PRISM

Annual Out Next Week, Many New Features

The Prism, which the Junior Class publishes each year, will make its initial appearance about the middle of next week and it is hoped that this publication will be on a par with the high standard set by previous boards who each year have striven to excell that which has gone before.

In the 1911 Prism several new features have been inaugurated. Instead of the old style board cover, the whole edition will be bound in a brown flexible leather which will harmonize with the India tint of the paper. The cover itself will be practically plain except for the words "The Prism" in the upper left hand corner and "1911" in the lower right hand corner.

The faculty section will be enclosed by borders and only the photographs of the heads of the various departments will be used. The border about the page helps to set off the printed matter and to give the page an appearance of completeness.

The drawings especially are of note, entirely original work being employed throughout, containing ideas which have never been used in former Prisms.

The class histories are unique,—two of them in dialect, one in the form of narrative verse, and the other on the plan of a diary. These articles, as the word history implies, are designed to trace the career of a class from its entrance to the University up to the present time.

In the junior section four cuts are run upon a page these in turn being surrounded by an appropriate border similar to that of the faculty. Under each name will appear the college honors and now and then some peculiar mannerism, followed by the grind, which has been written with the intention of furnishing a description of the prominent characteristics of the student.

In place of a long list of names for summer school a short article will be used in conjunction with pictures, endeavoring to explain the delights and charms of the summer session.

In former years much space has been allotted to fraternities including a picture of the house opposite the picture of the fraternity group. This year two pages and an insert are allowed each fraternity and the houses are artistically arranged upon two pages following the full page fraternity drawing.

College clubs are placed in the next section and much originality has been used in the drawing of the many headings. Each club in college occupies a separate page, the roll call of the members being given under each heading.

The musical club section and that of dramatics are very similar to those of last year except that there is a four page write-up of the latter club with pictures of last year's cast upon the several pages.

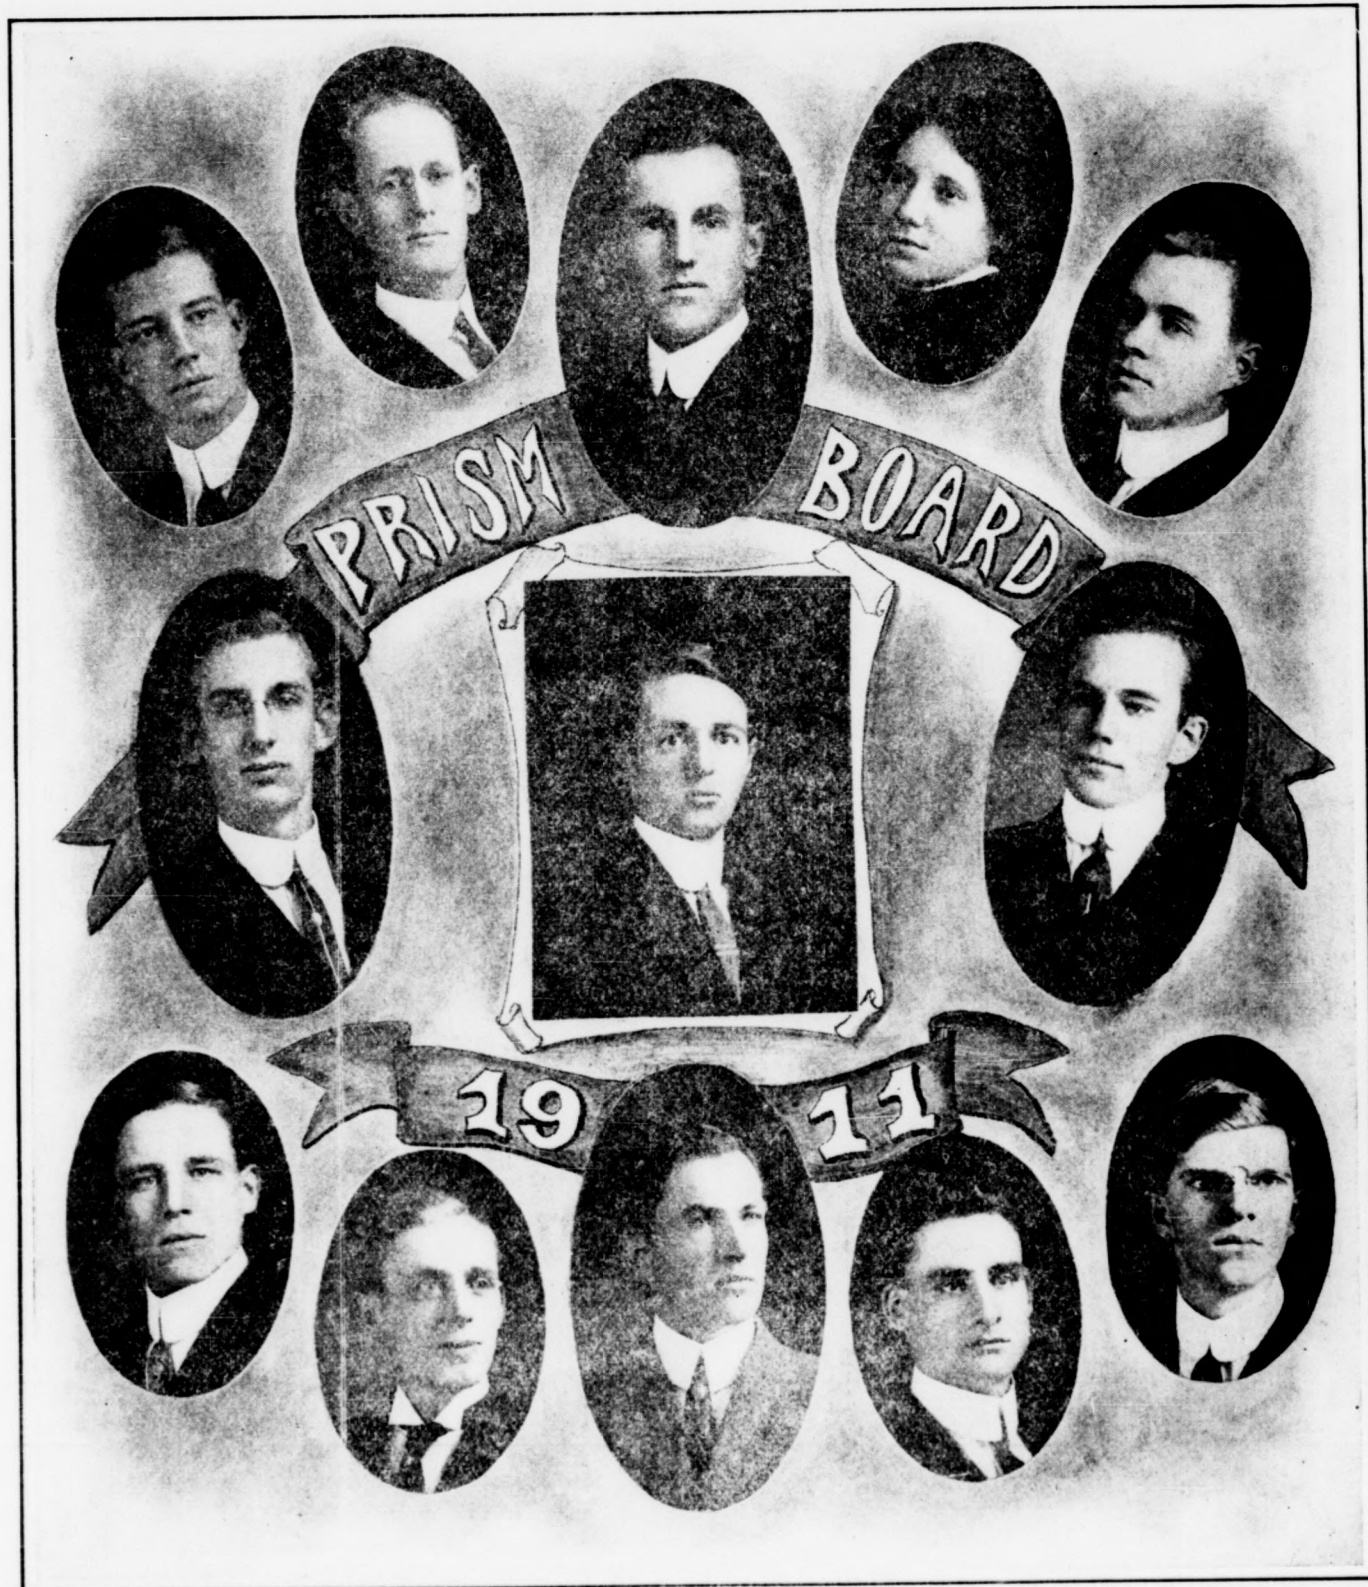

Commencement contains the usual programmes of the events which have taken place during the year and is featured by a color plate entitled "The Prom Girl" drawn by Mrs. R. K. Jones and executed by the Suffolk Engraving of Boston, Mass.

The athletic part of the book will contain summaries of the various teams. The full page cut for athletics is from a model in clay done by Professor C. W. Weston and photographed. The model is of a prominent Maine athlete, and is indeed a decided departure from anything ever attempted before in Prism work.

The military department and publications will be well covered and the grind section of thirty-six pages will have for a new idea a special border around each page, drawn by the Prism artist, A. Clement Eaton, '11.

MEETING EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The regular May meeting of the Executive Committee of the Athletic Association was held in the Library, Tuesday evening, May 10. Nothing of great importance was done, except that the Committee decided that it would be an impossibility to change the constitution and by-laws this year, as had been planned, on account of lack of time. As the old constitution does not limit the election of the association officers to the Executive Committee, it was practically decided to hold a special meeting of the committee and nominate two men for each office, to be put before the whole association for election at an early date. The Committee also decided to move the trophy case which is now in Alumni Hall to the club room of the Library.

Maine's Second Game A Victory Over Bates

Maine defeated Bates in the first home game, Tuesday, by a score of 5 to 0. While the day was a little cold, Capt. McHale was in fine form, allowing but one hit and striking out ten men. Harriman, on the other hand, was hit freely, three hits bunched in the third bringing in four of Maine's runs.

Promptly at 3.30 the Maine team took the field. Keaney, the first man at the bat, sent a grounder to Goodrich and was out at first. Griffin was out on a fly to McCarthy, and Lamorey retired the side on strikes. For Maine, Smith was out, Lamorey to Dorman. Scales flyed out to Cole, and Pond struck out.

In the second, Bickford got his base on balls. Dorman struck out. Cole was out on a foul to Pond, and Irish was unable to connect. McHale's grounder was handled by Brady. Johnson hit safely past third, but was forced out at second when Keaney captured Bearce's grounder. Phillips was out, Keaney to Dorman.

In the third, Brady's grounder was stopped by Goodrich, and Harriman struck out. Keaney reached first on Scale's high throw, but was caught a moment later trying to steal second. Maine scored four runs in this inning. Goodrich hit safely to centre. McCarthy flyed out to Lamorey. Smith drew a base on balls, placing Goodrich on second. Scales drove a fly to left field, scoring Goodrich. There were too many after Pond's pop fly, so that he reached first and Smith scored. McHale then hit safely past second, scoring Scales and Pond. Johnson and Bearce were out on hits to the infield.

Bates looked dangerous for a few minutes in the fourth. Griffin was out on a grounder to Bearce. Lamorey reached first on Johnson's error. Another error placed Bickford on first, and advanced Lamorey, who then stole third. The next two men were retired, Dorman, on a fly to Pond, and Cole on a grounder to Scales. For Maine, Phillips hit safely past second. Goodrich struck out Keaney, and Brady and Dorman then worked a double play, retiring the side.

In the fifth, Irish and Harriman struck out. Brady reached first on an error, but was forced out at second. For Maine, Smith struck out. Scales was out on a fly to Cole. Pond hit safely and stole second, but was left there when McHale fanned.

Bates was out in order in the sixth. Griffin flyed to Phillips. Lamorey was out, McHale to Bearce, and Bickford failed to connect.

Johnson was out on a fly to Bickford. Bearce's fly was dropped by Irish. Phillips struck out, and Goodrich was out, Harriman to Dorman.

Dorman and Irish struck out in the seventh. Cole was out on a fly to Goodrich. McCarthy reached first on Brady's error, and was advanced by Smith's sacrifice. Scales was safe at first by an error, and McCarthy scored on Pond's out. McHale was out, Dorman to Harriman.

In the eighth, Brady was safe on Bearce's error. Harriman flyed out to Scales. Keaney reached first on Johnson's error. Griffin hit safely to right field, but Brady was forced off third and tagged by Smith. Lamorey was out, Scales to Bearce. For Maine, Johnson struck out. Bearce was out, Brady to Dorman. Phillips received his base on a dead ball, but was caught trying to score on Goodrich's two-bagger.

Bickford and Dorman were out in the ninth on hits to the infield, and Cole struck out.

Several matters of importance are to come up. The representatives for Maine will be Hon. L. C. Southard, '75, of Boston, Prof. R. K. Jones, and C. C. Johnson, '10.

EDITORIAL.

In a few weeks the Class of 1910 will be graduated. Then its 100 members will scatter all over the United States and some will even go outside this Country. If the class follows the example of the past classes its organization will cease as soon as it leaves the University, and the men will have nothing to hold together their present bond of friendship, except perhaps their fraternity relations; there will be nothing to ensure their gathering once in a while to renew their class ties, to revive their love for Maine, and to bring them to the active support of their Alma Mater.

Is not such a condition to be deplored? And it is the more to be regretted since thirty-eight classes have permitted themselves to leave the University without taking that simple step of permanent organization, which has meant so much to many colleges and might have been of so much benefit to Maine. It is true that the members of the classes become widely scattered and at a reunion only a very small proportion could probably be brought together. Yet, the occasional assembling of only a few in each class would be of great value in keeping alive the college spirit of our Alumni, and the existence of a permanent secretary would keep the members of the classes in close touch with each other.

Here is an opportunity for the Class of 1910 to set a memorable precedent. Furthermore, in the reunion of the Class of 1875 and of several of the other early classes at this Commencement there ought to be an atmosphere quite suitable for a permanent organization of these old Alumni.

Although Maine could only secure third place in the Meet at Lewiston Saturday, there is little dissatisfaction with the work of our team, for Bowdoin and Bates earned their places and the men competing for Maine did, in almost every case, all that was expected of them. When six records are beaten in one day's competition there are good grounds for regarding the meet as fast, and this one certainly was fast.

In consideration of this fact and of the fact that our team was made up mostly of men who have been developed this year, there is absolutely no reason for disappointment at their work. Beginning in the middle of the year with little material that was known to be of State Meet calibre, Coach Mills has not only brought forward several freshmen who did remarkably well Saturday, but he has also greatly increased the point earning ability of a number of the upperclassmen. Among these men who have improved considerably under his coaching may be counted Houghton, '12, Fortier, '10, Hicks, '10, Deering, '12, Bearce, '11, Strout, '11, and Winters, '10, and he has given Harmon, Powers, and Worden, all 1913 men, a start in track work which justifies the prediction that they will be strong men in a year or two.

A great amount of praise is due Mr. Mills for his work, and if he should be coach another year, with a few more would be a team.

with a few men to fill up the weak spots, he would be likely to give Maine a winning track team.

It is with eagerness that each year we greet the publication of the Prism,—eagerness to see, first, what new features it has and if The Prism it is up to the standard of Maine Prisms, and secondly, what is contained in the "grind" section that may be applicable to ourselves. On account of the lateness of Junior Week the annual will be published next week in order to insure a wider distribution among the students before they begin to leave the campus.

The book this year contains the usual sections, with, of course, many alterations and innovations. It has been the principal aim of the editorial board to make it first of all original, and in this they have succeeded well.

In consideration of the many things—the value of the book as a record of a year of college, as a reminder of pleasant days at Maine, or as a gift,—which make the Prism worth purchasing, we wonder if anyone will go home this June without a copy.

The Christian Association is deserving of commendation for its new method of bringing the students together in the weekly The Sunday Sings Sunday "sings" upon the Library steps. This departure from the old program of meetings serves a twofold purpose: it draws the attention of the student body to the Association, which fact is bound to eventually strengthen the influence of the organization in the University, and it also offers the students a chance,—the only one they have with the exception of chapel—to congregate in a semi-religious, semi-social meeting.

Each week a brief, interesting talk is given by a professor or outside speaker and University songs are sung. The singing is the chief feature of the gatherings, and this will be even more attractive as soon as the Song-books are in use. If similar sings are held next year they will undoubtedly become a regular and well supported part of the University life.

RECORDS IN THE STATE MEET

Maine Wins Third Place. Work of Team Very Satisfactory

In the most evenly contested track meet held in this State for years, in which records were broken in the two-mile race by Houghton of Maine, and in the mile, the half-mile, the high and the low hurdles, and the broad jump, Maine took third place Saturday at Lewiston, in the

FRANK. E. FORTIER, '10, Captain Track Team

Sixteenth Annual M. I. A. A. Meet, with 28 points against Bowdoin's 49 and Bates' 37. Colby gained 12 points. Many of the records, moreover, were not by a mere margin, but in the half mile and two-mile were cut down by several seconds. Although faster meets are held among the larger colleges, the work of a number of men in this meet will cause them to be closely watched when they compete against the other New England colleges next Saturday.

Maine did not expect to be held down to third place, yet there is little feeling of disappointment among the 300 fellows who went over to Lewiston to cheer on the team, for the men did the work that was expected of them. Perhaps the most remarkable races were the half-mile, which Holden of Bates won in 1 min. 56 2-5 seconds, 2 3-5 seconds less than the New England record, and the mile, in which Harmon of Maine pushed Colbath of Bowdoin to 4 min. 21 sec., 3 3-5 sec. less than the N. E. I. A. A. record. Yet, the race most interesting to Maine men was the two-mile, which, though expected to go to Slocum of Bowdoin, was captured by Houghton and Powers of Maine, who took first and second places respectively with a wonderful sprint on the last of the eight laps and after Houghton had set the pace for almost the entire distance. The running of Hicks of Maine, who for six laps kept just ahead of Slocum, had much to do with the winning of the race.

The trials were held in the morning and so that the Maine delegation might be present for these the special train started from Orono at 6.15 o'clock. It arrived in Lewiston shortly after ten and the Maine men were on the field before anything except the heats in the quarter-mile had been run off.

As a whole Maine was quite fortunate in the trials and did not lose any of her best men by having more than one of them in a heat. At the end of the forenoon's program it was evident that Bates would be a strong competitor in the finals, and that if Bowdoin won, her lead would be much smaller than she had expected at first. The two records in the hurdles were broken in the morning, when Edwards of Bowdoin lowered his own time in the 220-yard event from 25 2-5 sec. to 24 4-5 sec., and Blanchard of Bates pulled down the record of 16 2-5 sec. by 1-5 of a second in the high hurdles.

The first event in the afternoon was the trials for the 100-yard dash, in which Murphy, Deering, and Pond, of Maine, each secured second places. In the semi-final these men jogged down the stretch with Pond in the lead. It was evident that with Williams of Bates and McKenny of Bowdoin he was in fast company, yet in the final heat he and Cole of Bowdoin were tied for third place scarcely three feet behind Williams, who made the fast time of 10 sec.

In the 440-yard dash Littlefield of Maine, who has not been in the best of condition this spring, was not able to keep up with the fast clip set by Good of Colby. When Good tired on the stretch, however, Walker of Maine forged ahead and won the race.

In the low hurdles Edwards and Blanchard won first and second places and in the high hurdles Blanchard equalled the record he had made in the morning.

The mile brought Harmon, a freshman here, against Colbath of Bowdoin, who has won it for the last two years. It was conceded that with his experience and longer training Colbath had the advantage, yet on account of Harmon's work in the Interclass Meet, it was expected that he would at least push Bowdoin's star to a faster record than any he had ever made. This he did do, running himself under the New England record.

Pond of Maine qualified in the 220-yard dash but in the final heat he only secured fourth place.

Captain Fortier of Maine was expected to pick up the first five points in the half-mile and he ran his usual hard race at a clip lower than the State record of 2 min. 2 sec., but after leading for a lap and a half he was passed on the back stretch by Holden of Bates, who broke the tape at a terrific pace.

In the field events Maine was weak, yet she secured fully as many points as she expected. Worden, Phillips, and Bearce took third places in the high jump, broad jump, and hammer throw, respectively, and Strout and Fortier won second and third in the discus throw.

As a result of protests made by the managers of the three other teams at the meeting of the M. I. A. A. Friday evening, Nardini of the Colby team was debarred from competing on the ground that he was registered at Dartmouth for a short time last fall. This action took away Colby's chances of winning any points in the dashes.

The results of the meet show that much of the best work of the Maine team was done by men developed within the last year, and with the loss of only Fortier, Littlefield, and Hicks by graduation the prospects for a fast team are good. It is expected that Rogers, who was unable to take

In the hurdle events next year Maine will also have Smith, who, though he started in the 220-yard race this year, was unable to do anything on account of a weak ankle which he sprained running indoors.

MASS MEETING

First Spring Meeting Well Attended Wednesday Evening

On Wednesday evening, May 11th, one of the best mass meetings of the year was held to arouse enthusiasm for the coming track meet and for baseball. The meeting was well attended and the speeches were short, snappy and full of fight. The band played some excellent selections and helped to arouse "Maine Spirit." The meeting opened at 7.15 with a selection by the band, after which President Johnson of the Athletic Association took the chair and with a few introductory remarks called on M. R. Sumner, '11, manager of the track team, who spoke in a few words in regard to the condition of the men on the team. Captain M. J. McHale, '11, of the baseball team, was the next speaker and tendered a few words of praise to the players and Manager McCarthy and urged every fellow to go to Lewiston on Saturday. Captain Parker, '12, of the football team told of the spirit we must have to win victories in any class of athletics and said that that was the kind of spirit that would be shown on Saturday. He was followed by Manager M. F. McCarthy, '11, and Coach Keefe of the baseball team. President Fellows was called upon to represent the Faculty, and replied in well chosen words, assuring the student body that he and the entire Faculty wished the team a victory. Frank E. Fortier, captain of the track team, and Coach Mills were the last two speakers. The former spoke of the team and said every man would do his duty. Coach Mills thanked the students for the treatment he has received while here and briefly outlined what he expected the team to do Saturday. The meeting broke up after taking a collection to carry the band on the special train, and the students marched home to the strains of "Our Director."

N. E. I. A. A. MEET SATURDAY

Maine's Chances Good for Scoring Points

Manager Sumner of the track team has entered no fewer than 22 men in the New England I. A. A. Meet, which will be held on the M. I. T. field in Brookline next Saturday. Of these probably six or eight who showed up well last Saturday will be chosen. Those who are pretty sure to be selected by Coach Mills are Harmon, who, judging from his race in the State meet, might have a chance to place in the mile, Houghton and Powers, who ran such an excellent team race Saturday, and Captain Fortier, who ran a fast half-mile the same day.

SENIOR BANQUET

The Class of 1910 held its annual banquet at the Penobscot Exchange hotel in Bangor last evening. As is usual with such affairs this was a thorough success with all the courses that go to make up a real banquet and with a good list of witty toasts.

After the dessert Ernest Lamb, the toastmaster, took charge of the program with a few remarks, and then he introduced the following speakers: H. J. Cook on Athletics, C. C. Johnson on Our Prospects, C. A. Hall on Society, H. W. Wright on Our Absent Co-Eds, H. N. Danforth on Summer School and Autoing, and C. L. Graham on Our Alma Mater. The committee in charge of the banquet consisted of W. M. Wentworth, A. H. T. Schierloh, and F. E. Fortier.

INTERSCHOLASTIC MEET

Hebron, Portland High and Nine other Schools Entered

The Interscholastic Meet, to be held here May 21, will without doubt be one of the most interesting ever held upon our athletic field. Last year Portland High carried off the victory without any difficulty. In the Interscholastic Meet held at Bowdoin later in the year, she lost by a few points to Hebron Academy. This year Hebron will be entered up here and Portland hopes to regain her lost prestige. Hebron and Portland, although they appear to have the strongest teams, will not gain all the first places by any means. There are strong men coming from many other places about the state. Bangor and Westbrook will send up good teams while many of the other preparatory schools will have their stars here. The schools that are entered are: Hebron, Portland, Westbrook, Bangor, Foxcroft, Bar Harbor, Deering, M. C. I., Abbott, Old Town, Orono, Coburn C. I., and Patten.

INTERSCHOLASTIC PRIZE SPEAKING

Saturday evening, May 21st, will take place the annual Interscholastic Prize Speaking in Alumni Hall. The program this year appears especially attractive, since nearly all of the more prominent high schools and academies in the state are to be represented by speakers. The selections chosen for delivery are all of a high order and afford a wide range for the employment of skill in their interpretation. The names of the speakers, their subjects, and the school each represents are as follows:

Stasia J. Scribner, Bangor High School, Bangor,
"A Man at Court," by Justin McCarthy
Alfred Watts Newcombe, Hebron Academy, Hebron,

This excellent program certainly deserves to have a large student and faculty audience. Not only will it be an evening interestingly spent, but if the chapel is well filled with students, the competitors will carry away a feeling that we are interested in the schools which they represent.

JUNIOR WEEK

Handsome Programs Ready for Distribution

The final arrangements for Junior Week have been completed and all that remains to be desired is fair weather to assure a most successful time. The programs have arrived and are now on sale at the different fraternity houses, and in Orono. They are very attractively gotten up in light tan leather, with a print of the Library in colors, and the Maine Seal on the cover. The programme itself is printed in brown ink on egg shell paper, and contains the Order of Exercises, Junior Exhibition speakers, the committees and the class roll.

The Junior Week Committee consists of George Dunham Bearce, Ernest Thaxter Walker, Leslie Jack Wertheim, Frank Elwyn Southard, Harold Grinnell Wood.

The Junior Prom committee is not able to announce many of its plans as yet, but is working diligently to bring the dance up to the high level set in years past. It is hoped that the committee may be able to make a departure from the old way of decorating the gymnasium without detracting from its attractiveness.

The dance orders will be of leather, slightly darker than the Junior Week programs. The order consists of twenty-four dances, with no extras, and will be posted shortly before the dance.

DRAMATIC CLUB AT BANGOR

Last Performance Before Junior Week Next Friday Evening

Although the Dramatic Club has only presented its play, "A Pair of Spectacles," on two occasions, it has already been proved that this comedy is one of the best ever undertaken by the Club. Comments to this effect have been made by those who have seen the play, but not by students, for few students have had the opportunity of witnessing it. They will have an opportunity, however, next Friday evening, when the Club is going to play in the Bangor city hall.

In some respects this bright, sparkling comedy is better adapted than was Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing" last year to the work of students, whose time for rehearsals is limited and who are amateurs anyway. Furthermore, the small cast makes it possible for all the prominent parts to be taken by men who are known about the University as "star" actors. Among these are O. A. Wakefield as Mr. Goldfinch, F. W. Pettey as Uncle Gregory, M. E. Fassett as Dick, H. P. Sweetser as Bartholomew, and Ernest Lamb as Percy.

The Club made a good hit with the Bangor people last year and it is pretty sure to be well received this year. Although many of the students will see the play when it is presented in the gymnasium Junior Week, the management hopes that a large number of them will be present at it in Bangor. This is an opportunity which those who cannot remain for Junior Week can ill afford to miss.

ARTS AND SCIENCE FACULTY MEET

Wednesday Lecturers for Next Year Chosen

One of the most important matters taken up at the meeting of the Faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences Monday evening, May 9th, was the selection of the professors to deliver the Wednesday lectures next year. It was decided that the course should be carried on by Professors Huddleston, Chase, Segall, and G. W. Thompson, heads of the departments of Greek, Latin, Romance Languages and German, respectively. The general subject to be covered by the course has not yet been chosen, but it will probably be announced shortly. The Faculty also decided to continue the Friday chapel talks next year.

A very interesting paper was given by Prof. McKee upon the work of the Chemistry department.

WEDNESDAY LECTURE

Prof. Daggett on Tennyson

On Wednesday afternoon, Prof. Daggett delivered his third lecture of the general lecture course to a large audience. As this is the last series of lectures this year, many are availing themselves of the opportunity of hearing them. The subject this time was Alfred Tennyson, dealing especially with the different aspects of his poetry.

Prof. Daggett, in order to bring out more forcibly the different characteristics of the poet and the style of his writing, compared him with Browning. These two great authors both belonged to the Victorian Era and their lives seemed to run parallel to one another. Tennyson was born in 1809, and died in 1892, while Browning was born in 1812 and died in 1889. Living as they did, their lives being so connected and each being surrounded by the same environment, it is very interesting to note the entirely different method and style of their writings.

Tennyson's first poem, Two Brothers, was published in 1826. This was followed by The Princess in 1842. Until then he had been known only to a few people but on the publication of this latest poem he received recognition from the public in general. From this date on for some 10 years, different works appeared, until in 1850, he published one of his greatest pieces, In Memoriam.

Browning, on the other and, published his first poem in 1833. Following this in 1849 he put forth a collection of a great variety of poems. During all this time of great productivity he had a small following and, in fact, had only 10 years of public recognition.

In comparison of their styles, the following should be noted. Browning wrote impulsively and with a variety of expression, while Tennyson was exactly the opposite. The former's originality was born in him while the latter grew into his. The first was a man of all countries, the second distinctly English in what he said and extremely patriotic. Tennyson approached nearer to the noble living forms of human nature than Browning. The latter was more complex. Tennyson liked the pure in life and consequently attracted the attention aesthetically.

In the composition, Browning did not take care what he put into a poem, was sometimes careless, and ran away with the subject, while Tennyson was very studious and careful.

The members of the Arts Club are planning to hold a supper at the Niben Club on May 21st.

BATTALION INSPECTION

Captain Lockridge Here on May 19th

Word has been received by Colonel Varnum that Captain P. D. Lockridge of the General Staff, with headquarters at Washington, who is on a tour of inspection of all organizations of cadets situated at State Universities and Military Colleges along the Atlantic coast, will be here Thursday, May 19th, to inspect the Battalion. The cadets have been working hard in preparation for the visit of the inspecting officer and a good showing should be made at this time. On account of five long winter months when drill out of doors was impossible the battalion has been somewhat handicapped. During the last month, however, Major G. A. Springer, '10, has been drilling the men in battalion movements and they now have the manoeuvres well in hand.

On May 30th, the entire battalion will go to Bangor to take part in the Memorial Day exercises, which are to be held there under the direction of the G. A. R. The companies will be taken to Bangor in special cars and on arriving there, will march in the parade to Mt. Hope cemetery, where exercises will be held. Then the line of march will form and return to Bangor, where a banquet will be served.

JUNIOR CIVIL MEETING

Society Entertains Sophomores Civils at Smoker

Thursday evening, May 12th, the Junior Civil Society held the last regular meeting and smoker of the year, with the Sophomore Civils as their guests. A. M. Blanchard, president of the society, opened the meeting with a welcome to the Sophomores, and then called for a report of the year's work from H. P. Burden, treasurer.

Mr. Blanchard then introduced Col. Varnum, who spoke briefly of the training and work of the Engineer Corps of the United States Army. All fortifications, and all internal improvements and surveys not coming under the Coast and Geologic Survey, are under the charge of this department. necessarily the work of an Army Engineer is therefore exceedingly complex and diversified.

Professor Boardman followed Col. Varnum, and outlined the work of the Junior Civil Society, its aims and plans for the future. He hopes next year to be able to obtain some very excellent speakers to lecture before the members, and urged that the present Sophomores continue the practice inaugurated by the Juniors, of having papers read by the members at the regular monthly meetings.

CAMPUS CHAT

Although the Song-books were not on hand for use at the Christian Association sing Sunday afternoon, the students who assembled on the Library steps at six o'clock spent a very pleasant hour singing various old songs and hymns and listening to a talk by Prof. G. W. Thompson on The Present Day Hero. Prof. Thompson contrasted the hero of ancient times with the hero of today and in so doing interpreted to his hearers a valuable truth. The hero of old he said, was a physical hero, but now the hero is the man who does each day the task before him, and does it well.

A large number took advantage of the meet Saturday and spent a few days at their homes. Among these were: J. E. Church, '13, of Gardiner, W. McDonald, '12, W. M. Hicks, '10, M. S. Gould, '12, and S. L. Pinkham, '12, of Portland.

F. H. Eales, '13, and A. W. Goodwin, '11, spent Sunday, May 8th, at Etna.

C. L. Cummings of Vanceboro visited his son C. G. Cummings, '10, last week.

R. S. Foster, '13, is attending classes again.

Among those who will be on the fire patrol this summer are C. A. Cavanaugh, '12, S. L. Quimby, '12, L. A. McKenney, '12, C. A. Batty, '12, C. F. Doore, '11, F. H. Eales, '13, and F. E. Fortier, '10.

Prof. Jones is scheduled to speak on The Relations of Faculty and Fraternity before the Higher Education Department of the National Education Association in Boston, early in July.

FRIDAY CHAPEL TALK

Prof. McKee on Potash

The usual Friday talk was given in chapel last week by Prof. McKee, of the Chemistry department, and he took for his subject Fertilizers and a Visit to the Great Potash Mines at Stassfurt, Prussian Saxony. These mines are about the only places where potash salts are found in natural formation and about 5,000,000 tons come from this mine every year, of which about 1,000,000 tons are used in the United States. The mines are of a snow white appearance, perfectly dry inside and look like snow palaces. Probably this deposit, which is about one mile thick and 100 miles in diameter, was caused by the repeated evaporation of sea water in a lake of that size. These potash salts are in great demand as a fertilizer producer and form the best fertilizer for this Country of any kind.

Only a few of the games in the State series have yet been played, but of these Bowdoin has won the single game she has played, Maine and Bates has each won and lost one, and Colby has lost one. The games this week are likely to alter the standing materially. Maine plays Bowdoin here tomorrow and Bates at Lewiston Saturday, and Colby plays Bowdoin at Waterville Saturday.

Two college records were broken in the dual track meet which the Massachusetts Institute of Technology won from Wesleyan here. Bacon, of Wesleyan did the 220 yard hurdles in 26 seconds flat, lowering his own record by one-fifth of a second, and Parkinson of Wesleyan broke the former Wesleyan record of 39 feet 9½ inches in shot-put, sending the shot 40 feet, 4½ inches. Weather and track conditions were good.

The Juniors of Colby held their Prom. April 29th.
