STUDENTS SPENDING MORE MONEY AT THE STORE THAN USUAL

Checking System Makes Them Extravagant, Says Mr. Mainwaring

"The students appear to be spending a great deal of money this year," said Mr. Mainwaring of the University store when questioned by a Campus reporter. "Owing to changes in the prices of different articles and the competition of student stores in the different houses it is hard to say whether they are actually spending more than last year. Our books do not show a great increase over last year's sales, but the number of checks cashed here seem to indicate that the students are handling more money than they did a few years ago. This is due to the growth of the checking system. If the students had to hand over greenbacks or coins they would be much more aware of the fact that they are spend-

Native Sons to Compete With The "Savvy" Boys

The annual basketball game between the Maine Staters and the Out of Staters will be held in the gymnasium Friday evening. Last year the boys from the Pine Tree State barely nosed out a win in a fast game, but this year the boys from Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut, and New York are out to turn the tables.

This game will mark the last appearance of several seniors who have starred on varsity teams while in college. "Ollie" Berg, captain of the varsity, who will be in the lineup of the Out of Staters, has an enviable record. He has played in every game in which Maine teams have played for the past four years, has been the leading scorer each year, and is considered one of the best backs in college ranks in New England. "Crabby" Newell, another Out of Stater, has played on the varsity four years, captained last year's team, and is a clever all around forward. With the Maine Staters will be "Louie" Horsman, the hard-working, dependable guard, who has always played a whole of a game on the defense and is a good scorer as well.

"Woody" Woodbury has just completed a good year's work on the varsity, and will play a guard position for the Maine Staters Friday night. "Jack" Jowett, varsity pitcher and basketball man for the past four years will hold down one of the forward positions for the "savvy" boys. Others in the lineup of the boys from out of the State are Olsen, George, Mason, Manoll, and "Cuddy" Murphy. In addition to Horsman and Woodbury, the Maine Staters will depend upon Lake, Everett, Soderberg, Carter, Driscoll, "Hank" Small and others. This is sure to be a fast, interesting, hard fought tussle. A stag dance will follow the game. This affair is being conducted for the benefit of the Sophomore Owls, Junior Masks, and Senior Skulls.

Liberal Club

The Liberal Club at its last meeting discussed the advisability of Mr. Bok presenting his peace plan direct to the people himself or through Congress. One of the questions which arose during the discussion was, should Mr. Bok submit one plan or three or four plans for a vote of the people.

President Little wrote to the State authorities in regard to submitting the Bok plan to the students for a vote, but as the State was disinclined to stand behind the proposition, the matter was dropped.

The Club is open to both faculty and students and the subjects discussed are of primary importance. It is an opportunity for the students to get acquainted with present day affairs.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday evening March 19.

START REHEARSALS FOR "M" CLUB SHOW

Not a Minstrel Show, but a Musical Revue, with two hours dancing in the Gym afterwards, is the new show the M-Club is planning, according to Phil Taylor, chairman of the committee. Harold A. Moon of Bangor is coaching the show and he promises that it will be something new and really good.

What Mr. Moon and the M-Club want, in order to make this possible, is at least 100 students to come out for the rehearsals. A balanced chorus of 40 men and women are needed, also ten dancing girls and several men and women for novelty acts. This year "Hal" promises that the girls will not be wanted only to look pretty for five minutes, but that they will be right in the whirl all the time. The show is scheduled for May 2. Rehearsals will be held every Tuesday and Thursday commencing March 11. No try outs are necessary.

Dean Boardman Talks On Personnel System

"The Personnel System" was the subject of a talk by Dean Boardman in chapel last week. For a number of years this system has been used in the college of technology here and it is now proposed to extend it to include the other colleges. Dean Boardman outlined the purpose, method, and result of personnel service, and made clear the part it plays in a college man's life after he graduates.

With this system it is possible to have on file, by means of figures and graphs, a complete four year's record of each individual, including what he has done in college, his capabilities, his ranks, an estimate of him by his college deans, and a summary of recommendations according to the best judgment of men outside the college who are asked to criticize him. All this information, together with the student's picture and a number of questions he answers himself, is filed in the Dean's office and is used as a basis for the replies sent to the many men who are continually inquiring about different students.

"It is useless for a man to fool away his time in college and expect to make a record for himself after he gets out," said Dean Boardman. "He is forming his character as he goes, and this record stands as an estimate of what he has done and can do. It is a record that cannot be changed in a day."

Intra Mural Standing

Now that the fight for the championship in each of the intramural basketball leagues is over, the only thing remaining is to decide which of the three teams is the campus champion. Phi Epsilon Pi easily won out in the South League. In the Middle League, the S. A. E. five played several hard games, but managed to finish up at the top of the league. In the North League, however, the competition was the stiffest. In a hard fast contest, the Sigma Nu quintet was forced by the Commons team to bow to defeat for the first time in three years, the latter team by means of this signal win copping the championship in their league. The excellent defensive work of the Commons five contributed a great deal to their success. The first game in the elimination series is to be played Tuesday evening March 11, at which time the Commons team is to clash with the S. A. E. aggregation.

Girls' Varsity to Play

The Girls Varsity Basket-Ball Team will play one of its best games with "Connecticut Aggie" in the gymnasium Saturday evening. Connecticut Aggie is playing us for the first time and it promises to be an interesting game. Following the game is the Journalistic Dance. This is to be a Stag dance. Admission to the game and dance is fifty cents. A good enthusiastic crowd is looked for.

SCHOOL EDITORS ASSEMBLE FRIDAY FOR CONFERENCE

Sigma Delta Chi to Entertain Young Journalists March 14-15

Editors and business managers of high and preparatory school publications of Maine will gather here Friday and Saturday for the second annual journalistic conference under the auspices of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society.

Registration will begin Friday afternoon in Winslow Hall and the exercises will begin at 1:30 with addresses of Welcome from President Little and Conrad Kennison, president of the fraternity. Meetings will continue through Saturday afternoon, with a banquet at Balentine Hall Friday evening and ending with a journalistic dance in the gymnasium Saturday evening.

Speakers will include Oliver L. Hall, editor of the Bangor Commercial; Sam Conners of the Lewiston Journal; A. L. T. Cummings of the State Chamber of Commerce; Roland T. Patten of the Skowhegan Independent-Reporter; Dean Stevens, Prof. Ellis, Edwin Kneeland of Princeton, Robert C. Rowlands, Edward C. Cutting, Charles E. Johnson, and Frank Hussey.

Prizes will be awarded for the best high and preparatory school papers exhibited during the conference. Arrangements are in charge of Hazen H. Ayer, John Stevens and George Cooper.

Spring Military

Plans are already underway for the Spring Military Camp, which will be held June 1 to 6. The probable location of the camp will be at Newport, Maine, where it has been held twice before. On account of the dates set for this week of training, examinations have been changed to end May 31, instead of June 6. Students attending the camp, which is compulsory, will be merely exchanging a week of recitations for a week of camp life. Under the new arrangements no student will be kept longer at the University than under the old. If, for some reason, the camp is given up, the examinations will revert to former schedule, ending June 6.

The work at the camp will be instructive as well as entertaining and attractive. Complete outfits will be issued each man. Newport has an excellent camp-site, located at Camp Benson, or Camp Andrews, as named by the R. O. T. C. three years ago. At night, the men will sleep in shelter tents of army regulation. There will probably be at least two dances during the period of the camp.

Alumnus of University Lauds Debating Team

Editor Maine Campus, Orono, Maine. Dear Sir:—

I suppose that the average undergraduate feels that an Alumnus measures the success or the failure of his Alma Mater by its Athletics. While I yield to no one in my enthusiasm for a winning team, I feel that you have a new activity that warrants all the support and encouragement that the Alumni Body can give. I refer to Intercollegiate Debating.

While I was at Maine, we never debated with another college and you can imagine my surprise to read in a local paper that Maine was to debate Clark University on the "World Court" question. Clark University stands in a place by itself among small colleges in the field of Psychology, Social Science, International Relations and allied subjects, in fact, every subject that would fit a student for debating. I had my misgivings as to the results and the bare 3-0 decision against Maine might be said to be "the expected". The judges, however, based their decision a little bit too much on the question. On the matter of delivery, presentation of argument and ability to hold their audience, Maine was

MAINE DEFEATED IN COLBY DEBATE

Maine's affirmative debating team lost its second debate this season when the judges awarded the decision to Colby's negative team at Alumni Hall March 7. The debate throughout was an intensely interesting one, and although there was a great division of opinion as to the final outcome, the judges turned in a two to one decision to the team from Waterville. Maine's negative team, debating at Colby on the same evening, lost its debate. The question in both cases on the advisability of the United States entering the World Court under the Harding plan.

Everyone is agreed that this has been Maine's most successful debating year. Although the two teams have turned in more defeats than wins, some of the finest teams in the East have been met and in every case Maine has distinguished herself. In every debate the audiences have agreed that the Maine team has furnished the individual star. In Friday night's debate in Alumni Hall John L. McCobb, '25, final speaker for the affirmative team, seemingly clinched the case for the Maine team. He took point after point and successfully and masterfully refuted them. At the conclusion of his rebuttal the captain of the Colby team said he believed that the debate was Maine's.

Chester W. Cambell, '25, did the finest work that he has yet done for the Maine team. An athlete of no mean ability, Cambell has this year distinguished himself on the forensic platform and has given debating at the University a big boost. Charles G. H. Evans, '27, was the first speaker of the evening and ably held down his end of the affirmative argument.

Donald E. Sprague, Colby '26, was by far the best speaker for the Colby team, and he did some splendid work in the debate. He was the mainstay for the negative team and demonstrated exceptional ability. His colleagues were Russell M. Squire, '25, and Kenneth E. Shaw, '25, both of Colby. The judges for the debate here were Patrick H. Gillin, Rev. Arthur M. Little and Charles H. Reid, all of Bangor.

The Maine team debating at Colby was composed of Herbert L. Richardson, '24, Edward M. Curran, '26, and Theodore F. Hatch, '24. One of the men in the debating squad who, he has not actually participated in any of the debates, has done a great deal to aid the teams is Albert Rights of the class of '27 who promises much for Maine debates of the future. Rights was alternate of the negative team.

The next debate and the final debate for Maine of the year is with Vermont. That debate will be held on the campus within a short time and the Maine affirmative team will meet the Vermont men on the World Court question.

Balentine Girls

As in days of old, when knights were bold, the Balentine girls sallied forth and captured their poor defenseless guests last Friday night. These helpless and harmless creatures kept their fair hostesses waiting even longer than Hoyle would permit but finally tripped down the stairs of their respective abodes and were properly signed out.

Upon reaching Balentine the weaker sex (please don't misunderstand, we mean the men) were allowed to sit while the sturdy co-eds stood.

The decorations, in black and white, were very effective as all about were silhouettes of girls kneeling in the approved fashion to the men. The dance orders listed the advice for a girl to follow if she would "catch" a man and corresponding orders advised the men how to resist the wicked co-eds.

Kay Clarke superintended the decorations.

On Wednesday, Feb. 27, the first degree was worked on the following Kappa Phi Kappa pledges:— Lawrence Clark, '25, Clarence Danforth, '25, Egbert Andrews, '25, Ulmer W. Davis, '24, Dwight L. Moody, '25, Raymond Finley, '25 and Edwin P. Snow, '25.

LIVELY BASKETBALL HELD INTEREST FOR THE PAST WEEK-END

Wilton and Northeast Harbor Win Honors of Tournament

Basketball was the source of amusement last week-end with several of the best teams of the state represented. Much interest was shown by the students in the fast and clean playing. Teams began to be eliminated Thursday afternoon. Only Wilton Academy and Northeast Harbor High survived the tournament undefeated, being rewarded with properly engraved shields.

Thursday Afternoon
Bridgton Academy defeated Patten Acadamey 27-17
Eastern Maine Conference Seminary defeated M. C. I. 39-35.
Wilton Academy defeated Fryberg Academy 35-19.

Journalists Welcome

The MAINE CAMPUS takes this opportunity to welcome to the University the delegates to the Journalistic Conference which Sigma Delta Chi is holding this week. We are glad to have you with us, and hope that besides a good time you may acquire some practical ideas which will enable you to improve your school papers, thereby raising the standard of secondary school journalism in Maine.

The Journalistic Conference

The second annual high school Journalists Conference which Sigma Delta Chi is sponsoring this week, is a commendable undertaking and one which every student of the university should be willing to help along.

Sigma Delta Chi is making it possible for over sixty prep school students to visit the university and will attempt to equip them with some excellent ideas concerning ways to improve their school papers, and journalism in general, from the best procurable speakers.

If the secondary school papers of the state are benefited this will be another way in which the University is of service to the state.

University students can help the good cause along by attending the Journalistic Dance Saturday night which is the main source of revenue which Sigma Delta Chi has for paying the Conference expenses.

A Religious Weekend, Mar. 21-23

Sherwood Eddy, known as "One of the World's Foremost Christian Statesmen", is to speak here March 21, 22, 23. Mr. Eddy is said to be a typical Theodore Roosevelt type of man, practicing the Doctrine of a strenuous life. The last half a dozen years he has spent making a Social, Industrial, Educational and Religious survey of the world. He has spoken to more students than perhaps any other living man, all of which, and a good deal more we might add, goes to show that he is a man that no student in this University can afford not to hear. Indeed we are exceedingly fortunate in having the opportunity to hear Mr. Eddy right here at Maine, for he is very much in demand, and seldom visits such small Universities.

We have had week-end after week-end given over to various activities such as the Carnival, Basketball, the Journalistic Conference this week, and so on.

Now, let us pause in our mad rush of activities and studies, and seriously consider the idea of a week-end given over entirely to Religion, from the first lecture Sherwood Eddy gives March 21 until the last, let us attend his lectures faithfully and make March 21, 22, 23 a truly Religious weekend.

Mr. Eddy has something to say worth every body's time. Every student owes it to himself to attend at least one lecture, preferably the first, then if he does not want to go again nobody will try to make him.

"D-d-dy" know, I believe I've found out what makes me s-stuttah!"
"Really?"
"Yawso: I've been watching myself very c-carefully, and I've discovered that I nevah stuttah except when I t-t-try to t-talk!"

Masks Offer Prizes For New Songs and Cheers

The Junior Masks are holding a contest to replace worn out yells and songs with new ones. This Song and Cheer Contest is to begin at once and is to continue until April 8. All undergraduates are eligible. The winners will receive cups or medals and will have their names printed with their productions which will appear in a booklet which will combine the new songs and cheers with the most popular established ones. Blair, Repscha, and Gerrish are the committee charged to arouse the student body to the urgent need of original, fresh material, which the Masks believe the undergraduates are capable of producing. The aid of the faculty and alumni is being solicited to make this contest a success.

Deputation Team

Maine's deputation team spent a very enjoyable week end at Dexter. Those making the team were Helene Douglas, Edith Hanington, Robert Turner, Stanley Hyde, and Austin Wilkins. Friday evening a Father and Son, and a Mother and Daughter social meeting was held, and conducted under the leadership of another social was held for all the young people of the various churches of Dexter. Sunday evening a mass meeting was held in the Universalist Church. At the Christian Endeavor meeting Edith Hanington, Austin Wilkins and Stanley Hyde spoke. At the regular evening service every seat was taken. Robert Turner, Helene Douglas, Stanley Hyde and Austin Wilkins spoke.

Faculty Smoker

The annual faculty smoker given by Phi Gamma Delta was held on the evening of March 6. Invitations were sent to every instructor and professor and about 75 attended. Every department was represented by at least one member, several having more than 3 members there. The evening was spent in a general smoker, playing cards and getting acquainted with those instructors not well known. Refreshments were served and the smoker closed with the singing of the Stein song.

El Circulo Espanol

El Circulo Espanol held its regular meeting Tuesday evening, March 4. After the business meeting, a short program, consisting of music and speeches, was presented. Mr. Gomez delivered an interesting speech on South American Culture, after which several of the students gave reports on current events. A letter was read from Miss Arnold, instructor in Spanish at the University last year, who is now studying in Spain.

Modern Green House An Asset To Campus

The new green-house is of the modern all-steel construction type. The main house is 108 feet by 32 feet, with a connecting house 17 feet by 20 feet. Two more houses of exactly the same type are to be built soon.

At the present time carnations and potted plants are being grown, although later the potted plants will be transferred to one of the other green-houses.

The experiment station is running an experiment on "stem end browning" a disease just developing in potatoes. This experiment is being carried on in the greenhouse as there is no other adequate means of taking care of it.

BALENTINE NOTES

Annabelle Thurston attended the Chi Omega initiation and dance at Colby this week-end.

Kathleen Mahoney was called home last week by the death of her sister.

Miss Eleanor Clark of Southwest Harbor spent the week-end with Hope Norwood.

Edna Brown is attending the Delta Delta Delta initiation at the University of Vermont.

A marked revival of interest in the study of Greek is noted in New England colleges. Colby has a class of 21 in Greek, and Bates enrolls 100. Dartmouth also reports a marked increase.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor of the Campus:

Dear Sir:—

In view of the fact that we of the University of Maine are striving toward progress in all phases of our college endeavor, there are two betes noirs which call for our serious consideration.

The first is a freshman class tradition to the effect that only freshman men attend the class banquet. The girls form a legitimate and vital part of the freshman class, and should be eligible to all class privileges. They pay the same class dues, and even have to help make up the class deficit, should one be incurred through the banquet or other activities. Our ancestors dumped tea into Boston Harbor because they objected to taxation without representation. Surely we haven't retrogressed.

The excuse to the effect that "it has always been done" or "let the girls have a banquet themselves if they want it" is not the correct all-University spirit. Why not have the freshman banquet submitted to a refining process so that it can include the girls? Thus our Alma Mater can be represented as she should be at all times, one hundred percent.

The second matter is the recent Student-Faculty-Alumni banquet. Is it not shameful that of all women's organizations on the campus, not one woman student or faculty member of the University was invited to be present. By what token can there be a "Student-Faculty-Alumni Banquet of the University of Maine" which excludes its women members? The great majority of women students here can never be accused of shirking their responsibility to their Alma Mater. Surely the coeds gave fully as generously to the Memorial Gymnasium Fund as did the men. So it is in all matters requiring financial assistance, the woman students are never overlooked by the "gentlemen."

We'd like to know when a ray of light will penetrate a chink in the skulls of the Maine men so that they will wake up and assume a modern attitude toward a fair consideration of the interests of Maine women.

Very sincerely,
"Coed".

Editor of the Campus:—

We have recently had a basketball tournament of some of the best prep schools in the state. We have seen some very good games, we have enjoyed them thoroughly, and at the same time we have advertised the university well. But who has paid the bills and has done the advertising? The fraternities. A little reflection shows this fact plainly.

Why cannot a 5¢ admission be charged at the door for every spectator, and an adequate amount be refunded or reimbursed to the various houses? Surely a nickel would be gladly given to see a good game by anyone and everyone, and the expense would then be shared alike by all to no one's detriment. How does this appeal to the college and athletic authorities? Any chef, steward or treasurer knows what it means.

Sodalitas Latina

The Sodalitas Latina held its regular meeting Thursday evening March 6, at Coburn Hall. After the business meeting, a social evening was spent. Poems describing the Roman deities were passed to the members present, and prizes were given to the ones being able to guess the largest and smallest number correctly. Another feature of the entertainment were the charades, depicting deities and authors. Refreshments of punch and crackers were served.

Dr. John W. Draper, Associate Professor of English, is the author of a handsome volume entitled William Lyndon Wright: A Memoir, recently issued by the Andiron Club of New York City. The book is a brief, eloquent tribute to the unusual personality and genius of a schoolfellow of Dr. Draper's at Yonkers High School and New York University, who, at his death in November, 1922, had shown great promise and much achievement in the field of music, as a critic, conductor and composer. The volume is tastefully printed and bound as befits the subject, and the admirably written memoir gives to the reader for whom Wright is only a name, a striking degree of intimacy with the subject. The tribute was written at the request of relatives of Mr. Wright and his associates in the Andiron Club, in which Dr. Draper, despite his absence from New York City, still retains the office and title of Dictator, or President.

Secretary Clark and Prof. Weston were present at the annual ladies' night of the White Mountain Alumni Association, held Saturday, March 1, at Gorham, N. H. About thirty attended the banquet at the Madison House, after which a social hour was enjoyed at the Country Club. The speakers were Secretary Clark and Prof. Weston, who discussed the progress of the university and other matters of general interest to the alumni.

We read that the students of Newcomb College, Louisiana, who subjected their Professors to an intelligence test achieved if one may believe the reports published in the newspapers, a signal victory. The answers that the professors gave to the questions prepared for them revealed in most instances a lamentable ignorance in matters that interest the undergraduates. Al Jolson was set down as a wrestling champion, Bob McNutt as a heavyweight prize fighter, Filet Mignon as an opera by Puccini, Marachino as a Russian statesman. Why should not the students be scornful of the intellectual equipment of teachers who are capable of such gross blunders?

"DRYEST CAMPUS"

Of all the colleges represented at the recent college prohibition conference Wesleyan claimed to have the least trouble with undergraduate drinking. Dartmouth and Princeton had to give up their Junior Proms because the problem became so serious. Mount Holyoke and Wheaton have discontinued their annual men's college glee club concerts and dances because the men became so well supplied with liquor.

Harvard has had men arrested for bootlegging. It was asserted by the Wesleyan delegates that their campus was the driest of all.

The Spectators' club, which is composed of members of the U of M faculty, will meet Mar. 11, at the home of C. H. White.

"It's on even when it's off"
(Does this slogan about the Hinge-Cap deserve a prize? If not, what better one can you suggest? Read our offer)

WILLIAMS is a wonderfully popular shaving cream. Here's why:—It's heavier, faster-working lather, the way it lubricates the path of the razor and eliminates painful friction, the soothing ingredient which keeps the skin so smooth and cool even in daily shaving—these are qualities men like! They also like its purity—no artificial coloring. With the new Hinge-Cap, Williams is winning more friends than ever before. See if you ever used a shaving cream as good.

Williams Shaving Cream

$250 in Prizes
For the best sentence of ten words or less on the value of the Williams Hinge-Cap, we offer the following prizes: 1st prize, $100; 2nd prize, $50; two 3rd prizes, $25 each; two 4th prizes, $10 each; six 5th prizes, $5 each. Saturday Morning

Finals of the tournament were played with Wilton copping the championship of prep school class defeating Bridgton Academy 30 to 20. Northeast Harbor carried off schoolboy honors defeating Fort Fairfield High 24 to 17. Both teams were awarded the championship shields at the conclusion of the tournament.

Wilton and Bridgton fought a stubborn battle. The score at the first half was 14 to 12 in favor of Wilton. The latter half more caution was used and Hathaway, the big center for Wilton, caged several baskets from recoveries off the backboard. This playing caused Wilton to draw away from Bridgton and win a decisive victory.

Northeast Harbor and Fort Fairfield High played the fastest game of the tournament, despite the number of games they played before. The game was in doubt until almost the final whistle blew. At the end of the first half Northeast led 15 to 14 but in the very last few minutes of play they hauled away from their opponents and won to the score of 24 to 17.

"Best Paid Hard Work in the World"

IS the way a JOHN HANCOCK salesman described his work. He is a college graduate and in five years has put himself at the very top of his business. He never yet has called upon a prospect without a previous appointment. The best life insurance salesmen today work on that plan, making it a business of dignity, such as any worthy and ambitious college graduate can find satisfying to his mental needs, and highly remunerative as well.

The man above quoted is the John Hancock's youngest general agent. This shows what college graduates of the right type can do in this business, how they can build up earning power and at the same time provide for an accumulated competence for the years to come.

Graduation is a vital period in your life and you are liable to hold to the business you start in. It would be well before making a definite decision to inquire into life insurance as a career. Address, "Agency Department."

ing money. Checks seem to mean nothing to the majority of them."

"We are not selling many cigarettes," he added. "The men are evidently getting them in wholesale quantities somewhere else."

"The way the men throw their cigarette stubs around the floor of the bookstore is annoying to all concerned here," he stated. "Not only do they throw down their cigarette stubs but they litter the place with tinfoil and papers of all kinds in a way that makes one wonder what kind of home life they have been used to."

"The amount of money that they spend for books remains fairly constant, he says, the increase in the price of same balancing the lowered price of others. There seems to be a tendency, however, to borrow rather than buy. Of the fifty five books ordered for a biology class recently, only thirty-five were taken by the students, the remaining twenty being a dead loss to the store. The bookstore loses a great deal in this way.

"We try not to promote any extravagance among the students," Mr. Mainwaring concluded. "We sell only the college necessities and try to avoid any showy displays that would tempt the students to buy useless articles."

fully the equal of the winners. An "Aggie" and two "Engineers" holding their own with Clark University in a debate in Clark's "back yard" was a splendid performance. The boys and their coach must have worked hard indeed to make such a showing and they deserve the full support of the Alumni and the Student Body.

Dean Little of Clark College, after the debate spoke to me of the fine showing that Maine made and when I told him the make-up of the team, he was greatly surprised. He would have been more surprised if he had experienced the difficulty of a Junior or Senior Engineer putting in the hard work necessary to make that showing.

You are doing a splendid work. Show the world that Maine gives her students a broadened education and viewpoint and that we do not have to depend on athletics alone, for our advertising.

Sincerely Yours,
H. R. ("Reddy") Clark 1914

In a recent issue of the Campus, the Canadian teams with which our Hockey five played on the recent trip, were spoken of as semi-professional. We wish to correct that error as we learn that they were amateur, and that semi-professional sport is not recognized.

Hank: My brother sure was a dumb guy.

Frank: How's that?

Hank: Why, they had to burn down the schoolhouse to get him out of the first grade.
