Student Senate Recommends Referendum on Abolition of Basketball as Major Sport

Student Sentiment As Expressed by Senate Delegates Overwhelmingly in Favor Of General Referendum

It was voted to give the students of the University of Maine a referendum on whether basketball will continue as a major sport, at a meeting of the Student Senate Tuesday night. Of the 663 votes cast by delegates at the meeting, 501 were in favor of keeping basketball and 135 were opposed.

The referendum will be held Monday from 10 A.M. until 3 P.M.

The Senate voted to recommend that the Athletic Board hold a referendum for the students in connection with the regular class election to be held November 16.

Following is the list of the various delegations and the results of their votes:

The Student Senate tabled a measure requesting a holiday on Nov. 11, Armistice Day. The reason given by the administration is that if a holiday was granted the members of the R.O.T.C. would be requested to march, and as the group does not want to march it was decided to hold classes on that day.

A recommendation was made to have the letter "M" placed on the new chimney, which is under construction, and when complete will be one hundred and fifty feet high.

Colby Defeats Maine After Bitter Battle

By defeating Maine 13 to 7 at Waterville last Saturday in a muddy, rough battle Colby went into a tie with Bates for the championship of the State Series, to be fought out at Colby on Armistice Day. Colby's victory forces Maine into a tie with Bowdoin for the cellar position of the League to be decided at Orono Saturday.

Fighting to a scoreless tie in the first half of the game Maine had the edge over Colby as far as first downs were concerned, scoring five to Colby's three but Donovan's long punts kept the ball within Maine territory most of the second quarter. Long runs by the backs of either side were impossible on the slippery field, 20 yards being the maximum and only a few of these.

With Donovan hurt on Colby's touchdown play the Colby team blew up as Maine came back strong after the kick-off and in ten plays had tied the score. Runs by Daley and Riley put the ball on the Colby 6 yard line but Colby braced and held Maine for three downs. On the fourth down Lufkin caught Daley's pass for a touchdown right at the feet of Wally Donovan who was apparently "out on his feet." McCabe kicked the extra.

Riggs' Will Create Graduate Study Fund

The University of Maine is to receive the bulk of the estate of the late Louis Warner Riggs '85 of Yarmouth upon the death of his wife according to an announcement in the November ALUMNUS last Friday.

By his will, Dr. Riggs creates the Riggs Fund the income of which shall be used to provide facilities for post graduate study with special reference to original research in the departments of chemistry, engineering and biology.

Dr. Riggs who held degrees from Maine, Illinois, Wesleyan and Cornell taught in the Medical School of Cornell University from its foundation in 1898 until he retired in 1911. For the past 18 years he resided at Yarmouth where he devoted his time to writing abstracts of scientific articles and to the community interests of the town. He died January 23, 1929.

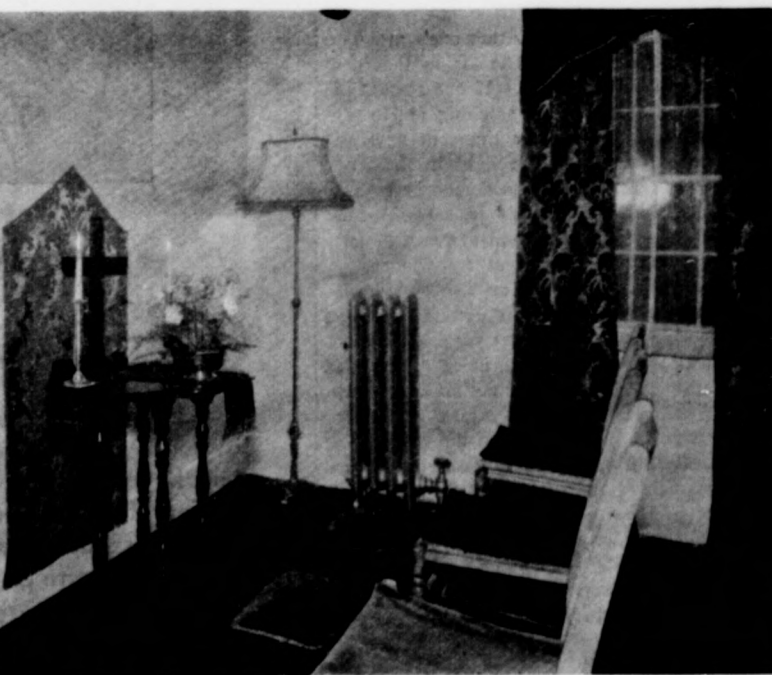

Crossland Addresses Students in Chapel

Charles E. Crossland, secretary of the Maine Alumni Association, was the speaker in Chapel Monday morning. He replied to an editorial in the Campus criticizing the alumni for their lack of action on the Memorial Gym fund.

"In the Prism of 1898 was a picture of a gymnasium," Mr. Crossland said. "This picture had a black border around it, as the State had refused the funds necessary for its erection. It seems peculiar that the same situation should arise 30 years later," he stated. "I think that the Maine team that fought so hard against Colby and Bates has given every alumnus a new sense of pride, and I hope it has to the student body as well," the speaker told his audience. "Any alumnus of Maine is proud of the team, and doesn't care who knows it," Mr. Crossland continued. "We came to the student body."

New M. C. A. Chapel

A service to dedicate the little chapel just completed in the Maine Christian Association building will be held at Alumni Hall Sunday. This room fulfills the promise to provide a quiet place for meditation and prayer made at the annual meeting last spring. From the time it was first suggested it has caused unusual interest.

Its entire cost has been met by the unsolicited contributions of a few friends, chiefly Miss Frances Arnold, formerly of Bangor.

Such a chapel, it is felt, meets a decided need in our university life, the need for a place which is quiet and conducive to study.

Varsity Eleven Struggles With Polar Bear in Annual Grid Classic; Dr. Jordan to Lead Alumni Friday

President of Alumni Association Chief Speaker Maine Night

Dr. Whitman H. Jordan of Orono, a graduate of the University, Class of 1875 is to be guest of honor at the 29th annual MAINE NIGHT which is to be held in the Indoor Field at the University Friday night beginning at 7:30. According to present indication the attendance will equal if not exceed that of former years. Coaches and Captains of the football and cross country teams will be called upon in accordance with traditions of the past.

Soon after the opening music by the band at 7:30, Charles E. Crossland, executive secretary of the General Alumni Association will introduce William McC. Sawyer '01, of Bangor who is to preside. Pauline Hall and Charles E. O'Connor, both seniors are to speak as student representatives. Fred Brice and Chester A. Jenkins, coaches of football and cross country, respectively, will talk briefly regarding their sports as will also Captain Lavon Zakarian of football, Harry Richardson and Francis Lindsay—co-captains of cross country.

Dr. Jordan will be introduced as one of the two living alumni who addressed the first MAINE NIGHT audience October 18, 1901. Records show that Dr. Jordan, now retired, came back from New York state especially for the occasion nearly three decades ago. This characterizes the great interest he has always shown in his Alma Mater.

Raymond H. Fogler '15, of New York City, president of the General Alumni Association is to be the chief speaker.

Between the talks will be singing, selections by the band and cheers led by "Prexy" Pierce. The McMichael twins, Albert and Alfred, freshmen from Pittsfield, are to put on an entertaining act.

Following the completion of the indoor program the big bonfire arranged by the Senior Skulls near the Indoor Field will be set off, a custom which has been followed for many years.

Work Underway on Home Ec Building

Work has begun on the proposed building for Home Economics which is to be located south of Winslow Hall and near the site of the new women's dormitory now under construction.

According to President Boardman it will be the most complete, although not the largest Home Economics building in New England and will answer the needs of this department for many years to come.

The design will be colonial in style, in harmony with recent new buildings on the campus, and will provide quarters for the above department together with offices for the Extension Service. The main front of the building will face the west with an entrance in the center and two entrances on the east front. The building will measure 50 x 124 feet outside, be three stories in height, with red brick exterior and granite trimmings.

PRESIDENT BOARDMAN PRAISES MAINE ELEVEN

President Harold S. Boardman who attended both the Bates-Maine and the Colby-Maine games and who is now on his way to the Pacific Coast to visit the Alumni Associations of California sent the following message to the campus:

"The game of last Saturday with Colby will go down in my memory as one of the outstanding contests played by a Maine team. I have never seen a better example of 'Maine spirit,' clean playing, and determination to win. That we lost is no disgrace. Everyone who saw the game should be proud of the team and of the fact that even against heavy odds every moment was full of fight and aggressiveness. Colby should feel proud indeed to know that she has won from such a team."

Maine Likely Winner In Last State Series Contest of Season

When the Black Bear and the Polar Bear tangle on Alumni Field Saturday to determine which one will rest in the cellar of the State Series, Maine will have risen from the injury jinx which has been following her all year and will be at top form while Bowdoin will have slumped from an auspicious start to a rather weak showing in the Series. Bowdoin was favored in the early part of the season to place at the top of the Maine college pile but fell into bad sledding just before the Series and hasn't recovered since. However, anything can happen in a Bowdoin-Maine game and the Polar Bear will have a fighting club that will force Maine to the limit to send it back to Brunswick defeated.

Maine emerged from the mire of Waterville with less injuries than has been usual in the games this fall. Jack Elliott who has been playing left tackle in the absence of Hank Horne, received a hip injury that will keep him out of the Bowdoin classic but as the Trader is now in fine shape to play again this loss will not be vital. Walter Riley, Maine's flashy running back, was badly used up at Colby but will probably be ready for the kick-off Saturday.

With the loss of Lyman Abbott in the Bates game Maine lost its kicking and passing strength. Although Maine has been scoring more first downs than most of its opponents the weakness in punting

F. G. Fassett Lectures On Methods of Study

Frederick G. Fassett of the Department of English gave the second of a series of three lectures on "How to Study," Tuesday, November 5 to a large audience in Room 305 Aubert Hall. Dean Paul Cloke of the College of Technology will conclude the series by a lecture this evening (Thursday, Nov. 7) at 6:30 in Room 305 Aubert Hall on "How to Study Physics." All freshmen engineers should attend this lecture if possible.

Mr. Fassett in lecturing on "Methods of Study" defined study as the process of acquiring education. He then defined education of today as consisting of training for a specific occupation and acquiring a broad cultural background. "A general background alone is not enough as one must be equipped to earn a living in this world, but special skill alone is not sufficient as life consists of making discriminations. We are making many choices every day, and the larger the general background for knowledge, the more material one has on which to make these discriminations. Discriminations should be used in selecting one's studies. Both studies contributing to special skill and to background should be selected. Nothing is unimportant. Every subject can be looked to for standards of one sort or another some time in life.

"Time should be to studies in proportion determined by individual needs. As man is dependent on habits for the accomplishment of tasks, each subject should be studied at the same time each day for a definite period. The walls of the study room should not be decorated in

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The action of the Athletic Board in abolishing basketball seems to be in direct opposition to the wishes of the Maine student body from the vote taken at the Student Senate meeting Tuesday night. With 501 students voting in favor of keeping basketball and only 135 voting to abolish the sport without a referendum it would seem that the hoop sport still holds an important position in the minds of Maine students. If the Athletic Board follows the will of the student body as it should, the question of whether basketball will be a major sport at the University of Maine will be decided by the result of the referendum.

The Student Senate has done much toward bringing about the referendum, and the organization has done a real service by getting for the students of Maine this referendum on the action of the Athletic Board with regard to basketball which the majority of students seem to believe unfair and not called for.

If the student body is really interested in retaining basketball as a major sport at the University of Maine when the referendum is held they will turn out in a large majority and vote against its abolishment by the Athletic Board. Student sentiment at present seems to be in favor of keeping basketball. This sentiment, however, will do little good on the day of the referendum if the men students do not turn out and vote. The constitution of the Athletic Board calls for a majority vote of the men students at the university holding blanket taxes.

A majority of the number of votes cast will not carry the referendum. In order to show that the student body wants basketball to be a major sport at Maine they must turn out as a whole and vote. A light vote will defeat the proposal to retain basketball. If the students are interested in keeping the sport they will get out every possible man to vote on the day of the referendum whether he be a fraternity, dormitory or off-campus man.

WELCOME ALUMNI

Undergraduates and alumni will gather Friday evening in the indoor field to celebrate another Maine Night. This one night during the year set apart for the manifestation of real Maine spirit is a time out-standing in the mind of every Maine alumnus and undergraduate. On this night Maine welcomes back her alumni, and tries to stir up spirit among the undergraduates so that both the old grads and the students of today may join together in a celebration for the honor and glory of the University of Maine.

Maine welcomes you, alumni, and it is hoped that your stay on the campus will be a pleasant one.

Members of the University of Maine board of administration, faculty, and student body would feel insulted if told that they were unpatriotic, and disrespectful to their country, but yet they pass by daily the tattered and torn piece of a flag straggling from the pole near the bookstore with never a thought that it is the flag of the United States of America, their country and that they are allowing it to appear before the public in a disgracefully dilapidated condition. If the university is so poor that they cannot afford a decent flag it would be better not to have any flag at all than to ridicule our national emblem as they now are by allowing the present flag to fly.

The University of Maine may be considered unpatriotic for not declaring Armistice Day a holiday. The holding of classes on Armistice Day is not, however, an attempt on the part of the university to be unpatriotic but rather to grant the students' desire for a longer vacation at Christmas. But regardless of motive the University of Maine can justly be called unpatriotic for allowing the worn out flag to fly from the college pole. Someone must be responsible for this disrespectful and careless neglect and it should be taken care of at once either by getting a new flag or by having no flag at all.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor

Maine Campus:

Dear Sir:

It is a question in the minds of many Maine students why instructors cannot correct and return prelims within a week's time. We are required to take tests at a specified hour, and it seems only reasonable that we should know the results within a week. Instructors are busy, but the student body is also busy, and although professors may not realize the fact, if one has spent four or five hours preparing for a test, it means a great deal to the student not to have to wait from ten days to two weeks to know the result. If you investigate you will find that there is a great deal of dissatisfaction concerning this matter. It does not apply to all instructors, which goes to show that if a part of the faculty can return papers promptly, the rest could do it within a reasonable time. This letter is written with a hope that it may lead to a better understanding between the student body and faculty. If some faculty member will answer this letter through the Campus and express their side of the question, it will be greatly appreciated.

Respectfully,
K. J. '31

has cost Maine much valuable distance and perhaps a game or two.

First the backfield was weak and then the line was weakened by several injuries. This has been going on all fall; the starting lineups differing in each game. At last the team is to be all together for the last game of the season and it will be ready to go places Saturday.

Maine showed that it had a fighting club last Saturday at Colby. The team did not slow down a bit after Colby had scored their first touchdown but came back like a bad check to sweep Colby off their feet and to tie the score. Even after Colby had won the game with another touchdown Maine died fighting, rushing the ball up the field in a gallant attempt to again tie the score, falling short only after Colby intercepted a pass deep in their own territory. With spirit like that a team is bound to win games if they get half a break from injuries.

The game was hard fought and every inch gained was the result of stiff bucking or clever passes. No back got away for long runs as both sides were playing strong defensive football. Colby had the final scoring punch but Maine gave the best exhibition of real rugged football that they have shown this year.

such a way as to distract one's attention from his studies. The air in the room should be kept fresh. If one smokes, he should not combine smoking and studying, but take a little time out now and then to smoke. The light in the study room must be good to do the best work. The study desk should be kept in order. This leads to order and system in studying which is of great importance. A notebook with notes on five or six subjects crowded in it is useless. A good system is to take notes on 3 by 5 cards which can be grouped, indexed, and filed away. When studying an assignment from a text book, it is a good plan to arrange the main points in the form of an analytical outline on cards as the process of making the outline will fix the material in mind. These cards filed away in proper order will be handy for reference and review. As system is the secret of business success, the importance of a system of study can not be over emphasized.

Key Town selling —a new telephone idea

Commercial development men of the Bell System have originated a new use of the telephone which is proving economical and efficient for modern salesmanship. From important central towns the salesman makes periodic visits to customers and prospects by telephone.

To conceive this idea, to make it practical by selecting Key Towns on a basis of most advantageous rates to surrounding points, and to sell it as a business practice—all this illustrates how telephone service is as open as any commodity to constructive imagination.

Key Town selling is one of many indications of the steady demand, present and to come, for more and more telephone service.

The Manager of the Strand Theatre in Orono, announces the showing of Moran and Mack, the two Black Crows in "Why Bring That Up", for Armistice Day. These two famous comedians have been heard by millions of people throughout the medium of radio, but this is the first opportunity that the public will be able to see them as well as hear them. It is an all-talking picture, and the mirth provoking sayings of the two comedians should keep the audience in a happy mood.

Mr. Goldsmith, manager of the Strand Theatre, wishes to announce that plans are under way for completely silencing the noise from the bowling alley in the basement of the theatre. At first it was thought that the alleys would have to be removed, but since that time Mr. Goldsmith has been advised of a new method of sound insulation, which will eliminate this objectionable noise.

STUDENT WORK OBJECT OF FACULTY ATTENTION

The method of assisting students whose written work shows a need of more training in English has been left with the different college faculties for administration. At a meeting of the faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences held Monday, November 4, it was voted that students who are reported for faulty written English may at the discretion of the committee be compelled to take during the following semester a special one-hour course in English without credit. This course may be continued during subsequent semesters if the work is not satisfactory. Dean Chase and Dr. Drummond with the Dean of the College constitute the committee on Students' use of English.

STUDENTS MEET WITH SOCIAL COMMITTEE

A conference committee composed of representatives of the fraternities and the sororities met with Professor Corbett at Rogers Hall last Thursday afternoon. The purpose of this meeting was to discuss the general regulations of the social affairs of the University. Professor Corbett read the rules through, and they were all approved by the committee with the exception of open house being considered as one of the informal parties. There will be further discussion about this matter.

STUDENTS ATTENTION

For self supporting students desiring fascinating, remunerative work either temporary or permanent, may I suggest that many students of both sexes have earned scholarships and cash sufficient to defray all college expenses, representing national magazine publishers. If interested, write or wire for details.

Crossland Addresses Students in Chapel

dents last year honestly believing that the cost of the gymnasium would be $225,000. Later on, however, we found that the actual cost would be $326,000. In the past year we have received $90,000, mostly from those who had already given once. We have received a very pleasing response from the alumni, but we are having difficulty in collecting some of the money pledged," he said. "Two men are in the field working to get new subscriptions and collect the old ones, but I cannot tell you when the building can be started. No one knows exactly. We do not want to start until we have most of the money in our hands. We do not want to modify the plans of the building, because a smaller gym would be inadequate for our needs," Mr. Crossland told the students. "When you go home talk with the alumni about the gymnasium fund," the alumni advised students. "This will show them that the students are interested. The alumni have done, and are doing the very best that they can to put the drive over," Mr. Crossland concluded.

GIRLS' VARSITY HOCKEY TEAM TO MEET WILTON

One of the first events of the coming week-end is the Wilton Academy and Maine varsity hockey game to be played Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The visiting team has been showing aggressive play this fall and should give the Maine team effective opposition. The varsity line-up to start this game was determined by their encounter with the freshmen, Monday afternoon, Nov. 4. No changes were made in the forward line, but several positions in the backfield were adjusted. The same line-up will undoubtedly be used in the following game with Connecticut Aggies scheduled for 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The Connecticut team is an old rival of Maine and is exceptionally fast this year so that in preparation for meeting it there may be further changes after the Wilton game. The Freshmen are playing Bucksport Academy at 9:30.

FROSH GIRLS DEFEAT M.C.I.
IN HOCKEY GAME

On the muddy field at Maine Central Institute the speedy freshman hockey team continued the good playing begun in the game with Bangor High, by defeating M.C.I. 5-0.

The M.C.I. team coached by "Al" Webster, U. of M. '29, showed good opposition but the freshmen proved too fast for them. The latter were aided by their cleated shoes, however, while the M.C.I. players were inconvenienced by wearing ordinary sneakers.

Asa Wasgatt Elected
President of Maine
Debating Council

Asa Wasgatt '30 was elected president of the University of Maine Debating Council at a meeting held in the Arts and Sciences building Tuesday afternoon.

Debating prospects for the coming year seem most promising. Over 25 candidates answered Mr. Bricker's first call. The number exceeds any of recent years. However, many more who were not present at the first meeting of the debating are expected to come out. These are requested to see either Wasgatt or Spear.

Arrangements for debates have been made with several colleges and negotiations for several more are in progress. It is expected that the schedule for debating team will be well filled before Mr. Bricker begins work in earnest.

YOU'LL GET A FEELING FOR THIS ONE . . .

IT'S Ukulele Ike's newest record hit—a corking good pair of numbers crooned by an ace performer. A plaintively sentimental song that packs a kick in every sob is backed by a peppy dance-provoker from a talkie—and both put over in stop-the-show style by Cliff Edwards. Hear it today at your dealer's, and give these others an audition, too.

WHAT YOUNGER COLLEGE MEN ARE DOING WITH WESTINGHOUSE

This 5,000 h. p. motor in the Columbia Steel Company's plant, with its frame of arc-welded steel, is physically the largest synchronous motor ever built.

Ninety days to go—
teamwork wins

While you Seniors were shuffling worries about machine stresses and saturation curves with those of football last fall, a group of your predecessors, not so many years ahead of you, were playing the game with grim realities.

The Columbia Steel Company of Pittsburg, California, completed plans on September 12th to build a new tinplate plant. On the 13th they gave an order to Westinghouse for two 5,000 horsepower synchronous motors to drive the rolls, to be physically the largest synchronous motors ever built. Delivery of the first was wanted in ninety days.

Ninety days in which to design, manufacture, assemble, test and ship any large unit, let alone a new achievement in size and type of construction, affords no time for idle speculation. Westinghouse men went at the job as only an experienced and thoroughly equipped organization could do. And on the scheduled date, four flat cars and a box car rolled out of the Westinghouse plant, carrying the completed and tested motor.

It was an industrial victory, as satisfying as any athletic gain. Teamwork and individual skill had won. Westinghouse had once more made good and upheld the reputation that earns the big electrical jobs for Westinghouse men.
