ROBERT J. ALEY, Ph. D., LL. D., President-Elect of the University

FACULTY CHANGES.

Many New Men, Including New President, on the Faculty.

President-elect Aley was born in Coal City, Indiana, May 11, 1863. For five years he taught country and graded schools, and was a student at Valparaiso College for three years. For four years he was principal of the High School at Spencer, Indiana. From 1887 to 1888 he was an instructor in Mathematics in Indiana University, from which he received the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1888 and the degree of Master of Arts in 1890. He became Professor of Mathematics in Vincennes University in 1888, a position which he left in 1891 to assume the Professorship of Mathematics in Indiana University. During 1894-5, he was on leave of absence at Leland

Stanford, Jr., University where he was Acting Assistant Professor of Mathematics. For the college year of 1896-7, he was at the University of Pennsylvania, from which he obtained a Ph. D. in 1897. Franklin College, Indiana, granted him an honorary degree, LL. D., in 1909. In 1908, he was elected Superintendent of Public Instruction for the State of Indiana. He relinquished his professorship in Indiana University in order to assume this position.

For years Dr. Aley has been mathematical editor of the Inland Educator and Educator-Journal and since 1903 has been editor-in-chief and president of the Educator-Journal. He is a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, a member of the American Mathematical Society and several other like societies. He is the author of several mathematical books and is a popular lecturer.

Dr. Aley is expected to assume his duties here December 1, and, until that time, Dean Hart will be Acting President.

Dr. Merrill, for the past four years, has been State Dairy Inspector in the State Department of Agriculture. He is a graduate of the Maine Medical School in the class of 1889. Eye troubles prevented him from practicing his profession. For some time he kept a general store in Solon, and, from 1898 to 1907, he was manager and auditor of the Solon Creamery Company.

Professor Briscoe graduated from the Yale Forestry School in 1909 and for the last year has been in the Forestry Service. He comes to Maine highly recommended by Director Henry S. Graves of the Yale Forestry School and other eminent men.

Director Wingard is a graduate of Susquehanna University in the class of 1900. He received his M. S. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1902. While in college he played football and basketball, pitched on the baseball team and was a member of the track team. His senior year he was captain of football, baseball and track. He was athletic director three years at Butler College, one year at Western University, Pennsylvania and three years at Louisiana State University. His summers he has spent in physical culture work at Harvard Summer School.

A new department has been formed from the department of Agronomy to be called Farm Management and Agricultural Engineering. Assistant Professor Simmons is in charge.

Mr. Ketcham is a graduate of the arts department of Ohio State University in 1907 and of the law department in 1910.

Mr. Kaulfuss received his degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1908 and since then has been engaged in practical work.

Mr. Buswell graduated from Minnesota State University in the class of 1910.

Resignations.—George Emory Fellows, Ph. D., L. H. D., LL. D., President; Gordon Edwin Tower, B. S. M. F., Professor of Forestry; Melvin Ernest Sherwin, M. S., Assistant Professor of Agronomy; Leslie Ingalls Johnstone, B. S., Instructor in Civil Engineering; George Edward Pearson, M. A., Instructor in English and Economics; George Alvin Scott, B. S., Instructor in Physics; Benjamin Engle Kraybille, Ph. B., Instructor in Industrial Chemistry.

Promotions—Mintin Asbury Chrysler, Ph. D., from Associate Professor of Botany to Professor of Botany.

Victory Ray Gardner, M. S. A., from Assistant Professor of Horticulture to Professor of Horticulture.

Truman Leigh Hamlin, M. A., from Instructor in Mathematics to Assistant Professor of Mathematics.

Ernest Claude Drew, B. S., from Tutor in Physics to Instructor in Physics.

Appointments—Robert Judson Aley, Ph. D., LL. D., President.

Leon Stephen Merrill, M. D., Director of Extension Work in Agriculture.

John Manvers Briscoe, Professor of Forestry.

Edgar Rainey Wingard, M. S., Director of Physical Culture and Athletics.

Julius Ernest Kaulfuss, B. S., Instructor in Civil Engineering.

Victor Alvin Ketcham, B. A., LL. B., Instructor in English.

Arthur Mores Buswell, B. A., Instructor in Industrial Chemistry.

Harold Merton Royal, B. S., Instructor in Physics.

Harvey Herbert Jordan, B. S., Tutor in Civil Engineering.

John Neal Philbrook, B. S., Tutor in Civil Engineering.

A "MAINE CONGRESSMAN."

Sam'l W. Gould Elected from Third District.

Many of Maine's Alumni were interested in the outcome of the recent state election; but few, if any, gained more prominence by it than Samuel Wadsworth Gould of Skowhegan, who was elected to represent his district in the next Congress.

Mr. Gould is not only a graduate of Maine but he is also a member of the Board of Trustees and is at present serving as clerk of that body. He was born in Porter, Me., on Jan. 1, 1852, and received his education at North Portland. He graduated from the University of Maine in 1880. He has since then been engaged in various occupations. He is a member of the L. Winslow Club.

Besides his other engagements, he is also engaged in the manufacture of paper.

He has been one of the party in the but was postmaster as one of the Democrats. He has defeated his opponents with courage as a member of the faithful his party.

and received his early education in the public schools of the neighboring town of Hiram, and at North Parsonfield Seminary. He was graduated from the Maine State College with the degree of Bachelor of Science in 1877. He was a member of the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity. In 1880 he began the practice of law in the town of Skowhegan and has been a resident of that place since that time. He was married to Miss Nellie L. Winslow of Gorham.

Besides his law practice, Mr. Gould is actively engaged in business, being a director in several manufacturing interests.

He has been much interested in politics and is one of the prominent members of the Democratic party in this State. In 1892 he ran for governor but was defeated. From 1896 to 1900 he was postmaster of Skowhegan and in 1900 he was sent as one of the representatives from Maine to the Democratic National Convention. The many defeats which his party received did not discourage him and his election to his present position as a member of Congress comes as a reward for faithful and conscientious service, not only to his party but to the State as well.

THE NEW DORMITORY.

Handsome New Building Will be Ready for Occupancy in About Four Months.

The much needed dormitory, on which work was begun last spring, is now nearing completion and will probably be ready for occupancy by the beginning of next term.

The building will be constructed at a cost of $60,000, and will be one of the finest and most up-to-date dormitories in the country. It is a four story structure, 160 feet long by 35 feet wide, designed in the Tudor style of architecture. The outside is of red brick relieved by cast limestone trimmings. The back of the building is plain while the front is set off by four rows of bay windows which, although simple in design, give the building a rich and neat appearance, for which the Tudor style is noted.

In the basement of the building will be found a dining room, capable of seating 300 people, together with a thoroughly equipped kitchen located in a one story building just east of the dormitory proper. This floor also contains a room for a training table, waiters' room with ample supply of lockers, and a large lounging room containing a fireplace. The dining hall is connected with Oak Hall by a covered passageway.

The dormitory above the basement floor is separated into three sections, each protected from the other by a fire-proof brick wall. The central portion of the first floor is given up to a Professor's suite on the left of the entrance and the Y. M. C. A. rooms on the right. The majority of the suites for students contain three rooms—one large study room joined by two sleeping chambers. The building will have ample accommodation for seventy-five students and will be protected against fire by a standpipe in the attic with hose connections on each floor. The entire building has been designed and built along the most modern lines with thought for the comfort of the students.

AGRICULTURAL CLUB MEETS.

"Practical Husbandry of Maine" Editorial Board Chosen.

The first regular meeting of the Maine Agricultural Club, was held on the evening of Sept. 28, in Agricultural Hall. After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, the reports from the other Clubs of the "New England Federation of Agricultural Students," were heard. A cordial welcome was then extended to the new students present.

The committee on the publication "Practical Husbandry of Maine," reported favorably on the progress of the magazine, and the Club, elected the following editorial staff to serve throughout the coming year:

Editor-in-Chief, G. N. Worden, '12.

Business Manager, A. L. Deering, '12.

Assistant Business Manager, A. W. Sawtelle, '13.

Associate Editors

C. W. Rowe, '12, Animal Husbandry.

W. E. Schruppf, '12, Agronomy.

L. S. Russell, '12, Horticulture.

M. D. Jones, '12, Poultry.

R. Smith, '11, Veterinary Science.

Prof. Gardner and Mr. Palmer encouraged the Club in its undertakings and emphasized the value of such an organization to the students.

Although the meeting was mostly of a business nature, there was in attendance over thirty members, an advance of 50 per cent over the last meeting.

In consideration of the fact that there are now nearly ninety students registered in the College of Agriculture, it was decided to change the place of further meetings from No. 12 Ag. Hall, to room 33, in order to meet the increased growth of the Club.

What is college spirit? To answer that question by another, What is national patriotism?

Is it, in its true being, a loyalty which makes itself known only at the approach of a great military struggle or bursts into expression only upon the physical triumph of one nation over another? Is it, on the other hand, a loyalty which works only to make a nation intellectually superior to her sister nations? Or again, is it a loyalty which is found only in the field of international industrial competition?

No, true patriotism does not confine itself to any one of these spheres of national activity. Nations which have laid their stress of patriotism upon military or intellectual or industrial supremacy have inevitably fallen. Athens fell before Sparta because in the pursuit of intellectual achievement she was not adequately prepared for war. Likewise Sparta went to pieces because her entire social system was upon a military scale. The medieval cities of the Mediterranean gradually lost their power because almost their sole interest was commercial.

In a land which has the true patriotism there is a thrill of enthusiasm at every new scientific or literary achievement, and there is a feeling of pride at the thought of the nation's industrial development, and there is, too, a spontaneous response to a call to arms if necessary. Such a patriotism exists in Germany, in England, in the United States.

Now, again, what is college spirit? Is it not, when of the right kind, merely patriotism toward one's college or university? Yes, and it is not a patriotism which finds no interest in the athletic victories of the university; neither is it a patriotism which flashes out only for the support of athletics. It is a patriotism which shouts at the same time for the literary and scientific student activities and for the teams.

Such a spirit is what the undergraduate body here at Maine should foster, and what is more, what they may foster if they choose. Maine can not have a never-dying spirit if it has no athletic teams; yet she can not have that spirit if it never expresses itself except at the approach of a great game or after victory has been won. Neither a spirit which cares solely for studies and non-athletic activities nor a spirit which is solely athletic can make Maine men think all the time of the welfare of Maine.

The spirit which Maine men ought to develop to the highest possible degree is a spirit which makes them take an interest in the literary organizations, in the musical clubs, in the publications both of the University as a whole and of the separate colleges, in the technical societies, and last but not least, in the football eleven, the track team, and the baseball nine. It is a spirit that will bring every man to the physical, moral, and financial support of the teams, and at the same time will take a great interest in giving a royal welcome to the speakers who come to the University, in supporting the student publications, in reviving the debating club and in having a winning debating team, in the success of the agricultural teams, in the musical activities, and in the technical societies.

It is true that Maine men are not students in one college but are divided among the five colleges of the University, and hence their interests are wont to differ. But remember, Maine men, that every student activity in this University is a Maine activity, and if you are good Maine men you are bound to appreciate its worth and shout for it, whether it is athletic, literary, or technical. The Maine spirit must be a spirit which keeps the fellows thinking, talking, and shouting, "Maine," all the time and wherever they are.

The University has just opened for its forty-second year. Imagine, if you can, what a great institution it will be if it grows during the next forty-two years as it has grown during the past forty-two.

That was a great rally held in the gymnasium last week. Let's have them often, and then we will top off with the rally of rallies, Maine Night.

The heart of every Maine man will be with you, eleven, when the whistle blows on Vermont's field next Saturday afternoon.

Every Maine man seems to be proud of the new dormitory building. He may well be so, for when it is finished it will be the best equipped dormitory in the State.

One last word, and that about this paper. The management, in an effort to have the CAMPUS go into the hands of more Alumni and more undergraduates every week, is beginning the year by sending out 2000 copies weekly. Every student will receive one until November first. If he does not manifest his desire to have the paper discontinued before that time, he is asked to have his subscription price ready by that time. How few of you Maine men will refuse to take the paper?

September 6th showed 1551 students registered at Stanford University.

FOOTBALL.

Season begins with small squad but some fast men.

At the call of candidates for football, issued by Manager Strout on Sept. 16th, a good sized squad appeared, considering the early time. But as the season has progressed the squad has not increased as it should have done. At present the following men compose the squad:—

Capt. Parker, '12	Davis, '13
Waite, '11	Carleton, '13
King, '11	Savage, '13
Buck, '11	Sawyer, '13
Hammond, '11	Blanchard, '13
Exerett, '11	McNeil, '14
Smith, '11	Whitney, '14
Derby, '11	Crowell, '14
M. Smith, '12	King, '14
Smiley, '12	Wark, '14
Gray, '12	Butterfield, '14
F. Cobb, '12	Albie, '14
Cavanaugh, '12	Butterfield, '14
F. Cobb, '12	Albie, '14
Shepard, '12	Bird, '14
Eales, '13	Higgins, '14
Bigelow, '13	Murray, '14
Tipping, '13	Cobb, '14
	Philbrook, '14

Capt. Parker, who will lead the team, has played half back for the last two years and made an enviable reputation for himself as a football player. Besides having the ability as a player, he has the spirit necessary for a good leader and instills it into every man he comes in contact with.

Coach Wingard, who comes from Carlisle, where he was assistant coach and Athletic director, has already made a place for himself in every Maine man's heart and looks good to "deliver the goods." As an assistant, he will have T. J. Reilly from the University of Michigan, where he played in 1907 and coached 1908-'09.

No change in the football rules this year make the playing more open and give a chance for more fast and open plays. All in all the outlook looks good altho nothing definite can be said and the team should develop fast under Capt. Parker and Coaches Wingard and Reilly.

FOOTBALL RALLY.

Biggest and Best Mass Meeting for many Years Held last Tuesday Evening.

What proved to be the most spirited and satisfactory mass meeting for a long time took place in the gymnasium last Tuesday evening. President Sumner tried an innovation this time and should most certainly be congratulated on his success. Instead of holding it in the chapel as formerly, the seats were moved into the spacious "gym" with all its athletic and sport-awakening environment, and amid clouds of smoke and good cheer, the Maine Spirit burst forth in one long wave that carried all before it, from seven o'clock until quarter to nine.

The meeting was opened by a selection by the band which was especially good considering that it was its first appearance. After a few cheers, led by O. A. Wakefield, '11, the Stein Song, College Days, and several other songs were sung with Prof. Thompson at the piano.

President Sumner of the Athletic Association,

Head Coach E. R. WINGARD.

then stated the purpose of the meeting and spoke of the lack of upperclassmen on the football squad, citing last year's nine of which seven men were upperclassmen, to show the need of a large number on any of the teams. Acting President J. N. Hart was then called on and showed the benefits of the game to the man.

Coach Reilly was introduced to the meeting and received a fair ovation. He replied with a short talk urging the support of the students. Treasurer Gannett then spoke on finances, urging help from every true Maine man. Prof. Thompson gave one of his usual witty talks and kept the assembly laughing for ten minutes. He said that the Bowdoin game began that night and a victory depended on students and faculty as well as coaches and the team.

Director Wingard was obliged to wait several minutes for the applause to die out. He said that the coaches were beginning at the bottom and cautioned the students from expecting too much at first. Given time, the coaches and teams would show a team that would play hard, fast and clean football. Then came the longed-for call on Captain Parker and "Bill" gave such a talk as made a bunch rise in the throat of every lover of the Maine blue and incited all to their best efforts for old Maine and her football team.

Among others who addressed the meeting were Prof. A. L. Grover, James King, '11, Russell Smith, '11, and Sumner Waite, '11. Then with the strains of Our Director the meeting broke up with a snake-dance around the gymnasium.

MAINE BARELY DEFEATS BANGOR H. S.

Score 5 to 0, when Bangor Leaves the Field.

In a practice game Sept. 24, when the squad with less than a week's work scarcely knew the signals and when Coach Wingard had not had any opportunity to size up the men, the varsity was given a hard game by the little Bangor high school eleven on Alumni Field. Maine did not score until near the end of the last period and when Parker finally put the ball over the goal-line, the Bangor boys, who had taken exception to almost every decision of the referee, refused to grant the touchdown and left the field.

The two teams lined up as follows:

MAINE, 16—FT. MCKINLEY, 0.In Second Game of Season the Team Shows Improvement.

By improvement in form and by outclassing in every point of the game Maine gained her second victory, over the fast Ft. McKinley team to the tune of 16 to 0. The field was slippery and had this not been the case the score would probably have been larger as Maine got within the 10 yard line twice and was prevented from scoring by the timer's whistle and unfortunate penalties at other times worked to Maine's disadvantage.

The University Band was on hand and, with the cheering by 400 men on the bleachers led by "Reddy" Wakefield, made things lively. The game on the whole was satisfactory and very encouraging.

The Maine backs, Parker, Cobb and Shepard were almost sure of 5 or 10 yards while the line was solid most of the time. Shepard's punting was one of the features of the game, and at least four times the ball was sent over the opposing quarterback's head in a long spiral punt.

The touchdowns were the result of end runs and straight football when near the goal line.

In the first game between 1913 and 1914 for the peanuts for the peanut scrap the game was called at the end of the ninth to allow the football game to begin. This class game was one of the most interesting and snappy games ever played by the under classmen and showed some good material. The work of the 1914 battery, Abbott and Daniels, was noticeable and show 'Varsity calibre. The scores were made in the first when 1913 run in two and in the sixth when 1914 managed to send 2 men across the plate.

Y. M. C. A. RECEPTION.Enjoyable Affair of College Year.

The annual reception of the Young Men's Christian Association to the new students was held in the Chapel, Saturday evening, Sept. 17th.

The reception was a grand success and many students both old and new, and many members of the faculty were present to take advantage of the opportunity of becoming acquainted with one another.

During the first part of the evening the guests were received by Dean and Mrs. Hart, Dean and Mrs. Stevens, Prof. and Mrs. G. W. Thompson, Dr. Fitch, President of Andover Theological Seminary and H. R. Sargent, '11, President of the Y. M. C. A. After the social part of the evening was over, during which the young ladies of the Y. W. C. A. served refreshments, the gathering was called to order by Pres. Sargent. Dr. Fitch was introduced as the first speaker who spoke on the great advantages offered to college students. Then followed a number of speeches by students representing the various student activities. Alden Chase, '12, spoke on the musical organizations and urged new men to try out for the different musical clubs. The literary interests were represented by B. O. Warren, '11, editor-in-chief of THE CAMPUS. He spoke about the University publications and suggested that it would be well to establish a monthly publication. Miss C. L. Woodman represented the Y. W. C. A. and asked the support of the student body at the customary candy sales.

Pres. Sargent spoke in behalf of the Y. M. C. A. and explained the work of the association. Baseball was the subject taken by Russell Smith, '11, who is captain of the 'varsity team next year, while N. E. Smith, '11, captain of next year's track team spoke on track work at Maine. Captain Parker of the football team was the last student speaker and he made a strong appeal for more football men. Coach Wingard, the new director of athletics, urged the students to support the various teams to the best of their ability. The last speaker, Dean Hart, was warmly received. He touched upon the good work that the Y. M. C. A. is doing.

The gathering broke up by singing several Maine songs led by Prof. G. W. Thompson.

WEDNESDAY LECTURES.

Phases of Literary History and Language the Subject.

The courses of Wednesday lectures which have become so popular during the two years that they have been given, will be continued this semester. The subject will be of a classical nature, Phases of Literary History and Language Development, and the course will be divided into four series of lectures, the first set consisting of five talks upon the Dramatic Literature of Ancient Greece and Rome by Prof. Huddilston. The program for the course is as follows:

September 28, Origin of the Drama in Greece; the religious, literary, and institutional character of the theater.

October 5. The climax of the severe, religious drama in Aeschylus.

October 12, The transition to the more human modes in the gentler Sophocles, and the more modernizing influence of Euripides.

October 19, Comedy as a parallel development with tragedy reaching its highest repute in Aristophanes.

October 26, Dramatic literature on Roman soil; changed ideals; the theater of the Greeks abandoned for the amphitheater of empire builders.

PRINCIPLES OF LINGUISTIC GROWTH

PROFESSOR CHASE

November 2, Origin and Types of Language.

November 9, Changes in Word Forms, Sound Change and Analogy.

November 16, Changes in Vocabulary. Loss and Addition of Words.

November 23, Changes in Word Meaning.

FRENCH LITERATURE IN THE NINETEENTH CENTURY

PROFESSOR SEGALL

November 30, The Revolution and Literature. Destruction of Classicism. Precursors of Romanticism.

December 7, Romanticism.

December 14, Realism and Naturalism.

December 21, Later Tendencies.

EPOCHS IN GERMAN LITERATURE

PROFESSOR THOMPSON

January 4, The Storm and Stress Movement.

January 11, The Romantic Movement.

January 18, Young Germany Movement.

January 25, The Naturalistic Movement.

The first lecture upon the Origin of the Drama in Greece; the Religious, Literary, and Institutional Character of the Theater, was given last Wednesday afternoon in the Library and was attended by a large gathering of students and faculty. Prof. Huddilston opened his series of lectures with a discussion of the Greek romantic literature. He said in part:

Greece was the cradle of civilization, yet so advanced was the culture of her people that she set up a standard of literature which has only been surpassed in the development of the novel. At first poetry was the form that found most favor with her people, since such literature was more easily remembered from century to century. From the great epics, which carried themes of war and history, developed the shorter, lighter, and more musical lyrics. And directly from these came the Grecian drama, first in the form of dancers singing the lyrical songs.

As the drama grew, however, it treated only of the relations of the gods and man, and in this way it was far different from the present day play, since not until the decay of Greek civilization did the drama treat only of material things. By setting up the gods as perfect types of men the Greeks had constantly before them ideals which they endeavored to equal.

The play found its first form in the chorus to a god. Then it was only a step to introduce a speaker, and later as the choruses were reduced in numbers the speakers were increased. The plays were always acted out-of-doors and before spectators among whom there were no women.

SUMMER SCHOOL.

Since its establishment in 1902 the summer term of the University of Maine has had a steady growth. During the first year there were registered 13 students, increasing to 129 in 1909 and 153 the last term.

Of the 153 registered in 1910, 17 were college graduates as follows: Maine 9, Bates 3, Colby, Smith, Illinois, Amherst, and Maine Wesleyan, one each. Others had partial courses in the following institutions: Brown, Colby, Bates, Harvard, Amherst, and Dartmouth. Among the students were 4 superintendents and 44 teachers. Twelve courses were registered for with the maximum registration of 89 in mathematics.

Social functions were indulged in including, dancing, parties in the gymnasium and Mount Vernon House, lectures, athletics, boating, etc. In general the term was characterized by hard work on the part of the students as well as pleasant recreation. Many Maine students were able to clear up conditions standing against them on the University books and teachers from outside received much valuable instruction and inspiration for the coming year.

Pennsylvania has five varsity and five freshman crews this year.

FRESHMAN CLASS.

192 New Students Registered.

Although recitations formally opened Friday morning, and the congestion which occurred during Wednesday and Thursday has been cleared away, it is evident that there are still some few students who have not fully completed registration proceedings. Friday morning and afternoon registration blanks were constantly being received at the college office but in much fewer numbers than during the previous days.

Up to Saturday morning there had been received cards from 119 seniors, 94 juniors, 126 sophomores, and 192 new men, taking the regular course, short pharmacy, short agriculture or special.

CLASS MEETINGS.

At a meeting of the Class of 1911 held Thursday evening, the following were elected:—President, Harold G. Wood of Hallowell; Vice President, A. H. Hart of Presque Isle; Treasurer, Ralph Day of Cornish, Me.; Secretary, Miss Irene Cousins of Oldtown and member Student Council, B. O. Warren of Fryeburg, Me. Mr. Wood has been popular in all college activities since he entered college and will undoubtedly make a good leader for the class.

The Sophomore class organized last Monday and elected the following:—Pres. Wm. Sansouci of Southbridge, Mass.; Vice Pres., Geo. Young of Skowhegan; Treas., Beverly Chase of Blue Hill, and Sec., Miss Antoinette Webb of Bangor.

The Freshmen chose the following temporary officers:—Pres., Oscar B. Higgins of Sewanee, N. J.; Vice Pres., Mark Pendleton of Islesboro; Treas., Geo. W. Babb of Portland; Sec., Suzette Stearns of Millinocket; Cheer Leader, Harry R. Leavitt, Portland.

The first vesper service of the year was held Sunday, Sept. 18, with a good attendance to whom Dr. Fitch addressed a fine talk on the debt every person owes to his forefathers.

It's a Risky Business to neglect your eyesight at a time when you are so dependent upon it.

It's Our Business to give you normal vision by scientifically examining your eyes and making for you perfectly fitting glasses.

Our store—where Mudgett Bros. used to be—is one of the best and most thoroughly equipped in the county, and will at once appeal to you.

Our examinations are conducted by registered Optometrists—experts in refraction—and we guarantee satisfaction.
