BOWDOIN NEXT - LET'S GO

COLBY WHITE MULE HOBBLED BY BEARS IN THRILLING GAME

COLBY SHOWS NICE BRAND OF FOOTBALL

OUTCOME ALWAYS IN DOUBT

Bricemen Suffer No Serious Injuries

In one of the hardest fought games ever played on Alumni field the Colby White Mule went down to a 7-6 defeat at the hands of the Bricemen. The game was full of thrills and the score was undecided, in reality, until the whistle blew. But for the speed of Osgood, and the boot of Peakes, Maine would have met defeat or have been tied, both of which would have been equally disastrous.

Colby, who has been playing adverse football all season, suddenly sprang into being, and, showing a brand of football new to them, staged a rally and nearly won the game. It was a rejuvenated team that made the Maine Bear tear its claws out in an endeavor to hang a goodly defeat on the "old grey mare." Not only did the visitors stop Maine several times when near the goal line, but threatened to score themselves.

Maine outrushed and outpassed Colby. The Bricemen garnered 12 first downs and 155 yards in rushing, while Colby made 10 first downs and 100 yards in rushing. Maine completed four out of eleven attempts at passes for a total yardage of 90 and Colby attempted 21, completing six for a gain of 87 yards.

The scoring plays kept the spectators on their feet every minute. Maine scored in the first period, and Colby scored late in the second, and was starting on her way again when the half was over.

Maine received the ball on Erickson's punt on Colby's 43 yard line. Peakes and Coltart gained 13 yards and a five yard penalty helped matters. Peakes dropped back into punt formation and threw a long pass to Nannigan for a 38 yard line. Coltart made two yards in two plays. Coltart threw a short pass over the line for a touchdown, Nannigan being the one to score it. Peakes kicked the goal from placement.

In the second period Colby got the ball on her own 44 yard line by an exchange of punts. A pass from McLean to Seekins netted 32 yards. Drummond hammered the Maine line three times for ten yards, then failed to gain in the next. Erickson failed to complete a pass and then threw one over the goal line. Minutti barely touched it with his fingers, and Seekins caught it just back of the line for Colby's only points.

Johnson, Colby's left half, intercepted a pass and tore up the field for 35 yards until Osgood forced him out—one of Colby's three interceptions.

In the third period Maine carried the ball down to the 2 yard line. Peakes threw another pass to Nannigan but "Mickey" Callaghan of Brewer intercepted this same pass and was off up the field.

On account of financial loss due to lack of patronage in past years, the Athletic Association announces that there will be no special train to Brunswick. However, reduced rates have been obtained from the Maine Central which allows the student to make the round trip from Bangor to Brunswick for $3.38, on the regular train which leaves Bangor at 7:35 A.M. Return must be made the same day on the 8:35 train out of Brunswick, which arrives in Bangor at 10:50.

FROSH WIN LAST GAME

Bridgton Academy Beaten 20-7 in Slow Game

The freshmen played the last football game of their season on Alumni field last Friday and defeated Bridgton Academy 20-7. The game was dull from the spectators' point of view, as Maine seemed to lack the final punch to put over many touchdowns, when they should have been able to score easily.

The frosh got the break in the second quarter, when Deetjen, the Bridgton quarterback, was expelled from the game for unnecessary roughness, and his team penalized 33 yards to their own 25 yard line. Moran made a first down and Moore contributed another. Then Moran went over for a score. Zakarian's kick was hurried and went wide.

Knight fumbled a punt and the Academy recovered on the 35 yard line. Two passes put the ball on the Maine 10 yard line, but Moore intercepted the third, and the half ended with the ball in Maine's possession in midfield.

The freshmen rushed the ball to the goal line, but were held for downs. The visitors kicked from behind their own goal to Knight, who ran back 20 yards. Moran was knocked out, but remained in the game. A long pass and two first downs by Moore put the ball within scoring distance and Jack Moran took it over. Zakarian kicked the goal.

After the next kickoff, Bridgton opened up an aerial attack, and two long passes put the ball on Maine's 5 yard line. Bornstein broke the ice and added the extra point by a drop kick.

Bornstein fumbled a high punt in the final canto and Moyer recovered and would have scored had he not stumbled. Moore made a first down, and successive thrusts by Brown and Moran put the ball in position for Moore to ring the bell for the third score. Zakarian again came thru with the extra counter. The game ended about a minute later.

SORORITY BIDDING IS INTERESTING

Contrary to appearances, the assembly in front of Coburn Hall last Tuesday noon was neither a mob, a panic, nor a co-ed strike. It was merely a group of sorority girls awaiting the results of bidding. Due to the necessary confusion and exclamations, which apparently amused masculine onlookers, the process of bidding took place at Coburn, rather than the Library, as formerly. According to custom and Pan-Hellenic ruling the rushee received her bid in private, wrote her acceptance and appeared at the door of Coburn wearing, as emblem of her pledgedness, a ribbon bow of her chosen sorority's colors. It was at this stage of the procedure that the joyous shrieks rent the air and she fell to the embraces of her newly acquired sisters.

The sororities announce their pledges as follows:

Delta Delta Delta: Brenna Blaisdell, Dora Colony, Isabelle Brown, Dorothy Ross, Sylvia Gould, Mary Crowley, Ruth Greenlaw, Harriet Scott.

Chi Omega: Thelma Shea, Lois Burr, Pauline Hall, Edna Bailey, Winona Flint, Edna Rackliff, Helen MacLaughlin, Zella MacKenzie, Kathryn Hutchinson.

Alpha Omicron Pi: Jeannette Roney, Pauline Nickerson, Elizabeth Mason, Kathleen Andrews, Esther Hawkes, Eleanor Clark, Eunice Barrows, Dorothy Mayo, Louise Grindle, Henrietta McLean, Helena Johnson, Sylvia Kurson.

BATES HARRIERS NOSE OUT MAINE BY ONE POINT IN STATE MEET

CAPTAIN TAYLOR BREAKS TAPE FIRST

The Bates harriers nosed out the Maine team by one point in the State Cross-Country Meet held at Bates last Friday. Captain "Grunt" Taylor was the individual winner, leading Captain Wills of Bates by fifty yards. "Andy" Cushing finished third after leading Wills most of the way. The total scores were Bates 30, Maine 31, and Colby 59.

No time was taken on account of the race not being run over the regular course. The order of those finishing is:

1. Capt. Taylor, Maine
2. Capt. Wills, Bates
3. Cushing, Maine
- 4 & 5. Hobbs and Wardwell, Bates

ANDRE CUSHING

6. Brudno, Colby
7. Brown, Bates
8. Stinson, Maine
- 9 & 10. Noyes & McNaughton, Maine
11. Allen, Colby
12. Chesley, Bates
13. Noble, Maine
15. Murray, Maine

INTERCLASS RELAY WON BY FRESHMEN

The freshman relay team was victorious in the final round of the inter-class relay meet, which was run between the halves of the Maine-Colby game, by defeating the Juniors, Sophomores and Seniors in that order. The freshmen led all of the way, and showed a surprising amount of speed. Their time was 4:49½. The teams were composed of the following men:

Freshmen: Harding, Toothaker, Marshall, Hardy, Goodell, Tolman, Armitage, Winterbottom, Berenson, Lathrop, Westcott and Maxim.

Juniors: Reed, Lovejoy, McDoughal, Folsom, Bond, Adams, Young, Caldwell, Fred Thompson, Hill, Williams, Porter.

Sophomores: G. Bixby, Larsen, Gamage, Cooper, Russell, Teague, Brown, H. Murray, Ryder, Hamlin, Niles, McCarthy.

Seniors: Andrews, Rights, Culbertson, Moore, Guilfoyle, T. Bixby, Hobson, Stitham, Scribner, Cogswell, Torrey, Rounsville.

MAINE NIGHT BIGGEST EVER

Annual Home-coming Held at Indoor Field For First Time

Maine Night has always been the wild-est night of the college year, and this Maine Night proved to be no exception.

President Boardman presided over the rally in the Armory in a most enthusiastic manner. The students and alumni were raised to fever heat as the cheers and songs of their Alma Mater rang thru the new indoor field. The speakers were thus ably inspired and all of them delivered talks very hopeful as to what the team would accomplish against Colby and Bowdoin. Several telegrams from loyal alumni all over the United States were read by President Boardman. Among these was a telegram from President C. C. Little of Michigan, congratulating the team on the Bates victory and expressing sincere hopes of victories over Colby and Bowdoin. All the telegrams were received with enthusiastic cheers of approval from the rooters.

"Joe" McCusker '17, former cheer leader, was there instilling ginger into the crowd and bringing forth their lustiest yells. Joe revived the "Sandwich" which met the approval of everyone.

The speakers were especially effective because they gave short, snappy speeches which were right to the point. The coaches emphasized the splendid, hard-working team Maine has this year. Paul Lamoreau gave a hopeful talk and told how the men worked to develop from a team that barely defeated Fort Williams to a team that swept Bates off her feet. "Wes" Elliot, '01, told of the first championship team Maine ever had, which was the first team to beat Bowdoin. Besides himself, there were two other members of this team present. Attorney General Fellows gave a speech that kept the audience in constant laughter, and livened up the evening in general. "Cracker" Wilson gave the students an idea as to how they should get their lessons and how to play the game hard. "Cy" Brown, president of the Athletic Association,

FIRST DEBATE ON DECEMBER FIRST

The first intercollegiate debate of the season at Maine will take place December 2. It will be a triangular debate with Maine sending an affirmative team to New Hampshire, New Hampshire sending an affirmative to Rhode Island and Rhode Island an affirmative to Maine. The question will be on the 18th amendment. By final tryout, the men making the debating squad are: E. J. Kelly '28, G. G. Young '28, J. P. Ashworth '30, E. N. McAlory '30, and K. A. Laughlin '30.

New men will be added to the squad as soon as they manifest sufficient ability and interest. The next debate will be with Vermont in January, and a trip will be taken in March which will include debates with Clark College, Boston University, and Massachusetts Aggies. Men on a team are eligible for two hours credit.

It is hoped that the girls will show interest enough to take up the challenges which Mr. Rahe has received. These will include several out-of-town trips as well as the participants receiving credit for work done. Florence Gushee is girls' debating manager.

There has already been arranged a schedule of inter-fraternity debates. Preliminaries will be held November 3, and final debates November 5. The fraternities already signed up are Lambda Chi Alpha, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Chi, Delta Tau Delta, Phi Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Nu, and Phi

THE BLACK BEAR AND WHITE BEAR FIGHT FOR TITLE SATURDAY

RECORD CROWD EXPECTED TO VIEW CLASSIC AT WHITTIER FIELD

ANYTHING IS EXPECTED

The Game Should Be the Best in Years

The real game of the Maine football season will take place on Whittier Field at Bowdoin College on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. And when it is over the biggest crowd in the history of football in the state will hail a state champion eleven for another year. It may be Maine, or it may be Bowdoin, and there is not a so-called expert in the state who would be willing to stake much either way. Both teams seem to be as evenly matched as could be asked for and both are certain to be in top form for their supreme test. It will be one of the greatest battles in the long history of state series, of that there is no doubt.

Last Saturday Bowdoin was able to nose out Bates after a tough scrap by a 13-6 score. Compared with Maine's impressive swamping of the Lewiston team the previous week, this would seem to indicate beforehand that there was nothing to it but Maine. However, on the same day the Bears had their hands full in turning back one of the best teams which Colby ever sent to Orono, and were only able to come out on top by one point. The Bates team which went down before Maine and the team which battled Bowdoin to a stand-still were two different outfits, according to Professor Hitchner, who refereed the Bates-Bowdoin contest. Colby, which failed to wake up against Bowdoin until the second half of their game, was a different Colby when it faced the Bricemen here Saturday. And so the old dope bucket, which has taken so many kicks in the past two weeks, is in a terrible turmoil as the reputed dopsters try to make out whether the Blue of Maine or the Black and White of Bowdoin ought to wave on high Saturday night.

On past records Maine has the edge, but records mean nothing when the state series games roll around, as has been proved conclusively time and time again in past years. Maine has scored 109 points to 12 for her opponents and has won six straight games, a record fully as good as that of any team in the country. Bowdoin has won four games, against Boston University, New Hampshire, Colby and Bates, was beaten by Tufts, and tied Amherst, having a total of 61 points to opponents' 38. Both teams have come ahead rapidly in the past few weeks and have of course been pointing all the season for this one big game. Both are brilliant offensive teams, with plenty of power, and both have developed strong defenses against each other's plays. Bowdoin began preparing for the Maine game last week, even before tackling Bates. This week Coach Jack Cates has been working hard to bring this defense into perfect condition for Fred Brice's deceptive tactics and forward passes, which are giving the Brunswick men plenty to think about. On the other hand, Maine has been getting ready to break up Bowdoin's pet plays, which have been scouted in past games, and also has in turn been con-

On Saturday evening after the Bowdoin-Maine game there is to be an informal dance in the Bowdoin gymnasium under the auspices of the Student Council. Maine students are invited to attend.

Fraternity Singing

A problem that all Maine Night committees have had to face is that of providing suitable entertainment to keep the crowd together at the bonfire. Speaking is out of the question because in the open air, with the fire snapping and cracking nearby, the speakers become inaudible, and besides, everyone has heard enough speaking for one evening in the gymnasium. There has also been enough cheering and singing of University songs.

Singing of fraternity songs at this time together with a humorous act or two done in pantomime seem to be the solution of the problem. Although very little publicity had been given this part of the program last week, all of the social organizations excepting four fraternities responded. The Betas for the men and the Tri Deltas for the girls hold the honors for this year.

Bonfires radiate good fellowship; singing is conducive to good fellowship. Singing and shouting around a bonfire before a battle also appeals to our barbaric instincts.

With an ear open for comment, the writer has heard much constructive but no adverse criticism of the singing part of the program. Why not establish it as a regular Maine Night custom?

On to Bowdoin

At last the Associated Press and other new services are giving Maine credit for having a good football team. Fortune for them that they are, otherwise their offices would be stormed and stampeded by indignant alumni.

We also ask why photographers, with cameras capable of taking action pictures, fight shy of all Orono games. Even high school games in the southern part of the state are shown in action in the Sunday papers but a state series game at Orono is neglected.

Some of this indifference might be due to our geographical isolation, and some might be due to tight-mouthed coaches of years past who have antagonized the press. At present, coaches Brice and Kanaly are willing at all times to make statements about their teams and they have the good will of all newspaper men.

John Mahoney, University sports writer for several dailies, is doing much to correct this press indifference by supplying accurate, timely facts. His "dope" is also being heeded. Last week he wrote the advance write-up in the Campus of the Colby-Maine game, and this week is to give us a similar write-up on the Maine-Bowdoin game.

In spite of the indifference of the press, we all know that our team is the best in the country. It is the cleanest, best coached, and hardest fighting of them all. But it is going to take hard work to make Bowdoin believe it next Saturday. Let us all be at Brunswick if we have to beg, bum, or ride box cars to get there. Yell yourself hoarse, the cheer leaders are good, the team is good, and the state

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor, Maine Campus:

The Board of Trustees have passed a rule forbidding freshmen to live in fraternities after this year. This rule is going to be harmful to the University as well as to the freshmen.

For one reason, the living quarters are not adequate for the needs of the freshman class. This year, approximately three hundred and twenty-five freshman boys are on the campus. The greater part of these have moved into fraternities, but the dormitories still have nearly as many as they can hold. There is promise of the freshman class next year being larger than ever. If this is to be the case, how are they all going to live in the two dormitories?

In these dormitories, the freshmen are on their own honor to keep up in their studies, and to regulate their habits as well as if they had a proctor to watch over them. But freshmen are generally young men who have not been away from home-influence, and the result is that they go down in their studies, and some have to leave after examinations. In a fraternity this is different. There is a general rule, in all fraternities, that all freshmen shall stay in every night except Fridays and Saturdays. The freshmen get into the habit of studying every night, and once this habit is well established, it will be carried on in the years he is an upper-classman.

The strongest habits that a college man makes are established in his freshman year. If he is in a fraternity, he gets help from an upper-classman and gets into the habit of doing his work regularly. In a dormitory, the freshman has no one who cares enough about his work to make him stay in nights.

Then the question of boarding freshmen is another major problem. Something must be done immediately if the coming rule is to go into effect. It is generally known that many of the fellows had to live in fraternity houses during freshman week. Then when the upper-classmen came back, the dormitory conditions became worse and several freshmen were forcibly ejected from their rooms. What will be the result if all the freshmen and some of the upper-classmen have to live there next year?

Signed L. B. '30

Student Conference to Be Held at Milwaukee

A national conference of the Council of Student Christian Associations of the colleges and universities of the United States is to be held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, from December 28, to January 1. This is to be the first conference of its kind to be held as a national gathering, and is replacing several of the smaller meetings which are held each year. Addresses, data sessions, and discussions on the Christian way of living at the present time will make up the program.

The quota of delegates for the University of Maine is eight men and women. Plans are now under way to fill this quota, and several students have already decided to spend a part of their Christmas vacation at the conference.

Balentine Hall was converted into a kindergarten for an hour or two last Tuesday afternoon when about eighteen orphans, from the Orphans' Home in Bangor, and ranging in age from four to ten years, were entertained with a Halloween party. Under the auspices of the Y.W.C.A. which gave the party, the children were called for by some of the college girls who own cars.

Upon their arrival at Balentine the youngsters were taken to the sunparlor which was appropriately decorated for the occasion. Arlene Robbins '29 was dressed in ghost attire and served in the capacity of story teller, meeting the story demands of the children in a most delightful way. Peanut hunts and many games added variety to the entertainment. The children also helped, in their way, by singing several little songs which they knew, and in offering to do the Charleston. Refreshments of ice-cream and cake were served shortly before leaving time. If anyone had doubted the success of the afternoon, the words of childish appreciation, the sparkling eyes and the happy smiles of the youngsters at leaving were evidence enough.

championship is going to be ours for another year.

ORGANIZATIONS

The Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity succeeded in moving into their new house on College Avenue in time for their first informal dancing party of the year which took place October 30.

Several Lambda Chi Alpha men from Colby and Boston University were guests of the evening. Professor and Mrs. J. H. Huddilston, Professor and Mrs. Pollard and Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were the chaperones.

On Saturday evening, October 30, an informal dance was held at the Beta Theta Pi house. The committee in charge was Joseph Gay, George Dudley and Hector Lopaus. A Paul Jones and a novelty dance were included in the program.

Music was furnished by the Country Club Orchestra. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. William Mac Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Youngs and Professor and Mrs. Paul D. Bray.

Phi Gamma Delta held an informal dance, Saturday evening, October 30. Snappy music was furnished by Shea's four piece orchestra. The chaperones were Doctor and Mrs. Eyster, and Mr. and Mrs. Buck.

The following officers were elected at a recent meeting of the local branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers:

President, Paul E. Watson; vice-president, Paul Lamoreau; treasurer, B. Poor; secretary, Robert Scott.

This organization meets twice a month and is composed of faculty and students enrolled in the department of electrical engineering.

The purpose of the organization is to promote interest in this branch of technology. Several prominent electrical engineers have consented to deliver talks this winter on different phases of the electrical field. Short papers on this subject will also be presented by various students and by engineers from several industrial plants.

A Halloween house party was given by Sigma Phi Sigma, Saturday night, October 30. The committee in charge of festivities consisted of Henry Trask, Henry Beatty, and Otto White. Ghosts, cats, witches, and Jack-o-lanterns were very effective decorations. Music was furnished by the Island City Five. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Gardiner, and Prof. and Mrs. John Briscoe and Mr. and Mrs. Ashley were guests.

The Halloween idea was cleverly carried out in the order of dances which consisted of a Bat's trot, Owl's trot, Ghost waltz, Pumpkin waltz, and others.

Student assent has been given to the proposal to do away with lectures at Rollins College, Florida. The innovation was proposed by President Hamilton Holt, former editor of The Independent.

Instead of coming to classes for lectures the students will attend to study. The usual 60 minute period will be lengthened to two hours. The students will study in classes under guidance of the professor and in constant consultation with him "the purpose being to place academic life on a more practical basis by placing class attendance on a par with the hours and duties of a business office."

A majority of the students were favorably impressed with the idea; some objections, however, were raised. The principal doubts were as follows: Professors who have not adapted themselves to the changed condition and make use of the two-hour period to deliver an extended lecture, outside work continuing as before; the problem of the working student and that of the athlete who suffers from overstuffed schedules; the necessarily doubled number of conflicts, with their attendant inconveniences, as well as the uncomfortable and impractical conditions of some recitation rooms. A more serious point raised was the question of whether or not so radical a change in college procedure would affect the standing of Rollins in academic circles.

Assurance was given by the faculty that these difficulties would be smoothed out as the plan operates.—New Student.

It does not matter what you bear, but how you bear it.—Epictetus.

The Registrar announces that Thursday, November 11, Armistice Day, will be a holiday.

The Black Bear and the White Bear Fight for Title Saturday

cocting a few new ones to use against Brother Joseph in his own den. According to those in the know, Coach Brice has been handing out a few plays this week in the dark secrecy of the indoor field which ought to completely baffle the wearers of the White if they go off per schedule.

Regarding the make-up of the teams, Bowdoin has, in individual men, a big edge. Cates has adopted the novel policy this fall of having two complete teams, one of which is supposed to be as strong as the other, and the Bowdoin coach can take his complete varsity out at once and replace it with another eleven, said to be just as good. This gives the Polar Bears an edge in replacement material which Maine, with a dearth of suitable substitutes in many positions, will be without. However, the Maine first team showed last week that it could stand the strain of playing through a full game without substitution and, barring possible serious injuries, few will be made this week.

In the matter of weight, Bowdoin again has the advantage, and will outweigh Maine in the line 20 pounds to the man and in the backfield, 15 pounds. Maine's eleven is admitted to be one of the lightest in the history of American football and in the light of this fact its remarkable showing to date is more noteworthy.

Frank Farrington, the Bowdoin captain, needs no introduction to Maine. He is the big Bowdoin threat. But he can be stopped and he was stopped last year in the Maine game. Morrell, Foster, Olmstead are the other Bowdoin backs who will be continual bothers to Maine Saturday. Forsythe, Ecker, and Lancaster in the line will give Maine a busy day.

It will be a great game, with both teams at their best and fighting desperately to avoid being dumped into second place. And, with almost 1800 tickets sold on the campus to students and alumni, it is safe to predict that practically every student and a good share of the faculty will be in the Maine stands to cheer Captain Lamoreau's team on to another victory and another state championship.

First Debate on December First

Eta Kappa. There are more wanted.

There is a third phase of debating that does not seem to be so important but when it is considered that two thirds of the people trying for a place on the present squad were freshmen and that three of these freshmen won places, the importance of the Maine debating league of the Secondary Schools becomes apparent. The question for secondary schools this year is, Resolved: That congress should establish a single department of National Defense, with separate bureaus for Army, Navy and Air forces.

The preliminary debates will take place throughout the state this winter. All affirmative teams will travel, all negative teams debate at home. The finals will take place at Orono.

Who's who in Balentine? Well, Katherine Marvin has an important position this year as assistant physical director. Miss Lengyel appointed her, and it's mighty fine of Kay to work four hours a week developing the frail muscles of freshmen. Katherine is qualified for the position because last year she won the girls' tennis championship. So while Miss Lengyel is busy with hockey, Katherine instructs in tennis. Katherine is a good hockey player too, and was fast on the road to "making" varsity hockey when Dr. Hunt announced that she had a weak heart and must stop playing.

COLUMN RIGHT

Somewhere, amid all the literary trash with which I have bombarded the English department these several years, there is the line "the stately sweep of campus elms and ivy-wreathed ghosts of college halls." That line, more than any other I have ever written, or read, expresses the reason which impels me to go to school. Many days have found me far from Maine, but always there remained, clear yet intangible, illusive yet real, that gripping something which must ever bind my kindest thoughts to school. I am notoriously an unbeliever, my road has always been the strong one of the apostate, and yet, for all my apparent revolt against "the things as they are," if there is one thing that best expresses my philosophy, it is campus elms. Their yearning, upward-sweeping grace, their cool, autumnal serenity, their delicate branches straining upward toward the benediction of the sky, give balm for bitterness, and relief for weary spirits. How benign they are of an October afternoon—how redolent of careless laughter and still more careless youth! What singing hordes of memories the remembrance of them brings to one far from the campus. And then the lights in the Library, shining thru the amber-tinted dusk of a Maine day, the tired banter between homeward bound student and instructor, the note of cosmic sadness underlying the happy voices of a youthful quartet singing about "the Engineers—with the dirt behind their ears"—all the trivial details which help to make bearable the tediousness of textbooks, these are the things that college elms must always mean to me.

M.C.A. Advisory Board Initiated Annual Drive

Last Monday night the advisory board of the Maine Christian Association held a banquet to initiate its drive for funds among faculty members. Professor Janzen, chairman of the advisory board, introduced President Boardman for the first speaker. Henry Trask spoke for the student body, followed by Professor A. D. Graham of Washington, D. C. Mr. A. L. Deering and Mr. Charles Crossland of the finance committee outlined plans for the drive. A total of $160 was subscribed on the spot by the twenty-two faculty members present. Though members of the faculty have usually contributed only about four hundred dollars annually in the past, this year promises a much larger sum to carry on the many important branches of work connected with the Association.

M.L.A. Held Meeting In Brewer Last Week

Last Friday, October 29th, Miss Bowler presided at the meeting of the Maine Library Association in Brewer. This meeting took the form of a round table on Current Literature. Mr. Walkley and Miss Ruth Young of the staff attended other meetings on Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Earlier in the month Mr. and Mrs. Walkley and Miss Bowler attended the meetings of the American Library Association in Atlantic City and Philadelphia. Over fifty delegates from foreign countries were in attendance, to help commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Association. At one of the two "Maine Breakfasts" which Mr. Walkley helped get together, State Librarian Henry E. Dunnack announced that he had discovered that one of the prime movers of the original meeting of the A.L.A. fifty years ago was a native of Maine—C. C. Jewett, who was at one time Librarian of the Smithsonian Institution of Washington.

Have you noticed the bright cuffed corduroy trousers that some of our collegians have affected? Have these trousers been copied from the high school boys from the neighboring towns?

If time be of all things the most precious, wasting time must be the greatest prodigality.—Franklin.

But the proof is in the smoking.

How can we "make good" our claims if you won't test them fairly with your taste! Here's what a fair tryout of OLD GOLD will prove to you:—That a cigarette can have plenty of punch without any punishment. That it can have all the aroma and fragrance in the world without taxing or tiring your tongue or throat. That you can smoke it morning, noon or night . . . as many as you like . . . with maximum enjoyment and without regret or after-effect. Now we leave it to you, Sir:—Isn't it worth a few cents to make these great discoveries?

General Lecture Course Is Interesting

At the first lecture of the general lecture course, Dr. Huddilston pleased the students by announcing that he would not allow any note taking while in attendance. This lecture was given September 29, and was called "Egyptian Art." In this lecture, Dr. Huddilston began by pointing out the new art era in America, mentioning the Lincoln memorial as a most excellent example of real art. Then he retraced his steps from present day art to Greek art. Here special emphasis was placed on the Greek love for fine things and the truth expressed in them. Very little time, however, was taken up before beginning the main subject of the lecture.

Egyptian art began before Confucius and Buddha. It was an experiment in the valley of the Nile. The Egyptians lived by their faith. They desired life above everything else and had a belief that man never dies, but that he carried on. Due to Egypt's isolation, the country grew and developed within itself. Egyptians had faith, and great belief in everything. There is no motion depicted in Egyptian art. It is simple, pure, and unaffected. Indeed no great thing has any characteristics other than poise, fixedness and immobility.

In the second lecture of the series given October 6, Dr. Huddilston gave his attention to the subject of Greek Art. A few years ago he travelled extensively in Greece and studied the Greek masterpieces. His descriptions of the ruins of Greek temples are exceptionally good. One can almost see the marble ruins, mellowed by age, standing out as monuments to that great people of long ago.

The Greeks had the love of the body as their chief inspiration—it was more beautiful than anything else. It was a priceless gift. They studied it carefully and carved statues more beautiful than are produced today. The greatest example of the sculptor's art is Venus de Milo. This relic from the glory that was Greece symbolizes the Greek people—beauty, love, truth.

The Parent and Teachers' Association of Brunswick is to hold a supper at the Odd Fellows Hall on Pleasant Street after the Bowdoin game, November 6. Big supper, including beans, thirty-five cents.

New Worm Discovered By Maine Scientists

In a recent interview with Mr. C. R. Phipps, associate entomologist at the Maine Experiment Station, it was learned that the department has recently completed a series of important investigations relating to the blueberry cut-worm, and other destructive insect pests.

Not only have the activities of these cut-worms been checked in Washington County, and other sections of Maine but an entirely new species has been discovered. The originality of this species is confirmed by leading entomologists in all of the various stations throughout the country. The new species has been called Thip. It greatly resembles the familiar class of mites, although its habits are similar to that of the cut-worm. It feeds partly upon leaves, and uses them also to form a shelter.

The familiar red-backed cut-worm has recently received much attention. This dominant insect not only feeds upon blueberries alone but also destroys peas and oats in large quantities. The department has successfully traced the life cycle of this insect and has found that a mixture of bran and paris green is the most effective method of extermination.

An annual loss of over $100,000 has resulted from these cut-worms, mites, and thips since blueberry raising and canning became an important commercial industry. The work of these destructive pests is often mistaken for the effect of early frosts and blights.

Mr. Phipps also stated that the department is now busily engaged upon an investigation of the leaf beetle. This little insect formerly inhabited only beech leaves but has recently attacked apple orchards in Winthrop. This change of diet makes further research necessary in order to control the pest.

Maine Masque Has Interesting History

Evolving from the Dramatic Club of 1907 and the Maine Dramatic Club of 1910, the Maine Masque has in the nineteen years of its existence made an earnest effort to present the best of dramas at the University. Three plays are produced annually on the campus at the present time, and the plan of having these plays produced in various towns and cities throughout the state will soon be revived and carried out as it was in the past.

The Dramatic Club was founded by Professor Windsor Daggett, as a natural outgrowth of a course in vocal expression. "As You Like It" was the first play produced and the rehearsals were held in Coburn Hall. The first performance was given in Brewer City Hall on May 17, of that year. In 1910, the Club was dissolved and the Maine Masque was organized. After several years of Shakespearean plays, the Masque tired of this type of play and began the production of popular plays. In 1914 the first out-of-state play to be given was Moliere's "Les Femmes Savantes" in Methuen, Mass. During the war nothing was done, but in 1921 activities were again assumed and the "School for Scandal" was selected for production. Up to this time all parts in the various casts were taken by male students, and it was in this play that women were included for the first time. The Domino, a women's dramatic organization formed in 1920, was merged into the Masque last year, so that membership is now open to all students.

Colleges throughout the country maintain some form of dramatic societies, and in a few instances these are so highly developed that they are almost considered professional. At Maine, conditions have as yet, not reached the stage where the present society can be called professional in any sense of the word. One of the great handicaps which they have been forced to overcome has been the attitude toward dramatics, both throughout the state and at the University. This indifference can be traced back to the time when the Arts and Science College was having a difficult time to maintain its existence.

Despite the feeling toward such activities, a few students organized and with the courage of their convictions as their only asset, produced their first play. A group of skeptics attended that performance, provided with lemons and ready contempt. Needless to say, the lemons remained concealed and brilliant applause took the place of any doubts which they had.

For several years after its inception, the Masque remained the leading organization on the campus, but recent years have developed many features of university life which has left it a less conspicuous figure than it was in the beginning. It still linked however, with those activities which aim to contribute something toward the creative and artistic inspiration of the student. It has aimed to stage plays popular enough to appeal to all classes, and classic enough to merit study. The Masque has been the means of encouraging those interested in dramatics to develop whatever talents they might have. Probably the most outstanding example of this is Malcolm E. Fassett, '10, who at the present time is an eminent playwright and producer in New York.

President and Mrs. Harold S. Boardman held a reception at their home on October 21. All the faculty and the matrons of the fraternity houses and dormitories were invited. The house was charmingly decorated with pink and yellow chrysanthemums.

The stag at eve

THIS fellow missed out on a heavy date tonight by the close margin of one phone-call. But don't waste pity on him. He has his jimmy-pipe and a tidy red tin of Prince Albert . . . grand little pals in time of stress.

When that cool, comforting smoke comes curling up the pipe-stem, troubles evanesce with every puff. For P. A. is The National Joy Smoke in fact as well as phrase. Cool as a money-lender. Sweet as a check from home. Fragrant as a pine-grove on a damp morning.

You'll like Prince Albert better than any other tobacco you ever packed into a pipe. You'll like the friendly way it treats your tongue and throat. You'll like the way it helps you over the rough spots. Buy a tidy red tin today and see!

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

"Applesauce" To Be Given By Chautauqua This Year

Activity on the part of the local Chautauqua committee of which Lawrence Cogswell is chairman this year, has already begun. The dates for this year's Three Joyous Days have been announced as November 17, 18, 19, and tickets are on sale from any of the guarantors, adult tickets costing $2.00. Season tickets are not on sale after the opening of Chautauqua and as they represent a big saving over the cost of single admissions to each entertainment the committee advises that all orders be placed as early as possible.

The program for this year includes three musical concerts, two by the Artells Dickson Concert Company, and one full evening by the Lowell Patton Artists, this being the closing program. On the opening night comes an inspiring and informing address by a former newspaper editor, Charles Howard Plattenburg, entitled "The Modern Tale of Two Cities." There are three entertainment numbers, Charles Ross Taggart, "The Old Country Fiddler" on the second afternoon in a program of musical and entertainment novelties, and the three act comedy-drama "Applesauce" which occupies the full time on the second evening.

This is said to make up a well rounded program of numbers to fit varying tastes and as all the individuals and companies to appear have made their reputations of several years standing on the other circuits of the Swarthmore Chautauqua Association that organization vouches for their ability to give entire satisfaction.

Season tickets may be obtained in a few days from any of the following guarantors:

Two Maine men were spilled and Osgood again was the only one left to stop him. And stop him he did after chasing him 65 yards.

Captain O'Donnell was the mainstay in the Colby line but found plenty of opposition in plucky Joe Simons. There were no outstanding stars on the Maine team except perhaps Osgood and Peakes. The line was especially strong on the defense, standing up very well under the insistent hammering of Drummond and Rogers.

The Maine team came thru the game without any severe injuries, and started practice Monday with a scrimmage. The team was in the pink of condition, only one substitution being made.

Bridgton: Hawkes for Doyle, Bolduc for Graham, Swift for Mardosa, Graham for Joyce, Juncu for Deetjen, Bornstein for Juneau.

Touchdowns, Moran, 2; Moore, Bornstein. Point after touchdown, Zakarian, 2; Bornstein.

Referee, Kent, Maine. Umpire, Brice, Maine. Headlinesman, Hitchner, Penn State. Time, 10-12; 10-12.

Moyer, Moran, Moore and Zakarian played well for the freshmen, while Captain Vail and Tsailles played a steady game. Bornstein was the outstanding star for Bridgton.

The freshmen came thru a tough schedule with only one defeat. Millinocket was the first victim, being beaten 16-6. Then Kent's Hill was taken into camp 3-0. The next game, played at Durham, was lost to the New Hampshire plebes by a 19-13 score, and the final set-to with Bridgton was a 20-7 victory.

The team as a whole played good football; the line being exceptionally strong and the backfield versatile. Moore's punting was one of the big assets of the team, as was Zakarian's drop kicking. The

gave a very snappy and interesting speech on our duty to the team. He said if the students would root one hundred per cent, the team would win one hundred per cent.

After the rally, the crowd adjourned to the bonfire which was outside the west door of the Armory. The sororities turned out better than the fraternities in the fraternity singing but both were good. The awkward squad was very proficient in the art of wrong drilling and called forth many laughs from the audience. After the singing the crowd adjourned to their respective houses and dance halls for the completion of the night's festivities.

Upon great generators which send out current to light the homes and carry the burdens of millions, you will find the G-E monogram. Upon industrial motors, on electric railway trains—wherever quality and unfailing performance are first essentials—the G-E monogram will be found.

A series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

At Forty

"At Forty" the housewife in some sections of Europe wears a black bonnet to signify the end of her youth. A quaint custom—you say—but it usually signifies a fact. Heavy tasks, indoors and out, have made her old—at forty.

Of all the uses of electricity in America, the most important are those which release the woman from physical drudgery. Electricity carries water, washes clothes, cleans carpets, cooks the family's food—better and quicker than could be done by hand.

A trip to town or an hour's rest in the afternoon pays a woman dividends in good health "at forty years." And what is youth but that?

Men and women who have had the benefit of college training and college life have learned to place the proper value upon rest and recreation. They appreciate the relief afforded by electricity.
