SPIRITED COLBY TEAM ROUITS BLUE ELEVEN IN HARD FOUGHT GAME

BRICEMEN UNABLE TO PUSH BALL OVER LINE AFTER PARADE UP FIELD

Quarterback Scott Stars

Last Saturday, Maine went down to defeat with a do or die spirit, faced with greater odds. Maine was outweighed thruout by Colby and this advantage began to take its toll before the game had progressed very far.

Credit cannot be denied Colby however, for they had a splendid team, with co-operation its great asset. Even though Scott gained more ground than all the other backs put together it was not all his doing. Perfect four-man interference was the story that helped "Bounding Bobby" on to a well-earned victory. It was a hard game for Maine to lose, but the better team frequently goes down to a fighting eleven that seeks to come back from a stinging defeat by a supposedly weaker team.

It seemed to many that the machine that faced Bates the week before and the team that played at Colby Saturday were two different teams. One was a perfectly timed machine that stopped at nothing, the other was one that never seemed to get started to get a chance to stop at nothing. A team that can get the ball down the field to their goal line has something that savors of strength, but one that fails on the goal line shows little. However, it was a great game and shows what a fighting eleven can do, and on the other hand shows what too much confidence can do to any eleven.

The first period had little, except that each team sought to find out the other team's strength and weaknesses, and a great deal of punting was shown, with neither team showing advantage.

Early in the second period, Scott got away for a ten yard gain to be followed by another one of twenty-five yards, being stopped by Buzzell from a touchdown. Bagnall attempted a dropkick which went short of its objective. Maine started their march down the field. A lateral pass play, the best working one for Maine during the game, netted 14 yards, a forward, Peakes to Black gained 18 yards. A few line plays added more yardage, Peakes was out on one of these plays and Colby

OUTING CLUB WILL CONDUCT CARNIVAL

INFORMAL BALL TO BE NEW FEATURE THIS YEAR

For the first time in Winter Carnival history, the Carnival Ball is to be informal. This was announced at a meeting of the Outing Club Wednesday, October 26, in the M. C. A. building.

About forty members were present, and the most important business of the evening was the Winter Carnival, which this year is to be in the hands of the Outing Club. Previously, it was in charge of the Intramural Athletic Association, but as it is customary in other colleges for the Outing Club to conduct Carnivals, the Maine Outing Club has agreed to undertake it this year.

Because of the added expense caused by the Carnival, the Outing Club is to launch an extensive membership drive in the near future. A publicity committee consisting of Archie Smith, chairman, Doris Curtis, Evelyn Winslow and John Davis was appointed. A membership committee of which Archie Smith is also chairman was chosen. The purpose of this committee is to have charge of canvassing the campus for new members.

The Cabin Committee reported that the cabin at Chemo is now ready for use. It has been newly painted, another window has been built and it has been well equipped with stoves and bunks.

RECORD CROWD WILL WATCH MAINE TACKLE BOWDOIN ON ALUMNI FIELD SATURDAY

Thousands Expected For Maine Night And Grid Classic, The Winning Of Which Will Cause Tie For State Series Championship

BOTH TEAMS ARE CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

BIG CELEBRATION FOR MAINE NIGHT THROUG

BOARDMAN WILL BE IN CHARGE OF PROGRAM

The greatest Maine Night in history will be celebrated on the campus this evening. The program, which is to be conducted in the indoor field, will center around university spirit, traditions, and athletics. President Boardman will preside over the gathering, which promises to be the largest ever held here. In a statement to the Campus President Boardman brought out the fact that Maine Night must necessarily include a considerable amount of general university spirit and the bringing to the front of college traditions. He also stated that in his conversation with alumni he had found them strongly in favor of the real Maine Night, not merely an athletic rally for the game to come. "We do not wish to give less to athletics but we would like to give more to the university than has been given in the past."

President R. H. Fogler of the Alumni Association will represent the alumni on the speaking program. Professor Charles P. Weston will give the faculty viewpoint and Fred Scribner of the senior class will be student speaker.

Coach Frank Kanaly will speak for track and Fred Brice for football. Music will be furnished by the University Band. Joseph "Joe" McCusker '17 will lead the cheers.

George Dudley has been added to the Maine Night committee, being appointed by President Boardman.

Tickets for the Bowdoin-Maine game are practically sold out, according to Alumni Secretary, Robert Clark.

UNIVERSITY RECEIVES LARGE GIFT OF MONEY

BEQUEST OF COE ESTATE AMOUNTS TO $100,000

On October 6, 1927, the University of Maine received a bequest of one hundred thousand dollars from the Thomas Upham Coe estate. The income of this bequest is to be utilized for research work. The methods and conditions of use, shall be proposed to the Trustees for their approval. The President states that the research work shall have a bearing on the development of the State of Maine.

An extract from the Last Will and Testament of Thomas Upham Coe:

"Article VII. I also direct my Trustees to pay, within two years after the decease of my said wife, out of the principle of the Trust.....to the University of Maine at Orono, Maine, one hundred thousand dollars;....."

"It is my wish that the sums bequeathed in this Seventh Article of my Will shall become a part of the permanent funds of the Institutions to which the bequests are being made and that only the income thereof shall be perpetually used for the legitimate purposes of said Institutions."

The surplus funds of the class of 1927 with which they proposed to build a memorial gateway, is now resting in a bank and drawing interest. Their proposal for a gateway was turned down by the trustees, and the dollars are now sleeping in trust.

A desperate Brown Bear will tackle the Polar Bear from Brunswick next Saturday to avenge the stinging defeat handed it by the grey-jerseyed players representing Colby. Going down to defeat after being outplayed, Maine grimly hung to the game with her last bit of waning strength and died even as the bear—fighting.

Maine will have to beat Bowdoin decisively to show the football cohorts that last Saturday, Maine didn't play the brand of football that she has played in previous games this season. For truly, the team that played Colby Saturday was not the same team that defeated Bates by the score they did, except in names alone. Granted that she had greater opposition, the team was not the same. A fighting eleven it was with all the despair of a losing team faced with odds, but the old punch and thrust of the bear that had established itself in everyone's mind was missing.

Maine went to Colby faced with odds. They were supposed to beat the Blue and Grey by previous records which mean little when reached by comparison. Naturally, the team felt the responsibility and cracked. The bear of over-confidence had at last got loose and got its prey. But it left in its wake, a little band of determined warriors that will take Bowdoin into camp like Grant took Richmond.

Bowdoin, who had beat Colby the week before faced the same odds and tripped against the Bobcat of Bates that came back from its terrible lacing to a week previous to play Bowdoin to a scoreless tie. A great game with Bowdoin, approaching the goal line only to be thrown back without gaining the necessary score that would have cinched a tie in the Series. After stressing the scoring plays the past week, they lacked the final punch that spelled victory.

This week, Maine and Bowdoin will trot onto the field about even, neither team being especially advantageous, unless Maine playing at home will mean a little. Both teams will be goaded on by the results of their showing Saturday and both will attempt to make the other succumb to its attack and bow down before a superior team. The importance of this game is that Maine by winning, will be tied with Colby for first place, if Colby conquers Bates, or undisputedly champion, if Bates ties or defeats the Waterville aggregation. If Bowdoin wins they will be in the same position that Maine is on winning. That the Bowdoin-Maine game will be important, is shown by the fact that a record crowd will witness the struggle for the Championship game. Every ticket is sold and special bleachers are being installed to take care of some of the overflow. Due to the fact that this game follows Maine Night a greater crowd of Alumni are planning to return than ever.

The outcome of the game will be hard to predict because after the many season upsets no previous inference can be drawn. It is rumored though, that Colby's victory installed something new into Maine and this with the added fact that Brice has a new repertoire of plays to be shown Saturday, the Maine followers feel that the game can only come out one way. Bowdoin says that she beat Colby and she can beat Maine. Whether the Brown Bear can be subdued or not, will have to be shown to the Maine followers because they feel that last Saturday Maine wasn't playing football that it has played in that its plays came to naught instead of ought(s).

Injuries hit the Maine team last weekend and Maine may be somewhat weaker Saturday as a result of these. Black and

MAINE HARRIERS WIN STATE CHAMPIONSHIP PERFECT SCORE SPOILED BY BATES CAPTAIN

Maine captured the State title in the cross country meet held at Waterville last week by an almost perfect score. Captain Wardwell of Bates captured fourth place, thus spoiling Maine's chance to capture the title perfectly. The race developed between Bates and Colby, which the former won fifty-four to fifty-eight points.

Richardson, MacNaughton and Lindsey finished in a triple tie for first place. Captain Cushing and Benson also finished a tie, their position being fifth. The winner's time was thirty-five minutes and twenty seconds—extremely fast for the condition of the course, which was very muddy from the rain that had fallen Thursday night and Friday morning.

The Kanaly men finished in good condition which speaks well for our coach who has turned out winning teams since his regime began at Maine a few years back. Two men from the other colleges were forced out because of cramps. A large gallery was on hand to see the finish and gave a great round of applause for their teams.

Students Will March To Athletic Field In Body

At a meeting of the Athletic Association the following regulations were decided upon: All students will assemble at 1:30 in front of Alumni Hall and march to the field in a body. It is requested that nobody breaks rank until the march around the track is completed as it will destroy the effect of the parade. No one will be admitted without his or her blanket tax. This will be strictly observed. The blanket taxes are not transferable. Just enough seats have been reserved for all the students, so in order to get the best seats, it is desirable to march in with the student body.

Bananas VIII has been secured and will be on hand to watch and be watched.

BOARDMAN OUTLINES UNIVERSITY'S HISTORY IMPORTANT PHASES OF ORGAN- IZATION EXPLAINED

Appropriate to Maine Night, President Boardman has written for the Campus, something of the organization and history of the University.

"Believing that many students and perhaps a considerable number of the younger members of the Faculty do not understand the organization of the University I will attempt to give a brief outline and something of the history of its development."

"In the early days of the institution when the numbers were small and the Faculty consisted of only a handful, all of the affairs of the institution, both educational and financial, were administered by the President. Although the Board of Trustees was the real governing body its action usually took on the nature of rubber stamping the President's acts. For many years even after the institution had attained a considerable growth the General Faculty controlled the educational policies and dealt with all matters of discipline. Finally, however, the University

Parking Spaces Fixed For Saturday's Game

To avoid congestion in traffic during the Bowdoin-Maine game, it has been decided that there will be two entrances to the campus. Cars may come in the main entrance and the entrance by the Beta House. Cars coming in the main entrance will come up the main road as far as the road, which comes past Alumni Hall, directly out beyond the Carpenter Shop, down the new road, to the area back of the indoor field. Cars coming in the Beta House entrance will go as far as Hannibal Hamlin Hall, turning north, past the Beta House, Theta Chi House, Sigma Nu House, and North Hall, into the area north of the athletic field. No parking will be permitted in area near the dormitories or fraternity houses near the athletic field.

VANDALS AT WORK!

Night prowlers, to whom the formalities of an athletic rally were too restricted, took it upon themselves one night this week, to voice their enthusiasm in rather a back-woods, high-school manner, by plastering the buildings of the campus with "pep" slogans. It is hard for us to believe that anyone possessing that Maine spirit we all like to talk about so much, would resort to such methods. Maine's student-body, as a general rule doesn't begin to indulge in the many and varied escapades commonly perscribed to by college students over the entire country. Under these conditions, much can, and should be, endured with a wink or smile. When such escapades show originality, or even wit, it is a healthy sign and goes to show that all college life is not just what is found in books. But this affair possessed neither originality or wit. Needless to say, the majority do not look with favor upon such exhibitions as these, and everything should be done, both on the part of the students and the faculty to stamp out this utter disregard to Maine, her spirit and her principles.

Colby Mule Kicks!

It is unfortunate that Maine's visit to the Colby campus could not have resulted in the same cordial and friendly treatment accorded us at Bates the previous week. It is unfortunate that Colby possesses persons who do not appreciate the responsibilities of host. It would be unfair of us to hold Colby responsible for the actions of a few, who take the name of their College and use it to their own ends and pleasures. The sorry part of it all is that the ultimate results of the actions of such few are generally construed to be the attitude of the entire group, and ill-will develops.

The story follows: Individuals, feeling that they could out-rush us on the field, decided to rush the Band, and succeeded in carrying off their toques. Satiated with two victories in one day, they retired to rehash the "joke" to others. Already we hear around us, "Wait until next year..."

We know that the official attitude at Colby deplores such outbreaks, and we are willing to make allowances as best we can. Our first impulse was to support retaliation, but on further thought, should Maine adopt policies and ill-will that we condemn? Absolutely not! Our pride in Maine and her principles prohibits it! Our desire to act as gentlemen condemns it!

VARSITY HOCKEY TEAM PLAYS CONNECTICUT

On Saturday morning at ten-thirty, the girls' hockey team will play their old rivals, the "Connecticut Aggies."

For two consecutive years the Maine team has defeated the "Aggies." Both games were played under unfavorable conditions. The first, at Orono, was played after a hard rain, and the field was so slippery that no one could get a foothold. Last year, the Maine team, playing at Storrs, on a football field, thick with mud, defeated their opponents 4-1. Maine outclassed the "Aggies" far more than the score would indicate, but were unable to capitalize their technique. It was impossible to hit the ball more than a foot, and the game was a series of struggles, with everyone hacking at a ball buried in mud.

This year the Maine hockey field is in good condition, and the two teams will have a better opportunity of testing their skill.

SENIOR HOCKEY TEAM DEFEATS FRESHMEN

On Thursday afternoon the Senior class hockey team, lacking three members, defeated the freshmen with a score of 4-0.

The Senior forward line was composed of three members as opposed to the regular five of the Freshman line, but two of them are the most experienced on the varsity squad and by their clever plays, the ball was taken past the freshman backs and into the goal.

Only three of the Seniors have played continually; the others have played only on class teams since their freshman year.

The Freshmen showed good team work, but were unable to get the ball by the Senior goal-keeper, who is a member of varsity squad.

The Sophomore Owls had a meeting last Thursday night—some freshmen were there, too.

Reserved Books Stolen at Harvard and Maine

A fence has been built around the history reserve books in the Harvard Widener Library, according to a recent newspaper account, which stated that about 60 books had recently been stolen from those shelves.

The construction of this railing will constitute a move which, it is believed, has never been taken by any college in the country. Students using books from those shelves will be required to enter the enclosure without books or bags and will not to be allowed to take books out of the fenced-in room.

It is believed that the reason for the thefts is the fact that, because large numbers of students have had to do required reading and large amounts of it from the same books, they have taken the books to their rooms overnight so that they could do all the studying at once. Then they have failed to return the books, for fear of being detected in the act of bringing them back to the library.

Thirty-five reserved books were lost from the U. of Maine library last year, besides fifteen books used as texts, seven volumes of Shakespeare, nine volumes of poetry, and five novels.

No doubt many of these losses are due to carelessness, but since books are not the only things that disappear, it might appear that some students are using the library to prepare for advanced work at Thomaston.

An initiation of Der Deutscher Verein was held Wednesday evening, October 26, in the Arts and Sciences building.

The following were initiated: E. G. Kelley, A. J. Libby, H. F. Bamford, H. M. Cutler, G. A. Lipsky, S. Modes, H. Wiseman, T. Perry.

Refreshments consisted of punch, sandwiches, cookies. This was followed by the singing of German songs.

That the college spirit of Maine alumni is in no way affected by a thing of so little consequence as distance is shown by the fact that the fight for tickets for the Bowdoin-Maine game between alumni secretary Robert Clark and Maine alumni in all parts of the United States, has not only begun but is well underway according to Mr. Clark's statement.

It is expected that the alumni sale will reach over one thousand tickets. These tickets can be secured from Mr. Clark at $2 each.

The Maine Alumnus is just off the press and copies are being mailed from "Bob" Clark's office.

MAINE DEANS VISIT SECONDARY SCHOOLS

Dean Hart furnishes the following details regarding the schools from which the present freshman class entered: Of 411 freshmen 331 come from 121 Maine schools, 49 from 34 Massachusetts high-schools. Six high schools from New Hampshire and six from Connecticut sent seven students. Four from New York, four from New Jersey, and three from Pennsylvania sent four students. Rhode Island sent two, District of Columbia, one, Michigan, one, and Quebec, one. The total number of students from schools outside the state is eighty, which is nineteen percent of the total. This is a larger percentage than in recent freshman classes. For the three preceding years the average has been thirteen percent of out-of-state students.

The schools sending more than three students each are shown in the following table. Huntington School, Boston, is the only school outside of Maine that sent more than three students.

Bangor High, 35; Deering High, 17; Hebron Academy, 14; Old Town High, 14; Portland High, 12; Brewer High, 10; Houlton High, 8; Jordan High—Lewiston, 8; Huntington School, Boston, Mass., 8; Bar Harbor, 6; Belfast, 6; Maine Wesleyan Seminary, 6; Cony High, 5; Biddeford, 5; Berwick High, 5; M.C.I., 5; Gould Academy, 4; Livermore Falls, 4; Presque Isle, 4.

The following schools contributed three each: Edward Little, Auburn; Calais Academy; H. C. I., Charleston; Shead Memorial, Eastport; Mattanawcook Academy, Lincoln; Newport; Bridgton Academy; Thornton Academy; Leavitt Institute; South Portland; Winslow and York High.

Two freshmen came from each of the following schools: Addison, Alfred; Morse High, Bath; Bingham, Bluehill; Bridgton, Brownville Jct., E. M. C. S., Cherryfield Academy, Danforth, Deer Isle, Dixfield, Washington Academy, Ellsworth, Fryeburg Academy, Gorham, Harrington, Millinocket, Monmouth Academy New Portland, Norway, Orono, Rangeley, Rockland, Sanford, Southwest Harbor, Stouven, Stockton Springs, Washington, Thomaston, Vanceboro, Washburn C. C. I., Waterville, Waterville High, Wilton Academy, Windham, Winterport.

Fifty-three more schools sent one student each.

Another quest for modern Balboas

COLUMBUS made possible Balboa, and just so Bell has made possible the pathfinders in telephony who are now turning his vision into reality.

They are pioneering at the drafting board, in the manufacturing departments, in the field and in the work which underlies all activity—manage-

The questing spirit into new fields has achieved much, but the way remains open for men of the coming generation to carry the telephone industry to still greater heights of service.

Buzzell seem to be the two most prominent out but before the week is far advanced these men will be back on the field ready to go against Bowdoin. Maine will also be strengthened by the arrival of a new mascot, a new Bananas. This omen will certainly boost Maine's stock a few points. Practice this week has been with a grim determination and Bowdoin will have to look to its laurels before finishing the game, victor or vanquished—who knows?

Boardman Outlines University's History

Faculty's policies often disagreed with the policy desired by some particular college, and as the years went by the present organization gradually came into existence.

The University is divided into three colleges and the Agricultural Experiment Station. Each college has a dean at its head and the Experiment Station a director. The faculty of each college now has complete jurisdiction over its own entrance requirements, curricula, and graduation requirements and the discipline of the institution is under the Committee on Administration, which is composed of the President, Dean of the University, Deans of the Colleges, Treasurer and Registrar. The General Faculty is supposed to control the general educational and disciplinary policies of the institution but delegates most of these matters to the Committee on Student Affairs, which has the same personnel.

The nine Trustees of the University meet monthly. The Executive Committee of the Board is composed of the three Trustees living in Bangor. Meetings of this committee are held weekly with the President and Treasurer of the University in attendance. The Trustees delegate to the President of the University the oversight and administration of what may be considered to come under the term "Educational" and to the Treasurer of the University all affairs "Financial." Although the President and Treasurer are answerable directly to the Trustees there must be cooperation between the two as there is a constant overlapping of interests.

There has been considerable comment in the past few years on the passing of the old type of college president and from some quarters there has been more or less criticism of the new type. This transition has been inevitable due in no small degree to the increased demands made upon educational institutions. Many of these institutions were in the old days very small and were headed by grand old men who had spent their lives in education. With the sudden wave of expansion the most of them were not able to cope with the situation and it was very natural to look for a combination of scholar and business man. This combination is not the easiest to find and in many instances the Trustees came to the conclusion that the President must be first a business manager and that if his scholastic attainments happened to be secondary the Faculty would have to make up for his deficiencies. In some instances this type of man became too much in evidence and in many institutions the Trustees carried this idea to an extreme. I think it is safe to say, however, that the average modern college president stands not only for good business methods but also for the highest educational standards consistent with the ideals of his institution. In my connection with education during the past twenty-five years it has been my good fortune to be allowed to follow at least some phases of education very closely and I have witnessed the passing of many of those grand old men whom everybody loved and their replacement by men of the more modern type. This is not the place for a discussion of the relative worth of the two types but I feel sure that the cause of education is being served at least as well under our present educational methods as it was in the old days.

Spirited Colby Team Routs Blue Eleven in Hard Fought Game

got a 15 yard penalty for slugging. Getting to the ten yard line, Buzzell attempted an end run and made the goal line but he was ruled as being outside. In two plays at the line no gain was made and Colby took the ball on the two yard line. Drummond punted outside at the 25 yd. line and Maine resumed its parade, only to be stopped at the goal line again.

In the third period, Colby gained possession of the ball and then started its scoring. Scott carried the ball about five out of six plays and Drummond once. Finally, the ball reached Maine's goal line and Drummond plunged over for the first score. Maine received the ball, but soon returned it to Colby on their 35 yard mark. Scott took the ball four times in succession and gained a total of 35 yards. The Maine line held so Bagnall hoisted a placement kick over.

In the fourth, the White Mule marched up the field for 75 yards with this same Scott taking the ball three-quarters of the way and Drummond the remainder. Maine held on their goal line but weakened to allow Drummond to get the final touchdown. Bagnall kicked the goal.

The summary:

OLD TOWN ORONO

P.A. is a grand little pal

PRINCE ALBERT is the kind of a smoke you get clubby with, right off the bat. You'll be calling each other by your first names after the very first pipe-load. It is so genuinely friendly, in spirit and in fact.

P.A. treats your tongue and throat as gently as a mother handles a new-born baby. Never a bite. Never a parch. These are details, of course. The thing you'll remember longest is that wonderful taste! So cool, so sweet, so soothing.

PRINCE ALBERT

-no other tobacco is like it!

No matter how hard you hit it up, this long-burning tobacco never hits back. You can go to it before classes, and right through to Lights Out. Get yourself a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today. The School of Experience has never produced a greater smoke than good old P.A.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.
