BRICE'S BALL TEAM TAKES SERIES LEAD WITH TWO VICTORIES

BATES AND BOWDOIN FALL BEFORE MAINE IN GAMES OF OPPOSITE NATURE

TUFTS DEFEAT REVENGED

MAINE LEAGUE STANDING

	Won	Lost	Per cent
Maine	3	0	1.000
Bates	1	1	.500
Bowdoin	1	2	.333
Colby	1	3	.250

Brice's ball team, after being shut out by Tufts, turned around and tacked a shutout on Bates 2-0, and a day later turned back the Housermen from Bowdoin 18-10 in the weirdest game of ball in many a day.

Monday, Hay Crozier pitching one of the greatest games of his college career, held Bates to two hits and no runs. Eliot Small of Bates, highest batter in the East only garnered one hit from Crozier's delivery. Small pitched a good game for Bates only allowing Maine six hits. He had perfect support in his team, they playing errorless ball while the Maine team made two errors.

Maine scored in the first when Durrell got on base by being hit. Crozier sacrificed him along. He advanced to third on a pass ball thru Watkins and scored on Nanigian's clean hit to the field.

Maine again scored in the sixth when Crozier landed on a ball for a three base hit. Carleton Hackett then did a Captain's job by knocking out a single and scoring Crozier.

In a freak game of baseball played on Alumni Field Tuesday, Maine defeated Bowdoin 18-10. It wasn't a baseball game, but a hit-run-dropball-run game. It was suggested that hurdles be placed between the bases to make the base-running harder. Overthrows, errors and stolen bases featured the performance. Meserve who killed a pretty home run hit to a triple by Gray showed his speed twice more and stole home.

The first inning was forty minutes long. Bowdoin started by scoring three runs. It looked doubtful for Maine at first. Then the Pale Blue boys started and nine runs later they stopped. The second inning saw more scoring and the third still more. After that the scoring stopped except for one lone tally in the eighth by Bowdoin when Urban scored Lord on a triple.

WOMEN'S A. A. HOLDS 4TH ANNUAL PICNIC

LETTERS AND NUMERALS AWARDED ATHLETES

The Women's A. A. held their fourth annual picnic Tuesday afternoon and evening on the banks of the Stillwater near Gilman falls. The first truck left the campus at two o'clock and was followed by another at three-thirty. Three events of the track meet took place in the afternoon, the shot-put, the javelin, and the high jump. The day was warm; the water was not very cold, so the swimmers took to the river. One brave girl did a bare-back riding stunt on an ill-tempered horse. The act was very short. With the arrival of the last truck, the hungry crowd toasted steaks over open fires, and ate immense quantities of rolls and doughnuts. When everyone had fully satisfied their appetites, Miss Lengyel took charge of the party, and letters and numerals were awarded to those who had earned them during the school year.

To Daphne Winslow and Elizabeth Sawyer, in reward for the accumulation of one thousand points in athletics, the Women's Athletic Association awarded the final emblem, leather shields of light blue and dark blue with the Maine seal.

The following received letters in varsity basketball:

DR. ELLIS ANNOUNCES SUMMER INSTRUCTORS

TWELVE ARE COMING HERE FROM OTHER INSTITUTIONS

A list of twelve visiting instructors from other institutions, who are to teach in the 1927 Summer Session of the University of Maine, was made public today by Dr. H. M. Ellis, Director of the Summer Session.

Four of these are members of the State Department of Education at Augusta: Deputy State Commissioner Bertram E. Packard, and State Agents Josiah W. Taylor, and Richard Jesse Libby are to conduct units in the Comprehensive Course in School Administration. Mr. Taylor will lead the group studying the High School, Mr. Libby that in Rural Education, and Commissioner Packard Administrative Problems.

In French, Professor Benjamin Mather Woodbridge, Head of the Department of Romance Languages in Reed College, Oregon, is going to assist Professor Kueny. Professor Woodbridge has Bachelor's, Master's and Doctor's degrees from Harvard and has studied at the University of Paris. He has taught at George Washington University, Colorado College, University of Texas, and Rice Institute before going to Reed, and is author of one of the Johns Hopkins University Studies in Romance Languages. Professor Woodbridge will give courses in Elementary and Advanced French and in Elementary Conversation and Composition.

As previously announced, Howard Watson Flack, Physical Director of the Sapulpa, Oklahoma, Schools will have charge of the men's athletic and coaching courses in Football, Track, and Basketball, and of the course in Methods and Materials of Physical Education. Mr. (Continued on Page Two)

DR. LITTLE WIRES HIS CONGRATULATIONS

Still Has Warm Place in Heart For Maine

Although far from Maine and busy with the conduct of a great university, former "Prexie" Little still has a warm place in his heart for the University of Maine, and the latest proof of this is seen in a telegram received by "Mac" Sawyer in response to a message telling of Maine's great victory in the New England Saturday.

Dr. Little wired as follows: "Thanks for your wire. I am terribly pleased to know that Maine came through. It's a fine victory for the University and for Frank. I wish I could hear that powerhouse whistle."

(Signed) Pete

Which message, as all will agree who remember Prexie's stay here, is most characteristic of him. It is also interesting to note at this time that it was Frank Kanaly who brought "Pete" Little out as a track man, and that it was Dr. Little who brought Kanaly to Maine from M. I. T., where he had come to be regarded as a fixture due to his long years of turning out regularly winning track teams.

SOPHOMORE EAGLES ANNOUNCE PLEDGES

At the annual banquet of the Sophomore Eagles held at the Penobscot Valley Country Club this evening the pledges for next year were announced:

Dorothy Culley, Thelma Shea, Rachel Matthews, Rebecca Matthews, Ellen Maloney, Dorothy Ross, Sylvia Gould, Pauline Hall, Jenny Hutchinson.

The Sophomore Eagles were organized during the past year, to correspond to the Sophomore Owls, membership consisting of co-eds of the Sophomore class, who have shown marked characteristics of personality, leadership, scholarship, and participation in college activities.

COMMENCEMENT WILL HAVE NEW FEATURES

COMMITTEE PROMISES REAL ATTRACTIONS FOR EVERY MOMENT

Many new features arranged for by the Commencement Committee promise that Commencement this year will be seething with real attractions. Something during every moment seems to have been the committee's slogan.

Eleven classes are holding reunions commemorating anniversaries of from five to fifty-five years out. Correspondence shows that alumni will be back in large numbers.

As many undergraduates as possible should remain to hobnob with their elder and wiser brothers and sisters, and watch their reunion pranks. The Military camp formerly held between final examinations and Commencement, has been discontinued. The last frantic examination paper must be folded on Wednesday, and the Commencement Program starts on Thursday evening. Students are showing great support and cooperation thru the band, the musical clubs, the Masque and the All Maine Women, which organizations have volunteered their help in adding new features to the usual course of events.

The band will be on hand for Class Day exercises Friday, for class frolics and the ball game on Saturday; for the parade to the Alumni Banquet and for Commencement on Monday.

Alumni and students, with wives, daughters, sweethearts and friends, will find dances galore. A Student Hop for Friday night, an Alumni Hop for Saturday night offer everyone an opportunity to dance on these evenings to excellent music—and free of charge.

ALL-MAINE WOMEN ANNOUNCE PLEDGES

WIDOW OF MAINE'S FIRST PRESIDENT SPEAKS AT BANQUET

The pledges of the All-Maine Women were announced at the third annual banquet, held at the Penobscot Valley Country Club on the nineteenth of May.

Delegates were sent from all women's organizations. In addition, the women students of the University were invited to attend.

Lorinda Orne '27, was the toast-mistress, introducing Sylvia Kurson '27, who gave the greetings from All-Maine Women; Molly Perkins '23, who had promised a startling speech from the alumni, gave the conventional alumni greeting and then presented some interesting views on men's attitude toward woman and showed, historically, how they "got that way;" Erdene Besse '28, who spoke for Student Government and told of the recent convention at the University of New Hampshire.

Evelyn Buchan of the faculty gave a talk in terms of Thompson's Four Wishes.

Frances Fuller '28, briefly summarized the Athletic Association's activities for the year.

The last speaker was Mrs. Fernald, the widow of Maine's first president. She gave a most interesting account of the growth of the University from the original Maine State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, and she told of the many hardships involved in the building up of the college during the first years.

The purpose of the organization is to cooperate with all organizations to carry on the work of bringing together students and faculty into closer relationship and altogether to stand for the things in college life which are best and most worth while.

The following pledges were announced: Ruth Hitchings '27, Marada Johnson '27, Elizabeth Sawyer '27, Erdene Besse '28, Mary McGuire '28, Virginia Smith '28, Jessie Ashworth '29, Nan Surface '29, Alice Webster '29.

NEW ENGLAND CHAMPIONSHIP WON BY MAINE TRACK MEN FOR FIRST TIME IN 28 YEARS

Kanalymen Are Victors On Whittier Field in Biggest Day for Maine Athletics Since The Winning of National Cross- Country Championship

POLE VAULT AGAIN DECIDES MEET

KANALY DISCUSSES TWO TRACK MEETS

FOUR MEN TO REPRESENT MAINE AT PHILADELPHIA

Frank Kanaly, coach of the New England track champions, in an interview with the Campus Wednesday morning, gave his opinions of the recent State and New England track meets.

He says: "The state meet was a wonderful try on the part of every individual, and I feel that we showed the best track team of the four colleges. Our not winning was due largely to the combined excellence in spots of our opponents, thus defeating our allround strength."

"The New England meet was very gratifying. Our leading the qualifiers with Bowdoin at the end of Friday's competition showed the advancement the team made as a whole. Saturday's returns exemplify the sticktoitiveness of our group. Had any one man slipped, it would have cost us Maine's first victory in the 43 years of the association's formation."

"I would like to use this opportunity to extend my sincere thanks to the athletes, officials of the University, and the alumni who have made it all a realization."

The four men who are going to represent the University of Maine at the I. C. 4A. meet in Philadelphia this Friday and Saturday had a final workout Wednesday morning before leaving for the trip. All of them are in excellent condition. Coach Kanaly is taking with him Capt. Hobson, Taylor, Lyden, and Black. When questioned concerning the national meet, Coach Kanaly answered:

"We know we are entering the biggest competition in the country. The four delegates going hope to make a favorable return in keeping with our supporters' desires."

KANALY AWARDED TRACK LETTER

An honorary letter has been awarded to Coach Frank Kanaly of the Maine track team as a result of the success of his team in winning the New England championship at Brunswick last Saturday. Faculty Manager B. C. Kent announced today in giving out the names of 18 men to whom track letters have been awarded. The award to Coach Kanaly is in accordance with a custom of so rewarding track coaches whose teams win important meets.

Other letters awarded are to the following: Captain Roy Hobson '27, State and New England pole vault champion; Captain-elect Sam Thompson '28, State and New England shot put champion; John A. Lyden '29, State and New England javelin champion; Edmund F. Black '29, John C. Caldwell '28, Patrick J. Guilfoyle '27, Seymour C. Hammond '28, Roy S. Hathaway '28, Olin C. Moulton '29, Winfield S. Niles '29, Worth L. Noyes '29, Byron B. Porter '28, Kenneth L. Proctor '27, Lloyd H. Stitham '27, Forrest A. Taylor '27, Fred H. Thompson '28, Daniel W. Torrey '27, and Claude G. Lovely '27.

Reginald Merrill '29 was chosen manager of track for next year.

Champions of New England and first possessors of the Fifth Championship Cup of the New England Intercollegiate Athletic Association! These were the members of the University of Maine track team who returned from Whittier Field to the Bowdoin gymnasium in the late hours of last Saturday afternoon. And for the first time in the 28 years in which Maine has been a member of the N.E.I.C.A.A., she had been returned victorious in the annual classic of the New England track season. It was a big day for Maine, a big day for Captain Hobson and his men, and a big day for their respected, hard-working, and clean-fighting coach, Frank Kanaly. Indeed, it may not be too much to say that Saturday was the biggest day for Maine athletics since the war, since that much-talked-of day when a Maine team won the cross-country championship of the country.

Sweeter by far was the victory in view of the fact that it took place on the very field of Maine's dearest enemies, the men of Jack Magee, who the week before had humbled the Kanalyemen here at the University in the state meet. More satisfaction was added to the Maine total by the knowledge that it was these same state champions who were the runners-up on Saturday, and that they were not again able, as they had been before, to muster the final strength to carry away the decision from Maine.

It was a few men who were the Maine heroes of the day, and it was due to this handful of stars that the Blue was able to pile up enough points to nose out Bowdoin, M. I. T., and Boston College, all of whom were in the fight to the finish. Again, as in the state meet, it was the pole vault which decided the meet, the only difference being that this time it turned the tide toward, rather than away from, Maine. Roy Hobson, Lloyd Stitham, Pat Guilfoyle, and Shrimp Proctor are the four boys who applied the finishing touches to the work already nobly started by Grunt Taylor, Sam Thompson, Jack Lyden, and Rip Black.

It was well along toward the end of the meet before the Maine supporters had much to cheer about. In the track events, it was the other colleges which copped most of the honors, so that in the final summary the only points made by the Blue runners were in the two mile run, where Grunt Taylor ran a pretty race to take third place. But the fact that they failed to score casts no reflections on the Maine men in the other events, where they were faced by some of the best runners in the East. Win Niles in the 220, Dan Torrey in the low hurdles, Doc Porter in the 880, and Victor MacNaughton in the mile were defeated in their events but gave everything they had in attempting to add points to Maine's score.

When returns from the field started coming in, things began to look better and better. First Sam Thompson walked away with first in the shot put. Rip Black's second in the hammer did not sound so well to the Maine rooters, since reports that he had thrown the ball and chain through the fence for a heave of over 175 feet Friday night had led to a feeling that Rip would beat out Pillsbury for first. However, Black's third in the discus, where he had failed to place in the State Meet, raised Maine hopes again. Jack Lyden, although suffering from his bad arm, which had prevented him from placing better than fourth in the trials Friday, came through to take the javelin throw, although failing to break the record as had been expected.

There is no question but that, if he had been in as good shape as in the state meet, (Continued on Page Four)

The Air Is Full of Farewells

With sheepskins under one arm and plans for the Memorial Gateway under the other, the Seniors, scions of 1927, will soon pack their trunks with the accumulation of four years' junk and leave the scene where they have lived in hope, victory, defeat, and learning. Maine has given them all she has. From raw minds, still in the making, she has sought to develop, rather than perfect, a product which would be presentable to the society of the world, as we know it. In some instances, her seeds of learning have struck fertile ground; in others, the weeds have choked the tender, sensitive plant of Promise.

On the day of graduation, the flower of Maine, arrayed, for the first time, in the robes of Learning, will sit in that hallowed spot, the Oval, and listen, for the last time, to the counsel of Alma Mater.

The former crude, noisy, and overgrown gang of Rising Night, of some three years ago, will suddenly realize that Maine is something more than a collection of buildings, a group of hard-hearted faculty, scraps, bickering and intrigue, exams and tomorrow's lessons which are never prepared; that it is a living thing, a home, a world in itself. The tear will come because this realization has come too late, and that they are leaving it all! The campus will miss the many faces and friendships which will slide over into the past with the passing of Commencement 1927. You will miss us, who remain behind to carry on. The sometimes cruel, bitter actualities of undergraduate life will soon become mellow with the passing of time, and you will say, "It wasn't so bad after all."

The Year in Review

At the end of each scholastic year, it has been the custom to draw a rose colored veil over everything with the same old comment, "It has been the most successful year. . ."

It can be said with all sincerity, that 1926-1927 has marked the beginning of an era of superiority and firm development for the University of Maine.

It has marked the first year of the administration of President Boardman. He has proved himself an able administrator, a tireless worker, just, and willing to cooperate. He has firmly established himself in the hearts of both undergraduates and alumni. The university is in safe hands!

The faculty have been active and thoroughly respondent to the needs and demands of a progressive university. Two of its members have been highly honored during the year by the award of a Guggenheim Memorial Fellowship, thereby bringing to Maine an honor of national importance.

In athletics, without overshadowing academic importance, we have succeeded in winning the State Football Championship and the New England Intercollegiate Track Championship, along with num-

FEW MAINE STUDENTS SAW THESE HAPPEN

Maine and B. C. tied for the lead in first places each having three. Of the other first place winners, Bowdoin and Bates each had two and Colby one. Not a bad day's showing for the Pine Tree colleges before the home folks for the first time.

Frank Hussey of B. C. is sure some sweet runner. He romped away with the dashes, finishing with five yards to spare in the 100, and eight in the 220. Which is some lead to have over the field of runners entered in these two races.

Steinbrenner of Tech tied Hussey for top point honors, winning both hurdles. He clipped two-fifths of a second off the low hurdle mark, made by Savage of Bowdoin in 1916, and tied the high hurdle mark at 15 1-5 seconds. Carl Ring of Maine turned in the same time two years ago.

The mile was practically a repetition of the state meet. Sansone led for a part of the way but faded on the last lap, Allie Wills taking first and Bob Ham surging ahead for second in the last few yards. Wills tried hard for a new record, but his time was almost two seconds slower than in the state meet. Which speaks well for the condition of the Maine track.

Coach Kanaly, Ben Kent, Mac Sawyer and Frank's sons watched the meet from choice seats in the stand. The looks on their faces when victory was sure were enough to cheer up the most gloomy observer. Grim is no word for it.

Victor MacNaughton gave one of the greatest exhibitions of gameness ever seen in running the mile. The Maine sophomore was badly spiked in the foot on the first lap, but stuck to his job and barely missed taking fourth place. It was later found necessary to take stitches to close the wound. What would this plucky boy have done if he had not suffered the injury?

Too much credit cannot be given to Stan Wallace for the work he did on Jack Lyden's arm between Friday night and Saturday afternoon. Without Wally's expert treatment, there is no telling whether Jack would have come through in the javelin or not.

Rip Black had tough luck in the hammer. He led on his last heave, and then along came Pillsbury and tossed the weight a measly three inches beyond Rip's best.

That discus event was a queer one. Houle of Bates and Black, both of whom failed to qualify in the state meet, took first and third respectively. Rip surprised everyone including himself by throwing the platter over 124 feet, his best ever, and thereby accounted for the points he lost in the hammer.

Black was the most-sought-after man on the field. He was continually being called from the hammer to the discus, and thence to the javelin. Rip ought to give Wilczewski of B. C. a good fight in a decathlon or some such contest.

erous other honors. In dramatics, we have produced three plays of exceptional merit and developed our talent, in the words of one critic, "To almost a professional degree."

In the Tri-state Intercollegiate Poetry Contest, Maine again won first place, the winner receiving wholehearted praise from one of America's foremost poets. Maine also placed first in the essay contest.

In debating, we received a decision over one of the university teams chosen to represent this country abroad, during the coming year.

In agriculture, the Maine stock-judging team is recognized among the foremost in the country, being nosed out of a national championship by one point. . . and so on!

Our past year's record shows a well-balanced, all-around, healthy and progressive university. As President Boardman recently stated, "We have at last gained prestige, let us keep it."

DOWN THE TRAIL

With this issue, the Campus Board pack away their typewriters, cover the imaginary roll-top desk which all editors are supposed to have, bid the Seniors "Aufwiedersehen" and the rest of the campus "Adios!"

Through the long summer months, the editor, who will spend the summer up in the tall timber on the Fire Patrol, intends to plot and plan the features and organization which he threatened in a recent editorial, would make the Campus the leading college newspaper in the state.

Negotiations are being made at the present time, to enlarge the Campus to six columns wide and three or four inches deeper. This will allow us to develop and print more intercollegiate news which we think would be of interest to Maine, and develop campus news, which we cannot do at the present time because of limited space.

The first issue in the fall will appear during freshman week, appropriately printed in green ink, and will be devoted wholly to their interests.

Dr. Ellis Announces Summer Instructors

Flack is well known to Maine people. He has had a long teaching and coaching experience and has been turning out winning city school teams at Sapulpa this year.

The courses in the Department of Latin will be in charge of Maurice Wescott Avery, assistant professor of Latin in Williams College. Professor Avery is a graduate of Bowdoin, holds the degree of Master of Arts from Harvard, and has done considerable graduate work in addition. He has taught in Maine high schools, and has been at Williams since 1923. He will give courses in the Teaching of Latin and Latin Composition, and a graduate course in Roman Prose Writers of the Empire.

In the Department of History and Government Dr. James Quayle Dealey of Harvard will give courses in American Government, Foreign Governments, and American Diplomacy, the two latter counting for graduate credit. Mr. Dealey is a son of Professor J. Q. Dealey of Brown, one of the foremost American scholars in the field of Political Sciences, and was graduated at Brown in 1920. After two years in business, he went to Oxford University, England, receiving his second baccalaureate degree there in 1923. The years since then he has spent at Harvard as assistant and instructor in Government, and he receives his Ph.D. degree in June.

In Education the courses in Junior High School Administration and Junior High School Methods will be conducted by Principal Chester Winfield Holmes, head of the Morgan Junior High School, Holyoke, Massachusetts. Mr. Holmes is a Bachelor of Science from Harvard, and has the degree of Master of Education from the Harvard Graduate School of Education, 1924. He has had a long and thorough experience as psychological examiner in the army, special educational agent for the Carnegie Hero Fund Commissions, and teacher in Massachusetts high schools. Since 1924 he has had charge of the Morgan Junior High School in which he has had remarkable success.

Miss Anna Kate Garretson of Austin, Texas, will have charge of the Elementary Education courses, including Testing Programs in the Elementary Schools, The Elementary School Curriculum, and Elementary School Supervision and Methods. Miss Garretson holds Bachelor's and Master's degrees from Columbia Teachers' College, has a wide teaching experience, and during the last eight years has been Supervisor of Elementary Education in the capital city of Texas.

She has taught several years in the University of Texas Summer Session, has conducted educational surveys in the state, and has served on the state Text Book Commission.

In English Miss Mary Anne Coughlin of Rockland is to give courses in the Teaching of Composition in the High School and the Teaching of English in the Junior High School. Miss Coughlin was an honor student at Maine, where she was graduated in 1922, and has pursued graduate courses at Columbia. She taught successfully several secondary schools, and is now teacher of English in the Girls' Commercial School in Brooklyn, New York.

Three instructors in the teachers' course in Home Economics are also from away. Miss Florence Louise Jenkins of Augusta, being State Supervisor of Home Economics Education, Miss S. Agnes Donham, special lecturer in Biology in Simmons College, and Miss Alice F. Pratt of the Singer Sewing Machine Company. Miss Jenkins will teach courses in Home Economics Education and Dress Appreciation, Miss Donham in Household Management, and Miss Pratt in Sewing Machine Technique.

Although no stranger to the campus or to the Maine public, Professor John H. Huddilston has not taught in the Summer Session for many years. He comes to his courses in The Mediterranean, Past and Present and Great Masterpieces of Art fresh from several months' travel in the Mediterranean country. He will also offer a course in the History of Culture in America, a subject to which he has devoted much study during the past few years.

Dean A. N. French, of the Arts and Science College of the University of New Hampshire, was visiting the University of Maine Friday and Saturday, May 20 and 21. The object of his trip was to study the organization of the college and the various departments within the college. Friday evening Dean French attended the meeting of the Conversation Club at the residence of President Boardman. The leader of the meeting was Dean Stevens, and the discussion was, The Youth Movement.

Mr. Libby, manager of the University Press, has announced that printing of the 1928 Prism has been completed and that the complete copy will be in the hands of the binder by the end of this week. This means that the Prism will be ready for distribution not later than Monday, June 6.

Orders placed now will receive first consideration, and will avoid any last minute confusion.

NOTES OF INTEREST

Owing to a shortage in Summer Session bulletins, it is requested that students or faculty members, having copies of the bulletin which they do not expect to use, will return them to the office of H. M. Ellis, Director of the Summer Session.

At a meeting of the Track Club, held at Phi Gamma Delta House, May 24, the following officers were elected for the coming year:

President: Robert D. Parks; Vice-President: W. Niles; Treasurer: W. Bixby; Secretary: H. Murray.

The last meeting of the year of the Men's Student Senate will be held in the M.C.A. Building Tuesday evening May 31. At this meeting final consideration will be given the "community chest" project. Election of next year's officers will also take place. All new delegates for the coming year should be present as present members.

The report is current among campus social circles that Alpha Gamma Rho and Chi Omega have petitioned the Board of Trustees for land grants and permission to build houses on the road adjacent to the Girls' Athletic Field and Balentine Hall.

Officers of the Maine Athletic Association for 1927-28 were elected as follows:

President: Fred Thompson; Vice-President: George Coltart; Senior Member: Gordon Walker; Secretary: Lyman Abbott.

Students expecting to make application to the State Department of Education for teaching certificates of any kind should secure application blanks as soon as possible at 26-28 Fernald Hall.

Sam Thompson, champion shot-putter of the state of Maine and New England, was elected captain of the Maine track team yesterday. Thompson has taken first places in his event in both meets for two years and is the logical man for the leader's position. He is a member of Phi Eta Kappa fraternity.

Commencement Will Have New Features

Most of the fraternities are planning open house parties for Thursday night after the play.

The Commencement Ball Monday night from eight P.M. until two A.M. will wind up the exercises. Harry Hartley, chairman of the Ball committee announces the best one ever. The Troubadours will furnish the music. The decorations, in charge of Annette Lane, will be planned by Hall, of Bangor. Favors are to be blue leather address books with dance order combined.

Thursday night in the chapel, the Masque will again present their Junior Week success, "Hell-Bent For Heaven." Alumni and students who did not see the play Junior Week, and who did see the write-up of it in the Bangor Daily News, won't miss it this time. The exceptional characterization of the parts, particularly that of "Rufe" played by Charles Getchell '30 should attract a full house. This is considered the best play of the year.

President Boardman has given the committee every help possible. He is holding his reception in the chapel and at an earlier hour than usual so that alumni and students can step from the receiving line to the gymnasium where the Student Hop will be held.

The Colby team will play Maine in an exhibition game on Alumni Field, Saturday afternoon.

At the Commencement Exercises Hon. William R. Pattangall, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court and a Maine alumnus of the class of '84, will speak. Pattangall, as most Maine people know, is one of the best and most pleasing speakers in Maine.

Governor and Mrs. Brewster will attend the Commencement Exercises.

The Baccalaureate sermon is to be given by Dr. Henry Stiles Bradley, a native of Jackson, Ga. He is now pastor of the State Street Congregational Church in Portland, one of the largest and most influential parishes in eastern New England.

Perhaps the newest feature of the entire program will be the All-Maine Women pageant, "The Pioneer," to be given on the afternoon of Class Day. The entire pageant is being coached by Mrs. Bailey.

Few Maine Students Saw These Happen

Win Niles finished second to Hussey in the 220 trials Friday, while Dan Torrey won his heat in the low hurdles. Both failed to place Saturday, Dan being nosed out by Farrington as a result of being kept back by the flapping arm of the runner in the next lane.

It was tough on Hobby not to break that pole vault record. There is little question but that he would have done so if Jack had pressed him to go higher than 12 ft. 3 in.

"Iron Man" Hal Broda, captain of the famous Brown football team, attracted his share of attention from the crowd. He led in the 440 until the last five yards, when Frankie Burns of H. C. passed him. A thrilling finish.

The big crowd of 3500 made the out-of-state officials and athletes open their eyes. They have been used to seeing about 500 at the New Englands at Boston. It was a state of Maine crowd from Governor Brewster down, and the announcement of points won by Maine teams was liberally applauded. Bowdoin supporters naturally predominated, with Bates also strongly represented. Maine rooters, sad to say, were in a minority and scattered, so that announcement of points won by the Blue often-times failed to arouse a solitary cheer. Those who went down from Orono got the thrill of their lives. Others are still cursing their luck in missing the big event by staying at home.

There is thought to be a possibility of the New Englands coming to Orono next year. Manager Scribner, as a member of the executive committee of the N. E. Association, did a lot to bring the meet to Brunswick, and continued cooperation between the Maine colleges, combined with the knowledge that the meet in Maine will be a financial success, may make the U. of M. the scene next year.

Something for you to wonder about during the summer: If Maine is champion of New England, and Bowdoin is champion of Maine, does that mean that Maine's title excludes the state in which the U. of M. is located? Figure it out for yourself. We give up.

The University of Maine will open for the Fall Semester on Tuesday, September 20, with registration for upper class students from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Freshman Week opens on September 13.

New England Championship Won By Maine Track Team

the New York boy would have set a record which would have stood for a good many years. There are few like Lyden in these parts. With the pole vault to hear from, the score stood Bowdoin 21, B.C. 20, M.I.T. 18, and Maine 17.

In Friday's trials six men had qualified at 11 ft. 6 in. These were Captain Hobson, Proctor, Stitham, and Guilfoyle of Maine, Captain Kendall of Bowdoin, and Jack of M.I.T. While little was known of what Jack could do, Maine supporters had fears of the Bowdoin leader, who the previous week had won for his team by taking a second in this very event. But his record-breaking performance in the highjump and his lame shoulder made Kendall a different competitor from the Kendall who had dashed Maine's hopes on the Saturday before. The bar was set at 11 ft. 6 in., and at this height Kendall and the three boys whom one paper later called the "Lesser Lights" failed. But the triumvirate of Proctor, Stitham, and Guilfoyle had done their duties well, and by tying for third had assured Maine of the victory, even if Hobson only tied with the Tech man for first.

The bar was now placed at 12 feet. Hobson cleared this height with ease, as did the Tech vaulter. Up went the cross-piece to 12 ft. 3 in. Hobson again went over without much trouble. But Jack had reached his limit, and, with nothing much to be gained for his team now, he failed to go over. Maine had won the meet. Hobson tried for a new record at 12 ft. 7 in., but in three vaults failed to clear the bar, and the 41st annual meet of the N.E.I.C.A.A. was at an end. The first New England ever held in Maine had seen the triumph of a Maine team, with a second state team in second place.

A prime favorite on the campus

IN ANY group of regular fellows, you'll find Prince Albert. It belongs. It speaks the language. You get what we mean the minute you tamp a load of this wonderful tobacco into the bowl of your jimmy-pipe and make fire with a match.

Cool as a northeast bedroom. Sweet as a note from the Girl of Girls. Fragrant as a woodland trail. Prince Albert never bites your tongue or parches your throat, no matter how fast you feed it. You'll smoke pipe-load on pipe-load with never a regret.

Buy a tidy red tin of P. A. today. Throw back the hinged lid and breathe deeply of that real tobacco aroma. Then . . . tuck a neat wad into the business-end of your jimmy-pipe and light up. Now you have it . . . that taste! That's Prince Albert, Fellows!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!
