MASQUE PLAY IS GREAT SUCCESS

"OUTWARD BOUND" PROVES DRAMATIC ABILITY OF CAST

On Thursday evening, December 13, the Maine Masque presented Sutton Vane's "Outward Bound" in the Chapel. To say that the play, as presented, was a success, would be to mildly express the sentiments of all those who attended. With courage, the Masque attempted to produce a very difficult piece, both from a dramatic standpoint and from the use of proper settings and atmosphere. The cast included many new faces to those who have witnessed Masque plays in the past.

It is rather difficult to cite any particular one person who might be called the "star." Miss Polly Hall, who made her debut to Maine dramatics, as Mrs. Midget, was exceptionally well cast and handled her part with almost professional ability. Miss "Jo" Patterson, as Ann, after two acts as a background figure, suddenly came forward in the last act, and gave one of the most dramatic performances ever seen on the Maine stage. Miss "Kay" Buck, as the world-wise, self-centered Mrs. Cliveden-Banks, carried her part with a naturalness and perfect ease throughout the entire play, and showed the results of careful study. Mr. Walkley, as Tom Prior, also made his first appearance in this play, and succeeded in carrying over, with reasonable success, what was probably the most difficult part in the play. Mr. Beckwith, as Lingley, a mercenary business man, was well cast, and showed himself capable of handling any difficult parts which may come up in the future. Mr. Birch, as Scrubby, has appeared in Masque plays before and is well known for his previous performances, but it goes without saying that this was probably his best portrayal. Mr. Pierce, as Rev. Thompson, presented his part so well, that we can almost assume that the ministry will be his future calling. Mr. Wheeler, as Rev. Duke, remained, as his part called for, passive throughout, counter-balancing the restless disposition of Tom Prior.

To say that "so-and-so" gave a very good performance, is to offer the highest compliment possible. It is no easy task for students to appear before people with whom they live, and dropping their daily masks, take up one prescribed by the author of the play. It is a difficult thing to so forget the hundreds of eyes, always watching for the first break, that the part

FROSH HOOPMEN OPEN SEASON FRIDAY NIGHT

WILL FACE FAST BAR HARBOR QUINTET

The freshman basketball team will open their season by playing Bar Harbor High in the gymnasium Friday night. Although this will be the first time the yearlings have played as a team, and have had less than a month of practice, Coach Kenyon is confident of victory. The corners and rough spots have been smoothed down. Catchy trick plays, worked out by Kenyon, will be featured by the offense, backed by a stone wall defense. In addition nearly all of the squad have gained renown on their prep school teams. A lot of dependence can be placed on the boys for long shots. Bar Harbor's team, however, is not to be sneezed at. They have played several games and put in a long season of practice.

Coach Kenyon says that in accordance with his fundamental principles of basketball, he intends to play as many men as time and circumstances permit. Dow, the most outstanding center, unfortunately received injuries at last Tuesday's practice but will probably start. Sylvester, who is doing good work in the same position will probably play in the course of the evening. Millington and Kent will

WOMEN HOLD RALLY

Girls Athletics Have Advanced Greatly Since a Few Years Ago

Wednesday December 15, there was an athletic rally held in the Balentine gymnasium. Faculty manager of athletics, Kent and Clare Brown gave speeches. "It is a novelty to have a man say anything at a women's athletic rally," pointed out the Women's A. A. president. Brown replied that perhaps it was a novelty for a man to say anything but at any rate the men were all in favor of girls athletics.

A few years ago women who wished to be athletes were laughed at. To-day an "M" means as much to a girl as to a man. She trains faithfully. The reward is well earned. Under the direction of Miss Lengyel, girls athletics have become one of the important factors of girls life on the campus. The hockey team with "Lib" Sawyer as captain, made a record for Maine women in other states and incidentally has made the campus population sit up and take notice. Miss Lengyel has raised the standing of athletics greatly and too much praise can not be given her.

Dean Colvin said that she wished to see Maine women play games with other Maine colleges.

Some songs worthy of note were sung at the rally. Last year in Balentine there was an athletic song contest. First prize was won by Dorice Bennett, a senior of '25. She composed both words and music. Her song is:

CONTEST OF BOYS AND GIRLS CLUBS ENDED LAST SATURDAY

169 PRESENT AT MEETING

The thirteenth annual contest of boys' and girls' clubs came to an end last Saturday evening with a banquet. A large delegation from every county of the state was present at this meeting which was under the general direction of Mr. Lester Shibles, state club leader in the University extension service. The total registration was 169.

At the banquet Dean Leon S. Merrill of the College of Agriculture awarded the certificates to the state champions, every one of whom was in attendance. Five of the state champions had previously won at least one such honor before. William Blaisdell of Franklin carried away honors in the canning project for the third time, being the only club member who has ever won three championships in the state. Eula Rasmussen of Caribou stood first in cooking and housekeeping; Walter Woodbury of North Belgrade, chick raising; Mildred A. Luce of Farmington, dairy; Eldred Harmon of Scarborough, garden; Howard Pease, Jr. of East Wilton, sweet corn; Evelyn Staples of South Penobscot, pig; Ronald Keddy of Bethel, poultry management; Alfred Dolloff of Standish, potatoes; Margaret Urquhart, of Scarborough, room improvement; Mabel Traiton of Green Ridge, sewing.

MR. GARDINER'S TALK

In the afternoon the speech of Hon. William Tudor Gardiner, was received most enthusiastically. His talk was well adapted to boys and girls and contained many very practical suggestions which if followed would lead the boys and girls to success. "You have already proved that you are leaders, but remember the fact that you are leaders does not make you any better than anyone else. A good leader first of all orders his own affairs and evaluates the things of life properly."

He congratulated the delegates in having achieved success in their several projects and referred to the fact that they were representatives of some four thousand club members in Maine and a half a million in the United States.

"If you want to make a good contribu-

SENIOR CANE SAMPLES ARRIVE

WILL BE DISPLAYED AT ALUMNI HALL

The senior cane committees have received sample canes with the silver "2M7" mountings which the chairmen designed.

The committees are to meet this week to plan the method of ordering, distributing, and financing which is to be followed. The two canes with the silver design are to be displayed in the bulletin case at the entrance to Alumni Hall. A class meeting is to be held later to determine if the canes chosen by the committees meet with general approval.

It is hoped that the canes will be ready for distribution not later than the spring vacation, or earlier if the class so desires.

The wearing of canes during the latter part of the senior year is an old and dignified custom at Maine and many unique designs and colors have made their appearance in them. A favorite but clumsy design thirteen or fourteen years ago was a cane with "Bolivar's" head. Bolivar was then Maine's mascot.

The canes this year are to be conservative and of a good quality of wood. The girls may depart from the straight swagger sticks, which has been made common by wholesale distribution at county fairs and dance halls, to a smart natural wood cane with a celluloid crook handle similar to those worn by women in England.

Men's committee: Edward Engel, Eugene Scribner, Clayton Sylvester, Caddy Atkins, Freddy Armes.

Girls' committee: Ruth Hitchings, Edith O'Connor, Edith Merchant, Helen Peabody, Mae Kirk.

TRIBESMEN ELECT CHIEF

Penobscots Uphold Old Custom

A number of students were present at the bi-annual election of the Penobscot Indians at Old Town. Newel Tomar was elected to the office of governor to serve a term of two years. Along with the new chief were chosen Lester Bassett, lieutenant governor; and Francis Ronco, policeman. L. J. Ketchell is the representative of the tribe in the legislature.

Chief Tomar is one of the head tribesmen, a young man, expert basket maker, canoeist and guide. He and a companion paddled a canoe from the Island to Plymouth, Mass. several years ago. He has spent a number of summers at Poland Springs and has made the acquaintance of many distinguished people. He is a fine type of the Penobscot Indians, well versed in Indian tradition and lore; and as governor, will be strongly in favor of advancement for his people in every way.

After the election, according to traditional custom, native dances were held, and all the bucks dressed up in their best regalia and went through the ceremonies handed down by the aborigines.

A great powwow was held in the new Party hall and everyone on the Island was there. The older members of the tribe gave exhibitions of the old dances, some of which dated back hundreds of years. Then the younger generation took over the floor to the moaning of the jazz orchestra and became ultra-modern fox-trotters and Charleston experts.

MAINE REPRESENTED AT MILWAUKEE CONFERENCE

Among the delegates who attended the Christian Conference at Milwaukee last week were: Bill Wilson, Paul Lamoreau, Virginia Smith, Robert Parks, Fred Thompson, Carroll Osgood, Rev. Metzner of Orono, and Doctor Janzen.

The Maine group left Sunday night and met other New England groups in Boston. The party left on a special train, via Buffalo and Chicago, arriving in Milwaukee Tuesday afternoon, just in time to attend the opening of the convention.

The forenoon meetings were opened with a devotional service and followed by a general meeting, which later broke up into several discussion groups. The afternoon meetings were also divided between general meetings and discussion groups, while a large open meeting was attended by all in the evening.

The conference was quite a success; 3,000 delegates from all over the United States and from foreign countries adding to the cosmopolitan air.

Kirby Page, the famous author and editor, spoke on War, and several men, among them two negroes, spoke on race relations. The general conclusion to these discussions was that the easiest way for peace in the future was to adhere to the Golden Rule.

Rev. G. A. Studdert of London, and Rev. Reinhold Niebuhr of Detroit spoke on "The Relation between Science and Religion" and "The Ethical Civilization we Live In." Dr. Lew of Pekin, China, spoke on "How Christians make Christianity Difficult in the Orient."

Among the questions in general discussion were: "Interpreting God," "The Possibility of Finding God," and "The Necessity of Finding God."

The Maine delegation is well pleased with the outcome of the convention and enjoyed exchanging ideas and facts with the delegates from other universities. All have returned except Secretary Wilson who is attending a secretarial convention in Chicago.

Firovanti O. Minuitti, varsity tackle who is convalescing from an attack of pneumonia returned to his home in South Berwick on New Year's Day. His physician states that although he will not be allowed to return to college this year he will probably be in condition to play football next fall.

RELAY TEAM FACES STRONG COMPETITION IN TRIANGULAR MEET

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY AND B. U. TO BE OPPONENTS IN B. A. A. GAMES

On Tuesday of this week the following men reported for the Relay team: Captain Rounsville, Dan Torrey, Doc Porter, Cy Cogswell, Matthew Williams, Fred Thompson, Win Niles, Ralph Hill and Harry Murray.

Capt. Rounsville, if he becomes eligible, will head the team, running anchor. The next best man will be Dan Torrey, veteran of several seasons, who has run several fast races in his career at school. Win Niles, a sophomore, is showing up well. At the Christmas Handicap he won the 440 yard run starting from a three yard handicap. Doc Porter, winner of the quarter mile last spring is another strong contender for a position on the team, he already has turned in one of the fastest time trials of the year. Fred Thompson is going better than ever and is quite sure of a position. Cy Cogswell, Matthew Williams, Harry Murray, and Ralph Hill will make the above named men do their best work to retain their positions.

The first meet of the season, as known now, is the B.A.A. Meet in Boston February 5. Maine shall not face her traditional rival this year, M.I.T., but instead shall compete against New York University and Boston University in a triangular meet. B. U. at present is shaping up a strong aggregation but Coach Kanaly has confidence that he has material for a fast quartette that will make them all step.

A meet against some team at the K. of C. games is being arranged now. This is to be the 22nd of this month at Boston. There is to be a special mile run the same night. Time trials for this event are to be held soon to determine who shall represent Maine. Taylor is the most promising.

FORMER TRUSTEE DIES IN BOSTON

HON. FRANK E. GUERNSEY STRICKEN WITH HEART FAILURE

Hon. Frank E. Guernsey of Dover-Foxcroft, former trustee of the University, died at the Massachusetts General Hospital last Saturday morning. Death was immediately due to heart failure, and followed a considerable period of ill health. It became so serious that, gravely alarmed, he went some weeks ago to the Massachusetts General Hospital, hoping the treatment of experts would relieve him. It did not do so, and a fortnight ago he went for further treatment to New York. Still failing to obtain relief he returned to the Massachusetts hospital about a week ago, where the end came unexpectedly Saturday morning.

Mr. Guernsey was a native of Piscataquis county and practiced law there since 1890. He served as a representative to the Maine legislature and to the State Senate. He was an impressive speaker, and was successful in both business and political affairs, being an officer in several industrial enterprises and a member of the 60th to 64th Congresses from the Fourth Maine district.

He is survived by Mrs. Guernsey, and son Thompson, who graduated from the University last June and is now studying law at Harvard.

"Outward Bound"

To the people who occupied the first ten rows of seats, "Outward Bound" was the best play produced on the campus in the last four years. Back of the first ten rows, the people in the audience were too busy twisting and stretching their necks to fully appreciate the play. It has always been this way; the floor in the chapel has always been level. Whether the architect knew no better or if he was pressed to design the floor this way we do not know.

What we do know is that if dramatics are not to pass out of existence entirely some change will have to be made in the seating arrangement so as to give the floor a slant. People would rather go to a mediocre vaudeville show in Bangor or the usual movies in Orono than to see a well presented drama from the level chapel floor. Seventy-five cents, although a pittance to pay for a real theater seat, is too much to pay for the privilege of sitting on a rickety folding chair in the chapel. The lack of proper attendance bears this out.

Unfortunately, there is not enough interest in this extra-curricular activity to permit the employment of three paid coaches, a faculty manager and stenographer, compulsory paid in advance admission, and "the biggest auditorium in the country."

Perhaps a sum can be deflected from the recent generous endowments to permit a remodeling of the chapel. A chapel or auditorium large enough to seat the entire student body would be most acceptable but small hope can be held out for this dream until the buildings now under construction are completed and a new power plant is in operation. However, remodeling the chapel seems feasible. Slanting the floor and installing permanent seats would help matters greatly. Closing off the rear quarter of the floor (where only pompous speakers' voices penetrate) and building a balcony over half of the remaining floor would help acoustics.

The Lost and Found Department has recently restored to the owners a watch, pocket book, several fountain pens, note books and text books, glasses, and two slide rules. There are at present three fountain pens, a pocket book, keys, and several text books unclaimed.

Articles which have been found and for which no owner has been located, will be returned to the finder after two weeks.

(McGill Daily)

Since the war colleges and collegiate education have been very much in the lime-light. In novels, books of discussion, magazine articles, newspaper articles, on the stage and the screen, they are being constantly attacked and defended, sometimes by the broadsword method, and sometimes that of the rapier, and not infrequently by the bare fist mode of argument.

However, the most popular method is by machine-gun fire. The idea being to place the instrument on a pivot, and then with efficiency and dispatch, train it in turn on the colleges, their principals, their faculties, student bodies, athletics, and everything connected with higher education.

Most of these attacks make lively, humorous reading; and although it is a waste of time, sometimes it is engaging to be the subject of a microscopic examination. The clothes, the actions, the speech, the slang, the habits, the mannerisms of college men, are constantly being attacked as being extravagant, and then being adopted.

It may seem strange, but it is a fact that the clothes worn by a popular rugby player, or campus idol are imitated by the students. But where is the sin in that?

Colleges in America have been censured because of the lack of selection of students. It is said that there are many at college who have not sufficient intelligence to be educated. But this true or otherwise; at the university as in every walk of life there are some undesirables.

What we complain about is this. Why pick on the college? In every shop, in every office, there are small pegs trying to fill large holes; and square pegs trying to fill round holes. This no doubt is regrettable, but it is life.

Home Ec. Club To Run Dance

The Home Economics Club is again trying to earn money to buy new furnishings for North Hall. The girls have purchased several pieces of furniture and hope to use the proceeds of a dance, to be given this week-end, to pay the next installment.

The dance, which is to be stag, will take place in the gymnasium, Saturday evening, January 8.

Music will be furnished by the Troubadours.

Tickets are to be placed on sale and will be distributed to each fraternity house on campus.

Intra-Mural Chooses Officials

The following officials have been chosen by the Intra-Mural Association to referee all the preliminary games.

"Fitz" Fitzhugh, Northern League games.

"Fat" Wasgett, Middle League games.

"Bob" Durrell, Southern League games.

Fraternity houses will not be required to select their own officials hereafter.

Games scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday of each week shall begin at 7:00 P.M. Each team shall play in the order scheduled, completing their game with an intermission of seven minutes between halves, doing away with the custom of having the first game play a half to be replaced by the second game.

The fraternity teams must be prepared to begin at seven sharp or forfeit the game. If neither team is prepared at that time it constitutes a loss on both sides.

On Saturday the games shall start at 2:00 P.M. The method of procedure shall be the same as on Tuesday and Thursday, as well as the enforcement of forfeiture of games. After each game the following teams shall have ten minutes in which to practice before starting to play.

The Beta Kappa fraternity have decided not to enter a team in the Intra-Mural basketball series for this season, thereby forfeiting all its games scheduled with other fraternities in the southern league.

Winners of each league will be notified when the finals will be run off.

The Press Defends The College Man and College Education

(Editor and Publisher)

Shifting his cigar to the other side of his mouth the typical Pullman car operator confidently tells you that the Volstead Act put hard liquor on the hips of the college boys of the nation, that prohibition has debauched our youth, and that the old corner saloon was to be preferred to present bootleg conditions.

The man who thus parades his sophistication may be sincere and absolutely convinced but if you were suddenly to ask him where he got his information he would not be able to tell you, beyond citing some story that somebody told somebody or recalling some incident he had read.

PHI BETA SEEKS ENDOWMENT FUND

It is fitting that the honorary society of Phi Beta Kappa, in commemoration of its 150th anniversary, should undertake a nation-wide campaign to restore respect for scholarship and to promote more inspirational teaching. The Society seeks to establish an endowment fund providing annual awards for distinction in teaching as well as attainment in scholarship, and is now asking her 50,000 members to reach the goal of $1,000,000 by her birthday—December 5th. It is a call which every wearer of the golden key should be prompt to heed.

To her fifty founders the Society will dedicate the new Memorial Hall at the College of William and Mary, and has appropriated one hundred thousand dollars for this part of the program. Interesting memorabilia will be preserved in the hall, which is to be a charming and much-needed center where members can gather from all parts of the country in that same fraternity spirit which characterized the first delightful meetings at old Raleigh Tavern, in Williamsburg.

Answering the need voiced by nearly a hundred college presidents recently for more inspirational teachers, the Society is offering a Grand Prize of $10,000 a year for distinction in teaching, as well as numerous smaller awards and grants. This seems like a big step in the right direction, for not only will this program stimulate interest among students and faculties but it will tend to focus public attention upon teaching ideals. In proportion as the public comes to regard teaching as a high art will it be possible to draw to the profession men and women possessing that "contagious intellectual" so much sought for by college heads.

The Press Defends the College Man and College Education

never has been true. It is a fake that should have been nailed long ago. The story has always been suspected since it runs counter to the experience of the average man. This writer, for instance, has dozens of young friends of college age, and not one is a flask drinker; indeed, the idea of trying to mix booze and study is much more repugnant to these lads than it was to our own schoolmates at a time when a boy could get a drink of whisky over the bar from a conscienceless dive-keeper for 10 cents or a schooner of heavy beer for five.

Two hundred college and university heads have recently been questioned by Literary Digest and their almost unanimous testimony is that drinking in the colleges among the younger generation has vastly decreased under prohibition. They prove that the student body of today is of a much higher moral and intellectual standard than any generation in the days of booze and beer. Their statements are based on statistics and indisputable facts.

Young American men and women have been cruelly libelled. For years the abuse has continued. Some newspapers have given color to it by the publication of isolated cases of college drinking coupled with the implication that the evil is general. But this false charge against youth has been mainly spread by irresponsible lips. We are delighted to see that the lie is at last being authoritatively refuted.

"The fact is, that civilization requires slaves. The Greeks were quite right there. Unless there are slaves to do the ugly, horrible, uninteresting work, culture and contemplation become almost impossible. Human slavery is wrong, insecure, and demoralizing. On mechanical slavery, on the slavery of the machine, the future of the world depends."

—Oscar Wilde

SLAVES

In a quarter-century the General Electric Company has produced electric motors having a total of more than 350,000,000 man-power. Electric light, heat, and transportation have also contributed their part to the freeing of men. These are America's slaves. Through their service American workers do more, earn more, and produce quality goods at lower cost than anywhere else in the world.

The college-trained man is the first to grasp these facts which raise man from a mere source of physical power to be a director of power, thus realizing the true economic value of the human mind.

You will find this monogram on all kinds of electrical machinery. To insure quality, ask for it on equipment when you buy for factory, office, or home.

A series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-18.

Masque Play Is Great Success

can be played with a naturalness and correct character portrayal. Each person in the play was well cast and this is what probably contributed most to its success. On so many occasions, plays are apt to become mere recitals of words, and the Masque has not been entirely free from this handicap in the past. It might have been the lack of proper working materials, the lack of interest on the part of the students in attending performances, or hurried and half-hearted rehearsals. Whatever it was has been overcome. "Outward Bound" has proved this. The fighting effects used ably proved also, that a play is not wholly made by its actors.

start as forwards. Since they are tall and fast, they can be depended upon to cover the floor and do fine work under the hoops. Levensalor and Abbot will probably have the defense end of the game. Both are fast and aggressive, and together with their teammates will make up a fast and cooperating outfit.

The present line up, subject to change is:

tion to an effort to boost the state of Maine do what you can to improve the appearance of our farms and farming country. As public citizens, we should take great pride in presenting to the passers on our highways places as spick and span as we are able.

"There is no reason to feel that farming has a dismal outlook in Maine. We have the highest percent of farms free from mortgage of any state in the Union and the lowest percent of tenant farmers. This means that the state of Maine is a good place to live in and good to live on a farm."

In closing Mr. Gardiner suggested that work must be intelligent, not merely toil, and that nothing comes without hard work. Prosperity will never be found rolled up in front of boys and girls was what they should bear in mind constantly. The importance of the emblem of the four leaf clover and the 4-H's thereon which give the name of 4-H to the club's health to be able, hands to build, heads to plan and hearts to cherish.

Women Hold Rally

"We're on our way to victory, Victory for Maine. Striving to win and add new glory to her name.

We'll never yield until we've fought, Fought with all our might. We're going to win Maine, so Fight, fight, fight."

Second prize went to Daphne Winslow, this year's A. A. president. It is sung to the tune of "The Orange and the Black."

"Altho Bates has always favored The garnet and the gray, And to students of old Bowdoin The black and white hold sway,

"Tis the blue and white we cherish And hold above the rest, For it stands for M-A-I-N-E And is by far the best."

"They may cheer the mule of Colby The dog of Bowdoin too But it is to our "Bananas" We will stand forever true Let them give their yells with fervor, Let them shout with all their might; Let them stand no chance for victory, So fight 'em, fight, Maine, fight."

Miss Lengyel was the last speaker at the rally. She declared that scholarship athletics should go together. As well as developing an athlete, training should develop the woman to be a scholar and leader, capable of instructing others well after she leaves college. She urged higher scholastic standing among women students of the university regardless of other activities.

"You waste too much time just sitting around," she declared.

Faculty Members Attend Convention

Many faculty members and students were in attendance at the meeting of the Modern Language Association at Cambridge, Mass., December 28-31. The English Department was represented by Professors H. M. Ellis, J. W. Draper, A. M. Turner, Percie T. Turner, W. I. Zeitler, I. T. Richards, and Miss Anna J. Mill. Miss Josephine Tucker, Miss Emily Pendleton and Miss Vena Field; the Spanish Department by Professor R. M. Peterson and Julius Berzanza; the German Department by Professor Walter French.

Dean George D. Chase attended meetings of the American Philological Association and the Linguistic Society of America, which were held at Cambridge at the same time.

Theta Chi held an informal party on December 17 at their chapter house. There were two novelty dances, one of which was a hockey dance during which hockey whips, caps, and confetti were distributed. Cobby O'Brien's orchestra furnished the music. Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Weatherbee, the matron, acted as chaperones.

A record which few fraternities are able to boast of has been made by the students living at the home of Mrs. George Bridges on Beach Street, Orono, when six of the eight undergraduates received the honor of making the Dean's List. Those making the high grades were Grace Bridges '27, Waldron E. Fernald '27, Ralph J. Swift '27, Alexander F. Waldron '27, Raymond E. Tobey '27, and Frank W. McCann.

Another interesting fact concerning Deans' List makers is that of the representation of the three Matthews sisters of Hampden Highlands—Annette '27, and Rebecca and Rachael, both members of the freshman class.

"Waiter, would you mind shutting off that fan?"

"Not at all, sir. Too much draft, sir?"

"Oh, it isn't that. I wish to get the full value of this cheese I ordered."

Camel attracts the quality smoker

CAREFUL observation will reveal that men of quality demand quality in a cigarette—smoke Camels. A Camel smoker goes straight to the point in cigarettes and demands enjoyment.

For there are no better tobaccos or blending than you get in Camels. There is no other cigarette taste and fragrance that can compare with Camels, because they are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown. In a cigarette, as in the smoker, there is nothing that can substitute for quality.

If you want to know what experienced smokers like, just try Camels. Each year new millions try them all and find in Camels enjoyment realized. Camels never tire the taste. To test the quality of Camels, compare them with any cigarette made regardless of price. "Have a Camel!"
