New Professional Learning Module on Inclusive Mathematics Now Live

Register Here

Join MAIER and Daemen University's Dr. Tara Kaczorowski, for a 6-hour asynchronous training series on Inclusive Mathematics. These training modules are designed to help individuals or small groups consider ways of making mathematics learning more inclusive, effective, and engaging for all your students. Consider ways of mathematical thinking, problem-solving, methods of instruction, classroom routines, and modeling as various ways of considering inclusive practices in a mathematical learning environment. Registration is free but required.

You will receive the link and password to access the training modules upon registration (click above to register).

Contact hours for all sessions are awarded free of charge. Certificates for the contact hours are available after you complete an evaluation of the training. The evaluation link will be sent to you in the email with your training module access link.

If you have any issues or questions, contact MAIER: maier@maine.edu
