In Memoriam

OBITUARY

Mrs. Balentine was born on the 26th of July, 1855, at Norridgewock, Me. Her father was John F. Abbott, a prominent lawyer of Boston. Her mother was the daughter of Charles W. Allen, the first President of this University. In 1860 her father moved to Massachusetts and it was in this State that she received the greater part of her early education. She attended a public school in Newton, Abbott Academy at Andover, and private schools in Boston and Brooklyn, New York. In 1882 she was married to Walter Balentine, Professor of Agriculture at the University of Maine and as a consequence made her home in Orono. Her married life was a happy one for her husband was a most congenial and likable man. He was one of the most popular members of the Faculty at that time. In 1894 Mrs. Balentine suffered the loss of her husband but still she and her two daughters, Florence and Marion, made their home in Orono. During the year she was appointed Secretary to the President and remained in this position until she was appointed Secretary to the Faculty in 1896. She afterwards assumed the Secretaryship of the University and out of appreciation, and to give her position greater dignity she was elected Registrar of the University in 1912.

On January 20, 1913, the whole University was saddened by the news of her death. She was on her way to visit some of the leading Universities of the country in order to obtain new ideas in her own work. She had stopped over Sunday at her brother's home in Auburn and had intended to proceed to Boston Monday morning to carry out her plans, but early Monday morning she was stricken with a severe attack of heart failure and died.

To her family and her friends her death was the deepest sorrow. She had been a lovable wife, a true mother, and a kind friend, one for whom everyone had the greatest respect and admiration.

To the University, itself, and to the student body, both active and alumni, her death was met with equal suffering. Her untiring efforts to make the University a great institution will never be forgotten. She liked her work and loved the University. Nothing was too difficult for her to attempt. Often she sacrificed her spare time and her holidays in order that she might work and better the welfare of this institution. Her work was always of the highest order, which fact the University will ever appreciate.

The alumni and active members of the University will always bear in mind her kindness and congeniality. To them she was like a mother to a child, ever interested in their welfare and endeavoring to do for them, all that was in her power. She desired to see the University turn out men and women who would do credit to their country and to their Alma Mater and to these ends she worked. Her efforts will ever be present in the minds of those with whom she came in contact and her pure character will inspire them all to press on and carry out the noble deeds of which her life was a fine example.

FUNERAL

The funeral services of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Balentine, at which the faculty, the student body of the University, and her friends were present was held in the Chapel on Wednesday afternoon, January 22, at quarter past three. In accordance with the views and wishes of the deceased, the service was very simple and yet at the same time it was most effective. In commemoration of the one who has done so much for the students here at the University and the one who was a friend to every student who ever entered this institution, the fraternities united in making a floral tribute to Mrs. Balentine in the form of a large set piece. The different classes of the University offered their tribute by similar pieces and these with innumerable bouquets covered the front of the altar before which lay the casket.

As early as half past two, the students commenced to fill the seats of the Chapel; and it was in the three quarters of an hour that followed that a most perfect tribute was paid to the one whose absence from us has not yet been realized, by the absolute stillness that prevailed. At quarter past three, the body was brought from the home of her daughter and the service was opened with scripture reading by Dr. M. C. Fernald. Music was then rendered by a quartet consisting of Mrs. E. R. Wingard, Mrs. A. J. Jones, Prof. C. B. Brown and Prof. A. J. Jones. Resolutions from the Alpha Omicron Phi of which Mrs. Balentine was a member and from the student body were read by Miss Alice Harvey and Mr. Glenwood Tilley. Dr. Robert J. Aley gave a eulogy on the life of Mrs. Balentine after which prayer was offered by Dr. Fernald.

EULOGY

My acquaintance with Mrs. Balentine began in 1891 when Mrs. Stevens and I came into Maine for the first time, and a State college was entirely beyond my experience. No one of the older faculty group was more cordial, no one made the new comers more welcome than she. That finest type of hospitality—that which seeks to cheer those whose circumstances seem most to need it—was characteristic of her.

When Mrs. Balentine came into the college office as secretary to President Harris she was brought into intimate relationship with every member of the faculty and every student. With the growth of the institution and the consequent multiplying of administrative duties, there came to be a somewhat smaller group among whom conferences and consultations were of almost daily occurrence. Mrs. Balentine laid down her work so recently that I find it difficult to write of her as one might be able to do after time had given a better perspective. Probably no day has passed in which it has not been in the mind of someone to ask her concerning some matter of administrative detail, only to remember that she no longer sits at her desk.

A leading characteristic of Mrs. Balentine was her tremendous energy. No task was too difficult for her. She would entertain no idea of rest until the work of the day was accomplished. The old fashioned and somewhat discredited motto, Never ask another to do for you what you can do yourself was followed by her with a strict literalness.

There was always in her relations with her associates an unquestioned sincerity. Her acquaintance with the student body was probably larger than that of any of the rest of us, but for each alumnus as he came back into the office there was always a manifestation of genuine personal interest.

But, after all, the chief characteristic of Mrs. Balentine's life was not her administrative efficiency, not her ever present helpfulness, but the fact that she found her highest pleasures in her home. She was an ideal Mother, and when on rare occasions she could get away from the office and share the family life of her children and grand children, she was at her best.

JAMES S. STEVENS.

A LETTER FROM EX-PRESIDENT HARRIS

February 1, 1913.

TO THE MAINE CAMPUS:

Will the CAMPUS grant me opportunity to say a word in regard to Mrs. E. A. Balentine, the Registrar of the University?

It was in the home of Professor and Mrs. Balentine that I was first entertained on the campus of the University. Professor Balentine, the head of the department of agriculture, was one of the strong men of the institution. He was a ripe scholar; had been trained not only in this country but in Europe; he was clear-headed, unselfish, thoroughly devoted to his work and to the institution. His wife was closely in touch with all his work and no less anxious and ready to promote the interests of the State College.

Professor Balentine died soon after I went to Orono, but during the time I knew him he was one of my closest advisers, always sound in judgment and ready to help. When the home was broken up, Mrs. Balentine came into my office to serve as the first assistant. She was stenographer, typewriter, secretary, and book-keeper. Though the institution was small, her duties were heavy. She performed them, as she did her work throughout her whole career, with very unusual success. Her service was especially noteworthy because of the soundness and helpfulness of her advice, the sense of responsibility she developed, her devotion to the institution, and her interest in persons, whether students or teachers. The University of Maine will never have a more devoted friend and servant than she, and I fear it will be long before any one can be found who can fill the large place that she leaves empty.

Yours very truly,
A. W. HARRIS.

At an informal meeting of the New York Alumni Association of the University of Maine, held Wednesday evening, January 22, 1913, a minute of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Abbott Balentine, Registrar of the University, was recorded with sadness and a committee was appointed to take suitable action on behalf of the Association.

FRESHMAN DEBATING TEAM CHOSEN

Will Meet the Sophomores in Annual Contest

The trials for the Freshman debating team took place in Estabrooke Hall, Thursday evening, February 6. The following men were given a tryout, each man being allowed five minutes to deliver his argument; G. H. Garrison, S. C. Clement, D. E. Higgins, H. E. Rollins, A. W. Nickerson, R. B. Grant and W. S. Jack.

The judges chose Garrison, Clement and Rollins to represent the Freshman team, and two alternates, Higgins and Nickerson.

Prof. Daggett was chairman.

SOPHOMORE HOP INFORMAL

Faculty Makes Important Rulings

The Sophomore Hop for this year will be much different from those of former years. This is due to a faculty ruling which was presented to the class at a class meeting on February sixth.

According to the decision of the Faculty Committee on Social affairs the Hop must be informal it must not continue after midnight, and the total expense to the class may not exceed $100.

In formers years the Sophomore Hop has been one of the big functions of the school and this faculty ruling will make a great difference, as the usual expense for decorations alone in the past has been nearly as much as the whole sum allowed for this year's Hop.

Allen H. Blaisdell, '11, of Wilkensburg, Pa., was at the Phi Eta Kappa house recently.

MAINE IN GREAT VICTORY OVER BOWDOIN

First Contest of Kind Between Rivals

In one of the most thrilling races of the evening, Maine defeated the Bowdoin relay team at the B. A. A. meet in Mechanics Hall last Saturday night. The Maine team which was picked last Tuesday by Coach Smith after eleven men had run their time trials consisted of N. S. Donahue, '15, L. B. Rogers, '13, John Littlefield, '13, and C. C. Fox, '16.

At the crack of the pistol Donahue, at the pole, jumped away in the lead over Capt. Haskell of Bowdoin. Donohue gained consistently and passed a five yard lead to Rogers. Bowdoin gained the lead in the second relay when Smith by a brilliant burst of speed passed Rogers on the second straightaway and took the pole. Smith led by a scant yard for the rest of the distance. In the next relay Emery of Bowdoin just held his lead over Littlefield. The final relay proved to be very exciting. McWilliams had just the slightest advantage over Fox but the Maine freshman raced for the first corner as though his life depended upon it and took the lead from the Bowdoin runner. McWilliams pressed Fox hard all the way but the latter refused to relinquish the lead and finished a good yard and a half ahead.

The time for the race, 3 minutes 19 4-5 seconds, was fast.

The Maine runners and Coach Smith deserve all credit for their great victory in this first relay contest against our ancient rivals. The team was picked from an extremely small amount of material for a college of our numbers and the coach received little encouragement from the student body. The eleven men that tried for the team were good workers, which fact accounts for the good showing of the team.

J. T. Leacock '16, was substitute on the relay team. R. W. Bell '16, also accompanied the team and entered the Handicap Mile event.

CAMPUS BOARD ELECTION

At the CAMPUS Board meeting held in Alumni Hall last Thursday noon, the resignation of Paul W. Monohon, '14, as managing editor was accepted. Russell S. Ferguson, '14, was elected to that position. No other business of importance was transacted.

T. E. Houghton, '10, was married to Miss Cenith Watt of Fort Fairfield, Me., recently.

CUPS FOR BEST KICKERS

Two Cups Offered by Sophomore Owls

For the past two years the kicking department of the University football team, having been unusually strong, has proven an important factor in the offensive and defensive tactics of the team. By the loss of Ex-Captain Shepard; this department has been materially weakened. The Sophomore Masks, feeling that there is at present, excellent material in the University for a punter or a dropkicker, and that the material, which is now dormant, can be brought out by the proper methods, have offered two suitably engraved, silver cups for this purpose.

One of the cups is offered for the best punter distance and accuracy to be the factors in determining the winner, while the second trophy will be awarded to the man who is decided to be the best all around kicker by the judges. Four factors will enter the latter contest; place kicking, drop kicking, kicking goals from touchdown, punting, and kicking "off."

This project has the hearty endorsement of Pres. Aley, the Senior Skulls, the Athletic Board and Ex-Capt. Shepard while Captain Sawyer is very enthusiastic in his support of the plan.

Following are the rules of the contests:—

GENERAL RULES

First—Any Freshman, Sophomore, or Junior duly registered for a four year course at the University of Maine shall be eligible to compete.

Second—All entries must be made with the Director of Athletics at least three days before the beginning of the contest.

Third—The judge shall be the Director of Athletics, the ex-captain and the captain-elect of the Football team.

Fourth—The judges shall have complete jurisdiction in the award of the cups.

Fifth—The cups shall become the permanent possession of the winners.

Sixth—The position from which the ball is to be kicked, in either contest, shall be determined by the judges.

Seventh—One week prior to the final competition, elimination trials will be held and the six best men in each event shall qualify to compete in the final.

A man may enter either or both events, but a score made in one event will not count in the second.

FOR THE PUNTING CONTEST

First—Each contestant shall be allowed five kicks, the average of the best three to count in the award of the prizes. This rule shall apply in both the trials and finals.

FOR THE ALL AROUND KICKING CONTEST

First—Each contestant shall be allowed

Three punts.

Three goals from placement.

Three drop-kicks.

Three kicks for "goals from touchdown."

Three attempts at "kick off."

H. P. Merchant, '16, has left college.

BASKETBALL SERIES GROWS EXCITING

Juniors and Sophomores Gain on Rivals

Two fast and exciting basketball games were played in the Gymnasium Friday evening, Feb. 7. The Seniors who had not lost a previous game, were defeated by the Juniors in a hard, clean contest by the score of 20 to 11. Abbott and Cobb starred for the Juniors, each shooting some remarkable baskets. Bird and Brown played best for the Seniors. The score:

SENIORS

Brown, 1 left forward
Bird, 1 (3) right forward
Knight center
Richards left guard
Savage, 2 right guard

JUNIORS

Abbott, 4, (2)
Cobb, 4
Stevens, 1
Crocker
Hall, Sawyer

The Sophomores trimmed the Freshmen in what was perhaps the best and most exciting game of the series. Great enthusiasm was manifested by the cheering sections of the two lower classes. The first half was very close and the score stood 9 to 6 when time was called. In the second half, however, the Sophomores were never headed and ran up the score 29 to 17. Williams and Hutchinson put up the best basketball seen for some time, each making fine shots. The whole Sophomore team showed lots of "pep" and fight. Blood played the best game for the Freshmen.

The score:

FRESHMEN

Hilton, 3 left forward
Snyder, 1 (3) right forward
Barrows, 3 center
Ruffner left guard
Blood right guard

SOPHOMORES

Hall, 1
Hamel, Bryant, 3
Hutchinson, 5 (1)
Crandall
Williams, 3 (4)

In the interclass series the Sophomores and the Seniors are tied for first place, each team having won two games and lost one. The Juniors and Freshmen are tied for last place, each having lost two games and won one. Next Friday night the Seniors play the Sophomores and the Juniors meet the Freshmen.

EDITORIAL.

An alumnus of the University wrote recently with reference to the death of Mrs. Balentine,

In Memoriam "I was very sorry to hear of the loss of Mrs. Balentine. I know that hundreds of Maine men will feel that loss as I do."

Universally among the students and alumni of our institution there is a very keen feeling as to what Mrs. Balentine's death means to all. She, who was the students' friend and advisor, will be sadly missed by all who have ever known her. Her sunny disposition and her cheerful readiness to assume and carry all tasks which presented themselves to her will long be remembered by Maine men.

Even as has been said, resolutions of respect have been offered and many words of tribute spoken to the memory of Mrs. Balentine. We wish to dedicate these all to her in this CAMPUS; but we feel that her life was such and her wishes, could they be known, would be of such a nature, that we would more fully honor her if we could adopt the sentiments expressed by Abraham Lincoln in his Gettysburg address of dedication. With slight changes they would read as follows:—

Our college world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here; but it can never forget what Mrs. Balentine did at the University of Maine. It is for us, the living, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which she has thus far so nobly advanced. It is for us to be here dedicated to the great task of life remaining before us—that profiting by her example we may take increased devotion to the causes of duty, industry and sterling character, for which she gave the last full measure of devotion; and that, having witnessed a life of such devotion, we shall here highly resolve that the example thus set shall be, not in vain, but followed by us all.

Last Thursday evening, from a good list of speakers, three men were chosen to be members of the freshman class debating team.

Debate These three will take part in the Freshman-Sophomore debate later in the spring. What of those who failed to make the team and those other members of the freshman club who did not compete? Will they stay in the club or will they drop out? On the answer to this question depends the future success of debating of Maine.

Last year the freshman club was very prosperous and successful until the class team was chosen. Aside from these men interest soon lagged and little more was accomplished as a club. What was the result? This year only three men have thus far reported for the sophomore team, only one of whom was a regular member of last year's team. Interest which was allowed to lag last year has not been revived and the sophomore class is unable to put forth its best material for the contest.

The real future of debating lies with the freshmen. If interest cannot be maintained in the freshman club, now that the team has been chosen, next year the same difficulty will be pre-

Provident Life & Trust Company

It is surrounded by greater safeguards than any other life insurance company, and gives greater guarantees for the future.

Its charter provides for the continuance of the present wise and conservative management.

It will, under all circumstances, deal fairly with you.

Its practice is to grant an extension of time if the insured is unable to pay premiums when due.

Its policies are non-forfeitable after the payment of BUT TWO annual premiums.

Its investments are secure, its management economical, and its premium rates are low.

Its rate of mortality from organization is below all other American companies and its dividends from this source correspondingly larger.

IMPRESSIONS.

whether transitory or permanent should be of a kind that "make a hit." The impression gained of the man who is tailor dressed in one of our MADE-TO-MEASURE Suits or Overcoats is of the lasting kind, just like the clothes themselves. Let us tailor for you an impressionable garment from one of our 500 all wool cloths and from any of our 40 styles.
