BOSTON ALUMNI ASSOCIATION HOLDS SUCCESSFUL SMOKER

E. J. Wilson, '07, W. W. Redman, '15, Dr. Collins, '92, Ernest Lamb, '10, and J. E. Doyle, '15, Among Speakers

IS ENTHUSIASTIC GATHERING

The Boston Alumni Association held a very successful smoker in the Hotel Bellevue, Boston, on Saturday evening, January 2. There was an attendance of about sixty, among them being many of the students of the University together with many well-known alumni. After the "smokes" were passed around President E. J. Wilson, '07, of Lynn, called the meeting to order and introduced S. D. Graves, '09, formerly president of the Boston Alumni Association.

Mr. Graves spoke very enthusiastically of the showing of the Maine varsity teams in the athletic world and also of the large number of students. He was very much surprised to see such a gathering of undergraduates and expressed his pleasure at the spirit displayed.

W. W. Redman, '15, was the next speaker. He spoke on the Massachusetts Club at Maine and what the Massachusetts men are doing here. He gave a short resume of the doings of the club and of its growth. Referring to the athletic end of student affairs, he spoke of the part of the Bay State boys in Maine's athletic glory, and also dwelt at some length on the social and scholastic end.

The next speaker, J. E. Doyle, '15, of Danvers, Mass., spoke on the Massachusetts Club during his college career. He told of the tremendous growth of the club from an organization begun four years ago to its present size. He characterized it as one of the established factors of the student life of the University. Mr. Doyle also suggested that the class of 1910 of the Boston Alumni Association start the idea of a reunion to be held at the commencement of the class of 1915.

Ernest Lamb, '10, spoke in a humorous vein, recalling some of the happenings during his college career. His remarks were connected with the associations formed at Maine. Mr. Lamb stated that the associations he had formed at the University were more lasting than any he had since formed in the social or business world. He urged the Boston Alumni Association to cooperate more heartily with the Massachusetts Club at the University and to do everything in their power to make the proposed reunion of the class of 1910 a fact.

Dr. J. H. Collins, '92, a renowned Boston doctor, was the next speaker. Dr. Collins spoke of the enormous growth of the University in student body and in state and national importance during the last decade. He stated that in the course of his college career and since entering into the outer world he, personally, had seen the tremendous growth. "There are three ways," said Dr. Collins, "whereby we as alumni may more closely identify ourselves with the life and administration of the University. We must take a more active interest; we must send more students to Maine to swell the already growing student body. We must see that the events going on at Maine and among the various alumni associations get into the papers, so that the general public may know more about University of Maine. Therefore, we have a threefold purpose, and yet I claim there is a greater purpose

THE BLUE BOOK TO BE REVIVED

Association of Students Formed to Publish Literary Magazine

(EDITORS NOTE)—An association of students has been organized for the purpose of reviving the Blue Book. The following was written by a member of this temporary board in order to put the case before the student body as it stands:—

"THE BLUE BOOK" stands before you, gentlemen, on a pair of extremely weak and unsteady legs * * * it is a child of promise; it stands for something; it is worth while. So the BLUE BOOK wishes you to go on a journey into the undiscovered land, and bring us some token of your search. To make a paradox, we do not want you to read THE BLUE BOOK—we want you to think for it. We do not want you to be interested in it—we want you to write for it."

In the above words, nine years ago this present month, did Lincoln Colcord, now of the Alumni, call upon the University of Maine at the time of the first launching of the literary magazine, THE BLUE BOOK to foster the ambition of those directly or indirectly interested in the publication of student literary manuscripts. THE BLUE BOOK has rested dormant now for several years. News comes that it is to be awakened—revived; that once more its light blue covers are to enclose their quota of present day Maine student literary aspirations—and that to happen not a great way into the future—February 23, to be exact.

A brief review of events leading to the present sudden revival of interest—everything happened with a spontaneity that robs individual merit, if such be deserving it has even been rumored that a germ pertaining to the matter marauded the Campus. At any rate, results answer.

In response to a call issued for volunteers interested in the revival of THE BLUE BOOK the following students of the College of Arts and Sciences convened and formed themselves into an editorial staff. The appointments are merely tentative, and in no wise to be considered honorary.

Editor-in-chief, Elizabeth Hanly, '15, Business Manager, A. F. Sherman, '16, Assistant Business Manager, P. L. Gould, '17.

Associate Editors, Muriel Colbath, '15, S. C. Clement, '16, R. P. Clark, '15, J. H. Magee, '18, R. J. McCarthy, '18.

The new magazine is to be larger than the old. It will contain about thirty-two pages, size six by nine inches, and will make its first appearance with a conservative issue of three hundred copies, which will be disposed of at the popular price of ten cents each. As it is with truly great men or deeds well performed, so it is with this new publication—a few words offer adequate explanation.

As before stated, the magazine is to appear February 23. There fore copy for publication should be delivered to any member of the Board before February 9 at the latest. Material requested includes short stories of not more than 2000 words in length, essays of a literary nature, verse and drama.

In the first publication of the old BLUE BOOK in 1906 Lincoln Colcord well appreciated the experimental nature of the project. His words of that time—when it is realized that literary ability at the University of Maine has for so long been devoid of a medium of expression—appear peculiarly fitting to the present instance:

"Whether our reward be in Heaven, or Nirvana, or Oblivion, matters not; but think; blow upon your spark of soul; it is only a spark, only an experiment, and we cannot know what flame will burst; but blow, blow! for no experiment is absurd, and none should be neglected."

ROUND TABLE GIVE CABARET SHOW TONIGHT

Modern Dances and Variety of Entertainment Promised

TABLES SELLING WELL

This evening the gymnasium will be the scene of a brilliant entertainment, the first of its kind given on the campus, a Cabaret Show.

Judging from the program, it is likely to prove the social event of the season. Mrs. Ella J. Mason is general manager assisted by Mrs. David Clark and several efficient sub-committees. Each fraternity house, Hannibal Hamlin Hall and the girls dormitories are represented. The program includes original sketches, social dances, and musical numbers. The dances to be demonstrated are the Waltz Hesitation, the Fox Trot, the Castle Polka, the Parisian Maxixe and the Parisian Tango. There will also be solo dances. The floor space on either side has been laid out in squares and sixty tables placed in them. These tables are to be sold to parties of four and refreshments will be served to them there. The middle of the floor has been left vacant for the entertainment. A rehearsal has revealed that it will be two hours of bright, snappy, clean fun from the sketches, and exceedingly graceful and beautifully executed dances. Stephen Abbott, '16, and Miss Georgiana Stebbings have acted as instructors.

Refreshments will be sold throughout the evening and will be in charge of Mrs. Kate C. Estabrooke and Mrs. Mary J. Parcher assisted by the college girls. The College orchestra of thirteen pieces, Park H. Elliott, '15, leader, will furnish music for the entertainment and also the dancing. Wm. E. Nash, '17, is business manager, and reports the sale of a large number of tables and also many single tickets to the balcony.

H. PERRY BAILEY HONORED

Chosen Member of American Intercollegiate Athletic Team

A signal honor was conferred on the evening and upon H. Perry Bailey of the Class of 1915 when Bailey was chosen as a member of the American Intercollegiate Athletic team by Alfred G. Lill, President of the American Amateur Athletic Union. Mr. Lill, following the example set by his predecessor, the late James E. Sullivan who for years was the President of the American Amateur Athletic Union chose representatives for the twenty-six athletic events from various colleges in the country and this is the first time that a man was ever chosen either from the University or the State.

The career of Perry Bailey as a University of Maine athlete is well known. Entering the University in the fall of 1911 with an enviable reputation as the champion schoolboy hammer thrower of the state, his extraordinary physique coupled with wonderful natural ability and a rare aptitude for work attracted the attentions of Coach Smith. His first appearance on Alumni Field in the Pumpkin Meet of 1911 was a sensation and the result of his debut was the crashing of the hammer throw record of the University which had not been broken for years. Since then, in the course of his four years at Maine he has broken all sorts of records and today holds the University, State and New England records for throwing the sixteen pound hammer.

Bailey is the Captain of the University track team, the Class of 1915 track team and is a member of Beta Theta Pi, Alpha Chi Sigma and the Owls. He is also president of the Senior Class and holds an excellent record as a student and athlete.

Prof. Thompson Edits Book

Lichtenstein, Wilhelm Hauff's famous romantic novel, has appeared from the press of Ginn and Co., being edited with critical notes, materials for composition and vocabulary by Professor Garret W. Thompson, head of the German department. It is a text of 412 pages.

Professor Thompson has also edited for the American Book Co. Wilhelm Heinrich Riehl's Nouvelle Burg Neideck with notes and vocabulary. This edition is supplemented with a set of original drawings by the artist of the Book Company. Burg Neideck will appear early in the spring.

RELAY PROSPECTS NONE TOO BRIGHT

Coach Smith Has Green Team to Combat Veterans of Bowdoin and Colby

NEW FEATURES OF MEET

With less than a month before the Boston Athletic Association annual indoor Athletic Meet where the Relay Championship of the State of Maine will be determined, the University does not offer any too encouraging prospects in the Relay line. Not a man remains of last year's aggregation and with four new men to the B. A. A. boards Coach Smith does not entertain high hopes of a victory. Of last year's four, Schofield and St. Onge have received their degrees with the Class of 1914 and Dempsey, while still in college is prevented by college work from being a candidate. Fox, who was the other veteran did not return to college this fall and Donohue who ran on the B. A. A. team of 1912 and 1913 is not a candidate this year.

According to Coach Smith there are but eight candidates and this is the smallest number ever in the history of relay running at the University. Of these men four are to be chosen and it is very doubtful if a substitute is chosen because of the rules this year. The four colleges of the State are to race for the title and the championship will be determined in two eliminating heats and a final. Maine represented by Wayland D. Townner, 1914 will take part in the drawing for opponents which will take place at the club house of the Boston A. A. on Exeter street Boston, to-morrow night.

As for the prospects, a look at the various representatives that are expected to run for their various colleges would not be out of place.

The University of Maine as stated, has eight candidates, Totman, Small, and Leacock of the junior class; King, McCowan and French of the Sophomore Class and White and Coolbroth of the freshman delegation. Of these Leacock, Totman King and French appear to be the most likely looking, but Coolbroth is a former Deering High Star who showed his heels to the school boy quarter miler of the state several times and White is said to hold all sorts of records in Ohio schoolboy circles.

Harvey Cohn at Colby has Golden and Captain Royal as veterans in his squad of forty and he is already congratulating himself on winning the championship flag. In Irving Howe, the former Boston English High athlete and who is running as anchor for the Grey and Blue, Cohn has a man who few equals in the indoor word and especially on the B. A. A. boards. He is a man of National reputation and is right at home on the track at Mechanics building. Colby's chances depend much on the colored boy's showing on February 6.

Bowdoin has an organization composed entirely of members of last year's outfit and while the team was nothing wonderful last season, yet the experience gained and the fact that Johnny Magee is still at the helm of the Black and White track fortunes causes Bowdoin to loom up as a possible factor. Of Bates not much is known. Even the Lewiston Journal does not insist that the Garnet has a relay team and as is usually the case, the lads from Lewiston will be billed as dark horses.

Two of the four colleges will race in both heats and the winners of the respective heats will determine the championship when the second division of the relays come on later in the evening. It is expected that the men will have a rest of about an hour and the rule is that the same men that ran the heat are obliged to compete in the final.

Poverty Ball to Be Given Feb. 5th

The "M" Club has announced that it will give its annual Poverty Ball on Friday evening, Feb. 5.

For the benefit of the new students, it may be said that the Poverty Ball is an annual affair much looked forward to. As the name suggests, everyone is expected to go in his oldest clothes and there is usually quite keen competition as to who will have the worst looking costume.

The committee in charge say that several new features will be introduced this year and wish to assure everyone of a good time.

SENIOR CLASS HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

Nominations Made For Class Parts and Officers

FINANCES ARE GOOD

At a meeting of the senior class Monday, Jan. 11, many interesting things were discussed. In many ways this class of 1915 is famous but in one way it is peculiar.

As far back as anyone can remember, there has never been a class graduate without having to assess its members to meet the expense of the class.

The meeting presided over by President Bailey accepted J. L. Gulliver's report as business manager of the Prism. He reported approximately $100 on the right side of the ledger, a circumstance almost unheard of. The treasurer reported $200 on hand and the same amount in assets with practically no liabilities.

At the meeting of the nominating committee of the senior class candidates for class parts, managerships, and committees were named as follows:

For Valedictorian—Raymond H. Fogler of West Rockport; Elizabeth F. Hanly of Thomaston; Robert F. Thurrell of Portland.

Invitations are being sent out to members of the faculty and their families to a series of popular experimental lectures to be given by the physics department. These lectures are to be held in Aubert Hall. Tuesday, Jan. 19, a lecture will be given by Mr. R. M. Holmes whose subject will be "Sound and Music." On the following Tuesday Dr. L. E. Woodman will give a lecture on "X-rays and Wireless Telegraphy."

Poverty Ball—February 5

The 150 members of the University of Maine Faculty represent seventy institution of learning. This Faculty number includes not only Cosmopolitan the leading institutions,
colleges and universities
of all sections of the United States but several of the most widely known foreign institutions.

In the opinion of Dr. Robert J. Aley,
President of the University of Maine,
the institution is very fortunate in having such a cosmopolitan faculty. President Aley believes that any college faculty increases in value as it becomes more cosmopolitan and the conceptions and ideals of all sorts of institutions are brought together and blended with the ideals and conceptions of that institution. Dr. Aley said, however, that he believes in general that any institution is fortunate in having from twenty-five to forty per cent of its faculty from its own alumni provided they have studied elsewhere. The obvious advantage in this is in having men who understand the traditions, customs and conditions of the institution in order to avoid errors due to ignorance of the peculiar characteristics of any institution.

Among the institutions represented are:
The University of Maine with 55; Harvard, 11; Bowdoin, 7; University of Pennsylvania, 7; Yale, 6; Indiana, 6;
Indiana, 6; Columbia, 5; Chicago, 5;
Ohio State, 5; M. I. T., 4.

The foreign universities represented are:
Munich, Yassay, Toronto, Paris, Dorpat,
Besancon, och-Schule Fin Boden-Kultus.

The Boston Transcript makes the following editorial comment on the conditions here at Maine and upon the position which Dr. Aley takes:

The amount of inbreeding which a college may do without harm to its instructional standards is still in question.
Generally speaking there is a tendency
among American institutions of learning to recruit their future professors from their own alumni ranks. This tendency is not so marked today as it was a few years ago, but it persists, nevertheless, to a very considerable extent. The whole question is taken up in a special interview given by President Aley of Maine, who declares that a university may be accounted fortunate if from 25 to 40 per cent of its faculty are its own alumni. Dr.
Aley may be a bit prejudiced and may have arrived at these figures the "wrong way around" for it so happens that about 35 per cent of the Maine instructors are graduates of the University. In any event there seems to be little danger of the university's becoming provincialized as long as sixty-nine different institutions of learning are represented on the faculty.
While such a state of affairs exists there will probably always be enough outside influence to prevent any serious localization.

December 15, 1914.

The Editor-in-Chief,

Dear Sir:

Men from your institution are invited to participate in the first intercollegiate ski and snowshoe meet ever held in this country which will be the feature of the Dartmouth Outing Club's annual Winter
Carnival this coming February.

The purpose of the project is more to get college men who are interested in winter sports together and give them an opportunity to fraternize. In every college and university are men who love outdoor life in all its phases,—skiing, snowshoeing, mountain-climbing, camping,—but in only a few institutions has there been any serious attempt at organization. By means of the proposed competition, Dartmouth hopes to get many of these individuals acquainted with each other, to the end that the Outing Club movement may receive impetus from cooperation and friendly rivalry, the factors largely responsible for placing intercollegiate athletics on present firm foundation.

The spirit of contest will not be in any way lacking, however, for the tentative schedule of events includes short dashes, relay races and cross country runs for both skiman and snowshoer. In addition there will be competitive ski jumping.

For any who are unfamiliar with Dart-mouth's unique social event, a word of explanation is in order. First instituted in February of 1911, the Winter Carnival has grown from humble beginnings to become a very close rival of Junior Prom.
In fact, this year the difference between the two will be quite negligible, for the elaborate program now drawn up comprises a concert by the combined musical clubs, a play by the dramatic association,
the Carnival Ball—to be held in Alumni Gymnasium this year, for the first time,— hockey and basketball games, and inter-
class and intercollegiate ski and snowshoe meets.

The recently formed Publicity and Information bureau of the club will deem it a pleasure to furnish more detailed information relative either to the meet or to other activities of the club, and welcomes correspondence. In sending this letter to you, the bureau hopes that you will give the matter full publicity in your publication, and will greatly appreciate anything which you may do to boom the proposed meet.

Very truly yours,
THE PUBLICITY AND INFORMATION
BUREAU OF THE DARTMOUTH OUTING CLUB.

TO GIVE CONCERT
FEBRUARY FIFTH

Combined Musical Clubs to Appear
at Orono Town Hall

LEAVE FOR BOSTON FEB. 13

The combined musical clubs will hold their annual entertainment at Orono, Friday evening, February 5. Since this is the only concert of the clubs to be held this year in the vicinity of the campus it is believed that every student should be present and give the affair his support.

The program, consistent with the classical element adopted this year, is sure to include newer and better music among the selections rendered in both the mandolin and Glee Clubs. In fact, the early start made by the clubs coupled with the excellent material in their personnel will combine to produce an entertainment which will be far ahead of previous years.

The clubs on Saturday, Feb. 13, will start for Boston where they will hold a concert in Jordan Hall that evening. The following weeks schedule includes a series of entertainments to be given in the vicinity of Boston. A trip to New York is being considered but the final plans for its arrangement have as yet not been definitely arranged. The members of the clubs are working faithfully for what promises to be a very successful season.

STUDENT CHAPEL HELD

Try to Arouse Interest In Public Speaking

Students Chapel held for the purpose of encouraging interest in public speaking was led by H. E. Rollins '16, Mr. E. C.
Keyes of the English department was the first speaker. He outlined the prevailing idea of the successful public speaker and exposed the fallacy in such an idea. The successful public speaker beyond a doubt is the man who can think well. A second requisite is that he can express himself well upon his feet. He need not necessarily be either fluent, verbose or eloquent.

The individual requirement for each Maine man, especially in the coming debate with Colby is that he come out for the trials and thereby stimulate the man who is already a little in advance of him to greater effort. A trial team of at least sixty men is hoped for.

Prof. W. P. Dagget was the next speaker. His appeal was for the exhibition of greater interest in the Peace Competition
in which Maine has been interested.

PROFESSOR WESTON DISCUSSES PLAYS

Talks on Plays He Saw While in
New York

PROF. BROWN ENTERTAINS

Professor Charles B. Brown entertained the members of the Maine Masque for this season at his home, January eighth. The guest of honor on this occasion was Professor Charles P. Weston, who gave a talk on the plays he saw in New York and Boston during the holidays. These included almost every type of play from farce-comedy and 'thrillers' to tragedy.

The characteristic fad of the season, is the introduction of the moving picture into the plot itself. The most effective use of this is in Chin-Chin, the most popular play of the season, which is featuring Montgomery and Stone. In this play, Montgomery and his partner get tangled up in a balloon. Here the photo-drama is introduced and the balloon is seen in ascent. After a few episodes the two men fall into the yard of a circus. Immediately, the curtain rises. Montgomery and Stone are seen picking themselves up in the sawdust ring and the real play continues. The other play which uses the motion-picture to further the plot is a William Brady production entitled Life. The best criticism of this play is that art is not life and that "Life" is not art. Although the moving picture is used several times here, there is quite a noticeable break which destroys the illusion.

Grumpy, in which Mr. Cyril Maude is the star, is very good, even to the smaller details of stage management. Professor Weston considered that this was a very good play and Mr. Maude as being the best interpreter of an old man character since he saw Henry Irving as Louis XI. Mr. Maude is one of the few who make curtain speeches. In this particular one he said that a speaker must do three things: "He must stand up, speak up, and shut up."

The Phantom Rival, featuring Leo Dietrichstein, is well worked out. It differs widely from the ordinary play. The stage management is so perfect that there is an undefinable air of homeliness about the living room.

The Princess Theatre, sometimes described as the theatre of thrills, presented a series of one-act plays. The best of the four was The Fog, a story of London. The others were: Nettie, a scene from the Cafe des Beaux Arts; The Denial, a scene in the office of the death-house keeper at Sing-Sing; and Across the Border, a scene from the present war. The latter play was strenuously objected to in Boston because of its strong language. Holbrook Blinn is the star of this set. It is peculiar to note that in one of these plays no woman appears, while in one of the others the female parts are quite incidental.

Damaged Goods, in which Richard Bennett is playing, has almost no action and consists mostly of lecture. William Faversham is appearing in The Hawk, which is not a particularly noteworthy play. John Mason is playing in The Song of Songs. The one thing worth saying about this is that it violates many of the principles of the drama. It is drama of the same order as The High Road and is by the same author, Sheldon. The criticism of it is that it is a life story and not a play. Likewise, does The Silent Voice, in which Otis Skinner has the leading role, violate all the principles of the legitimate drama. Watch Your Step, described as a synecopated musical show in three acts, employs the Castles in their new dances. Julian Eltinge is in The Crinoline Girl. He is the most famous interpreter of female parts.

Prof. Huddilston Speaks on European Situation

"The focus of all eyes for those interested in the European situation is the city of Constantinople," said Dr. J. H. Huddilston of the Greek department in a talk before the students at Friday chapel. "The fight now on is to determine the existence of the Turk in Europe."

Dr. Huddilston went on to say that it is a significant fact that the most impressive building in Constantinople not excepting the Mosque of Saint Sophia, itself, is the German Embassy. National jealousy keeps Russia from her natural right, an outlet to the Mediterranean. Nothing thus far in the war is suggestive of so much ultimate good as the entrance of Turkey into the war. An old wound has been reopened and bids fair to be wholly healed. The cure, if it takes place, will occur here at this great strategic point of Constantinople where East meets West.

A course in English under the Department of Extension of the University of Texas was the unique Christmas present given by an instructor of Zoology in that university by his brother.

SHORT COURSES BEGIN

Do Much Good For the Farmers of Maine

EX-GOVERNOR HAINES HERE

The short courses in general agriculture and dairying, began January 4, and will continue four weeks.

The three weeks courses in poultry husbandry and horticulture will begin February 1. Indications are that there will be a record breaking attendance at this poultry course.

These courses are conducted by regular teaching members of the faculty and the aim is to give a large amount of practical knowledge in the least possible time,—something that the men can take back home with them and apply. This has been a wonderful power for good in improving agricultural conditions throughout the state. It has been noted several times that a great many of the winners at state contests have been men who have taken one or more of these courses. Upon the satisfactory completion of any of short course, the student is giving a certificate stating the course pursued.

During the Short Courses one or more special lectures will be given each week. These lectures will deal with such important subjects as agricultural economics, agricultural education, road building, farmer's cooperative associations, rural credit, boys' and girls' agricultural clubs, farm demonstration work and other forms of agricultural extension service. Included in the list of speakers for the special lectures will be successful farmers, experts in various lines, and lecturers connected with the University.

A list of those who have enrolled for the short courses in dairying and general agriculture is as follows: E. F. Bartlett, Bangor; P. Bartlett, Island Pond, Vt.; G. D. Burnell, St. Albans, Vt.; A. Davis, Caribou; O. S. Harris, Stockton Springs; C. E. Hardy, Bangor; H. O. Humphrey, Island Pond, Vt.; N. G. Luce, Strong; C. N. Merrill, So. Portland; R. C. Perkins, Baileyville; F. L. Robinson, Cumberland St.; W. Smith, Bangor; G. W. Talbot, Turner; P. J. Vincent, Cornville; H. S. White, Lewiston.

It is also interesting to note that these short courses have brought ex-Governor Haines to the campus. Although not registered for any regular course, he is making himself a better farmer by attending as many lectures as possible.

HAS MADE GOOD

Chandler C. Harvey, '87, Clerk of Lower House

Chandler C. Harvey of Fort Fairfield, the recently elected clerk of the Maine House of Representatives, is a University alumnus of the class of 1887, a man who has thru his whole career been a credit to himself and to his Alma Mater.

Mr. Harvey was born in Fort Fairfield in 1866. During his minority he taught school. In 1887 he entered the Maine State College as it was then called and altho handicapped by poor college preparation, he completed the four year's civil engineering course in three years, receiving the prize for highest standing in the sophomore class the first year and the prize for the best essay in the junior year, and was valedictorian of his class at graduation.

Upon graduation he went to Montana as a civil engineer upon the Pacific extension of the Great Northern railway. Upon the completion of this work he became draughtsman for the Thomson-Houston Co. of Lynn, Mass.

From 1896 to 1900 he was postmaster in his native town, and from 1900 to 1906 chairman of the board of selectmen. He has always been deeply interested in education and for three years was a member of the Fort Fairfield school board and was Supt. of schools for two years.

In 1902, Mr. Harvey married Miss Lena May Osgood, daughter of Rev. F. H. Osgood, a prominent Maine Methodist.

In the same year he purchased the Fort Fairfield Review, then an eight page paper with a circulation of about six hundred. The circulation now runs into thousands. Mr. Harvey is a member of Eastern Frontier lodge, F. and A. M.; Fort Fairfield Garfield Royal Arch chapter, No. 48; Caribou and St. Aldemar Commandery, No. 17, Knights Templar, Houlton, also of several other orders, including the Sons of the American Revolution. From 1902 to 1904 he was district deputy grand master of the First Masonic District of Maine.

In politics, Mr. Harvey is a Democrat and has received many honors from his party, such as representative to legislature, clerk of courts of Aroostook county, clerk to House of Representatives in 1911. For a number of years he has been a member of the Democratic town committee and a member of the executive committee of the county. In the recent campaigns he has done much work upon the stump.

NEW COURSES OFFERED

Advertising, Floriculture and Recent History Courses Announced

There will be offered next semester, a course in Advertising. This work will be given in connection with the regular course now given in Journalism and economics. The purpose of this work will be two fold. First it will prepare students who wish to take up advertising work as a profession, and second, it will be given as a help to the student going into a business which might need the requisite of good advertising. The course will include work in text books, class practice, which would correspond to laboratory work and some outside reading. The work, on the whole, will be designed to embody such features as will give the student a good understanding of the theory, ethics, and physiology of advertising. Consideration will be given, in so far as possible to all advertising questions, local, state, and national, and students will be required to write all three kinds.

It is hoped that this course will be followed later by a course in advanced advertising and publicity.

Dr. Colvin will give a course in Recent History during the Spring Semester. This course will begin with 1815 and trace European History down to the opening of the present war. Special emphasis will be placed upon the events leading up to present European conditions.

The College of Agriculture will have a new course in Floriculture. This course is designed to give practical knowledge of propagation, culture and importance of outdoor flowers such as annuals, perennials, bulbs, bedding plants and other garden plants with special reference to care of public parks and private estates. This course will consist of two hours classroom work and two hours laboratory work and will give three hours credit.

Aggie Notes

Several student in poultry husbandry, accompanied by instructor Boland, attended the Boston Poultry Show, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. To-day, under the direction of the Boston Chamber of Commerce they are visiting commission markets and cold storage plants.

Prof. Aubrey, who is now connected with the New Jersey Experiment Station, was on the campus last week. He was a judge at the Bangor Poultry Show.

Mr. Earle Moffitt, a graduate of Penn. State College '12, and an employee of the Federal government, is making Orono his headquarters while carrying on farm management demonstrations in co-operation with the United States Dept. of Agriculture. Mr. Moffitt will use farms centering around Corinth for his first field of work. This is practically a new line of government work and has proved of great value in some regions of the central West and in other sections where they have carried on this line of investigation.

Tee Up! Smoke Up!

AS satisfying as the sounding smack of the perfect drive, is the open-air relish of the perfect smoke—Tuxedo. Both go together, too. When you grab your bag and start for the links, grab up your tin of Tuxedo and take it along.

"Follow through" the snappy afternoon with Tuxedo. Put Tuxedo in your pipe and you will "put" the best. And at "the nineteenth hole" rest up and relax with a good, solid smoke of Tuxedo. That's the advice of good golfers everywhere.

Tuxedo
The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Tuxedo positively cannot bite—not even if you smoke pipeful after pipeful, as many as you can crowd into a day or a week.

Tuxedo is made of only the finest, choicest, selected leaves of perfectly aged Burley tobacco. It is made by the original "Tuxedo Process" which removes every trace of bite and sting and develops all the wonderful mildness, fragrance and flavor of the Burley Leaf in a way that no other brand of tobacco has ever successfully imitated.

SUBJECT CHOSEN

More Candidates Needed for Colby Debate

The subject for the debate between the University of Maine and Colby College, which will take place on the second Friday in April is: Resolved, that the United States Government should acquire and operate a merchant marine until such times as private American capital becomes able to meet the then-existing needs.

This subject was selected by Colby from the three subjects which the University of Maine submitted for her choice. At a meeting of the Speakers' Club, Mr. Keyes gave a list of references which are obtainable at the library. About twenty-five men were present at the Speaker's Club meeting and nearly all of them signified their intention of trying out for the Maine team. This number, however, should be doubled if Maine is to prepare two winning teams.

Everyone is requested to try out for these teams. Eligibility will simply consist of a passing record in University work, except that those registered for the L. L. B. degree are not eligible. The preliminary trials will occur the first week in February. The dates recommended by the Speakers Club are as follows: Seniors February second, Juniors February third, Sophomores, February fourth, and Freshmen February fifth. At these trials six men from each class will be chosen to compete in the semifinal trials. These will take place two weeks later. The Seniors will debate the Juniors on February sixth, and the Sophomores the Freshmen on February seventh.

On February twenty-fourth the twelve men who have been selected in the semifinal trials will debate. Six debaters and two alternates will be chosen from these men. In all of these trials each man may argue on whatever side of the question he sees fit, but he will be called upon to rebutt either side so a thorough knowledge of both sides of the question will be necessary.

TO HAVE WIRELESS

Electrical Students Install Station

The University of Maine will soon be equipped with a wireless station of unusual size. H. H. Beverage '15, Park Elliot '15, and H. E. Hodgkins '15, who have chosen subjects connected with wireless telegraphy for their theses, are installing the station for the University. A two kilowatt set of instruments has been purchased, and the two hundred and sixty-six foot aerial, which consists of six strands of phosphorous bronze cable, is already in position.

When finished the outfit should send messages two hundred and fifty miles over land and a much greater distance over water. This outfit will be capable of receiving messages from Panama, Key West, and other distant places. Mr. Cheswell, of the Electrical Department, has studied telegraph operating, and will be licensed to run the station. At present there are twenty-five stations located between Boston and Indian Harbor belonging either to the United States or Canadian Government. A one hour course in wireless telegraphy will be offered next semester to seniors majoring in Electrical Engineering. Many have signified their intention of registering for this course. It might be well to note that wireless communication has been established between the United States and Germany, and that all of our "War News" comes by wireless.

Military Notes

On Wednesday night at the session of the officers school, the officers solved a problem in combat reconnaissance and the attack of a position by a battalion.

Sergeant J. H. Smiley of Co. C, has been promoted to Drum Major.

The first match of the Rifle Team will be fired during the week of January 18, and will be fired against the North Georgia Agricultural College. At present the indications are that the team will be picked from the following men of the squad: O. F. Tarr, H. W. Coffin, E. S. Fraser, A. W. Dunn, R. K. Fletcher, H. R. Boothby, A. M. Goodwin, C. M. Winter, E. A. Dore, R. H. Hanson, John Barnes, N. F. Mank, R. B. Pierce, J. S. Crandall, D. E. Green, L. T. Merriman.

The regular instructions in the manual of arms has been very successful and will be completed by the end of this semester.

An informal dance was held at the Mt. Vernon House Friday, Jan. 8th. Those present were E. Goodwin, '15, G. Bernheisel, '15; H. D. Williams, '15; S. P. Danforth, '16; P. A. Collins, '17; R. Obituary Notice

Dr. Aley at Monday Chapel in a few sincere words expressed his regret for the death of George M. Colburn and his appreciation of his faithful service. Mr. Colburn for many years was head carpenter for the University and as such won the respect and admiration of all with whom he came in contact. Scattered over the campus are many monuments to his skill and faithfulness as a man and a mechanic. In the minds of all who knew him he has left his record as "a workman who needeth not be ashamed."

Prof. Gray spoke to the young ladies at the Y. W. C. A. meeting, Thursday, Jan. 7, on the subject The Creating of an Artistic Environment in Everyday Life.

HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

H. G. Morse, '16, Rescues A. W. Richardson, '06, From Stillwater

H. G. Morse, '16, and A. W. Richardson, '06, had a narrow escape from death in cold depths of the Stillwater recently. These two students in company with several other students were skating up the Stillwater river. Morse and Richardson skated quite a distance beyond the others and were near the Stillwater bridge when, without warning, the ice broke and they were plunged into the water.

Morse was fortunate enough to get hold of firm ice and pull himself up onto it without much difficulty. But it was different with Richardson. Unable to reach solid ice he swam around in the water slowly getting numbed. A lady who lived in Stillwater happened to be passing by and came to the aid of the students. Morse lay flat on the ice and she held him. He was then able to hold out a hockey stick to Richardson and to draw him up on firm ice by this means.

The students were conveyed to the Theta Chi house, of which fraternity they are members, by a passing automobile. Neither suffered any ill effects from the accident and are now quite recovered from the wetting and chill.

which we should have; I think we should be closer to Maine. The only way to be closer is by going back to Maine in person to football games, to track meets, to reunions, and to commencements. We must show the faculty and students of the University that we are willing to cooperate with them and to stand back of them."

Other speakers included W. D. Townner, '14, formerly captain of track, E. J. Wilson '07, and Harry Sutton '01. During the evening a committee on the reunion of the class of 1910 was appointed, and that this event will take place is an established fact. This is by far the most enthusiastic smoker that the Boston Alumni Association has held and it is expected to be productive of great results.

Electricals Meet

The student members of the American Institute of Electrical Engineering met in the club room of Hannibal Hamlin Hall last Wednesday evening. H. H. Beverage '15, spoke very interestingly on "Wireless Telegraphy" and L. G. Sawyer '15, on the "New Types of Tungsten lamps." These meetings are being held every two weeks and are followed by a smoker. All those who are interested in electricity are invited to come.

HOCKEY CONSIDERED

Classes Meet and Nominate the Managers

This year the agitation toward having hockey at the University has taken definite shape. Last year, as in preceding years, hockey was talked of and wished for but no action was taken. This year, however, the Senior and Sophomore classes have gone ahead with the scheme and have made nominations for class managers. The idea at present is to adopt hockey as a minor sport, with the hope that in the near future Maine may have intercollegiate hockey. With a very nominal outlay a section of Alumni Field could be converted into a fine rink, and it is hoped that this will be the outcome of the class action. Bowdoin and Bates have rinks this winter for the first time, and appearances seem to point toward the annexing of another sport of intercollegiate calibre.

PROF. BEAN LEAVES

Former Professor of Engineering Accepts New Position

Prof. G. L. Bean associate professor of civil engineering has accepted position as Chief Engineer of Public commissions.

While in college he was active in college activities playing end on one championship football team and goal kicker for the team in 1904. After his graduation from the college in 1904 he was employed in street railway construction engineering in Philadelphia, then returning to the University in 1907 to accept the position as instructor in structural designing and hydraulics, receiving an appointment to an associate professorship in 1912 and has served in this capacity up to the present time. He has done work for the Maine Water Storage Commission, United States Geological Survey, and for some time has had charge of the stream gaging stations on the Penobscot River.

Professor Bean and Dean Boardman designed the concrete grandstand on the University athletic field.

He is a native of Saco and was fitted for college in the schools of that city and Thornton Academy. He is a member of the American Society of civil Engineers and, of the Maine organization and the society for the Promotion of Engineering Education.
