Maine Welcomes Return Of Its Alumni To Campus

Bates, Bowdoin and Colby Ask Maine Men To Hold Withdrawal From M.I.T. and F.A. In Abeyance

Representatives of Four Institutions of State Meet In Lewiston; Future Conferences On Intercollegiate Athletics Will Be Held

Maine Athletic Board Votes to Accede to Request

Upon the request of the Athletic Board, President Boardman arranged for a meeting of representatives from the Maine colleges in Lewiston, Wednesday, June 6. Bowdoin was represented by President Sills, and Athletic Director Malcolm E. Morrill. Bates was represented by President Gray, Prof. O. F. Cutts, Athletic Director, and Mr. C. A. Jenkins. Colby was represented by Dr. George F. Parmenter, Chairman of the faculty Committee on Athletics, and Athletic Director C. H. Edwards. Maine was represented by its President and Professors Corbett and Kent.

The meeting was called to discuss the points contained in the notice which announced Maine's intention of withdrawing from the M.I.T. and F.A. The conference developed into an earnest discussion of athletic policies which resulted in the following action:

"The presidents of Bowdoin and Bates, and the Executive Committee of Colby College request the authorities of the University of Maine to hold in abeyance their proposed withdrawal from the M.I.T. and F.A. pending future conferences relating to intercollegiate athletics in Maine."

At a meeting of the University of Maine Athletic Board held after the return of the delegates it was unanimously voted to accede to this request and it was further voted that President Boardman be asked to write the presidents of the other

Maine Baseball Team Defeats Bowdoin and Colby; Loses to Bates

Brice's Charges Spring Surprise In First Two Games

Bates and Colby Tied For Lead

Brice's ball team surprised its followers this week by defeating Bowdoin and Colby in State series games. The old jinx returned on Tuesday, however, and a defeat of 9 to 0 by Bates spoiled what was expected to be a big comeback.

Behind the stellar pitching of Les Wass the University of Maine pastimers whipped the Polar Bears of Bowdoin 7 to 3 on Saturday afternoon. Although Bowdoin played peerless ball, the Pale Blue sluggers hit "Cliff" Gray, Bowdoin hurler, hard, tallying 12 hits.

Maine jumped Bowdoin at the start, when Wescott singled and Nanigian followed with another. Plummer went out on a fielder's choice and then Jim Buzzell came through with a nice single and Wescott and Nanigian crossed the plate. In the fifth Bowdoin scored three runs on loose fielding by Maine.

Wass was effective in pinches and held Bowdoin at bay while Gray was being hit freely by the Bears. Jim Buzzell, playing right field for Maine, turned in a perfect afternoon, batting for 1,000 and fielding the same.

The University of Maine pastimers gave the old dope bucket a kick and slugged their way to a 3 to 2 victory over Colby on Alumni Field, Monday afternoon. The Colby infield had a tough day, musing up five chances and fielding slow. Several boners were costly to the downriver lads. Maine kept the ball well in hand most of the game and Colby did not threaten Hank Goudy except for the sixth inning. Hank pitched a cool game and was touched for only six hits.

Nanigian continued his good play but Buzzell was the outstanding star. He caught five line drives that had extra bases labeled on them and his slashing drive into center field broke up the game in the ninth when there were two men on and none out. Corbett made two pretty stops at second and Plummer played a steady game at first.

Twelve Classes To Hold Regular Reunions; 1878 Is To Celebrate 50th Graduation Anniversary

Interesting Program Arranged To Provide Entertainment For Several Hundred of Maine's Loyal Sons and Daughters Over Week End

Banquets and Dances Features of Enjoyment

The University of Maine welcomes the return to the campus of several hundred of its alumni this week. The class of 1873 is the oldest group to be represented at the regular reunions, while the class of 1878 is to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its graduation by bringing together over sixty percent of its living members. Ten other five year classes have plans ready for entertaining their returning members, and with all these men and women assembled for Alumni Day there will be a happy gathering. A program has been arranged for their pleasure and convenience, and after months of preparation and correspondence by the Alumni and class secretaries everything is ready for making them feel at home once again.

It appears that the usual number of alumni will be back so ample accommodations have been provided for them. The hotels of Bangor will take care of many who prefer to stay off the campus; the Elms Inn and the University Inn in Orono are available for limited numbers; sections are reserved for alumni and wives in either Balentine or Hannibal Hamlin Hall. Meals are to be served in the student dining halls, and good food and reasonable prices are promised. The dormitory rooms are cleaned up to accommodate the largest number. The Alumni luncheon will be held at the Commons at 12:30 Saturday, and salmon will be the main course. The Alumni banquet will be held in Alumni Hall at 6:00 P.M. and chicken and lobster salad will be served for more than 500 people. At the banquet President Boardman will be toastmaster and the speakers will be: George F. Scribner, '28, president of the senior class; Daniel Chase, '08; C. E. Elwell, '78; and R. H. Fogler, '15, president of the Alumni Association. The marshalls will be Dan Chase '08, chief marshall, and Theodore Munroe, '24, assistant. Others will be selected from the reunion classes.

The Student Hop will be held Friday evening and the Alumni Hop Saturday evening. A good orchestra has been secured to furnish music. Amory Houghton will be floor manager.

The class frolics will be staged on Alumni Field Saturday afternoon, prior to the baseball game.

The program for the week appears elsewhere in the Campus.

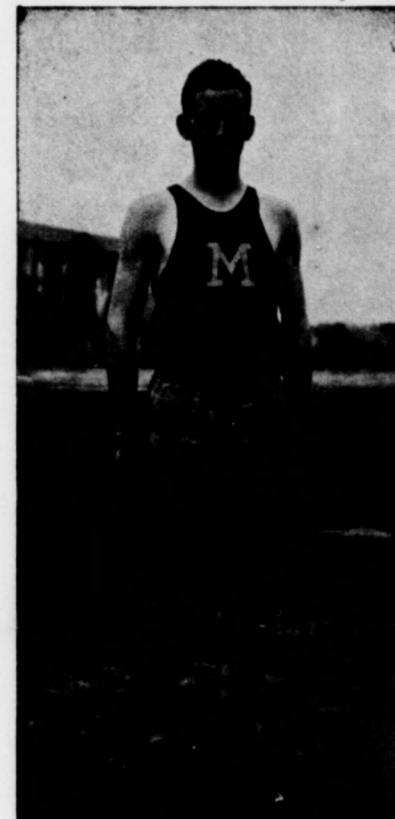

Eleven Men To Become Senior Skulls Tonight

The Senior Skulls initiation and banquet will be held at the Elms Inn tonight at 8:00 P.M. At this time the following eleven men will be initiated: Edmund F. Black, James C. Buzzell, George L. Coltart, William J. Hartley, Elmer G. Horton, John B. Lynch, Victor B. MacNaughton, George F. Mahoney, Winfield S. Niles, Roderic C. O'Connor, and Robert D. Parks.

Ollie Berg '24, will act as toastmaster and the speakers will be Phil R. Hussey '12, and George L. Coltart of the initiates. Impromptu speeches will follow.

WELCOME BACK

On behalf of the student body of the University the Campus welcomes Maine's returning alumni. Some of you will find the old place changed but you will all agree that it has improved in many respects. We hope that you will enjoy your short stay on the campus and will be able to recall many happy memories of the days you passed here during your four years of training for Life.

OUR DISSATISFIED SENIOR

A few weeks ago the Campus published an anonymous letter supposedly written by a dissatisfied member of the graduating class. Much comment has followed its publication and in this issue we are printing the following reply written by an instructor at the University. We like it.

Orono, Maine,
May 25, 1928

Mr. _____,
c/o The Maine Campus
Dear Mr. _____:

Because it seemed to me that you did not quite include my type in your recent anathema, and because I felt that you would want the condemnation to be as nearly complete as possible, I determined to crawl from my obscure corner and say a few words to you. To save you the time of running down my genius and species, I will classify myself: I belong to the great group of tired instructors—those who nine-tenths of the time don't know what the assignment is "all about", and on the tenth occasion are just too weary. (I believe that you hadn't run across any tired ones.) And now I want to tell you a little story:

Several years ago an extra-fresh freshman entered Yale University. On the day of the first meeting of the English section to which the prodigy had been assigned, the instructor, feeling especially original, asked the group to write a theme (you know the kind—two hundred word limit, even if you stop in the middle of a sentence), and the title of this theme was to be, "What I Expect to Learn from My Course in Freshman English." Well, this little freshman turned in his paper in three minutes, and when the instructor had recovered from the effects of the lad's cyclonic departure, he took up the paper, gazed upon it, and read: "I expect to learn absolutely nothing. I don't need the course. Freshman English is a lot of twaddle."

Some months later the instructor felt original once more,—on the occasion of the last meeting of the class referred to. He suggested a novel title for the final theme: "What I Have Learned From My Course in Freshman English." Naturally he was curious to read the extra-fresh freshman's paper. He dwelt upon his fancied success with this student; upon his ability to free him from his sullenness; to create in him a love of figures of speech. So uncontrollable was his desire to see what the lad had written,—to be buoyed up by the eulogium of his latest disciple,—that he tore open the papers on his way home, thumbed them nervously, extracted the fresh freshman's, and read: "Just as I expected, I learned nothing. In fact, the course has been so odious that more than once have I been tempted to leave the university. I tell you sincerely that I feel that I was robbed by the course; the hours consumed by it were stolen from me." And on and on the denunciation ran, getting more violent with each sentence. Feebly the unhappy instructor caught up his red pencil and wrote: "At least, Mr. Smith, you can condemn more effectively now than you could last fall."

Now, Mr. _____, if you will learn to employ slang somewhat more artistically, and if you will promise to master the past tense of the verb spring, I shall be very happy to recommend you for the position of denouncer-in-chief of educational and eleemosynary corporations within the United States and territories thereof. You have earned the honor.

But referring to your statement that no one ever tried to sell you education, I should like to know a little more about your shopping tour. So far as I am aware, there is no university in the country that has a bargain basement. The prospective purchaser of knowledge must be willing to buy on the main floor, and he must offer the full price of the commodity that he seeks. On the main floor, you know, the clerks do not scream for trade, and they offer no price-cutting.

I believe, however, that you have failed to invest as much of your wealth as you intended because you haven't seen certain of the departments of this store—the departments labeled Philosophy, Sociology, Psychology. Let your next shopping tour lead you to these, and if here you

AU REVOIR 1928

To the members of the class of 1928 we again express our best wishes for success in the future. We believe that you will be creditable representatives of the University of Maine in the fields which you intend to follow. Remember your friends who are not yet finished here and keep in touch with their actions through the Campus. We are going to publish a larger and better paper next fall and your criticism and comment will be appreciated. Good luck!

Athletic Prospects For Fall Are Bright

A chance for first place in the national cross country meet at Van Courtland Park, New York City, is the prospect which faces the varsity country team next fall. Led by Harry Richardson, who placed second in this meet last year, and five other veteran letter men including Lindsay who took fourth in the nationals last fall, Maine will make a strong bid for the national championship. Her chief rivals seem to be Penn State, New Hampshire, and Holy Cross, all of whom have strong teams. A first place for Harry Richardson in this important event is hoped for.

Thirteen men have been chosen to report for pre-season training, one week before school commences next fall. The squad will eat together at Mount Vernon and live at fraternity houses. It will be the first year that Maine has had pre-season training in cross country. The men who will report are Captain McNaughton '29, G. E. Austin '30, E. B. Brooks '31, H. S. Caler '30, R. F. Chandler '29, F. C. Lindsay '30, S. T. Mank '30, B. F. Merrill '29, W. L. Noyes '29, H. L. Richardson '30, C. C. Stinson '29, G. M. Thurston '31, R. C. Wilkins '29, and K. Larsen '29.

With six of the varsity football eleven being lost by graduation, football material for next fall looks green but promising, according to Coach Brice. The greatest problem seems to be the developing of a kicker and passer to fill the opening left by Peakes. All men have been invited to be back to school September 14, when the usual pre-season training begins.

The regular players left are Buzzell and Coltart in the backfield and Zakarian, Lynch, and Black in the line. Other men who have had considerable experience in varsity games are Abbott, Moran, Young, Airolidi and Noddin in the backfield, and Gray and Vail in the line. A number of likely looking green prospects remain among whom are Palmer, Reid, Gowell, Skinner, Hickson and Daley. Several good men are coming up from last year's freshman team, the best of whom seem to be Hall, Horne, and Elliot.

During the summer, a circular letter will be sent out by Coach Brice to instruct the men how to keep in shape. When they return September 14, the entire squad will eat together at Mount Vernon. During this first week there will be two sessions each day besides talks on rules and skull talks.

Charles Edward Crossland, 1917, executive secretary to the director of the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture and agricultural editor for the University, was chosen Alumni Secretary at the meeting of the executive committee this afternoon.

READ 'EM AND WEEP

The alumni are back not only to sing "Fill the Steins" but also—!!?

Senior—taking class for indisposed professor: "Now, will you explain what keeps us from falling off the earth when we are upside down?"

Frosh—"Yes, sir, the law of gravitation."

Upstage whisper—"But how did people stay on before the law was passed?"

1st Co-ed: Oh, Joe is so romantic! Everytime he speaks to me he says, "Fair Lady!"

2nd ditto: Oh, that's force of habit; he used to be a street car conductor.

To the departing seniors:

I
The seniors are beginning to commence. They have started to get ready to go. They are trying to show common sense. With intellects retarded and slow.

II
Their I. Q.'s are not very high. At their ranks they look, worried and blue. But to them we cannot praise deny. 'Cause for some it took years to get thru.

III
When they're gone we sure won't miss them much. But "you can't say that," don't you know. Cradle-snatchers, gold-diggers and such. We'll be damn glad to see them all go.

IV
Good old seniors! Congrats! On the way you have managed your "pull". If some disagree with us here, Frankly they're just throwing the "bull."

The way it goes:

Freshman year: "Comedy of Errors"
Sophomore year: "Much ado About Nothing"

Junior year: "As You Like It"

Senior year: "All's Well that Ends Well"

"Let's go, Team," yelled the farmer.

I
When lips are cherry red
When eyes are blue,
"Vision of loveliness"
I think, don't you?

II
When eyes are cherry red
And lips are blue,
"Some one's been on a bat"
I think—don't you?

And now we have the Halitosis song
"Moonbeams kiss her for me."

Alumnus—"Professor, I have made some money and I want to do something for my old college. I don't remember what studies I excelled in, if any."

Professor—"In my classes you slept most of the time."

Alumnus—"Uh! Well, I'll endow a dormitory."

Varsity baseball letters have been awarded to Captain Nanigian, J. C. Buzzell, H. A. Plummer, H. P. Hamilton, C. D. True, R. V. Lathrop, L. Airolidi, L. E. Wescott, G. C. Goudy, H. W. Peakes, L. L. Wass, W. S. Reid, W. S. Hayden, and R. C. O'Connor, Mgr.

Fred Brice, coach of varsity football, baseball, and basketball leaves Sunday to spend the summer in Pittsfield, Massachusetts. He will return to be on the campus several days before the football squad arrives in order to have arrangements complete for pre-season practice.

OUR COLLEGE MEMORIES

Amid the gathering evening glooms
The students hurry to their rooms,
And twilight slowly, gently falls,
As happy cries exultant rise
Within the lighted halls.

From out the "frats" young voices ring
The songs of youth that youth will sing,
And loyal hearts are greeting friends
Whose warm embraces light the faces
Where their journey ends.

In the "dorms" the girls are dancing—
Their emotions sweet, entrancing;—
Happy feet all keeping time
In the light of falling night
Just after the supper time.

Sweet is youth, and rude its waking,
Yet, before the dream starts breaking,
Let us cling to thoughts like these—
Happy, fleet, enchanting, sweet—
Our college memories.

When there comes that day of parting,
SMILE! and keep those tears from starting.

One more handclasp, dear old friend;
Don't forget that we have met;
Remember to the end.

It is probable that Black will be chosen to go to the Olympic Games, and there is a good chance that Richardson may be successful. No University of Maine athlete has ever competed in the Olympic games.

The other men invited to enter the try-outs were Atkins and Toalin of New Hampshire, Bicknell of Boston University, Chapman and Wakeley of Bates, Collier and Russell of Brown, Daley, McDonald, and Quinn of Holy Cross, Mead of Wesleyan, Rogers of Boston College, Sansone of Colby, and Lucas of Bowdoin.

Varsity track letters have been awarded to the following men: Capt. Samuel A. Thompson '28, Emerson A. Stymiest '30, Winfield S. Niles '29, Steven T. Mank '30, Harry L. Richardson '30, Frederick B. Maine Baseball Team Defeats Bowdoin and Colby, Loses to Bates

The Colby team did not fare so well either in the field or at bat. Nizolek had a poor afternoon, dropping two easy ones and musing up a bunt. Hedderig, catching a great game for Colby, steadied his team and kept their heads a little above water in the pinches. He found Goudy for two solid blows that drove in one run and started a rally in the ninth with two out.

Bates whitewashed the University of Maine baseball team 9 to 0 Tuesday afternoon at Orono. This puts Bates into a tie for first place honors of the State League with Colby.

Norris Marston pitched wonderful ball, allowing but 3 hits and the whole Bates team gave him perfect support except for one miscue. The Bates stickmen found Peakes for 13 safe hits, being able to score almost at will.

The Bates club earned most of their runs excepting the three in the first inning. All their hits came at just the right moments.

The Bates infield worked like clockwork with Small and Turner carrying the brunt of the work. Their only error came when Cole let an easy roller slide through his feet. The Maine infield did not look so snappy, making two errors and fielding slow. Airolldi received the only safe hit of the game for Maine when he poled out a long triple into center that could have been made a homer with the proper coaching from third. Peakes dropped a mean fly just over the infield's head into right that went for a bingle. Lathrop was the only other Maine man to obtain a hit when he beat out a throw to first from shortstop.

Black Chosen Captain of 1929 Track Squad

England champion in the 16 pound hammer throw. He is also a winning competitor in the javelin throw, discus throw, and shot put. He won sixteen points for Maine in the state meet this spring, eight points in the New Englands, and four points in the nationals. If Black goes to the Olympic games this year, as it seems certain that he will, he will be the first University of Maine man to whom this honor has fallen.

Black has been an All-Maine football end for the last two years. He pitched for the varsity baseball team last year but has devoted all his time to track this spring. He will compete for the Newark A. C. this summer. Last year under the colors of this club he became Junior Metropolitan champion in the twelve pound hammer throw.

Black prepared at Portland High School where he was captain of track under Coach Frank Preti, a former Maine track star. He also played hockey, baseball, and football at Portland, where he was rated as the best football player, best track man, and one of the best hockey players in the state.

He is one of the new Senior Skulls initiates and is a member of Phi Eta Kappa fraternity.
