The Commission wish to thank the citizens and lot owners of the several cemeteries for their kindness and helpfulness the past year. We note with pleasure the general improvement of the lots. While there are some which remain in an unkept condition, we wish to impress on the owners of such lots the necessity of improvement.

Nineteen hundred and fifty dollars (1,950 00) has been donated for special and perpetual care of lots. We wish to emphasize the wisdom of providing for the present and future care of lots.

The Commission recommends for the care and improvement of the several cemeteries in town the coming year an appropriation of one hundred dollars.

Respectfully submitted,
 CHARLES R. LORING,
 Chairman of Commission.

Report of the School Committee and Superintendent of Schools.

The following brief report of the condition of our schools is submitted for your consideration and approval.

The people of North Yarmouth have a right to expect that our public schools should train their children for good citizenship. When the home, the school and the community work together, we may expect results such as all interested citizens are looking forward to with interest. When our boys and girls see their part in making their community life all it can be, they will not be satisfied with poor roads, a low production per acre on our farms, a school that is inefficient or a lack of the greatest of all powers, neighborhood co-operation in every undertaking which is for the welfare of the town. The school should be first in raising the standard of community life. When the older pupils are careful in their treatment of the younger ones, when all are loyal to their teacher and respectful to all with whom they come in contact, then the discussion relative to the education of our pupils will be to see how plans may be formulated whereby those children may be lifted to the highest round of the ladder of success. The formation of habits of neatness, the proper care of all school property and the love for beautiful surroundings combined with a knowledge of how to do things well, is the future capital by which our boys and girls may obtain good situations, when they have finished their school course, and go out into the world to work for themselves.

TEACHERS.

The past year has been one of unusual success. We have been fortunate in our selection of teachers and the interest manifested by all has been worthy of the highest commendation. Every elementary school teacher admits that it is difficult to teach all branches so as to get equally satisfactory results. We often hear our teachers say, "I feel almost discouraged about my sixth grade arithmetic class" or "my fifth grade language class is not doing good work" or "my eighth grade does very good work one day but poor work the next." This is characteristic of all our schools and does not signify, in the least, that our teachers are inefficient or lack enthusiasm. It is one of the inevitable conditions that now exists and always has existed since public schools were established. It is conditions of this kind that we are endeavoring to overcome by getting the pupils especially interested in the study that seems hard to him.

The teachers of North Yarmouth are those who have had Normal training, or a number of years experience, thus fitting them to meet and overcome the obstacles that all teachers have to face some time during their teaching career.

TEXT BOOKS.

Owing to the large number of pupils attending the Hick's school and for lack of room in that building several of the pupils were conveyed to the Walnut Hill school necessitating the addition of several new books, as we could not take any from the Hick's school at that time. The demand for primary arithmetics has been much larger than formerly owing to the promotion of a large number of pupils to a higher grade where a text book was required. The schools have been well supplied and a majority of the pupils take an interest in taking good care of new books furnished.

REPAIRS.

The school buildings have received careful attention. The Walnut Hill building has been shingled, the Buxton painted outside and the interior of the Dunn thoroughly painted. The other incidental repairs have been attended to. The expense the coming year will not be as large as last year.

MUSIC.

Our music teacher has been unable to carry on the instruction in music during most of the winter term but our teachers have carried along the work to the best of their ability and the music teacher has been much pleased with the results. We hope to be able to resume the work in spring.

A nice piano has been purchased for the Dunn school owing to the efforts of the teacher and the hearty cooperation of parents and pupils.
