MAINE PLAYS BOWDOIN TO TIE

Great Struggle on Alumni Field Witnessed by 5000 People

There was no rejoicing; there was no wailing. Yet, on every hand the people were satisfied that they had seen one of the hardest fought gridiron battles that ever took place in this State. They had seen the fastest and most powerful eleven which Maine has had in years clash for 60 minutes against an equally aggressive team representing Bowdoin, and they had seen each team within a few yards of a touchdown, yet unable to score.

Five thousand people, the largest crowd ever assembled on Alumni Field, filled the grandstand and the bleachers and lined the fence way around the field Saturday to witness the struggle, and it was a struggle. The honors were evenly divided, Maine outplaying the Brunswick team during the first half, and Bowdoin showing better form in the last two periods. Had the field been in better condition and allowed surer footing, both teams might have scored, but as it was, neither had quite the strength to rush the ball over the goal-line, and neither succeeded in kicking it between the uprights.

There were many features of the game to make it interesting. Shepherd's punting was excellent and effectively overcame the ground gaining of Bowdoin's fast backfield, and Maine's defensive work was spectacular, while on their part Bowdoin played a better offensive game and worked the forward pass time and again for good distances. Maine's line was stronger than the opposing forwards, but the ends were weaker than were Bowdoin's, and the latter's backfield gained more consistently on the slippery straw-covered field than did Maine's heavy backs.

At the end of the first half, Maine's supporters felt confident of victory. Although Bowdoin had had a little the better of the contest in the first period, Maine played them off their feet in the second quarter, and it was lucky for Bowdoin that Maine did not have half a dozen tallies when the whistle blew for the end of the half. In the third period, however, Bowdoin came back strong, and by means of Kern's line plunging, Winslow's end runs, and the success of their forward pass, they kept the ball in Maine's territory most of the time. Maine had the ball often enough, however, to kick Bowdoin into the center of the field.

After the first few punts Shepherd settled into his kicking stride, and outkicked Hastings 646

yards to 437 yards in 18 kicks to the latter's seventeen. In rushing the ball Bowdoin was the superior, carrying it 131 yards in 37 rushes to Maine's 42 yards in 15 rushes. It was not so much their better offensive work, however, as their forward passes which enabled them to keep the ball in Maine's territory in the last half. These they worked remarkably well, netting 104 yards in 11 passes and failing in six tries. Maine only attempted the pass twice for 19 yards. In running back punts the two teams fared equally well. Bowdoin was the greater sufferer from penalties, being set back 50 yards and losing the ball once, to 30 yards for Maine.

After Shepherd had kicked off at the beginning of the game, both sides resorted to punting, neither Shepherd or Hastings getting the ball away for very long distances. Near the close of the period, however, Bowdoin secured the ball on Maine's 25 yard line when Cook fumbled it. This gave them an opportunity to try a goal from placement, and after the first play in the second quarter Smith was sent in to kick. At this point, however, with the ball placed on the 15 yard line directly in front of Maine's goal, Bearce saved a possible goal by smashing through and blocking the kick as it left Smith's toe.

Bowdoin recovered the ball but lost it on Purington's fumble, and then came Maine's chance to score. By outkicking Hastings and by several good gains through the line by Cobb and Parker, the ball was worked down the field to Bowdoin's 29 yard line. There a forward pass, Shepherd to Parker, gained 14 yards and Parker added 10 more on two plays. On the four yard line, however, Bowdoin held and obtained the ball on downs, Maine losing their only good chance to score a touchdown. After Bowdoin had kicked to the center of the field, though, Maine's chances for making a goal from placement looked good, but on three attempts from the 40 yard, the 45 yard, and the 50 yard lines, respectively, Shepherd failed to shoot the wet ball between the goal posts, and he was prevented from further attempts then by the ending of the half.

In the third period Bowdoin started off with a rush, and it was during the last two quarters that they made most of their ground-gaining as well as working their forward passes. Maine played a defensive game during this half, kicking on the first or second down, until just before the last 15 minutes were up, when, starting from the center of the field, they signalled a brilliant streak of playing by Shepherd's 15 yard run around right end. It was too late then for Maine to do anything, however, and the battle ended with the ball on Bowdoin's 45 yard line.

MAINE NIGHT SUCCESS

Annual Affair Attended by 750 Maine Men— Many New Features

Maine Night has come and gone, and it has left a good taste in the mouth of every alumnus and undergraduate who was present. The gymnasium, decked in its blue and white bunting, presented an interesting scene with over 700

GUY TORREY, '09, Who Spoke Maine Night

Maine men in possession of the floor, and singing and shouting for all that was in them.

While Maine Night is too formal an affair to arouse the intense excitement which the brief, snappy, impromptu speeches of a mass-meeting may create, the celebration last Friday evening may well be regarded as a success. It was marked by many new features which made it unlike former Maine Nights. Heretofore it has always been held in the Chapel, but this year the committee tried a departure from custom, believing that if it was held in the gymnasium, where outsiders could be accommodated without mingling with the Maine men, the air of dignity would be done away with.

Other features which went to make the meeting successful were the leading of the songs by the Glee Club, the solos by Sansouci, '13, the witty introductory speeches made by the presiding officer, Hon. W. R. Pattangall, and the huge bonfire in front of Oak Hall after the crowd had adjourned from the gymnasium.

The speakers included several of the men who have been very prominently connected with the athletics of the University. Mr. Pattangall first read a letter from Dr. Aley and then introduced Dr. Hart, who spoke of the some of the needs of the University. He was followed by A. L. Bird, '00, who was captain of one of Maine's first victorious football teams, and he concluded his speech by presenting as a trophy to the game which Maine ever won from Colby. George R. Sweetser, L. '11, represented the College of Law, and the speakers who make up the remainder of the program were C. C. Johnson, '10, who was manager of the football team and president of the A. A. last year, Ray Fellows, '09, who is now practicing law in Bangor after graduating from the College of Law last year, M. R. Sumner '11, who spoke for the student body, Captain, Parker of the football team, Mr. Wingard, E. E. Palmer, '99, Daniel Chase, '08, and Guy Torrey, '09.

AN ALL-MAINE TEAM

The Eleven Which Many Pick as the Strongest Possible Aggregation of Players in this State

It seems to be the proper thing now to make a selection of an "all-Maine" eleven, and because the CAMPUS board has not much of anything to do, it has been using its spare moments for the last two days in scanning the four varsity elevens for men eligible to its list of stars. The following first and second elevens have been picked:

The fact that the Maine Assemblies have not been very successful for the past year or two brings up the issue whether it will be well to continue the previous plan of two of these affairs early in the Spring semester again this year. The falling off of the interest in the Assemblies is due in large part to the elaborateness of the class functions, which follow shortly afterwards and which have overshadowed these dances.

It seems necessary for the success of the Assemblies that some change be made in the dates or that only one be held instead of two. While it may be advisable to hold but one Assembly, and that shortly after the mid-year examinations, there is one space of time during which an assembly might well be given. That is the three weeks between the Thanksgiving and Christmas recesses. This would be the first University function of the year, and coming as it might when there is nothing else of importance going on, would very likely be successful.

It has been said that a fraternity man does not feel at home on the Campus except in his own chapter house. Granting that this is altogether too near the truth, cannot the students themselves take one step toward the extinction of such a feeling by abandoning the custom of knocking at the door before entering a fraternity house? Here we are, one solid brotherhood of Maine men, and every man ought to have the freedom of all the fraternity houses. The form of waiting to be met at the door seems very unnecessary. All chapters which are willing to "hang out their latch-strings" will please send their names to the CAMPUS, and the list will be published.

WHAT SEASON HAS SHOWN

Maine Had Strong All-Round Eleven—Lost Only One Game

By failing to defeat Bowdoin Saturday Maine lost any claim to the state championship, yet while the confidence of the Maine supporters was great before the game, there was no disappointment at the team's inability to pull out a victory. After a very poor start Coaches Wingard and Reilly developed an eleven which was the best Maine has had for several years, yet whose weaknesses made it impossible for them to sweep the powerful Bowdoin team into its fold.

From the standpoint of the student body and those in charge of Maine's athletic policy the season has been a satisfactory one. With some of the men upon whom Maine counted to strengthen the eleven out of the game for various reasons, and with an unusually small squad, the coaches worked up an aggregation of eleven stars, which defeated the veteran Colby team and played Bowdoin to a 0 to 0 tie, as well as taking two games from fast Massachusetts elevens, Tufts and the Massachusetts Agricultural College.

No one man starred so much more than his team-mates that the eleven could be built up around him, but every varsity man played hard, consistent football all the season, fighting in every game until the final whistle had been sounded. The line has been very strong and has proved a wall against every team which has tried to buck it. Buck, Cook, and King have played the end positions well, though at times they were rather weak. In the two games previous to the state series the four first-string backs seemed to form a scoring machine which no team would be able to stop, but in the last three contests their work has been somewhat erratic. They have failed to show the ground gaining ability which was expected of them, yet they have played a very good offensive game and have formed a remarkably powerful secondary defence. Shepherd's kicking has been a great asset to the work of the team, and it is his toe that won the Colby game and minimized the chances of other teams scoring against Maine.

Although Maine will lose three valuable varsity men by graduation next June, she will suffer much less than in some former years and there will be a nucleus of most of the strongest men on the eleven about which to build up a team next fall. The three men who have played their last game for Maine are Bearce, Smith, and Buck. King, who has played left end about half the time, will also graduate. The trio of backs will be left intact, with Parker, Cobb, and Shepherd, while the two best substitutes, Carlton and Smiley, will also be left. In the line Maine will have her two tackles, McNeil and Bigelow, the centers, Eales and Whitney, Crowell, guard, and Cook, end.

The men who will probably be awarded the M, having played all of two state games or in four halves, are Parker, Cobb, Shepherd, Smith, Buck, Bigelow, Crowell, Whitney, Bearce, McNeil, Cook, and King.

The scores of the games for the season have been as follows, Maine making 65 points to her opponents' 18.

Maine 16, Fort McKinley 0

Maine 0, University of Vermont 0.

Maine 14, Tufts 6.

Maine 29, M. A. C. 2.

Maine 0, Bates 10.

Maine 6, Colby 0.

Maine 0, Bowdoin 0.

W. E. Parker, '12, of Harrington, the captain of the team this year, has played a steady game at right halfback all season. A tower of strength on the offense, an insurmountable barrier on the defence, he has demonstrated that he is the most consistent halfback in the state today, and he has shown those rare qualities of leadership that have driven Maine's fighting team on to championship calibre.

T. D. Shepherd, '12, of Wellesley Hills, Mass., at fullback has played a great game all the season.

Handicapped from the first by a bad knee, he played a gritty game, and in the last two games was unsurpassed in the state. He has scored the only points that Maine won in the Maine series. During the whole season he has kicked seven goals from placement, some of them being very difficult. His punts have averaged between forty and fifty yards all season, and his work on both offense and defense has been strong.

At left halfback, F. A. Cobb, '12, of South Gardiner, completed Maine's trio of heavy backs. He has been faster this year than ever before, a sure man on catching punts, a steady ground-gainer, and when replacing Shepherd his punting has been excellent.

Russell Smith, '11, of Auburn, the scrappy quarter, has run the team admirably. He has been sure on catching punts and strong in running them back, and his placing of the ball for field goals made possible Shepherd's splendid record. His place will be hard to fill next year.

R. W. Buck, '11, of Monticello, right end, has played a hard, consistent game throughout. He has been at a disadvantage in that he has been compelled to run down under the longest punts in the state. Against some of the fastest men in the Maine colleges he has held his own.

At right tackle E. H. Bigelow, '13, of Ayer, Mass., has played a steady game, and has kept his opponent on the jump all the time.

H. P. Crowell, '14, of So. Portland, has made a strong right guard, a fighter all the way through, getting under every possible play. He will improve, too, with another year's coaching.

F. H. Eales, '13, of Vanceboro, although out of the game for a part of the time with injuries is perhaps the best center in the state. He has been a tower of strength in the line in every game that he has played, his defensive play being very strong.

G. A. McNeil, '14, of Pawtucket, R. I., has been a find at left tackle. He is a fighter to the finish and has been a steady, hard-playing tackle.

A. Cook, L. '12, of Bangor, although handicapped by his lack of weight, has played a fine game at left end. He is a fast man, and during the state games he played a remarkable defensive game.

C. A. Whitney, '14, of Portland, has played an excellent game at both center and guard all through the season. After two days of practice, he took Eales' place in the Colby game, and played a smashing game against one of the best men in the state.

Coming back late in the season, G. D. Bearce, '11, of Auburn got into the game with a rush, playing a wonderful game at left guard. No lineman in the state was capable of stopping him. He was everywhere, encouraging and fighting for Maine, and will be sorely missed next year.

J. P. King, '11, of Peabody, Mass., at left end was unfortunate the first of the season, but when he was able to play, he has given his best to Maine in a way that has won admiration on all sides.

J. H. Carleton, '13, of So. Berwick, and L. W. Smiley, '12, of Skowhegan, as second string halfbacks, S. Waite, '11, of Portland at quarter, C. H. Tipping, '13, of Claremont, N. H., at guard, and P. E. Murray, '14, of Skowhegan, at tackle, have all played hard, consistent games whenever called upon and deserve a large share in the glory of the team.

Hammond, '11, Everett '11, Derby '11, Whitney '11, Cavanaugh '12, Gray '12, Smith '12, Blanchard '13, Davis '13, Savage '13, Albee '14, Bird '14, Butterfield '14, Cobb '14, Higgins '14, King '14, Monohon '14, Philbrook, '14, and Wark '14, all gave their best that the team might have practice, and worked for the love of Maine, regardless of their own glory. No one on the football field deserves more credit.

ATHLETIC BOARD MEETING

Arrangements for Bowdoin Game—Baseball Schedule Submitted

At the November meeting of the Athletic Board on Nov. 8, several matters of importance were taken up. Much of the business had to do with the Bowdoin game. It was decided that the Maine athletic tickets should admit to the game and the bleachers, but that there should be an opportunity for a contribution at the bleachers to all who felt so inclined. In connection with the matter of score cards, it was decided that after this fall, all score cards sold on the field should be under the supervision of a standing committee together with the manager of the team who should be conducting the contest.

Manager Strout of the football team reported on the Colby game and the preparations for the Bowdoin game. A senior member of the board was appointed by the chairman to see to the location of the automobiles on the field, and another to announce the results of each play to the newspaper reporters on the field. Mr. P. B. Palmer reported on the football blankets, and Mr. Wingard and Mr. Palmer were given power to sell any of the blankets that were desired by friends of the institution. Prof. Bean and Mr. Wingard were retained on the athletic field committee and given power to have the field completely in this fall.

Manager Woodberry reported the complete baseball schedule for next spring. The board approved April 9 as the date for the annual exhibition game with Colby and April 27 for a game with Harvard. The remainder of the schedule was laid on the table.

Manager McDonald reported for the track department, announcing that the cross-country race with Bowdoin, which had been scheduled for Nov. 12, had been cancelled by the Bowdoin management. He also placed before the board for action the protest against George Stobie, the winner of the discus throw in the Pumpkin Meet, which was filed by the manager of the Sophomore track team on the ground that Stobie is only entered in the School Course in Agriculture. The matter was placed in the hands of a committee of three with Mr. Wingard as chairman.

Chairman Jones and President Sumner were instructed to fix a date before the Thanksgiving recess for the election of the managers of football and tennis and the assistant managers of track and baseball for the season of 1911.

JUNIOR CIVIL SMOKER

Sweeping Changes In the Constitution Admit of Larger Membership

At the second meeting of the year of the Junior Civil Society, held Wednesday in the club room of the Library, the new constitution as drawn up by the committee in that capacity, was formally adopted.

The new constitution which the committee brought in embodies the following changes: The name is changed from the Junior Civil Society to the Society of Civil Engineers of The University of Maine; the list of honorary members of the Society is enlarged to include as well as the Faculty of the University, all Alumni who were, while in attendance at the University, members of the Society; the Seniors of the College of Civil Engineering are admitted as active members of the Society, and are to be represented by a president, and two members of the executive committee which shall further be composed of two Faculty members, and two Juniors.

As no formal papers had been prepared for presentation at the meeting, Prof. Brown and Mr. Kaulfuss each gave an informal talk covering actual construction work with which they had been connected.

Mr. Kaulfuss, who is a new instructor at the University, talked on some construction work in Wisconsin where a large storage dam was built

Prof. Brown went into some of the details of railroad building in the East here, and related many interesting happenings relative to the life in the field of the civil engineer.

MUSICAL CLUBS

Five Trips, Including One In Massachusetts, Planned

Although offering nothing definite as yet, Manager A. Chase, '12, of the Musical Clubs has some very attractive trips in view for those making the Clubs. It is planned to make a trip into Aroostook County sometime before Christmas. During the Christmas recess a trip to the southern and western parts of the state will probably be taken and during the Easter recess the clubs will go to Massachusetts. Concerts will be given in Bangor, Oldtown and Brewer.

The manager is planning also to give a concert and dance in Alumni Hall early in December and to make the occasion one of the principal affairs of the year.

The Glee Club is very fortunate in having a large number of men out, and under the able training of Prof. Thompson will prove to be the best ever. The personnel of the Mandolin Club is practically the same as last year but leader R. W. Davis, '11, urges all men to come out and try for the club. The Banjo Club finds itself handicapped very much by the small number of candidates. Every banjo man should come out and bring the banjo club up to a par with the Glee and Mandolin clubs.

The readers of last year H. G. Wood, '11, and A. Chase, '12, will probably act as such this current year. It is hoped that W. Sansouci, '13, may again be secured as soloist.

DR. HYDE TO SPEAK

President of Bowdoin to Deliver Address at Vespers Sunday

One of the strongest speakers who will be heard at the Vesper Services this year is President William DeW. Hyde of Bowdoin College, who will address the student body next Sunday afternoon. Although Dr. Hyde has never spoken formally here before, he is well known to many Maine men. He has a strong personality and his ability as a speaker will surely attract a large number of the undergraduates.

ALUMNI NOTES

W. R. Farrington, '91, Making Good in Honolulu

Most of Maine's Alumni have preferred to remain under the jurisdiction of the Stars and Stripes and by far the larger part have located within the United States. There are some however who are helping in the building up of our outlying possessions. One of the most prominent of the latter class is Wallace Ryder Farrington, '91, of Honolulu, H. T.

Mr. Farrington was born May 3, 1871, at Orono and received the degree of B. S. from the Maine State College at the age of twenty. Newspaper work was the profession which most appealed to him and his first work after leaving college was as a reporter for the Bangor Daily News and later for the Kennebec Journal. Within a year of his graduation he became Assistant Editor of Publications for the Phelps Publishing Company of Springfield, Mass., leaving there after a short time to become the managing editor and one of the founders of the Rockland Daily Star.

The jump from Rockland to Honolulu is a long one but 1894 found Mr. Farrington in the latter place as managing editor of the Pacific Commercial Gazette and President of the Hawaiian Gazette Company. After remaining two years with this company he became Managing Editor of the Honolulu Evening Bulletin and President of the Bulletin Publishing Company Ltd.

Mr. Farrington is a good citizen as well as an efficient business man and has served on the Territorial Board of Education, the Republican Territorial Committee, and is at present the Chairman of the Territorial School Fund Committee.

Besides his newspaper work, Mr. Farrington has written a Review of the Revolt of 1895 which appears as an appendix to Alexander's History of the Hawaiian Revolution.

The marriage of Harold O. Hussey and Miss Eva Edna Came of Vassalboro took place on Wednesday evening, October nineteenth. After a short wedding trip to Connecticut, they will reside in Bucksport where Mr. Hussey is the cashier of the Bucksport National Bank.

Elmer L. Morey '90, was on the campus last week for the first time in twenty years. Mr. Morey received the degree of Civil Engineer and for several years after graduation followed this line of work. After several years with the New Jersey Bridge Company and the American Bridge Company as draftsman he entered the employ of the Norfolk & Western Railroad as construction engineer.

Leaving railroading in 1893 he accepted the position of vice and deputy consul at Colombo, Ceylon, remaining in the country's diplomatic service until 1907. At present Mr. Morey is engaged in the important export business at Colombo.

Accompanying Mr. Morey was Mr. Bert J. Allen, who was returning for his second visit to the campus in nineteen years. Mr. Allen graduated in 1886 and is now a lawyer in Middleboro, Mass.

Fred P. Hosmer, '09, of Pittsburg, Pa., has recently been promoted to the position of Assistant to the Chief Chemist of the Carnegie Steel Company.

Y. M. C. A. HANDBOOK

Best Book in the History Out

What is unanimously voted the best Hand Book ever gotten out by the Y. M. C. A. made its initial appearance on last Thursday and made a decided hit. Owing to some delay at the printers' the book was rather late in coming out this year but the quality makes up amply for the delay in this case. The book is changed as to its cover this year, having in place of the customary blue board cover, a black imitation leather with "Maine" across the front in white letters. One is struck by the new ideas inside the book in the type and arrangement, which has been entirely remodeled throughout. It contains the customary information in regard to the office hours of the several departments, officers of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., athletic records, a short write-up on each of the clubs and their officers, pointers for Freshmen, University cheers, and songs, train schedules, etc., etc. In the last half of the book a new idea has been inaugurated in the placing of pages for the football, baseball, and basketball schedules and scores. All in all, the book is very satisfactory and the board of editors and managers and the whole Y. M. C. A. is to be congratulated. The editorial board consists of E. O. Whittier, '11 editor-in-chief, G. N. Worden, '12, H. H. Nash, '13, R. E. Hussey '12, O. E. Rounds '13, committee, and M. D. Jones, '12, Business Manager.

Yale University has just celebrated its 209th birthday. The University was founded on October 9, 1701.
