MAINE HAS A FIGHTING CHANCE IN THE STATE MEET

Coach Smith Somewhat Hopeful But Not Confident--Colby a Possible Winner--Some Figures From Saturday's Meet

COACH SMITH ON THE MEET

Maine will not score as heavy in the distance runs as is usually the custom. Colby figures on winning the half-mile, mile, two mile, broad jump, and hurdle races. If she does anything like this she should win easy. The Meet next Saturday will develop into a dual affair between Maine and Colby and the meet may hinge on the result of any one of the several events. I think Colby has an excellent chance to win but Maine can be relied upon to put up a strong bid for first honors. If we can hold our end in the shot put, high jump, pole vault and discus throw we will be doing a great deal towards bringing home the bacon. A large enthusiastic crowd of rooters will do much to instill the proper fighting spirit in the team and it looks to me as if we will all need a lot of encouragement.

The above statement was given out by Coach Smith on Sunday. In previous interviews he has stated that Maine would not win and the fact that he considers now that she has a fighting chance is an encouraging one. In looking over the scores of the last meets it becomes evident that on the three Maine has had only a fighting chance and on two of those occasions has been successful. On one the failure of one or two men to come through and unfavorable conditions lost the meet. It is needless to say that this year the team is made up of material that has fighting qualities. With the student body lies the second factor of success.

The entire delegation of rooters is the only other thing that is needed. If the team is backed up by the whole student body from the stands, as it doubtless will be there is no doubt but what Maine will make the game of attempts to bring home the bacon, as coach Smith puts it.

The "dopesters" have nothing definite to work upon. Colby's strength lies in her freshmen. Coach Cohn brought several star men there with him this year but as the meets on Saturday were run off under unfavorable weather conditions, their times for this season are unknown. These men are sure however, to cut down points that Maine has relied upon and if Colby's team should prove a balanced one, she can win the meet.

Murchie, always expected to place in the hammer is doing better this year and if he can prevent himself from trying to use the whole oval should win second place. Royal, who is looked upon as the best hurdler in the state, will have to travel faster than he did Saturday to come up to expectations. Wood in the high jump has never been a winner outdoors and cannot be relied upon. Mayers reputed to be a wonder in the pole vault must do better than he did Saturday to win from McKenney. Upon the performances of these men, Colby's chance must depend.

The news is coming from Bates that Nevers is being groomed for the quarter and will also run in one of the dashes at least. If this should be true and if he is the winner, his running the quarter cannot help but hurt Colby as she has been practically sure of at least the first two places in this event. Cobb of Bates is the only man in the state who is doing much in the shot but with the exception of what he and Nevers can win Bates can hope for nothing with the possible exception of some few points in the pole vault and high jump.

Bowdoin is hoping to secure second in the dashes, and to clean up several points in the broad, high and pole vault. Lead-better is sure of the discus and should come in for something in the hammer and shot. At any rate Bowdoin will do better than she did last year.

It is sure to be a grand meet and no one should miss it.

A DOPE COLUMN

The following figures were taken from the accounts of Saturday meets in order to give the "dopesters" an easy chance to get their figures. The numbers 1, 2 or 3 after the contestants name indicate the position in which he finished. The times and distance are for the winners.

RECORDS STATE COLLEGE TRACK MEETS

As the 20th annual meet of the Maine colleges approaches, it is interesting to scan the records of the 19 already held, showing the shift from a position of all-Bowdoin to a fight figuring Maine and Bates in the running. The association was organized in 1895 and held its first meet that year. Of the meets, Bowdoin has won 13, Maine five, Bates one and Colby none.

Records of meets held follow:

JUNIOR WEEK EXERCISES PROVED A GRAND SUCCESS

Junior Prom the Best Ever--Maine Masque Gives Remarkable Performance--Minstrel Show a Distinct Success--Rain Prevents Track Meet

With any festivities and especially annual ones over, it is more than a common thing to compare them with those that have passed in former times to weigh their merits and shortcomings.

Viewing the Junior Week that is just past in this light, we say that as a whole the event was entirely satisfactory both from the standpoint of the visitors and the student body. The plans for the week were well laid and in plenty of time to assure their fulfillments and the committees deserve credit for the capable way in which the prom and other exercises were managed.

There seemed to be full as much interest and enthusiasm this year as last. This was noticed from the start when on Wednesday night the Junior Exhibitions were held. A good program was given and the speakers had full control of their pieces which is perhaps exceptional, on account of the extra pressure of duties during the week.

The Maine Masque was especially good in its performance on Thursday night and in spite of the new men which had of necessity to be placed on the cast at the eleventh hour came thru their event in fine shape.

This year the Junior class displayed much more spirit in the taking hold of the entire night on the work until the entire work was completed. The decorations were well laid out and presented an attractive hall as has ever been seen for Junior Prom.

Junior Chapel differed little this year from last and was well attended. Junior Lunch was omitted.

The reception and dance held in the gym. Friday night was of course the biggest event of the week. A dance order of thirty-four dances was played by Pullen. The music was excellent and everyone enjoyed the dance although many expressed the wish that the order had been shorter and the dances longer. The serving of the lunch in the chapel at intermission was the best thing that the Juniors did the whole week. It has been the custom in the past for the fraternities to hold lunches in their houses during intermission. There have been many faults with this custom in that it takes so much time that the dance is broken somewhat and the interest lost; also because it does not give a square deal to all. During this time the non-fraternity men are at a loss to know what to do and the fraternities in Orono have not the time to go to their houses and back. In serving lunch at chapel as was done last Friday, during intermission, it presents more of a college time, it does away somewhat with the fraternity element and tends to unite the whole affair for the larger good of the college. The custom should be adopted in the coming years for both the Sophomore Hop and the Junior Prom without any question.

The enthusiasm was dampened somewhat during Saturday because of the inclement weather and everyone was disappointed not to be able to see Maine in the scheduled meet with Bates.

The minstrel show on Saturday evening was a new occasion and a decided success. All of the men took hold in fine shape and the college body well supported both the show and the dance that followed.

Junior chapel on Sunday afternoon was not as well attended as should be for a college the size of Maine. Only a few were there to enjoy the splendid talk given by Prof. Moulton of the Bangor Theological Seminary.

On the whole, then, all the affairs were well attended by a larger crowd than usual with the exception of Junior Vespers; and the Week was a decided success.

JUNIOR PROM.

The annual Junior Prom held in the gymnasium, Friday evening was decidedly a very beautiful affair. One hundred and fifty couples dancing in the soft light to the strains of Pullen's eight piece orchestra made the Prom perhaps the most pleasing social event of the year.

The gymnasium was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being light blue, white and black. In the center of the hall hung a huge paper bell, alternate strips of blue and white paper machee leading from it to the base of the running track. A complete ceiling was made of blue bunting to represent the sky. The sides of the running track and the space above was made to represent a continuous arbor with latticed arches, forming windows thru which visitors could look down upon the dancers. The lights were all hidden by the decorations making a delicious mellow glow, in exact accordance with the dark red and green back grounds of the fraternity booths.

The reception started promptly at eight o'clock with President and Mrs. Robert J. Aley, Prof. and Mrs. Edward P. Wingard and Mr. George H. Bernheisel, president of the junior class, in the receiving line. Dancing began at nine o'clock. The order of 34 dances was greatly enjoyed, the music by Pullen's orchestra being especially pleasing.

During the intermission light refreshments were served in the chapel, where tables had been set to seat 300. This was an innovation that was well appreciated by all.

The dance orders for the occasion were decidedly neat and attractive. The covers were of green gold leather made in the form of a card case, the leaves being held in by a long tasseled green and black cord. On the outer cover was stamped a University of Maine seal and the class numerals, 1915. It was in every way a fitting memento for a most successful Prom.

The patronesses of the evening were Mrs. James S. Stevens, Mrs. William E. Walz, Mrs. John H. Huddleston, Mrs. Charles D. Woods, Mrs. George H. Hamlin; Mrs. Nancy C. Cunningham, Mrs. Mary J. Parcher, Mrs. Jeannette A. Harrington, Mrs. Ella J. Mason, Mrs. Bertha H. Moulton, Mrs. Kate C. Estabrook, Mrs. Rush Hamlin, Mrs. Sarah A. Currier and Mrs. Dora B. Tower. David Baker was floor director and his aids were Robert Clark, William Martin, Frederick Hatch, Asa R. Mace, Maynard Creighton, Harold Jones, Norman Donahue, Paul Warren, Harry Williams, Madison Gilman, Walter Dolan and Philip Sheridan.

The committee in charge consisted of Eugene W. Goodwin, Ralph B. Easson, Preston M. Hall, and Edgar G. Howland. Much praise is due to this committee for the success of the affair. The decorations especially showed great taste and would be a credit to any professional decorator.

"THE LEARNED LADIES"

The Maine Masque presented Moliere's sparkling comedy "The Learned Ladies" before an audience which tasked the seating capacity of the Gymnasium, Thursday night. This, the initial performance of the Masque on the campus, was in conjunction with the Junior week festivities and the smoothness with which the acting progressed, the finer bits of acting, and the elusive satire of the comedy brought forth frequent and well-deserved applause.

The play itself is interesting enough to be given consideration. A satire on the affectation of the ladies of the time in which it was written (1672) the comedy adapts itself easily to the modern stage. The hauteur of the "femmes savantes," the cunning duplicity of Trissotin, the subjection of Chrysale, and the charm of Henriette appeal as much to the American audience of today as to the French audience of Louis XIV. It is this modern aspect linked with the costumes of the seventeenth century that makes the play suited for production before a college audience.

The plot of the play is not obscure. The femmes savantes are so infatuated with the "higher learning" that they neglect their household duties for the saloon. Trissotin, the wily philosopher and erstwhile poet, seeks for lucrative reasons to marry the younger daughter of one of his enthused admirers and gains the consent of the mother but not of the girl, Henriette. The latter is in love with Clitandre who had formerly sued for the love of her sister. Chrysale her father and a henpecked husband, declares himself for Clitandre Thru a ruse of Ariste, his brother, the real intentions of Trissotin are exposed and the marriage of Clitandre and Henriette is culminated by the notary.

The leading part, Chrysale was admirably done by Theodore Haskell. The weak, subservient character of the father was well portrayed. Mr. Haskell has been in the Masque for four years and ends his career as member emeritus of the Masque. For the rest of the characters it is hard to choose any which falls below the standard set by Mr. Haskell for each part was well prepared. Owing to the illness of Webster, '17, his part was taken by Damren, '16 and the part of Martine was filled by Whittier, '16.

The final performance of the Masque will be during Commencement Week.

U. OF M. MINSTRELS

The Junior Week program was terminated Saturday evening, when "Phil" Sheridan and his minstrel troupe entertained a large crowd of Maine men and their guests in the gymnasium at Alumni Hall. The fun started at the close of the opening chorus and the six ends, with "Ted" Haskell as interlocuter, certainly showed that laugh provoking was right in their line. Much of the laughter was at the expense of well known college men, and men connected with the University, and came from "Diddy" Doyle and Joe McCusker to a large extent. The other four end men did not confine themselves so much to local "slamming" and the result was what may be called a versatile performance.

The songs were not of the moss grown variety, so common in many minstrel productions, and were all sung effectively by the various black face artists. All of the songs were "hits," therefore individual mention is impossible. However McCusker's parody on "Floating Down the River," and Doyle's on "This is the Life" aroused much applause. On account of Mr. White's inability to play, his banjo solo was replaced by a solo by Mr. Alden Chase, Maine 1912. His singing was very much enjoyed both by those who knew him as soloist in the musical clubs two seasons ago, and by those who had not had the opportunity of hearing him before. "Dick" Dolan's solos were very well received and much appreciated.

And so we might go on with a complete analysis of the whole show, but let it suffice, that from start to finish the U. of M. Minstrels were a continuous "hit" and a success in every way. And to "Phil" Sheridan must go the credit and praise of the whole student body for his untiring efforts directed toward adding another "Success" to our list of college activities. Following is the program.

Well, what next? This question college men repeatedly ask one another as event after event passes by in their life. This week this question needs no reply as every one knows that the day of On to Lewiston and the State Meet days for Maine men is upon us. Ever since the Bowdoin game and the football championship of last fall the next mile stone which all have looked forward to is the Maine Intercollegiate Track Meet which is to be held in Lewiston Saturday.

Track meets are always interesting but for us by far the most interesting is the State Meet. It is a time when the traditions of the past merge into those which are in the making; a time when college spirit is at its height and Maine men, both alumni and student body, are on the bleachers with their last iota of support; a time when all of us bemoan the fact that we have only moral support to offer when we would like so much to add physical aid to the efforts of our athletes.

This year the State Meet promises to be the very best ever. It is sure to be close; it is sure to be thrilling. From the crack of the pistol in the 100-yard dash to the last try for height in the Pole Vault there can hardly be a dull moment. This year too the distance races are going to be hard fought. For the last few years Maine has had her own way in the long grinds but this year while Maine still has her squad of A I runners Colby has added some crack distance men to her team and promises to contest each race to the breaking of the tape.

Yes, next Saturday will be a big day for all of us. Not only are we to witness one of the fiercest struggles for championship honors ever seen in the Pine Tree State but we will again experience that grand old time which can only be found on a University of Maine special train—and for many it will be their last opportunity.

The special train needs no comment for we have all been on one of them. Even the freshmen have had at least a Bowdoin trip. The train which leaves for Lewiston next Saturday morning is sure to be one of the longest, liveliest, and most crowded that ever pulled out of Orono—and that is saying a great deal.

Ninety-nine out of every hundred of the readers of this editorial are sure to be at the meet. A large part of the other one per cent will be there but for some reason—and this reason is almost always a good one—have as yet been unable to definitely decide whether or not they can take the trip. It is for these few that we write so earnestly.

We hope that you will see that the State Meet is one of those things which you can not afford to miss. What is there in life more valuable to us than our memories? Nothing can form memories dearer or that will be more or longer cherished than participation in the invasion which Maine makes in Lewiston next Saturday.

From the time we jump (or are pulled) from bed in the early morning until we creep to bed, tired but happy, at night it will be a day of things—a real live day. Maine spirit will be on tap all day and we want your portion. The trip is worth any sacrifice on your part. Make that sacrifice. "I am going—He is going—You are going." We all are going. Let us all follow the crowd; Let our cry be "ON TO LEWISTON!" and altogether we will make the "big splash" and bring the championship home to Maine. ON TO LEWISTON AND THE STATE MEET!

A PROCLAMATION

In compliance with the statute and in appreciation of approaching spring and summer, I do hereby appoint

FRIDAY, MAY 15TH, 1914 AS

and recommend that it be observed by the people of the State in all appropriate ways which will aid in making the State more attractive. I ask the people to see that all ornamental trees and shrubs have been cared for against destroying and disfiguring insects; that new ones be planted to replace those which have died through the winter; that the orchards have been properly pruned and sprayed.

Maine is noted for its great forests and attractive scenery, and our efforts should ever be exerted to keep and increase this great natural heritage; and the spring-time is especially appropriate to attend to this matter.

A special tax is assessed against the wild lands of the State to provide for their protection against forest fires, which is now being done in a most satisfactory manner, and every citizen should feel it both a pleasure and a privilege to lend his personal influence and effort to add to the beauty and conservation of our trees, useful or ornamental, whether in forest, field, or town, that Maine may become more beautiful and prosperous. A general observance of Arbor Day will do as much to accomplish this result as anything that could be undertaken.

GIVEN at the Executive Chamber, at Augusta, this first day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand and nine hundred and fourteen, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-eighth.

WILLIAM T. HAINES,

Governor.

By the Governor:

J. E. Alexander,
Secretary of State.

There will be several able speakers, among them President Aley. The banquet will cost $1.50 a plate and excursion tickets will be offered by the M. C. R. R. good until Monday. Accommodations will be offered to as many as possible and those wishing rooms should see "Ted" Morrell at the Phi Eta Kappa house.

COLBY TAKES SECOND
CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

The Colby-Maine game was a bitter disappointment to Maine supporters, however it was a class A game as the score indicates. It was probably one of the finest exhibitions of baseball that the fans of Waterville will have an opportunity to witness this season. James, the Colby pitcher, was working at his best and he had a fine team behind him. The U. of M. delegation played a fine fielding game but were unable to hit the Colby pitcher, Chase was the only man to secure a safe hit. Driscoll pitched well allowing six hits and securing seven strike outs. Lawry played a fine game at second, pulling many difficult plays and scoring our only run.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E
Maine	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	1	1	3
Colby	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	1	3	6	1

Hits, Maine 1, Colby 6. Strike outs, Driscoll 7; James 7. Runs scored by Laury, Simpson, Lowney.

PROSPECTS FOR TENNIS FOOTBALL

Toole Out of Game With Injured Leg

With one exception tennis practice points favorably towards a good team. Toole of the Law School, has injured his leg and will not be able to play again this season. This means a setback by losing an able player.

A dual match is trying to be arranged with some Maine college, but the Inter-collegiate match may 25 is the only sure one in sight at present.

The standing in the practice tournament at present is as follows: Mace, Youngs, and Freese have yet to play off in one set of preliminary. Burr, Cram, and Garrison are already qualified for the semi-finals.

SPECIAL TRAIN

The special train for the State Meet leaves Orono for Lewiston, Saturday morning at 6.00 A. M. and the fare is $2.85 round trip. Tickets will not be sold on the train except for those who get on at Bangor, but will be on sale at the Orono station three-quarters of an hour before the train starts. For those who wish to stop over until Monday the fare will be $4.50. The train will leave Lewiston at 6.30 and will stop at Bangor, Newport Jet., Pittsfield and Waterville, both going and coming.

Saturday will be a day for every Maine man.

Saturday's Meet must be ours, and it is the duty of every Maine man to take that special train Saturday morning and be in Lewiston to stand behind the team. It will be the only real opportunity give this year to give our team support in a real crisis. Let us have a big crowd, for that is what Coach Smith says we need in order to get that meet and bring the honors back to Orono.

PHI ETA KAPPA ANNUAL

Tobacco That is Good
For Your Nerves

TUXEDO actually soothes the nerves. It is just mild enough to keep your nervous system in poise, your muscles in tone. Unlike other tobaccos, Tuxedo burns cool and slow. There cannot be a speck of irritation in a pound of Tuxedo.

Great singers smoke Tuxedo just before a performance. Public speakers testify as to its soothing influence. Doctors recommend it to smokers whose throats are delicate.

Tuxedo
The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

The secret of its superiority is the unique "Tuxedo Process" by which all the unpleasant features are eliminated from tobacco.

Another reason is that Tuxedo is made from the best tobacco grown—the choicest, mildest, mellowest leaves of the highest grade Burley tobacco.

Tuxedo is widely imitated—but no other manufacturer has succeeded in making a tobacco as good as Tuxedo.

Tuxedo will give you the greatest pleasure and satisfaction that money will buy.

JUNIOR CHAPEL

The Chapel exercises Friday morning,
May 8, were in charge of the Junior Class.
Ross Varney '15, acted as chaplain. After the Scripture reading and prayer, Ernest Hanson sang "A Perfect Day" with violin obligato by Karl Currier. George Hench Bernheisel, president of the class, next gave the address of welcome and a brief history of the establishment and celebration of what has come to be known as Junior Week.

Dr. Alew was then introduced as the "best friend" of all the students. His address was an exposition of the things that should be apparent to any man who has received a college education. In the first place, an education should reduce a man's credulity. Financial panics have been caused in the many, by too great credulity. Likewise the appalling effects of great superstitions are due in large measure to too great credulity. Secondly, a college education should provide a man with a good perspective—the ability to judge relative values and thirdly, the well-educated man should share that belief in the permanency of law, that belief which has taken a long and tedious struggle to perfect. The great institutions of today are founded on a belief in the permanency of law. The trademark is an evidence of this. We are coming to realize that even in the spiritual world, the man who is to be happy, must have a larger faith in the permanency of law.

Therefore if the members of the Junior class have caught a glimpse of what education should give—a reduced credulity, a saner realization of the value of perspective, an enlarged faith in the permanency of law, the state will never have cause to regret the money spent in bringing men to such a realization.

The exercises closed with the singing of the Stein Song.

There is a difference between fruit growing and forestry yet most of the directions for fruit growing are directions for producing rapid wood growth only.
This means coming into bearing late and irregular bearing on account of lack of enough available mineral plant food to raise a crop of fruit and to set strong fruit buds in the same season.

POTASH

Two years before the trees are expected to come into bearing the annual application of minerals should begin, using 50 to 100 pounds Muriate of Potash and 100 to 200 pounds of bone, acid phosphate or basic slag per acre.
Potash improves the flavor, shipping quality and keeping power as well as the yield of fruits.

Always Reliable

The element of reliability enters into the making of a cleaning material equally as much as into the manufacture of any other article that must be of a dependable quality.

The high standard of purity and cleaning excellence for which

Wyandotte
Cleaner and Cleanser is so well known and which is so carefully maintained increases to the maximum the reliability which the butter or cheese maker can give to his dairy cleaning material.

Since there are no greases, caustic properties or other harmful ingredients in Wyandotte Dairyman's Bleanser and Cleanser to bring about a loss of quality in the finished product, and since it has only the purest of cleaning ingredients that work in perfect harmony with milk, butter or cheese, the reliability of Wyandotte Dairyman's Cleaner and Cleanser is easily established as every pound is equal in all respects to every other pound.

Its original low cost together with its thoroughly reliable qualities make Wyandotte Dairyman's Cleaner and Cleanser the most ideal and serviceable cleaner for any dairy or factory.
