and you can locate it every time, no matter who its position be changed.

Just as the proper tools produce the best work, so does a responsive key action increase the efficiency of a stenographer. It saves her strength. Therefore, she has a better grip on her work, is more accurate, more rapid, gets a greater quantity of work done. There is no "three-o'clock fatigue" where the Monarch is used, and a few days' trial will convince you of this fact.

Learn the reasons for Monarch superiority. Then try the Monarch, to the end that you may know that Monarch merit rests in the machine itself, not merely in what we tell you about it.

CHAMPIONS OF MAINE

Maine Decisively Defeats Bowdoin 15-0

Nearly 4000 people saw Maine overcome Bowdoin at Brunswick on Saturday, and thereby win the Maine State College Championship in football. Outplayed in every department of the game Bowdoin with a few brilliant stars was unable to stop or to gain on Maine's splendid machine. Shepard gained ten of Maine's points with three goals from placement and one after touchdown, besides punting far superior to Bowdoin's kicks. Not once was Maine goal line threatened. Bowdoin was able to make first down but a few times, resorting to the kicking constantly. Bowdoin showed little open football while Maine displayed a thorough knowledge of all kinds of play. Baker, Sawyer, Bigelow, MacNeil, and Gulliver opened great holes in Bowdoin's defense and Parker, Carleton and Shepard tore through for splendid gains. Cleaves demonstrated that he was the far and away the best quarterback in the state, handling the team wonderfully and carrying the ball well himself. His running in of punts and his end runs were features of the game. On the defense Maine's line was a veritable stone wall and the backfield a whirlwind of strength. Outside of forward passes and punts Maine advanced the ball 525 yards against 75 yards by Bowdoin. Maine was penalized frequently.

THE GAME

Bowdoin kicked off to Maine. Cleaves received and was downed on the 30-yard line. Parker got 5 yards through center but Maine was forced to punt. Faulkner received and was downed on his 35-yard line. Bowdoin was thrown for a loss and punted. Maine got several good gains but were penalized 15 yards for holding. Cleaves tore off a pretty 15 yard run around right end. Bowdoin intercepted forward pass on their own 52 yard line. Weatherill got 10 pards around right end. Bowdoin could not gain consistently and punted. Maine struck a fast pace through Bowdoin's line using all of the backs. A pretty forward pass Bernheisel to Cook gave 23 yards. Bowdoin held on her 25 yard line and Shepard kicked a goal from placement for the first score. Bowdoin kicked off and Maine got several gains but was forced to kick. Bowdoin couldn't gain and returned the kick. The period ended with the ball in Maine's possession on her own 47 yard line.

The second period was all for Maine. Bowdoin gained only 27 yards this period. Maine got her touchdown about the middle of the period rushing the ball by a series of end runs and line plays. Carleton carried the ball over and Shepard kicked the goal.

Maine came back fast and strong in the third period, Cleaves running the kick-off back 20 yards and following with an end run of 30 yards. Maine worked the ball steadily into Bowdoin's territory. Shepard finally kicked a second goal from the 25 yard line. Maine again took up the line of march towards Bowdoin's goal. Bowdoin kicked out of danger twice, but Shepard finally kicked a third goal from the 25 yard line. This was the last of the scoring.

Maine was unable to score during the last period although she had the ball in Bowdoin's territory continually. Maine rushed in a lot of substitutes near the end of the game. Bryant replacing Cleaves at quarter carried the ball for some of the most brilliant running of the game.

MAINE NIGHT CELEBRATION

Enthusiastic Reunion

The students of the University of Maine always look forward to one b g celebration of the college year, namely, Maine night. To say that this celebration on Friday evening, November tenth, was a success would be putting it mildly, it was one of the most enthusiastic reunions of alumni, student body, faculty, and friends that has occurred at the University in recent years. With such capable speakers as Gov. Frederick W. Plaisted, President Robert J. Aley and Mayor Charles W. Mullen of Bangor, the large audience was treated to a series of speeches such as the University seldom sees.

The gymnasium was tastily decorated with blue and white bunting, drawn together in a large fan shaped design at the rear of the platform. The seating capacity of the gymnasium was taxed to its utmost, Alumni, Student body, and Faculty occupying the floor and women students, wives of the faculty, and guests on the running track.

Shortly after eight o'clock President William R. Ballou of the Athletic Association appeared upon the platform followed by the guest of the evening, Gov. Plaisted, and the speakers. Gov. Plaisted was accompanied by Mr. Patch of his staff and Mr. George Freeland of the Council. President Ballou started the affairs of the evening by introducing Hon. Charles W. Mullen, '75, Mayor of Bangor and the chairman of the evening. With a few well chosen words Gov. Plaisted was introduced. Gov. Plaisted's remarks were received with frequent applause and dealt with the love that every resident of Maine ought to have for his state. He went on to tell of the time when, as a boy of 30 years ago, he lived in Brick Hall, now called Oak Hall, ate his meals at the Commons and went swimming in the Stillwater. His only mistake in life he continued, was that he had never graduated from the University of Maine, but he did the next best thing by sending his elder brother to Maine. His speech was filled with his characteristic force and emphasis and was constantly applauded.

President Robert J. Aley was introduced as the one who not many months ago was found by the trustees of the University, to govern this unruly student body. His success was quickly realized by the ovation in the way of applause which he received and in the speech he delivered.

His talk dealt with the student body as he had found it here and as to its being unruly, he said he had never had any evidence that it was true. Furthermore, he stated that the attitude of work prevalent at Maine was of the highest. Other colleges in the world did not receive such an attitude of work with any hospitality. In concluding President Aley told of the faith of the student body in the football team and of the proper attitude to assume whether the game was won or lost.

Following his speech the student body arose and sang the Stein Song. The glee club, in its initial appearance of the year, gave several well rendered selections.

E. E. Palmer '99, as representative of the Boston Alumni Association was the next speaker and told of the work of that loyal association. His remarks on prohibition in Brunswick and the celebration planned by the Alumni if Maine should win were delivered in his humorous manner and were well applauded.

Thomas Sullivan, Law '12, the only undergraduate among the speakers, told of the growth of the University of Maine Law School and its loyalty to all interests at the college.

Coach Edgar R. Wingard was the last speaker of the evening and he left the student body in high spirits and with the assurance from Coach Reilley and himself that Maine had the best football team in the state.

To the accompaniment of the band, student body, visitors and all filed up and shook hands with Governor Plaisted who very kindly condescended to meet each member of the audience. Cheer leader E. W. McKeen, '12, kept the evening alive with his calls for yells, every speaker and every member of the team receiving his share of the applause. The band repeated its successful performance of the Colby rally.

It was with great regret that the student body received notice that Hon. W. R. Pattangall '97, Attorney General of Maine could not be present. He was to have delivered an address on behalf of the general alumni.

SPECIAL TRAIN

500 Go To Brunswick

500 strong Maine supporters left Orono at 6.15 Saturday morning on the "Special" for Brunswick, ten cars being necessary to make room for every one. Stops were made at Bangor, Waterville, and Augusta and increased the number to about 700. At the above stations the Band turned out and made things lively, adding much to the spirit and enthusiasm that already prevailed. The usual lunch room was established in the baggage car and proved a welcome factor of the trip. The train arrived in Brunswick at 9.40. Needless to say the feeding capacity of the town of Brunswick was taxed to the limit.

An immense crowd gathered early for the game. Six hundred seats were reserved for Maine men, and the cheering section was perfect.

THE COACHES

The close of the football season brings to mind more than ever the two men who have done so much to make the team what it has been, Coaches Wingard and Reilly.

Mr. Wingard played on the 'varsity football teams at Susquehanna University and at Western Pennsylvania College, and played on and coached the second team at University of Pennsylvania, but was ineligible for 'varsity. Since graduation he has been coach at the following institutions: Ohio Northern University, Butley College, University of Pittsburg, University of Louisiana, Carlisle, Indian School, University of Maine.

Mr. Reilly played on the freshman team at Wisconsin, under the coaching of Phil King, a former Princeton man, but was not eligible for 'varsity because of the one year rule. He entered the University of Michigan in 1906 and graduated from the Law department in 1910, playing two years on the 'varsity eleven. His first position as football coach was at the University of Maine, where he has remained for two years with fine success.

COACH SMITH

The success of Maine track teams since last February has been due in a great measure to the large experience and training of Coach Smith. As a runner he was ranked among the foremost sprinters of his time. He ran seven years as an amateur in the United States, competing for the New York Athletic Club and the Irish American Athletic Club of the same city. He also competed for the 74th Regiment of Buffalo. As a professional he ran in the big prize handicaps in England and Scotland, capturing the $1500 Edinburg Handicap which is the blue ribbon event of the year in Scotland. Since withdrawing from active competition he has gained a wide reputation as a coach. He has acted in this capacity in many of the Buffalo High Schools, the University of Buffalo and the Irish American Athletic Club of Buffalo. Trinity College obtained his services for one season. He then went to England and coached the cross-country team of the Manchester Athletic Club. For two years previous to his arrival at Maine he assisted "Mike" Murphy at the University of Pennsylvania. He has also assisted with two Olympic teams under Murphy, in 1906 at Athens and in 1908 at London.

Coach Smith is the best trainer and track coach ever seen at Maine. His masterly manner of handling a team is bringing results that Maine has long been waiting for.

BANGOR CO-OPERATIVE PRINTING COMPANY

EDITORIAL.

The eleventh day of the eleventh month of the eleventh year will remain long in the memory and heart of every Maine man for two reasons. First, Maine defeated Bowdoin decisively and thereby gained the undisputed championship of the state; secondly, the success of the new coaching system and the new arrangement of athletic affairs on the Campus, which was inaugurated last year was established beyond criticism.

The victory was a splendid one, demonstrating that Maine was superior in generalship, superior in knowledge of the game, and superior in each individual position. The heart of every Maine man is warm toward the team itself and the men who made it—Coaches Wingard, Reilly, Smith, the manager and assistants, and the "scrubs."

The result of the season writes approval across the new athletic plan at the University. The winning of the championship was not accomplished by chance in any degree. It was the result of a definite, sane plan accomplishing an expected result. A few farsighted Maine men were the originators of the plan, Director Wingard is the executor. We must congratulate both. Athletics at Maine are now on a safe and sane basis. The success of Saturday was but the initial result. We have a right to expect many such successes in the near future.

A word in appreciation of the band seems fitting at the close of the football season. We believe that we have far and away the best college band in the state at least. Maine men have justly felt proud of their band throughout the season. The members have attended rehearsals faithfully and given their services for Maine freely, no military credits being given this year. The band is just one more exhibition of the real Maine spirit.

At frequent intervals we hear something about the Student Council, but nothing very startling or even definite is ever disclosed in regard to its meetings or actions. The average student does not know what the duties or power of the council are, and some are entirely ignorant of its existence.

Such a state of affairs in regard to a representative body and one which might easily become in a sense a governing body is deplorable and ridiculous. The student members of the council are elected by the students. A man cannot be expected to vote intelligently for a representative when he has no conception of the duties of the successful candidate. The situation always leads to the same result—the election of the popular man regardless of ability.

Again, this ignorance on the part of the student body tends to destroy the strength and authority of the council. The average student feels no obligation toward the council. He feels no particular respect for the opinions of its members. He has no idea that the council has authority to enforce its decisions. He cannot look up to a tribunal where all wrongs are righted and the welfare of the institution is carefully guarded. Ignorance of a project never has and never will lend respect and support to the plan.

This is the situation. The remedy lies with the council itself. Action is the keynote. As soon as the council proceeds to exhaustive investigation of the many conditions on the Campus that need investigation so badly, and follow up the investigation with definite action to remedy conditions, the respect and support of the student body will be forthcoming. As soon as the council comes forward with definite policy and determination to control the student body and its interests, just so soon, the students will awaken to interest, find out who belongs to the council, respect its members and its authority, exercise care in election of its members, and allow themselves to be governed by its rulings.

INAUGURATION AT WELLESLEY

Interesting Chapel Talk by Dean Stevens

On October 19, Dean James S. Stevens, as a representative of the University of Maine, attended the inaugural exercises of the new president of Wellesley College, Miss Pendleton. In a brief but witty and highly interesting talk in Chapel, Friday morning Dean Stevens told of his impressions of the inauguration.

He spoke first of the arrangement made for the guests. These, clad in their academical costumes, met in a room where their places were assigned them in the order of the seniority of the institutions which they represented. Under this plan Dean Stevens found himself the companion of President Chase of Bates College. The guests then formed a line and marched across the campus to the chapel where the inaugural exercises were held. The campus at Wellesley is large and the winding walks were lined with girls as the procession passed.

In the chapel during the inauguration Miss Pendleton, the president-elect, made a strong and earnest speech. Miss Pendleton is a graduate of Wellesley and has served as professor and later dean of the college. In her speech she spoke of two things which are necessary in a college course, the study of mathematics and the study of the Bible.

After the inauguration a luncheon was served to the college representatives present and then all returned to the chapel to hear the addresses of the day. During these exercises the faculty of Wellesley numbering 100 women and eleven men occupied the platform.

There were four principal speakers. The first of these was President Lowell of Harvard who made a strong appeal for work and hard study in college as the best method to obtain success. President Faunce, of Brown, spoke of the new period of activity upon which Wellesley is now entering, although it is an old institution. President Taylor of Vassar College made a strong plea for other than vocational training and upheld the value of education aside from its mere commercial worth.

The last speaker, President King of Oberlin College, made an earnest and eloquent address on the high ideals of college life.

In conclusion Dean Stevens said that he had been impressed by two things while at Wellesley. One of these was the fine college spirit displayed by the girls there, and the other was the religious atmosphere which pervaded the campus. Wellesley was founded by a man who had been for nearly all his life an atheist. In his old age he was converted to Christianity and then he founded the college, making a provision that the study of the Bible should be a part of the curriculum. This has been done and as a result the religious spirit is very profound but not in any sense oppressive.

AGRICULTURAL CLUB

Corn and Fruit Show Discussed

The regular meeting of the Agricultural Club last Wednesday evening was called to order by Vice President Rowe, the president being absent. The question of paying the entire expenses of the teams sent out by the club was discussed and the Club decided to wait until after the New England Poultry Show in order to determine the exact amount which will be required to defray the expenses of the teams for a year. The changing of the time of meeting from seven-thirty to seven was discussed but no action was taken. Prof. Palmer spoke about his trip to the Maine Corn and Fruit Show, held in Portland last week and about the quality of the fruit exhibited there.

Amherst College has abolished the B. S. degree and will devote its entire curriculum to classical studies. Two years of Latin and Greek will be required for a diploma.

Thomas D. Shepard whose kicking leg has perhaps done more in scoring points and gaining ground than any other factor on the team, came here from Wesleyan in his sophomore year. Last year he was all Maine full back and his toe scored the only points that Maine gained in the state series. His kicking this year has been even better, and in the last few games Shepard showed that he was a consistent ground gainer through the line. He is one of the best punters in New England. His graduation will leave a gap difficult to fill.

A. F. Cook our plucky little 130-pound end, though handicapped by lack of weight has played a fast game of football for four years. The first two seasons he played quarter, but the last two he has held down the position of left end. Much of Shepard's success in punting has been due to Cook's speed in getting down under the ball. He has been a fast and aggressive player both on defense and offence.

Carl S. Cleaves at quarter has been a cool leader and general. Though he has been varsity quarter back before this year, this season has been his best, and his running back of some of the punts has been spectacular. Cleaves has proved a consistent fighter and the team will feel his loss.

Leon W. Smiley has been a steady, hard playing back. He has improved every year and during this past season his fighting ability has been shown to good advantage. Smiley is a distinct loss to the team.

Phillip R. Hussey, the senior manager of the team, by his business enterprise, hustle, and fighting spirit has done much to make the present season a success in every way. His unselfish desired to do things for the team is highly appreciated by the squad.

Among the men who have not made the varsity and their letter, but who have been the making of the varsity are the following: seniors: M. C. Smith, B. C. Kent, C. E. Sullivan and K. D. Woodward. These men have worked, fought and trained for their University and too much credit can not be given them.

THE SEASON

Maine started practice Sept. 15, with a nucleus of nine "M" men and a goodly number of last year's substitutes. In a few days this squad was nearly doubled by candidates from the freshman class. In fact the students responded so well to the call for candidates that during the first few weeks there were more than enough men for three teams every night.

The season opened Sept. 23, with the Fort McKinley game, in which many of the new men were given a tryout, Maine easily won by the score of 19-0, and the outlook for a successful season was bright.

The next game with Rhode Island however, proved a stumbling block. The visiting team, although lighter than ours, having been coached to beat Brown, and consequently at their best, were able to pull out the winners, 3-0 after a hard fought contest. A drop kick by Sullivan, the snappy quarterback, turned the trick.

On Oct. 28, Maine opened the state series with Bates, who had a week before been defeated by Colby. Many surprises were in store for the Maine followers. The same old story of last year was repeated, and Maine on account of our confidence as before, lost to Bates by the score of 5 to 0. A well executed forward pass to Dyer, brought about the only score which was enough to win. At times the Maine team loomed up on the horizon, but it quickly faded away.

Determined to wipe out the Bates defeat, the team entered the Colby game the next Saturday with a new spirit. They fairly swept Colby off their feet during the first few minutes of play, and were able to score a touchdown within four minutes. This seemed to take the life out of the Colby team and Maine, playing circles around their opponents, scored two more touchdowns and a field goal. The final score was 20 to 0.

Judge Emery appears this year in the capacity of a private citizen—having given up all judicial duties since his last appearance before the school.
