FOOTBALL BANQUET

David Seth Baker Elected Captain For 1914

President Aley gave a banquet to Maine's Championship Football team at the Hannibal Hamlin training quarters on Monday evening. Those present besides the team were Prof. Wingard, Coach Riley and Manager Getchell. Short speeches were made by Capt. Sawyer, Manager Getchell, Coach Riley and others. The whole affair was a distinct success and formed a fitting close to a successful season.

At the banquet, David Seth Baker, '15, of Caratunk, was unanimously elected captain for 1914. This is an honor which "Dave" well deserves having been a hard and consistent player during the three years that he has been in college.

"Dave" prepared for college at Hebron Academy where he played center on the football team. He tried out for and made the same position during his first year in college and has been chosen as an "All-Maine" center for the three years that he has played on Maine's Championship teams. Baker succeeds Capt. Sawyer making the second Hebron man to hold that position in two years. He is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity, Sophomore Owls and Junior Masks and has been very active in college affairs throughout his course.

There will be a rehearsal of the Maine Masque on Tuesday evening in No. 1 Estabrooke Hall.

NEW ENGLAND CROSS COUNTRY MEET

Maine Team Left Wednesday With An Even Chance of Winning First Place

The Maine cross-country team left Wednesday night at 8 P. M. for the N. E. Meet at Hanover. The men who made the trip were Capt. Towner, Brooks, Bell, Preti, Demsey and Gerrish. Mgr. Freese and Coach Smith also accompanied the team. Maine goes to Hanover with an even chance of winning first honors. In Preti of Maine Marceon of Dartmouth will find a very able contender for first place, while Wenz of Colby is not to be overlooked. Judging from past performances either Maine, Mass. Tech., Brown or Dartmouth should win the race, with the odds in favor of Maine because of her well balanced team.

The team will work out Thursday afternoon either on Franklin Field in Dorchester or over the old course at Hanover. The team will walk over the new course Friday afternoon. This course will be 4 7-10 miles long. The race will be run at 2.30 Saturday afternoon and the results will be telegraphed to Orono right after the race.

PROGRESS ON NEW BUILDING

Aubert and Balentine Halls

Work on the two new buildings, Aubert Hall and Balentine Hall, is progressing rapidly. Already the concrete foundation for both buildings is practically finished and the forms have been removed. The masonry work will commence soon and as much of this will be completed as is possible before the weather becomes too cold. Then the work will be stopped until about the middle of March. From then on the work will be hurried along and it is hoped that the buildings will be completed by the time that college opens in the fall.

Aubert Hall will be constructed from local water-struck brick, with trimmings of cast limestone and light gray brick to match the limestone. The interior walls throughout are to be of light sand and lime brick, except minor partitions of plaster block. All stairways will be of iron, thus making the building semi-fireproof. It will be three stories high. The center of the building will be 84 feet deep and 48 feet front; there will be two wings each 50 feet by 58 feet, so that the total frontage will be 154 feet.

Balentine Hall will be when completed of a modified colonial type of architecture, distinctive of the purpose for which the building will be used. Only one wing will be completed this time, which will be about one-third of the whole. The completed building will be three stories high and 140 feet in its largest dimensions. The basement will be of concrete while the super-structure will be of selected water-struck red brick with stone trimmings, and the roof of slate with wood cornice.

Aubert Hall is named for Professor Alfred Bellamy Aubert, who died in New York November 12, 1912. Balentine Hall is named for Mrs. Elizabeth Abbott Balentine, who died in Waterville January 20, 1913.

FOOTBALL PICTURE

Will be on Sale at College Store Next Week

The picture of the 'varsity football squad was taken in front of Lord Hall, Tuesday morning, Nov. 11. The group included besides coaches Riley and Smith, manager Getchell and the following men: Capt. Sawyer, Gulliver, Baker, Murray, Wark, Bernheisel, Purington, Cobb, Martin, Donahue, Ruffner, Gorham, Mace, Hamel, Hale, Kirk, Kriger, Kallock, Moulton and Thompson. The picture was taken by A. F. Orr of Oldtown and will be on sale at the University store about the last of next week. Everybody should buy a picture of our third consecutive Championship team.

THE HUMAN M AT THE BOWDOIN GAME

An Innovation which should be Continued

The human M which was used with such great success at the Bowdoin game was introduced here at the University by Arthur Abbott, '14. It was copied to a great extent from the human M which is used at Michigan University. At Michigan it has been a marked success. It has put fight into the teams and has won the admiration of the spectators.

At the Bowdoin game the M was made by about ninety upperclassmen so arranged that by waving white cloths over their heads a huge white M was formed with the student body as a back ground. That this was a success could readily be seen from the actions of the Bowdoin rooters. They could not yell loud enough to offset the effect which the Human M had on players and spectators alike.

There is no reason why we should not continue to use this human M at all of our big games and track meets. There should be plenty of chance to improve on it and make it one of the chief features of our contests.

MAINE SOCIETY OF CIVIL ENGINEERS

Field Meeting at Rumford

A field meeting of the Maine Society of Civil Engineers was held recently at Rumford.

Upon arrival of the members, a trip of inspection was made thru the mill of the International Paper Company, of which P. E. McCarthy, U. of M., 1902, is general manager.

In the evening a banquet was served at the Rumford Hotel after which the members adjourned to the Club Rooms where a business meeting was held, and the following papers were presented.

"The New Water Works" by Henry Nelson.

"The Paper Mills" by P. E. McCarthy.

"Power Development and Municipal Improvements" by Charles Mixer.

The following forenoon was given over to an inspection of the various engineering work now under construction in the Town of Rumford together with an inspection of the power developments in this vicinity, and a trip through the Oxford paper mill.

The meeting was considered one of the best ever held by the Society.

The officers of the Society for this year are as follows:

President, H. S. Boardman, Orono; Vice President, E. E. Greenwood, Skowhegan; Secretary and Treasurer, F. E. Pressey, Bangor.

It is of interest to University of Maine men to know that all the officers for the present year are University of Maine graduates.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

Amherst College has just adopted soccer football as a part of the required "gym" work. It is felt that the college next year will be represented on the soccer gridiron.

University of Illinois will have one of the best photography departments in the country when A. G. Eldredge, newly appointed head, gets the department into working order.

Yale University is building a large new artificial hockey rink. The completion of this arena will fill a long felt need for a large rink. The dimensions of the arena are 20 x 185 ft.

A chapter of Sigma Iota, the international fraternity of Spanish speaking college men, has been established at Syracuse University. Nine men constitute the enrollment of charter members.

The usual football song competitions at Harvard has been abandoned this year for a new and seemingly better scheme calculated to gain the end in view. There will be a competition in the spring, thus giving more time to selection.

The entire cadet corps of Louisiana State University has pledged itself to abstain from hazing in every form. As this has been the authorities' aim for several years, the pledge seems highly satisfactory.

Work will soon begin on the New York City College stadium, the approval of the board of estimate having been obtained. The building, which will cost $200,000, is the gift of Adolph Lewisohn and will be completed in 1914.

The question of "frats" has again arisen at Cornell University. Acting President Crane has hinted that it is time for the University to exercise greater control, as is exercised over frats and clubs at the U. of Michigan and Wisconsin.

The advisability of introducing at Massachusetts Tech, a short course in the microscopic study of foods is being considered. Much stress will be put on the study of such substances as coffee, butter, ketchup and pepper for impurities and adulterants.

The faculty of the University of Texas has put a taboo on first semester pledging among the Greek letter fraternities. Only those students who have passed 12 hours work are now eligible to become members of a fraternity—Silver and Gold.

When the Carlisle Indians play the Washington State College on Christmas Day in Spokane, Washington, history in eastern versus western football will be made. A rather extensive western trip during the latter part of the season has been planned by the manager of the team at Carlisle and this is the 1st of several games Portland and Seattle will witness the easterners in all probability.

Eight distinct building projects are going on at Harvard, involving a cost of more than four million dollars. Not since the medical school was finished in 1906 has there been such an addition to the university. The most important of the new buildings is the new Widener Library in the college yard, on which two million dollars are being spent. The remainder goes to Freshman dormitories, the stadium bridge, laboratories, and museum extension.

BANGOR CO-OPERATIVE PRINTING COMPANY

EDITORIAL.

With the climax of the football season on Whittier Field last Saturday, there came to the student body another championship and also the news that the man behind our championship team is not planning to return next fall. We refer to Coach Riley to whom we owe our three successful football championships. We think there can be no question among the student body that he is the best man who ever held the position of football coach at Maine. The question is how are we to get him back next fall? The power of hiring the coaches lies with the Athletic Board. Therefore we must bring our opinions to bear upon the members of that board. If it is your opinion that Coach Riley should be hired next fall do not fail to say so. How are the members of the Athletic Board to determine your wishes if you do not make them known to them. Start some sentiment in the right direction and we will have done our part to insure proper coaching of our 1914 football team.

As for the championship just won, we can rest assured that there was more to be accomplished at the outset of the season than there has been in the last three years. What was done by Coach Riley, Coach Smith, Manager Getchell, the Varsity, the Scrubs, the Assistant Managers, the Rubbers, and every one in any way connected with the team is now a matter of history. We owe them all a vote of thanks for their service so unselfishly given.

When the CAMPUS was established last spring on its present basis, it was understood that the change was more or less of an experiment. Since that time the paper has met with better success from the stand-point of the reader. The editor has received many letters of commendation and also many letters pointing out the faults of the paper. These letters have been taken in the right spirit and the editorial board is striving to correct the faults of the paper. However, these changes can not all be made at once. We hope for a gradual improvement. Next Tuesday an important change is to be made. The form of the paper after this issue will be a four page sheet. There will be four columns to a page and a smaller type will be used. It is hoped in this way to decrease the cost of publication and still give our readers nearly the same amount of news as before. The paper in the form just described will be published twice a week as usual. We ask you to bear with us while we are attempting to hit upon the most efficient plan of publication possible. Do not fail to let us know if you do not consider the new plan as good as the old.

COMPOSITE ALL-MAINE FOOT BALL TEAM PICKED

An Eleven Made Up From Several Choices of Coaches and Captains Shows But Two Players, Murray and Cobb of Maine as Unanimous Selections

COMPOSITE ALL-MAINE TEAM

 Center, Baker, Maine—Five votes.
 Right guard, Pendergast, Colby—Three votes.
 Right tackle, Daicey, Colby—three votes.
 Right end, Royal, Colby—Three votes.
 Quarterback, Cobb, Maine—Six votes.
 Left half-back, Fraser, Colby—Five votes.
 Right half-back, Weatherill, Bowdoin—Five votes.
 Full-back, Dyer, Bates—Three votes.

The Wednesday evening edition of the Portland Express-Advertiser presented an All-Maine eleven, that is, a team made up from the choices of the coaches and captains of the four Maine College teams. The men selected for this mythical eleven have been picked according to the number of votes they polled for their respective positions.

Coach Riley of University of Maine has declined to make a selection and the team has been formed from the choices of Coaches Daly of Colby, McCann of Bowdoin and Greene of Bates, and Captains Sawyer of Maine, Fraser of Colby, Weatherill of Bowdoin and Danahy of Bates. McCann and Weatherill agree on every position except right half, where the Bowdoin coach desired to put Weatherill. Had Coach Riley submitted a team, the number of votes might have been changed in some instances.

Taking up the positions in order, Danahy of Bates picked for left end by everyone except McCann and Weatherill, and, naturally himself. The little Garnet leader puts Leadbetter of Bowdoin in his place and the Brunswick men choose Royal of Colby, putting Leadbetter on the right wing. Captain Sawyer of Maine Says Leadbetter is his second choice for left end.

For right end Royal of Colby is the favorite getting the votes of Sawyer, Daly and Fraser, while McCann and Weatherill would shift him to the other tip. Greene and Danahy take Bernheisel of Maine to pair up with the Bates captain in guarding the extremities. Both Sawyer and Fraser choose Bernheisel for their second selection.

The tackles are awarded to Murray of Maine and Daicey of Colby. For either right or left Murray gets a unanimous vote, but four men give him the left side, which is his right position. For a tackle job Daicey receives three ballots. Green favors A. R. Cobb of Bates, Sawyer likes Lewis of Bowdoin, while McCann and Weatherill take Burns. For second choice Sawyer names Daicey at left tackle and Cobb of Bates at right while Fraser picks Ladd of Colby and Cobb.

A surprise is uncovered in the guards for neither Sawyer, Gulliver, or even Baker, wins. As the votes dictate, Moore of Bates is left guard and Pendergast of Colby goes down as his companion. There is a wide divergency of opinion on these places. Moore takes three votes, those of Sawyer, Greene and Danahy. Pendergast gets the same number, coming from Sawyer, Daly and Fraser. Fraser and Danahy cast their votes for Sawyer of Maine, Daly and Greene think Baker of Maine would fit in better at guard than his regular center place, while the Bowdoin men decide for Pratt of Bowdoin and Gulliver of Maine. For second choice at left guard Sawyer names Mountfort and Fraser favors Pratt. For second choice at right guard both Maine and Colby leaders take Gulliver.

Baker of Maine pulls strong for center, netting five votes. Coaches Daly of Colby and Greene of Bates prefer Stanwood for the keystone as do Sawyer and Fraser for their second selections.

Cobb of Maine goes on the "ticket" unanimously for quarterback. For second choice Sawyer puts down Talbot of Bates and Fraser takes Merrill of Colby next.

Fraser of Colby and Weatherill of Bowdoin win the halfback berths and get five votes apiece, each modestly refraining from choosing himself. The voters all put the White helmsman his usual side of the backfield except Daly of Colby, who transfers him to left half. Sawyer, McCann and Weatherill would play the Colby pilot at left half, but Greene, Danahy and even Coach Daly himself prefers to put Fraser at full, Daly, McCann and Weatherill present their preference for Lowney for a half, the Garnet powers like their own Eldridge, while Ruffner of Maine looks good to Fraser. For second choices Sawyer takes Lowney, and Fraser names LaCasce of Bowdoin and Martin of Maine.

For the apex of the backfield Dyer of Bates gets three votes, those of Sawyer, McCann and Weatherill. Fraser allots fullback to Cauley of Colby, who is also Sawyer's second choice. Fraser's second choice is Lowney.

The six selections on which the composite teams are based are as follows:

MAINE NIGHT AT BIJOU

Reception to Championship Team and Athletic Association

Wednesday night was Maine Night at the Bijou. Manager Boggett, of this popular theater, is certainly a friend to every Maine man. On Wednesday night he gave a reception to the team and a percentage of the receipts went to the Athletic Association.

Members of the team occupied the boxes and the student body were in the orchestra.

It is to be regretted that a large number of students did not turn out but what was lacking in numbers was made up for in spirit. Phil Sheridan was there and led some good cheering and the orchestra played several Maine songs which were sung with a lot of life and enthusiasm. The show, was well up to the high standard which the Bijou demands. A popular feature was the showing of pictures of members of the Championship team, on the screen. A summary of the seasons games was also shown. These features surely made a hit with the student body who responded with cheers for each member of the team and the coaches. Everyone who went had one of the best times of the year. If you were one of those who did not go, you have missed something really worth while. Don't miss the next one.

COMING LECTURE

Illustrated with Moving Pictures

This lecture has been delivered before nearly all the prominent engineering societies in the country and is bound to be of interest and, to say the least, out of the ordinary.

An invitation is extended to all who wish to come. For further particulars see notice in Wingate Hall, and Tuesday's Campus.

GENERAL LECTURE

Prof. Huddilston Gives Last of Renaissance Series

Prof. Huddilston gave the last of his series of lectures on the Renaissance in the lecture room of the library on Wednesday afternoon. This last lecture was not the least interesting of the series and was listened to by a large number of people. Prof. Huddilston had originally planned to talk on the influence of the early Renaissance on modern life but later changed his plans. His lecture Wednesday was on the later renaissance movement of the 18th century with especial stress on the German phase of the movement.

This renaissance of the 18th century was essentially Greek. It was a renaissance of true Hellenism and had absolutely nothing to do with the earlier Renaissance which we have been studying. This movement was founded directly on the ruins of Ancient Greece. Rome had no part in it. This period produced such men as Goethe, Lessing, Herder, Winckelman and the Younger Schiller.

Winckelman was a contemporary of Goethe. His "History of Ancient Art," published in 1765 was the first work giving to modern civilization, a conception of ancient art. The real genius and beauty of Greek art was first dreamed of by Winckelman. He brought Germany into the world of literature and his work was carried on by the other great men whom we have already mentioned. German literature was very young and their first writers were the men who first discovered and passed on to the world pure Hellenism not at all mixed with the Latin. Goethe shows his appreciation of Winckelman in his work on "Winckelman and his Century." North Germany was the home of most of the men which seems quite peculiar until we consider that their inspiration came not from Germany but from Greece. Neither Goethe nor Winckelman ever was able to go to Greece which makes their work all the more remarkable. What would they have done had they had this advantage.

There is nothing in France to compare with this movement. The French Revolution was more than a political revolution. There was another revolution in men's minds but the French scholars had no such influence as the great Germans. When the last French King had been killed France turned to a new form of government in the Republic. Heretofore the world had known but one great republic and that was the Roman. So Robespierre and his co-workers took the republic from the hills of Rome and grafted it onto French soil. With it they brought its traditions and customs so that Republicanism in France came to stand for much outside the actual functions of government. Even as Germany was Greek so was France Roman. All the simplicity of Rome came to France. The old styles were discarded and the popular trend was toward Romanism in all things. Architecture, dress and decorations were all executed. Paris had an ideal toward which she was striving. There was but one type of man and one type of woman, both Roman. The Bourgeois type came in direct imitation of things Roman.

Another influence which was important in this movement was the new desire for travel. In 1750 the first Englishmen went to Greece but from this down to the end of the century Germans, English and French all traveled quite extensively. The discovery of Pompeii and Herculaneum came about this time and added to the enthusiastic scholarship of the period.

This lecture closes the first part of the course. The second series will begin next Wednesday. Prof. Chase will give these lectures on "Language."

The meeting of the Agricultural Club for Wednesday night has been postponed on account of the Maine Night Reception at the Bijou. At the next meeting a report will be given by the stock judging team which recently returned from Chicago.
