JUNIOR WEEK

Progress Announced

Owing to Junior week coming before the close of the college year it has been deemed advisable to cut down the program to three days instead of four. This has made it necessary to omit the boat ride and the open house. Still another change is that there will be no Ivy Day exercises this year, but beginning next year this will form a part of the regular commencement exercises. The festivities will open with the Junior Exhibition Speaking, in the chapel on Thursday, May 2, and close with a presentation of the Magistrate, by the Maine Masque, in the gymnasium, Saturday, May 4. The committees have spared no effort to make Junior week a pronounced success as may be seen from the following program.

THURSDAY, MAY 2

FRIDAY, MAY 3

The following committees have been chosen by the Junior Class:

Junior Week—G. S. Tilley, C. E. Chandler, J. W. Hart, Wm. Sansouci, H. Hamlin.

Prom. Committee—E. H. Bigelow, W. G. Brewer, O. H. Davis, G. V. Dyer, R. A. Power.

1913 "PRISM"

Now in hands of the Printer

The work of collecting the material for the 1913 Prism has been completed and the copy has been placed in the hands of the printers in Buffalo, New York. The book will be made up and bound and placed on sale about the fifteenth of May. In anticipation of a large sale six hundred copies will be printed. The price of this Prism will be $2.50 for a cloth binding. Any one who wish a leather binding must make known their desire before the books are bound. The price of the leather binding will be $3.00, the extra fifty cents representing the actual difference in cost between the two bindings. In view of the recent faculty ruling restricting the cost of future Prisms it is extremely unlikely that such a book as the 1913 Prism will be published for many years, and for that reason it is hoped that the demand for this year's book will be very large.

BASEBALL PRACTISE

About Fifty Candidates Out

The work is now progressing rapidly in the baseball cage. The squad so far numbers about fifty, and as the space is somewhat limited, these men have been divided up into various sections, scheduled to practise at different times in the afternoon. Practise has been going on under the direction of Ralph B. Pond, '12, and Monday, Coach Magoon met his men for the first time. Coach Magoon is up against a rather hard proposition, that of practically making a new team, there being only three 'varsity men now in college; Abbott '14, (captain), Cobb, '14, and McCarthy, '13. However there is some good material out at present, and with plenty of hard work the chances are good, that a team will be turned out will be worthy of Maine.

Of the pitchers, good work is expected from Stobie, '14, who showed up well in the interclass games Gilman '15, and McLaughlin '15, are also showing up well in this line.

Catchers seem to be rather plentiful, Capt. Abbott, '14, Baker '15, of Hebron Academy, and York '15, of Coburn.

Of the infield not much can be said as yet, Cobb '14, shortstop of last year's team, Witham, '12, Chase '13, Coyne '14, Bird '13, McKeen '12, Pickard '14, and Newcomb '15, are showing good form.

In the outfield the most promising candidates are: McCarthy '13, Holway '14, Leonard '13, Kimball '14, and Storman '15.

Vermont has taken Bowdoin on to their football schedule for 1912.

SENIOR ASSEMBLY

Very successful Dance

The Senior Assembly, which took place last Friday evening, was a decided success in every respect and reflects much credit on the committee in charge. The affair was wholly informal and brought out a large number, about one hundred and twenty-five couples being in attendance. Dancing began at 8 o'clock and continued until 1.30, an order of twenty-four dances being carried out. The decorations were simple, but attractive. The patronesses were Mrs. Mary Parcher, Mrs. Bertha Moulton, Mrs. Jeannette A. Harrington, Mrs. Harriet A. Lord, Mrs. Ella J. Mason, Mrs. Mida W. Brown, Mrs. Marietta Dunn, and Mrs. Winfred W. Haggett. Music was furnished by Pullen's orchestra of Bangor.

ENGINEERS TO BOSTON

Every other year it is the custom of the mechanical and electrical engineering departments of the University to arrange a trip of inspection to representative engineering works in the vicinity of Boston upon which juniors and seniors of these departments are especially urged to go. The value of such trips as these has come to be so well recognized that they are a required part in the curriculum in many institutions and the requirement that every student in the departments of electrical and mechanical engineering should make a trip once during his college course is in contemplation at the University.

This year plans have been made to start for Boston Tuesday evening, March 26, and make headquarters at the Copley Square Hotel. Wednesday the General Electric Company at Lynn will be visited, the entire day being given over to this plant. It is expected that the visitors will take lunch with a number of alumni in Lynn.

Thursday forenoon the L Street Station of the Boston Elevated Company is to be visited and in the afternoon the United Shoe Machinery Company at Beverly. The program for Friday includes visits to the Milk Street Exchange of the New England Telephone Company and the Quincy Market Refrigeration and Cold Storage Warehouse; that for Saturday includes trips to the Fore River Shipbuilding Company in the morning and to the power plant of the Old Colony railroad at Quincy in the afternoon.

Sunday afternoon the party will go to Worcester and stop at the Bay State Hotel. The visits here will be to the American Steel and Wire Company Monday morning; to Crompton and Knowles, Loom works, Monday afternoon, to the Norton Company Tuesday morning; and in the afternoon to the Worcester Pressed Steel Company and the Norton Grinding Company.

ITERSCHOLASTIC DEBATING

The first debate in the interscholastic league will be held at Bar Harbor, Friday March 29, between Bangor High and Bar Harbor High. As these schools are keen rivals and the teams have been working for weeks in preparation for the event, it is expected that the audience will hear a warm debate.

This is one of the preliminaries for the final debate between the winners of this and the winners of a contest between Eastern Maine Conference Seminary and Foxcroft Academy. The league was organized by the English department at the University and for the final debate which will be held here a cup is offered to the winning school, and a thirty dollar scholarship to the best speaker. Under the terms of the constitution the coaches shall be members of the advanced argumentation classes at the University of Maine. W. D. Towner, '14, is coaching the Bar Harbor team while P. W. Monohon, '14, is handling the Bangor boys. The judges who have been selected as neither alumni of nor men in any way connected with the schools represented, will be: Prof. G. W. Stevens of the University of Maine, Hon. John Peters of Ellsworth, Maine, and Hon. A. P. Havey of Sullivan Maine.

These clubs seem to be the natural outgrowth of the increasing interest in debating and public speaking events. This increased interest is evinced not only by the revival of college debating clubs but also by the formation of several interscholastic leagues throughout the state.

"THE UNITED STATES FOREST SERVICE"

Lecture by Prof. J. H. Foster

On Wednesday evening, March 20th, the Forestry Club was exceedingly fortunate in having Prof. J. H. Foster of the New Hampshire State College as its speaker. The Club Room of the Library was well filled and the members of the club listened to a very interesting account of "The United States Forest Service." Prof. Foster was well fitted to tell of the work of the Forest Service, having had five years of practical experience for the government in this important work. He told of the complete revision of the service in 1907 when the department was established upon firm business principles, thus making it one of the government's best organized departments. He described the work of the various positions connected with the work, giving a detailed account of the duties of the district forester down to those of the ranger. His own experience furnished a pleasing fund of information and anecdotes from which he drew very freely.

In closing he explained the purpose, scope, and working of the Week's bill, or Appalachian law, which passed Congress a little over a year ago. This bill sets aside the sum of two millions of dollars annually for the next five years to be used in purchasing land for government purposes at the head waters of navigable streams. To the present day, only land on the Appalachian Mountains and in the vicinity of the White Mountains has negotiated for, but in all probability forest land in other portions of the country will be set aside.

Following his talk before the Forestry Club Prof. Foster appeared before two of Prof. Briscoe's classes and delivered a very interesting talk on the "Forest policy in the state of New Hampshire." He contrasted the policy of his own state with that of other states. He said that although the New Hampshire system of forest protection was by no means perfect, it ranked with that of Maine and other states whose systems are among the best in the country.

The University was very fortunate in being able to secure such a good speaker, for Prof. Foster, while being well informed of forestry conditions in this country due to his valuable experience, was a most fluent and interesting talker.

"M" CLUB MINSTRELS

Rehearsals Started

Plans in connection with the Minstrel Show to be given under the auspices of the "M" Club are progressing rapidly. Rehearsals for the play, "Cherry Bounce," a clean-cut farce overflowing with pure fun, have been going on for some time. The parts will probably be assigned this week. The rehearsals for the minstrel part of the entertainment began Wednesday evening and will continue until the date of the performance.

FUND FOR ALUMNI FIELD

Alumni Committee at Work

The raising of the funds necessary to the improvement of the athletic field is going on rapidly under the direction of Mr. Wingard. Committees have been established already in many places for the purpose of collecting the money. The committee at Washington, D. C., consists of Mr. P. L. Ricker 1900, and H. P. Gould, '93. At Augusta Mr. A. K. Gardner '10, has charge. Mr. Russell Smith, '11, is collecting in Lewiston and Auburn. Mr. Harold Cook '10, at Waterville, and Mr. E. A. Parker at Skowhegan are trying their best to secure money. The Boston Alumni Association has appointed Mr. S. P. Graves, '03, and Harry Sutton '09, as its committee. The committee of the Schenectady, N. Y. Association is J. G. Lurvey, '00, H. Duren, '02, and H. F. Hoxie '99.

Director Wingard has commenced his tour of our alumni associations in order to urge them all to untiring in their efforts to our athletic the most imposing one in the state.

Following is the list of Mr. Wingard's campaign stumps: March 22, at Waterville, March 24 at Portland, March 29 at Schenectady, New York, March 30, at New York City, April 1, at Washington, D. C., April 3 at Chicago, April 6 at Pittsburgh. It is the sincere hope of every Maine man that Mr. Wingard will be successful in his quest and that when he returns he may tell us that our improved athletic field is a certainty.

Tuesday evening, March 26, the junior-sophomore debate will take place in the chapel. Although for a number of years there have been annual debates between the sophomore and freshman classes this is the first between the juniors and sophomores. The question for discussion is, "Resolved, That the History of Trades Unions for the Past Twenty Years Shows a Tendency Detrimental to the Best Interests of the Country." The juniors will support the affirmative of the proposition. The teams and the order of speaking are as follows: juniors, Philip S. Bolton first speaker; Edmund N. Woodsum, second; and George C. Clark, third; sophomores, Everett B. Harvey, first speaker; Hermon R. Clark, second; and Wayland D. Towner, third. The teams have been working for some time, and an interesting discussion is well assured.

EDITORIAL.

As a general rule, changes that are gradual and are accomplished with the minimum of agitation and friction receive very little attention and are very seldom appreciated. The sweeping changes that have been made in the athletic policy and management at the University in the past two years are of that type, and, true to the rule have occurred so quietly that those who have been in touch with the situation continually, do not realize the really great changes that have been made, without drawing the contrast between the conditions of two years ago and those of today. The situation of two years ago was about as follows. For many seasons our athletic teams had failed to win championships. Team after team had started its work with fair material and at the end of the season came out losers. The Alumni were beginning to complain at the unreasonably long string of defeats and were justified. Maine men, both on and off the Campus, were beginning to lose faith in their team's ability to win. The staunch support of friends of the University's athletics was beginning to be undermined. Coaches were hired from year to year and remained only through the season of their own particular sport. "Steve" Farrell was the only man on the Campus connected with athletics permanently. He was doing noble work, but he was handicapped by lack of authority. The affairs of the athletic association were managed by an executive committee, composed of representatives from the different fraternities, the captains and managers of all athletic teams and delegates from the Faculty and Alumni bodies, a committee swayed by fraternity politics and unable to cope with the increasing needs of the association. Today the conditions are remarkably different. We have won two championships in the past two college years and have two chances yet to come. In the case of defeats, if supporters of our athletics wished to inquire into the reason they have been told in plain, unvarnished facts. We have an athletic director, E. R. Wingard, who remains on the Campus the year round, who has direct supervision of the coaching of all teams. We also have a trainer and track coach throughout the college year in Coach Smith. The affairs of the association are handled by a small but efficient board composed of three Faculty members, three members from the Alumni, and four students including the president of the association.

The bare recounting of the changes, however, does not bring out the improvement in conditions without speaking of some of the changes in detail. Our athletic teams have much better equipped than ever before. For instance, our football team of last fall was supplied as well as those of institutions of twice our size and reputation. Both track and baseball teams are also better supplied than ever before. We have a new board track which before had seemed impossible. Improvements have been made on our athletic field the enormity of which would have swamped the old athletic board. We have better coaches than ever before and they are here long enough to know their men and appreciate the conditions. The athletic association runs the college store which will soon begin to bring in revenue. Our schedules are arranged much earlier and much better games are being secured. Probably one of the greatest improvements, though is the business-like way in which our athletics are managed. The Alumni and Faculty members of the athletic board are interested in the affairs of the association. They have to be shown before they act. They are willing to shoulder responsibility for the association if need be. These are only a few of the improvements over the former methods which exist today and the end is not yet.

We feel that it is appropriate to say a word of appreciation of the work of those to whom these rapid steps of advancement are directly due. Going back to the spring of 1910 the athletic association owes a great deal of appreciation of the services of C. C. Johnson '10, P. S. Strout and Mr. R. Sumner '11, Prof. R. K. Jones and the other members of the then existing executive committee, together with certain Alumni who saw the deficiencies in the system and showed that they had the courage of their convictions by starting in at the bottom and making a general clean-up of the affairs of the association. To them is due the credit for the new Constitution and by laws of the association, and the engaging of Mr. Wingard as athletic director. The work of Mr. Wingard has been great, how great very few realize. To his efforts and those of Prof. Bean is due primarily the organization of the "M" Club, which will undoubtedly be one of the greatest factors in the maintaining of Maine's athletic teams in a few years. He is responsible for the great improvement that was made on Alumni Field last year. It is due also almost entirely to his influence that we are having better coaches, that our teams have better equipment, and all of this too without scarcely any more assessment on the student body. Due also to his attention to his work many more of our athletes are eligible to compete because he has seen to it that they realized the importance of keeping up their college standing. As a result of this work the members of the "M" Club came through the last set of final examinations unscathed, almost without exception. To the present members of the Athletic board Dean Boardman, Prof. Bean, and Prof. Jones from the Faculty and C. P. Crowell '98, P. B. Palmer '96, and H. B. Buck '93, from the Alumni especial credit is due. Very few students realize the sacrifice it means for them to attend the meetings of the board and exert their influence in its behalf. They are all busy men, and give their service loyally to the University. Perhaps the most disagreeable job of all is that of treasurer, and the student body as a whole owe a lot to Mr. Gannett '07, for his thorough service in that capacity.

The entire spirit of this article may be lost on the readers, but it is given for a purpose. Of late, adverse criticism has been heard on the Campus concerning the management of athletics in general. Perhaps those who seem to have ground to complain will think better of it when they realize what has been, and is being done. Fault finding does not improve college spirit. The place for criticism is in the athletic board meeting. The members of that board are ready and willing at all times to listen to the complaints of any and all who think that the right policy is not being pursued. Such complaints will be investigated thoroughly and the right thing will be done. University of Maine athletics are on the right basis, and the only thing that can stop advancement to the level of larger institutions is the lack of support from the student and Alumni bodies.

The Easter recess will occur before another issue of the CAMPUS appears. Our student body for a week will be scattered all over New England. May every Maine man remember what the little pine tree on the coat means, and lose no opportunity to speak a good word for the University.

"Just a line to say that I think you did remarkably well here in your Dual Meet. The fact that the score stood 28½ to 25½ before the relays speaks for itself. I really did not think that it would be so close.

This letter from Coach Smith of the Maine track team to Coach Adams is indicative of the treatment received by Colby at the hands of the Maine management and students. When Nardini found that he had left his shoes in Waterville, the Maine coach himself took the trouble to find a good fitting pair of jumping shoes for him. The spirit shown by Maine officials in awarding the relay to Colby on Maine's failure to touch off is also to be praised. Not every college has the sportsmanship to render a decision against itself at the possible cost of a meet. This chivalrous attitude accounts in a large measure for the cordial relations between Colby and the University of Maine—Colby Echo.

We believe that this is always the spirit of Maine's athletics, and it is very gratifying to realize that it is appreciated.

The next issue of the CAMPUS will appear on April 16.

MUSICAL CLUBS TO MASSACHUSETTS

To Start Tomorrow on Big Trip

For the first time in years the Musical Clubs are to take a Massachusetts trip, starting tomorrow morning and finishing the trip at Portland Monday evening, April 1.

The first concert of the trip will be given tomorrow evening in the Haverhill High School building under the auspices of the Haverhill High Senior class. On Thursday evening, Mar. 28, they will appear in Classical School Hall, Lynn, Mass., under the auspices of the Lynn High School. Friday evening, a concert is given in Wakefield, under the auspices of the Whittier-Walton Sunday School, and on Saturday, March 30, the clubs will appear in Jordan Hall, Boston, under the auspices of the Boston Alumni Association.

Maine men everywhere can well be grateful to the Boston Alumni Association for its unceasing work for the University. The Boston Association has always shown its loyalty to Maine in every way possible and the manner in which they are conducting this concert is an evidence of the same loyal spirit. It is trying in every way to have present at this concert as many as possible of the past and present, and especially the future Maine men. The association is trying to do its part for a larger entering class in the fall, and by way of doing this, is sending out many complimentary tickets to prospective college students. This cannot result otherwise than in the benefit of Maine.

The Clubs will be entertained over Sunday in Boston, by the Boston Association. On Monday evening will appear in Pythian Hall, Portland, Maine, under the auspices of the Sigma Upsilon society.

All the Clubs have been working hard for this trip and there is every reason to believe that it will be as successful as any trip of past years.

LECTURE ON EVOLUTION

"Modes of Evolution; Lamark and Darwin"

Dr. Mintin A. Chrysler, head of the biological department, gave the seventh of the series of University lectures on the subject, "Modern Aspects of the Doctrine of Evolution," in Alumni Hall, Wednesday afternoon, March 20. The topic for the afternoon was, "Modes of Evolution According to Lamark and Darwin."

Evolution has come to be regarded as a certain fact among biologists, and so convinced have they become of its truth that they have investigated the principles governing its action. One of the earliest pioneers in this work was Lamark (1774-1829,) who supported his idea that evolution is the effect of use and disuse. An illustration of the former may be seen in the blacksmith's arm, the strength of which is passed on to his children. Another illustration of use is seen in the neck of the giraffe, its length being attributed to constant stretching when reaching for food. Lamark's evidence, however, was not strong enough to bear out his doctrine.

In 1859 Darwin published his "Origin of Species," in which he gave evidence of evolution. Darwin pointed out that domesticated races are produced by the selection of the breeder, as may be seen in the case of dogs, pigeons and other animals. Then he reasoned that the same thing could occur in nature, by having Nature sift out the most unfit individuals. In this case the fitness of the individual to its environment has taken the place of the breeder. This theory is developed by steps as follows: (1) more animals and plants are produced than can possibly live; (2) no two individuals are quite alike; (3) the stronger and fitter will survive to breed; (4) the is teaching

that the m

variations will be inherited by the offspring. Therefore, eventually, new species are formed which are better adapted to their environment than were the preceding ones. The giraffe with the longest neck could, when food was scarce, reach higher and thus survived and reproduced others as tall and strong as itself. Darwin, therefore, attributes the action of evolution to "The struggle for existence" and "The survival of the fittest."

FACULTY NOTES

The Conversational Club met with Dr. F. L. Russell on Friday evening. Dr. Raymond Pearl delivered a paper on Eugenics.

Prof. George W. Stephens of the Economics department spoke before the Men's club of the Congregational church, Rockland, on Monday evening.

"OPPORTUNITIES FOR WORK IN TEACHING"

Chapel Talk by Prof. A. J. Jones

In chapel last Friday morning, Professor A. J. Jones head of the Department of Education, spoke on the "Opportunity for work in Teaching". He said that these opportunities were neglected by most of the U. of M. students, and that this should be no longer true. Although the students of this line of work have been poorly paid, at the present time the wages are being increased and in time the teachers will be paid very much better.

New men are needed who dare to cut loose from the old methods and take up new and broader ones. The men to do this are the men who have had a college education. In comparison with the work involved no occupation is better paid than is teaching. The qualifications demanded are that the men must have a broader view of the opportunities offered, better methods of teaching, and early practice if this be possible. As the present time the graduates of the Colleges of Arts and Sciences of the University of Maine are as well fitted to teach as those of any college in the state.

Professor Jones said that the time is surely coming when the demand for good teachers will be much greater in Maine than it is at present, and he urged all students to give careful thought to the possibilities of teaching before they selected their life work.

ALUMNI NOTES

Prominent Young People Married in Bangor Wednesday

One of the prettiest home weddings of the season took place Wednesday, March 20, when Miss Marjorie Chase Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Robinson of 269 French street, became the bride of Clarence Arthur Mayo of Malden, Mass., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Mayo of Hampden.

The ceremony which took place at the bride's home, was performed in the large reception room before a temporary bower of beautiful palms and roses by Rev. Charles A. Moore, pastor of the All Souls Congregational church.

The bride, was given away by her father and she was attended by Miss Allena H. Jewett. of Bangor, Albert K. Gardner of Augusta, son of U. S. Sen. Obadiah Gardner, was the best man.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mayo are well known in this city, which has always been the bride's home. The groom is the son of United States Marshall Henry W. Mayo and is a graduate of the University of Maine in the class of 1910. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, and was one of the most popular men in his class while in college. Since graduating from college Mr. Mayo has been with the Malden Electric Co. in the capacity of an electrical engineer. He was recently selected by the syndicate that controls the Malden company and also the People's Gas & Electric Co. in Oswego for the position of superintendent of the latter company in Oswego, and begins his new duties there the first of April.

The bride has always been prominent socially in this city and was a member of the class of 1908 of Smith college. She and the groom have hosts of friends, who join in wishing them every happiness. They will enjoy a brief wedding trip before going to Oswego. Mr. and Mrs. Mayo will be at home in Oswego after June 1.

State Attorney Pattangall, '07, and Hon. W. T. Haines, '76, were the guests of the evening at a joint banquet of the Maine and Bowdoin chapters of Beta Theta Pi fraternity held at the Augusta House recently.

C. E. Oak, '76, H. B. Buck '93, and Ray Fellows, '08, have been chosen as a committee for raising funds for the athletic field and grand stand. Here's wishing them luck.

Prof. R. K. Jones '86, has spoken twice in chapel on the early history of the University. Prof. Jones is surely thoroughly familiar with the subject and an interesting lecturer.

The committee on the coming commencement reunion are A. H. Brown '80, C. E. Oak '76, and D. F. Snow '03, Law. They are trying hard to have a record attendance of alumni.

W. A. Carter '09, who was formerly with the Ricker Classical Institute of Houlton is now employed with the General Electric Co. at West Lynn, Mass.

The marriage of Edwin C. Maxwell '11, and Miss Lottie E. McPheters took place at the home of the bride's parents on Wednesday, March 13. Mr. Maxwell since his graduation from the University has been with the Aberthaw Construction Co. of Boston.

Mellen C. Wiley '03, is civil engineer with Robert W. Hunt and Co., of Chicago.

Mr. W. H. Rastall, ex-'01, after seven years in Japan has entered the employ of the Erie City Iron Company of Chicago, Illinois. His mail address is Room 1539 First National Bank building, Chicago.

Lester Howard, '06, of Augusta visited the Theta Epsilon House last Wednesday.

S. W. Washburn, Instructor in Chemistry '08-'09, was on the Campus for a few days recently.

R. B. Pond, '12, P. Garland, '12, F. Norcross, '14, and H. H. Towle, '15, attended the district banquet of the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity in Boston the 15 and 16 of March.

C. H. Fenn '09, of Portland, visited the Sigma Chi House last Friday.

D. C. Jewett, Law '14, has gone to his home in Cherryfield.
