this vacation and show it to the folks there, young and old? By reading your paper they can get better acquainted with your University than in any other way we could suggest.

Milestones to the Indianapolis Convention

"Milestones to the Indianapolis Convention" is the inscription that appears on the tickets to the comedy play which is to be presented Thursday evening. And that is surely what they are, for every ticket that is sold means more money to help send delegates to the Indianapolis Conference of Christian workers, at which more than 5000 students from all over the United States will meet.

We believe the play warrants the support of the students on its own merits, as well as for the fact that those who attend will be aiding a worthy cause.

Let's Resolve

While the remembrance of our mid-semester ranks is still with us, and before Christmas instills us with its cheerful optimism, let's make a few resolutions for the coming year.

And as the primary thing, as individuals, that we are here for, is to learn something, let's resolve to study harder and get better rank than ever before.

Of course we cannot expect our resolutions to last over a month after New Year's, but by the end of that time finals will be over and our purpose accomplished.

Phi Beta Kappa was never made on attendance at the movies or rank in card playing.

Student Speakers in the Bangor and Orono Pulpits

Five parishes last Sunday heard U. of M. students speak from the pulpit. In Orono "Ollie" Berg spoke in the United Parish, and Austin Wilkins spoke in the Methodist church in the morning. The object of these two students' talks was to ask cooperation of the Orono people, to help send the ten selected delegates to the big Student Volunteer Convention to be held in Indianapolis, by attending the play, "Milestones," which is to be given on the campus next Thursday evening. Ted Monroe spoke in one of the Bangor churches.

In the evening, Austin Wilkins, Leona Reed, Joy Nevins, and Guy Griffin spoke respectively in the Grace Methodist Church, Bangor. At the Christian church, "Bee" Johnson, Doris Twitchell, Herby Bean, and Stanley Hyde spoke respectively. Two solos were sung by Miss Keen, accompanied by Doris Twitchell.

The Flea: "Now I'll hide on you."
The Pup: "Get out, this is my hide!"

Sigma Nu Initiation

Delta Nu chapter of Sigma Nu fraternity concluded its initiation Tuesday evening and the annual banquet took place in the chapter house Wednesday evening, December 12. The initiates are Leroy L. Small '27, Auburn, Lester E. Wass '27, Southwest Harbor, H. Norton Webber '27, Millinocket.

El Circulo Espanol

El Circulo Espanol held its regular meeting Tuesday evening, December 4, at Fernald Hall. The initiation ceremony was held. Ethelyn Percival, Dolores Mutty, Wilson James and Simear Sawyer were initiated. Games were enjoyed by all present. Refreshments of punch and crackers were served.

Don't forget the Maine "Hello."

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor of the Campus:

Dear Sir:

There appeared in a recent issue of the Campus an editorial criticizing the student council because "Many believe that the council is lifeless, and the idea is fairly well borne out by the facts." If the statement is true it is greatly to the discredit of the men's student body itself.

The Men's Student Council at Maine is an instrument like any other form of government. If the instrument is not used, is it the fault of the instrument itself or the fault of the student body whose instrument it is?

The Student Senate, the now active part of the council, is becoming a fairly efficient organization. We admit it is not fully developed. No similar organization could become fully developed in so short a space of time. The point is that it is already sufficiently organized to act in behalf of the student body. The school calendar as it now stands was the work of the Student Senate, approved by the faculty committee. The Red Cross drive was handled, and handled successfully, by the same body. The members of the Senate, after finding the opinion of the groups they represent, voted in favor of dances after basketball games. Directly as a result of that action, President Little gave his consent which he had previously withheld. No matter has been referred to the student Senate by the faculty or student body which has not been acted upon fairly and effectively.

It seems the most natural thing in the world for the student body to have a really representative organization through which it may take up administrative problems, and with which the faculty will cooperate. The Board of Trustees has provided that representatives from the Senate may go before the board at its meetings to present the needs and opinions of the student body. President Little has been more than fair in considering student opinion as expressed by the council. It is time for the student body to wake up to these possibilities.

In the past there has been too much crabbing from Morris chairs and similar places of rest in all corners of the campus. This is all destructive stuff. Let's do something constructive and take up problems in a man-to-man fashion through the Student Council. It's one more chance for Maine men to take advantage of an opportunity.

Campus Board Meetings

Campus Board meetings hereafter will be more lively. This resolve grew out of the fact that at last Wednesday's meeting, there were fewer members present than ever before, which indicated a lack of attraction. Even though they are working conscientiously, many of the reporters and "cubs" have been so irregular in attendance that the Board has not been able to become acquainted with them. This makes the task of assigning work very difficult, for the editors say that each person has his peculiar capabilities and preferences.

Hereafter the roll will be taken, and after the news topics have been read; the reporter will state his preference of assignment, if he has any. Then a copy of the week's "Campus" will be constructively criticized, and reasons given for "cutting" or rewriting a story. On the other hand, the accurate story written in clear English with unique phrasing will be commended. Upper classmen are to be elected to the Board as soon as their work will merit it. David C. Jacobs was unanimously elected a reporter at this meeting.

Phi Mu Delta Initiates

Phi Mu Delta fraternity held its annual fall initiation and banquet in Bangor, Saturday, December 8. The initiates were as follows: George A. Cary '27 of Brockton, Mass., Lewis J. Carpenter '27 of Patten, Robert Huston '24 of Woodfords, Elwin B. Hodgins '27 of Houlton, Lewis E. Kennison '26 of Calais, Elliot R. Miles '26 of Calais, Albert D. Nutting '27 of Oxford, James D. Parsons '27 of No. Gorham, Lyman C. Poole '27 of Pemaquid, Eugene Scribner '27 of Oakland, and Lester R. Wentworth '27 of Calais.

SCRATCHES FROM THE SPORT PEN

At the meeting of the Athletic Association, Thursday, Dec. 6, it was voted to award letters to both Lou Merrill and Charlie Noyes. Both are seniors and have been out for varsity teams for four years. Merrill has taken many a beating from Fraser and the other tackles on the football team while Noyes has paved the way for many a victory in cross country.

The board approved the election of football captain and manager and of the basketball and hockey teams.

"Rube" Eastman, representing the Intra-Mural A. A. presented the idea of awarding letters for minor sports. A committee consisting of Prof. Halverson and George Gruhn was appointed to consider this question.

Hockey Coaching

That responsibility for the success of the hockey season will be placed on no one, was announced to the Campus today by R. H. Bryant, graduate manager of athletics.

Plans For Christmas Tree Told by Chapel Speakers

The final plans for the Christmas tree celebration on the University Oval Thursday evening were announced in chapel, Monday by two speakers.

Betty Hunt '24, told of the appropriateness of coming together at the Christmas season for a grand celebration before going home for the holidays. She spoke of the Christmas tree, Christmas carols and the play, and urged that everybody come with the true Christmas spirit and help make the first annual Christmas tree a success.

George Gruhn '25, spoke of the University of Wisconsin where the Christmas tree idea has met with great success in years past. An elaborate program is arranged there two or three months in advance and the students consider it an honor to participate. He announced that at our first Christmas celebration Thursday night there would be solos by the college Glee Club and quartette. Following the Christmas tree exercises, the play "Milestones" will be given in the chapel by home talent. The proceeds will be used to send Student Volunteer delegates to the convention in Indianapolis, December 29 to January 2.

In conclusion Gruhn said that he hoped everybody would attend the festivities, so that it could be announced with a clear conscience that "the affair was a real success and well supported by the student body."

NEW RULINGS BY BOARD OF TRUSTEES

A meeting of the board of trustees was held Thursday, Dec. 6 in which the following actions of interest were taken:

"Voted that the Executive Committee be, and hereby is, instructed to secure the services of engineers to investigate under their supervision the heating, water, lighting, and sewage systems on the campus and report to the Board such changes as may be found requisite to put the various systems in condition to provide adequately for existing buildings and provide for future extension."

"Voted that during the period of Dean Hart's leave of absence his work be handled, if possible, by the present administrative officers, it being understood that this arrangement is only temporary in character."

CHANGE IN YE ECONOMIC GUILD

The charter of Ye Economic Guild was changed to provide for limited membership at a meeting held Tuesday evening.

Wording of the new charter which was approved by a unanimous vote of the members present, is as follows: "Members shall be elected to the organization at the beginning of each semester. Membership shall not exceed thirty."

Officers and executive committee of the old organization form the nucleus of the new Guild. Members will be elected after the Christmas vacation for interest in economic subjects, character and leadership, and rank.

We've all heard of the girl who had to swim back from a motor boat ride; but we all look up to the girl who had to parachute back from an aeroplane.

Mr. Wallace, director of athletics will have charge of the team, and Coach Murphy will act in an advisory position. But as Mr. Wallace does not profess to be a hockey coach, and as Coach Murphy can give but little of his time to the sport, neither will be held responsible.

"Circumstances make it necessary to put up with these conditions this year," said Manager Bryant, "but in two or three years we hope to have a regular coach for hockey."

The new members are: Arthur L. Atwood '27, Bangor; Addison M. Bliss '27, Lewiston; Donald B. Dressel '25, Bangor; James W. Drysdale '27, Westfield, Mass.; Carleton H. HAVE YOU NOTICED?

That some faculty members don't believe in signs (especially the one in the library regarding conversation)?

The "Lean-to's" on Balentine Sunday nights?

The fragrance of Sigma Nu's new lawn?

That it only takes two men to remove "Spike" Donovan's moustache?

HEARD OVER THE TELEPHONE
"Have you anything on tonight?"
"No."
"All right then. Meet me at the Lib at 7:30."

The Off Campus Girl

A jump, a start, a dream, a fit.
I look up at my faithful watch.
My head is full of question marks,
Am I Irish or French or Scotch?

It does not matter in the least,
Unconsciously, I dress myself;
I comb my hair, I know not when,
And eat my breakfast off the shelf.

At last I start, and then come to,
I guess I'm feeling up to par,
I gaze down at my watch again,
Then run to catch the Old Town car.

Yes, toothless Charlie has his smile,
His graceful way of taking fares.
Give him a dime or dollar bill;
He'll never tell you that he cares.

The same old gang is always there,
I wonder if they stayed all night,
Or did they go there when I did,
And get up long before 'twas light?

The night, now past, I studied hard
The words were typed well in my brains
The jolty car upsets my types
With which I took so many pains.

We swish, we swash, we back, we fill.
Sometimes I think I'm in a ship
And sea-sick I give Toots my fare
Thinking the porter likes his tip.

At last, they all begin to rise
I 'spose I'm there I don't 'jise' know
I swagger forth to my calc class
The class to which I love to go.

So ev'ry day 'tis ever thus
God blesses all with shining light
Now is there anyone who says
The girl off-campus is not all right?

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor of the Campus,
Dear Sir:

The smutty story of the freshman smoker must go!

The indecent story of the freshman smoker is neither necessary to society nor constructive or educational in its nature. Nevertheless it is tolerated rather than desired. It stays more because it is a custom than for any other reason. The question comes up whether or not it is an evil custom. After interviewing many upperclassmen I find a very large majority are of the opinion that this form of entertainment should be abolished. As truly as swearing shows the presence of a bad habit or a lack of vocabulary, to the same degree does a social event consisting of smutty stories exhibit a lack of social training and ignorance of social manners.

Many will ask, "If we do away with this phase of the smoker, which at present takes up a large part of the evening, what would take its place?" Here is a suggestion. Let each freshman have a University song book and have him learn the songs. There is a piano in every fraternity house. Could not an orchestra be organized and the evening be spent in a clean atmosphere? Would it not be better to see our freshmen going to a smoker armed with their musical instruments rather than with a supply of smutty stories? Think it over.

Sincerely yours,
T. L. G.

BALENTINE NOTES

Monday evening, December 3, the coeds were highly entertained by an initiate from Alpha Sigma Mu. The bashful gentleman gave several interesting readings from "Vogue."

Wednesday evening, December 5, three neophytes from S. A. E. favored Balentine with an excellent concert. One solo, "When the Coffin Goes By," was much appreciated.

Another outburst of song was enjoyed Sunday night, when Sigma Nu serenaded Balentine.

Jessie Wood '26, spent the week-end in Bangor, the guest of Christine McLaughlin '26.

Arlene Ware '25 and Mildred Osborne '25 spent the week-end in their respective homes.

What the Constitution Guarantees U. S. Citizens

The Constitution as a whole is the greatest masterpiece on statescraft that has ever been formulated by mankind. That eminent and learned English statesman, William E. Gladstone, once spoke of the Constitution of the United States as "the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man."

It is the first legal document by man that recognized the inalienable rights of man, as superior to the powers of Congress. Every individual under the jurisdiction of the Constitution, who respects the equal rights of his fellowmen, possesses certain inalienable and God-given prerogatives among which are, life, liberty, and justice. Liberty is the greatest of these natural gifts.

The gift of life without the gift of liberty is abject slavery. Liberty comes before happiness as a person can not be truly happy unless he is free to worship God in harmony with the dictates of his own conscience. The love of liberty is the strongest sentiment that God has planted in the soul of man. The freedom which the conscience demands in the cause of religion, transcends every other claim upon the soul and prepares and inspires the human mind to assert its God-given rights, and to suffer and endure as in no other cause. The annals of history instruct us that the love and struggle for religious liberty have led men in all ages to look the sternest religious despotism and tyranny in the face, and unflinchingly declare for the natural rights of men. Principalities and powers that exercised absolute authority in all things, both human and divine, over the consciences of men, were frequently made to tremble before a few daring men who had the courage to assert their convictions in the face of tremendous obstacles.

Eternal vigilance, now as ever, is the price of civil and religious liberty. Liberty does not mean that the individual has a license to do what he pleases irrespective of the rights of others. Liberty under law works no ill or injury to our neighbors. Every person's liberty ends where another person's injury begins. Liberty and justice are twin brothers who can not be separated without destroying both. Essential and equal justice is guaranteed to every citizen under the federal Constitution.

The Constitution has set certain limitations upon the legislative powers of our law-making bodies. Our legislators, whether state or national, can not legislate upon every subject under heaven. However, there are some who imagine they can, and frequently attempt to do it. Of course, it is possible for Congress and the state legislatures to pass laws in violation of the prohibitive provisions of the federal Constitution, but whenever they do they are overriding the federal Constitution, and it becomes the duty of the Supreme Court of the United States to declare such laws unconstitutional and void, which is frequently done. Or, the people may take the matter in their own hands and repeal these obnoxious laws by the referendum plan.

Dean Stevens Lectures On "Types of Humor"

"Types of Humor" was the subject of a talk given by Dean Stevens Monday of this week before the students of Old Town High School and again Tuesday before the teachers of Bangor. Written during the war to relieve the seriousness of the situation, this lecture was first delivered in chapel here, and has since been delivered to a number of clubs, including the Rotary Club and the Women's Business and Professional Club of Bangor. It is a serious study of the evolution of humor from the earliest times up to the present, and includes examples from Hebrew, Sanskrit, Greek, and Roman, as well as typical illustrations of French, English, Irish, Scotch, and American humor. The American is especially emphasized and is divided into seven classes which in a more or less definite form have come down to us from Aristophanes.

SPORTS

Coach Kanaly and Conrad Kennison were in Waterville Saturday to attend a meeting of the Maine Intercollegiate Track and Field Association.

Maine must be a fairly prominent figure in the Eastern Collegiate cross country as one of the western universities that has just started this sport wrote to the Blue track department for information about the long grind.

At the recent A. A. meeting, it was voted that a cross country letter should be awarded Charlie Noyes '24 for the fight and spirit that he showed in sticking to the Varsity squad for four years.

Talk It Over At Home

A Christmas Vacation Suggestion To Seniors

THIS is your last year in college. This is your last Christmas vacation.

Your career after graduation is a question that you will want to talk over with the folks at home. They will be even more interested than you are. Now is the time to do it.

The John Hancock has in its field organization producers who began as life insurance men immediately after graduation and have made a conspicuous success of it.

Why waste time trying out something else which looks "just as good" and then come into the life insurance work to compete with the man who got into the game from the start?

Talk it over at home and remember that you can get information and helpful advice by addressing

A Record Still Unbroken

At 5:20 P. M., March 8th, 1920, Westinghouse Turbine Established World's Record for Continuous Running.

What Engineering Owes to Good Workmanship

45,000 K. W. Westinghouse Cross-Compound Turbine Unit at the Station of the Narragansett Electric Light Company, Providence, R. I.

WHEN Westinghouse installed a 45,000 K. W. Turbine in the power house of the Narragansett Electric Light Company, Providence, R. I., early in December, 1919, there was no thought of more than the average weekly power house run. Abnormal weather conditions, however, brought so steady a demand for power, that the unit was not shut down until March 8th, 1920, after a continuous run of 84 days, 11 hours, and 36 minutes.

This was especially remarkable in that the unit consists of two turbine generator sets, each of which operates independently of the other, so that the result was the mechanical equivalent of operating a single machine continuously for 169 days.

If space permitted, many astounding figures could be cited—about the K. W. H. generated during this period, the water and coal used, the cooling system, the oiling system, etc.

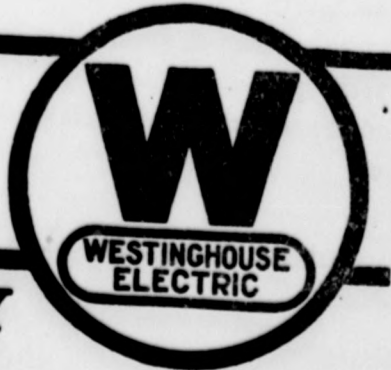

For example, to keep the generators cool, over 18,000,000,000 cubic feet of air passed through them, which equals 2,000 times the total weight of the generators and their bed plates.

Equally impressive, oil was pumped through the self-contained lubricating system to the bearings at the rate of 600 gallons a minute. Had the oiling system failed for only 30 seconds, the bearings would have been wrecked, and other parts of the unit harmed!

There is interesting history back of the operation of Westinghouse Turbine Units of 3,000 K. W. and higher. Notable records have been made in many of the world's great power plants, performance that is a tribute to remarkable engineering and good workmanship.

"Don't you think your Alumni Employment Bureau will interest the seniors in the Association?" the reporter inquired.

"Yes," agreed Mr. Clark, "I do. As yet, however, I do not know just what we can do with it. But it is certain that there are a large number of Alumni who, altho they may not be employers, are in situations to recommend men for positions. By securing the aid of such men we hope to place every Maine man who so desires in a position for advancement."

"By just such service as this," Mr. Clark concluded, "we hope to convince the seniors of the value of the Association. If we can do so, then they will keep in touch with the Alumni Association after graduating, and we shall be well repaid for our trouble."

weighted results are placed upon the permanent record.

A system similar to this is being conducted in several institutions in various parts of the country with excellent results. It is expected that the system will be applied to the sophomores and juniors in the College of Technology later in the college year.

Books at Christmastime

"Books make ideal Christmas presents.

Their almost unlimited variety, their character of permanence in their favor, but what is most in their favor is a book's power to express a sympathy of the spirit," says Grant Overton, a well known literary critic in a recent article.

There was a time when books were considered appropriate gifts for one's "highbrow" friends only, but nowadays everyone reads and is anxious to build up his library. To be among the elite, one must be informed about the newest books. Young men, still in college or very recently graduated, are setting the fashion in the literary world, both as authors and as critics.

There are books to suit the particular tastes of everyone on the Christmas shopping list. For the more staid and conservative people, there are new volumes of biography or history; for those who have the wanderlust, books about foreign countries, with alluring illustrations; for the people with a love for the aesthetic and artistic side of life, modern poetry or older works in attractive bindings, books on music and the arts. The fiction today is so varied in appeal that a gift of a novel is easy to select, whether one is looking for a mystery yarn, a romance, or a story written from the standpoint of the new psychology.

For small boys and girls, there is a fascinating assortment of books in the shops, some of them very inexpensive. Children are real booklovers and few gifts give them more delight than books.

Books seem to express the true spirit of Christmas and there is a dignity and an enduring value in a book which no other gift possesses.

NOTICE

Copies of the Constitution of the New England Athletic Conference will be placed in the hands of the students this week. Graduate Manager Bryant suggests that Christmas vacation is an excellent time for the students to look the Constitution over, and to familiarize themselves with its provisions.

T. Clifford Eastman, ex '24 Has a Tree Nursery

One University of Maine forestry student who is combining the practical with the theoretical end of his education is T. Clifford Eastman ex-'24, who is the owner and operator of the Western Maine Forest Nursery, located at Fryeburg, Maine. This is considered to be the most up to date nursery in the State being fully equipped with a modern sprinkler system and other conveniences.

This nursery occupies about 10 acres of land and produces only such species of trees as may be planted for reforestation purposes. It now has 75,000 two-year white pine seedlings, and 700,000 one-year seedlings of white pine and Norway spruce. Enough seed is to be planted next year to produce 1,000,000 seedlings of white pine, white spruce, Scotch pine and Norway spruce.

Demand for trees for reforestation is so great that the most of the nursery's output is already purchased for delivery as soon as they reach the marketable age of three years. The little trees are sold in bunches of 50, in lots ranging from 1,000 to 100,000. The price ranges from $11 to $30 per thousand.

The trees are bought by lumber and pulp companies and by farmers who are just beginning to utilize their waste lands by planting trees.

"The timber supply for the coming generations depends almost wholly upon this form of reforestation," Mr. Eastman asserts.

"Rube," as he is familiarly known on the campus, left school at the end of his sophomore year to start his nursery, but returned again this year as a junior. He is a member of Maine's winter sports team and of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Spirit of Jollity Reigns Over Huge Crowd at Circus

and refreshment booths did a rushing business.

But the evening show attracted the crowd, the biggest gathering which has been in the gymnasium since the memorable Maine Night when Col. Strickland exhorted the football team to "give Bowdoin h—." Because of the "most popular girl contest" which has been running for the past three weeks, the ticket sale was enormous and everybody who had a ticket wedged his way into the crowd of spectators.

Only a minority of the visitors found room to dispose themselves on the bleachers which had been placed around the sawdust carpeted arena. The remainder took refuge in the running track, which is the gallery of the gymnasium.

Promptly at 8:30 the pageant began, the band of hobos coming out of the rubbing room at the head of a motley procession, circling the ring once, and then disappearing. In the pageant was old Bolivar, or the canvas carcass of what once was Bolivar—Maine's first and only elephant mascot—supported by Maynard G. Linekin and Paul Libby, and escorted by the trainer, James Davis.

Then came the "notables," the clowns, the actors and the wild animals, all bowing to the crowd and performing various antics. Sidney Osborne immediately took charge of the actors and announced the acts so that all could hear him.

Drew Stearns and Twombly on the parallel bars and trapeze were the first to appear, and they did a neat act which won a great ovation. Then Morrison and Clark, heavyweight wrestlers, gave a five minute exhibition bout which was a thriller. It ended as a draw.

Whiteside and Whiteside, two brothers from Bangor, next did a comic acrobatic act, and after them the clowns, Arthur Peakes, John Stevens, Paul Severance, Aura Coburn, Bill True and Osmond Whiteside entertained. Severance and Coburn did a sharpshooting act, in pseudo "wild west" manner, and Twombly and Bixby did a few tumbling tricks. Then Gardiner and Hall closed the evening with an unusually spectacular aerial performance.

After that the ring was cleared away, the sawdust swept up and dancing was enjoyed until 1 o'clock. But the side-shows and refreshment booths continued to do business.

At the conclusion of the circus, it was announced that Miss Marjorie Rowe of Brewer, a senior, has been elected queen of the Winter Carnival in the popularity contest which has been running for the past three weeks. Miss Rowe received 18,000 votes and the next highest scorer was Miss Elizabeth Hunt of Woodfords, who received 15,000. Interest in the contest has been running very high and there has been lively competition between a dozen candidates for the honor. Coupons good for 10 votes have been printed regularly in The Maine Campus and with every ticket to the circus, 100 votes have been given.

Miss Rowe, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Warren Rowe of Brewer, has been very prominent in the Women's Athletic Association, being a member of the Board, and is also prominent in Y. W. C. A. work. She is taking the course in home economics and is one of the honor students in the College of Agriculture. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

nines, but was considerably handicapped by lack of a proper diamond for practice.

French developed such individual stars as George Marsters, the Georgetown track captain, and one of the greatest half milers in the country, Ralph Jackson, University of Maine football player and state champion in the shot put, Nate Reynolds, crack sprinter, Dan Torrey, hurdler now a University of Maine freshman and who will be heard from at the state meets, Francis Ward and Cecil Cutts, also Maine athletes, and many others.

Lewiston's new coach was himself a great all around athlete. He holds the state record in the broad jump, was one of the best sprinters and relay runners in the East, and exceptional hurdler for several seasons a member of the New York Athletic club's crack track team. He has played both league and semi-pro ball ever since graduating from Maine in 1917, and was with the Portland club of the New England league and one season with the Philadelphia Athletics.

During war times, French ran on the Navy four, that defeated the Army's best and other crack relay quartets. He also played football at Maine. This last season he officiated in many important schoolboy grid contests. He will teach several subjects at Jordan high in addition to his coaching duties.
