BE HELD APRIL 23 and 24

Talcott Williams and Roy W. Howard to be Principal Speakers

PRESS CLUB AS HOSTS

The first annual Newspaper Institute of the State will be held April 23 and 24, at Orono, under the auspices of the University of Maine.

The object of the Institute is to induce newspaper men of daily and weekly publications to convene to talk over their problems, and to consult as to the nature and benefit of the journalism work offered at the University. Similar conventions have been held in Kansas, Washington, Indiana and other states, where editors have found it to their direct advantage to attend.

Up to the present time many journalists from over the State have expressed their enthusiastic approval of the Institute. which they intend to attend. The principal speakers at the meetings will be Talcott Williams, former editor of the Philadelphia Press, and now Director of the Pulitzer School of Journalism at Columbia; and Roy W. Howard, President of the United Press Associations with headquarters in New York City. Mr. Howard is at present in London on a mission concerning foreign correspondence work, but expects to return some time in the early part of April.

Addresses and general discussion will feature the program, concluding with a dinner and entertainment, arrangements for which have not as yet been concluded. During the stay of the visitors at Orono, the Press Club of the University will act as hosts, representing the student body.

LINCOLN COLCORD TO CONTRIBUTE

Blue Book To Have Article From Pen of Its Founder

BOOK ON SALE FEB. 23

Lincoln R. Colcord, author of "The Drifting Diamond," "A Game of Life and Death," etc., a writer whose books are well up on the list of "best sellers," is a contributor to "The Blue Book" which is to appear February 23. Mr. Colcord was the founder and mainstay of the magazine during his college course. Since 1909 the publication has not been issued, but recent popular student interest has resulted in he formation of a board to bring about its revival. The name only of the old publication has been retained, size and general make-up having been altered for pecuniary reasons. Three hundred copies are to be printed to be sold for ten cents each. It goes on sale the morning of Feb. 23, at the college store.

M CLUB MEETS

Discuss Dances Following Basketball Games

The "M" Club met Tuesday evening at the Kappa Sigma House. A fine supper was served and afterwards a business meeting was held. The committee for the Poverty Ball reported a good success both financially and socially. The club voted to buy a wedding present for excoach Reilly, who was married Thursday. Next a committee was appointed to look out for the entertainment of the prep school men in the spring at the time of the annual Interscholastic Track Meet. A committee was also appointed to see about publishing post cards as was done two years ago. The club then talked over the advisability of running dances after the basketball games. No definite step was made except the appointment of a committee to consider the matter.

In one of the recent issues of the "Paper Magazine" Mr. J. N. Stephenson, of the University of Maine Pulp and Paper making course, offered a paper on "The Method of Calculation of the Output of Paper Machines. The paper is very interesting to pulp chemists and a compliment to the department. This paper has appeared with approval in the best magazines on Paper and Pulp in England.

NEWSPAPER INSTITUTE TO N.E.I.C. A. A. HONOR MAINE

L. E. Philbrook Chosen Secretary

At the annual meeting of the N. E. I. A. A. A. held at the Copley Square Hotel. Boston, Feb. 6, 1915, Lawrence E. Philbrook, '16, of Shelburne, N. H. was elected secretary of the association. This is the second time that a Maine man has been chosen to fill this responsible position, Warren, '15, having held the office last year. Philbrook has been identified with track athleics during the past two years. He was elected manager of track in the spring of 1914, which office he now holds. In his connection with this branch of athletics he has been at all times a careful executive and a consistent worker.

The selection by the N. E. I. A. A. of a student of the Universty of Maine as one of its officers has significance in that it recognizes the great advance in track athletic at the University. Never before has Maine stood out so prominently in the college athletic world as now. Certain it is that Maine holds an enviable position in

Two notable changes were made by the executive board at the meeting. It was decided to change the time of the trials for the hundred yard dash to the first event Friday, and to renumber the other events accordingly. The Saturday events will start at 3 P. M. and the order of events will bring the hundred yard dash, semi-finals at this time in place of the hundred yard dash trials.

An article concerning the conduct of cross country runs was added to the rules of the association; viz.: Material aid or assistance rendered by a non-contenstant in any way, shape or manner is prohibited, and any contestant receiving such aid or assistance is liable to disqualification. This prohibits the passing of a towel, sponge, or doing anything which may aid the endurance of a competitor during the run.

Paul A. Warren '15, was made a member of the executive committee, to serve during the following year. This body supervises the making of rules, and makes decisions in cases of protests.

BIG WEEK PROMISED

Juniors Plan Elaborate Festivities For May 6-8

With two baseball games, a dual track meet with Bates, and several other important events, the Junior Week of 1915 should be an important occasion. The date has been definitely decided as May 6-8. There will be two of the state series baseball games, which will come on May 6th and 7th, and will probably be with Bowdoin. The dual track meet with Bates will be a big attraction, and is scheduled for May 8, the last day.

The Junior "Prom" will be held on the evening of May 7. It is the gala event of Junior Week, and the committee are planning to have something elaborate for decorations.

Besides the athletic events and the Junior Prom, there will be the Junior prize speaking contest and also an exhibition drill by the Military companies.

The programs will be a little more elaborate than in former years. They will be dedicated to Prof. Wingard, and besides a cut of Prof. Wingard, will contain two views of the campus.

As the date has been changed from the middle of April to May 6, the weather should prove much more favorable to Junior week festivities than at the dates previousld considered and it is with this idea that the plans have been made more

The committee consists of G. E. Kirk chairman, G. C. Palmer, C. A. Blackman, J. A. Burke, J. T. Leecock and B. W. Lew-

TO ATTEND MEETING

Prof. McKee To Speak Before American Pulp and Paper Assn.

At the meeting of the American Paper and Pulp Association at New York City, February 18, Prof. R. H. McKee will present a report as the official chemist of that association. The courses and methods organized will be represented before this technical division, and this will bring the Paper and Pulp course of the University of Maine in close affiliation with the technical representatives.

COACH SMITH GIVES SOME "STRAIGHT DOPE"

BANGOR, MAINE, FEBRUARY 12, 1915

Laments System Whereby Only a Handful of Men Compete For Teams

URGES MORE CANDIDATES

(Editor's Note-The appended article on athletic spirit is contributed by Arthur N. Smith, track coach.)

Last week there was a typical Maine Night at the Bijou Theater at which time the Maine brand of spirit was very much in evidence. Cheers were given for everybody and everything at the University and all told, judging from the actions and enthusiasm of those present there wasevery reason for a spectator to feel that Maine spirit was of a high standard.

Theoretically such might have been the case but practically speaking this way of looking at conditions was and is entirely erroneous. On the very same afternoon of this big demonstration of Maine spirit (?) there were just six boys working out on the board track, training for the B. A. A. Relay Race—an event which was to decide a State Championship and which in so far as our Alumni, student body and the general public are concerned was extremely important in that it called for a practical demonstration of our athletic rating among the other colleges in the State. Here we have an example of college spirit in theory and in practice!

We have 700 boys, we will say, to choose our athletic material from. From these we can find only six candidates who are willing and enthusiastic enough to get out and work for a victory, while the remaining 694 are satisfied to play dead or just sit down and cheer and nothing more-which is the same thing.

Statements from Bowdoin prove that a squad of 200 men entered the final trials for this event-Maine because of insufficient material had no trials at all as the number of men in training was just enough to make up a team. This statement should speak for itself as it clearly proves that when it comes down to practical "Spirit" we still have considerable room for improvement.

Competition and numbers in all forms of athletics means success and it is quite clear to me that unless we get away from our present easy going style of doing things we are destined to go back and not ahead as should be the case.

Maine is large enough to compete with the bigger colleges and it is shameful to see her go down to defeat at the hands of a small institution, particularly when such a defeat is brought about through poor spirit and a total lack of interest in athletic affairs.

There is no use in trying to get away from the fact that Maine during the past four years has won more athletic prestige through track athletics than she has through all her other forms of sport combined, and that during this time the highest athletic honors that have every been won by Maine or any other college in the State have come to her through the efforts of her track athletes. It is also true however, that during this period we have continually skated on thin ice for the material furnished for these teams, in view of the number of students in College, has been lamentably small. A few men have reported to me for these teams—they have worked and have developed into winners. The student body as a whole has not been interested or concerned in this process of securing advertisement, athletic prestige, and the hundred other advantages that have come to the University through athletics of the successful type. In track today I have one man working out in the shot pu, one in the sprints, one in the high jump, two in the hurdles, one in the discus, three in the hammer, two in the broad jump and so on down the list.

My two New England Bross Country Championship teams had for candidates seven men in 1913 and ten men lastfalland this out of a student body containing, I suppose, about seven hundred boys.

This is a condition that points down instead of up and something must be done in the future to bring our large body of spectators out of their trance and into the field of college athletics or else these defeats at the hands of a small college will soon get to be the regular thing. It is wrong to ask a Coach to take just a few men and mold them into a successful team. In such cases as these the spirit that comes through competition is lacking and the responsibility put upon the Coach is entirely out of proportion to the amount

Championship Goes to Bowdoin

The quartet of relay men which represented Maine in the annual B. A. Meet at the Mechanics Building, Boston, March 6th, was unable to land the state champion ship in this branch of sport. Each man ran a good race, but the team as a whole lacked unity and experience. The fastest time of any of the Maine races was made in the Maine-Bowdoin race, 3: 12 2-5.

Bates defeated Colby on account of a foul by Colby, and Bowdoin finished with a three yard lead over the Maine four. In the final race Bowdoin repeated its performance by defeating Bates.

The men who represented Maine in the order in which they ran were: French, Totman, Leacock, and King.

Massachusetts Club Plan Many New Things

The Massachusetts Club held another successful meeting Thursday evening, in the club room of the library. The important business included the presenting of an immense map of the state of Massachusetts on which are listed the names of the members beside their respective cities. A bulletin which will serve as a directory, containing the names and addresses of the members, has been received and will be distributed within a few weeks. Plans are being made for an elaborate entertainment and dance which will be given at an early date.

After the meeting the entertainment was furnished by Art Harmon, comedy violinist Ferd Phelps, and Joe McCusker in songs and recitations.

Press Club Elects Honorary Members

An enthusiastic meeting of the Press Club of the University took place at the Theta Chi House last Tuesday night. Much interest was shown when the discussion of the Newspaper Institute, which is to be held on the Campus April 23, and 24, was taken The Club as a whole feels that this opportunity to meet and entertain the representative men who will be brought together is an opportunity not to be lightly considered.

Gentlemen, we call your individual and collective attention to a problem of vital importance to the University

Varsity of Maine

We refer to the track situa-Track

tion (and prospects) which is facing us NOW. For concrete information on this subject we refer you to the article by Coach Smith which is to be found in this issue

There is nothing hard to find concerning this problem. It is only too plain to all who consider the situation at all.

We are sorry to confess it but there is anything but a wealth of material trying out for the varsity track team.

You all know the result of the recent relay-Maine lost in a good race. All well and good, but do you know that there were only six men who tried out for our relay team?

Therein lies the trouble. We expect wonderful things from our Coach and his men, but little do we realize that we are expecting miracles

Just at present we are developing a team for the meets of this next spring. Coach Smith does not think much of the material which has so far reported. There are many good men out but not enough to guarantee a winning team.

Maine has had a grand past in track. Her future should be even brighter. It is up to the student body to see that the present season is a credit to the Univer-

The question is no longer of minor importance. The cry of your Alma Mater is growing stronger and more commanding. It is COME OUT FOR TRACK!

The Campus, in an effort to put more "pep" into its columns, is introducing several new innovations Exhibit number one of those whom our star reporter has "Seen On the Campus' appears in this issue. More are to follow.

All "kicks" should be sent direct to this office, postage prepaid.

Correction

Thru an error in the Campus last week it was stated that Mrs. Nellie E. Aley had attended the Womens Peace Party first National convention at Cincinnati, Feb. 2. As Maine Chairman of the Party, Mrs. Aley will attend the Convention, which is to be held Feb. 22.

Gym Exhibition Scheduled

Professor E. R. Wingard is planning an exhibition of the classes in Physical Training to include work in wand drill and setting up exercises. The exhibition will follow the class basketball game on Friday night, March 19.

The final trials for the Debating Team will be held Tuesday, February 26, at 7 P. M. in 1 Estabrooke Hall.

SEEN ON THE CAMPUS

No. 1-"Scissors" Weston

If you should happen to be walking along the campus in a pensive mood and should happen to see a light complexioned man coming toward you, with his head tilted well back, eyes seemingly directed into the etherial blue, don't jump if of a sudden you hear a sharp bark of greeting and notice a stiff nod of recognition, it's only "Scissors" Weston.

It is perhaps this abrupt manner that may make him seem to the majority of the students to resemble a snapping turtle, and to remain to them an enigma. But to a few favored ones he has unbent and evinced the more kindly, more attractive, more magnetic side of his

His fairness in his methods need not be spoken of for should this be done, the other professors would be envious. It is said, though, that only a few have occasion to come in contact with his brilliant ideas on art, literature, music, the drama, and most especially on marriage.

IS PLEASING PLAY

Pinero's "Amazons" To Be Presented By Maine Masque

The Amazons, a "farcical romance" which is being presented by the Maine Masque during this season, is one of the most pleasing of Pinero's plays. The cast is composed of twelve characters, only three of which are minor parts. The characters are: Lady Castlejordan: her three daughters, who have been brought up as nearly like boys as possible; 'Sergeant' Shuter, a woman who has had charge of the girls; Rev. Roger Minchin, an old friend of the family; the three men who have fallen in love with the three girls; and a gamekeeper, a poacher, and a ser-

All the events transpire in the course of a single day in September. The scene of the first two acts is laid in 'The Tangle, an overgrown corner of Overcote Park, while the scene of the last act is laid in the gymnasium at Overcote Hall. The story of the play is as follows:

The three girls have been away on a vacation. Wilhelmina and Thomasin have been staying up at Drumdurris with Lady Drum, while Neoline has been visiting the Viponts in London. At Drumdurris, Wilhelmina and Thomasin met two men who immediately fell into love with them. One of these was a Frenchman and the other was of the nobility, but was weak and and anaemic. Noeline went out one night alone through the West End of London dressed in man's attire. She saw a man about to hit a girl and she struck him. Then she ran until she fainted. When she came to, she was lying in a strange room with a man. She bolted down the stairs and found her way back to the Vipons. Now all the girls have returned home. Wilhelmina and Thomasin came before Noeline, who appears during the early part of the play.

Mr. Minchin has come up to the Hall at this same time to remonstrate with Lady Castlejordan and to try to persuade her that she should not longer allow her daughters to go about in such costumes and act as they have been.

De Grival and Tweenwayes have followed the two girls from Drumdurrisand have managed to creep into the Park unnoticed. They intend to stay until they obtain the opportunity of talking with the girls again. Lord Litterly, the present Lord Castlejordan's son with whom Lady Castlejordan is not on good terms, was the fellow who picked Noeline up. He follows her from town and also manages to seak into the Park. The three men meet and agree to stick together.

Noeline gives her mother a note from Mrs. Vipont. This tells of Noeline's escapade. Lady Castlejordan goes to London at once. The men rejoice at their opportunity and find the girls. Litterly finds Noeline alone and tells her his side of the story about his finding her in the street. He, also, returns her the Belturbet ring which she had lost. This was an heirloom and much valued. Noeline dislikes Litterly at first, but finally she consents to tattoo an 'N' on his arm with her hat-pin and the sap of a redroot. She discovers later that she poisoned Litterly and implores him to go to the doctor. The act closes when she runs off saying: No! I'm a girl! I don't want to be anything else!"

Thomasin had invited De Grival and Tweenwayes to come up to the Hall that evening. De Grival carelessly lost the note and Litterly found it. When De Grival and Tweenwayes went to the Hall, they got in the wrong end and finally landed in the gymnasium. Litterly had traced them there. As they are debating what to do, the lights are switched on and voices are heard. The men conceal themselves in the closet. The girls and Shuter enter and begin to take their daily exercise. This is languidly done. Shuter is angry. She goes to the closet. As she opens it the men rush out. Litterly tells them that everything is all right, for Letty Shuter was his old nurse's daughter. After she is importuned, Shuter agrees to get some wine if the girls will promise to get into the closet and stay there until she returns. They joyfully promise, but come out. As they hurry back, Wilhelmina loses her slipper.

Shuter discovers this and so learns that they had broken faith. After a healthis proposed and druy in honor of her, Shuter is prevailed upon to play while all dance. Lady Castlejordan returns during this. Eventually, the three lovers are introduced and all necessary explaations are made. Lady Castlejordan tells her daughters to put on their frocks and never come out of them. After they re-enter, she invites all the men to dine. Thus, the play ends with the formation of the couples ad their marching out in order.

First woman cheer leader in the world is the distinction that Miss Elizabeth Morrow of the University of Kansas has. She was assistant cheer leader at the Kansas-Missouri game.

FIRST GAMES TONIGHT

Some Good Basketball Promised

The inter-class basketball schedule for 1915 has been prepared by Manager T.

D. Bonney. '16, and is as follows: February 12, 1916 vs. 1918, 1915 vs.

February 19, 1916 vs. 1917, 1918 vs. 1915.

February 26, 1916 vs. 1915, 1917 vs. 1918. March 5, 1916 vs. 1918, 1917 vs. 1915.

March 12, 1916 vs. 1917, 1918 vs. 1915. March 19, 1916 vs. 1915, 1917, vs 1918. March 26, 1916 vs. 1918, 1915 vs. 1917. April 2, 1916 vs. 1917, 1918 vs. 1915. April 9, 1916 vs. 1915, 1917 vs. 1918.

The Seniors are represented in the series by a veteran team consisting of Williams, Hutchinson, Hamel, Crandall, and Hall. The Juniors have four men of their last year's team, namely, Ruffner. Kirk, Purington, and Blood; the fifth man. Schneider, did not return to college this year. The Sophomores have a large amount of material from which to select a team. Some of the most likely candidates are Waterman, Brasseur, Moore, Kalloch, Curran, Dempsey, and Kilburn. Freshman material is as yet untested but the class of 1918 has three men who are said to be good in McCarty, Reardon, and Rudman, the former Portland High center. It is expected that the eligibility rules this year will not be as strict as they have been in former years, although Professor Wingard trusts that the basketball schedule will be carried through this year, as, in his opinion, the death of winter sports can be evived in by baskethall, especially since prospects for a hockey team are not very bright.

Freshman Hop

At a recent meeting of the Freshman class it was voted that the class should continue the policy of giving the Military Hop, the annual military drill and freshman dance. A committee of five freshmen is to be elected, which, with the aid of Lieutenant Clark and the Major of the battalion, will prepare for the hop this year. The nominating committee has presented the following names for the hop committee. C. E. Jone, E. L. Coolbroth, H. G. Cobb, G. H. Harmon, F. W. Brittain, H. L. Jones, H. Watson, and J. M. McGrath.

The nominating committee also proposed the following names for hockey manager; E. H. May, F. S. Kerr, and A. L. Shaw.

Notes of the High School Papers

The staff of the Oracle at Edward Little High School of Auburn is to be complimented on its large and far reaching exchange list. Nearly all the States in the Union are included in this list. One foreign country, China, is represented. The "war news" is also very interesting.

Edward Little High School of Auburn is represented this season by one of th speediest basketball teams in the history of the school.

The Archon published by Dummer Academy of South Byfield, Massachusetts, is a very well developed paper. A column, "Advice to the Sentimental," is especially amusing.

The Caduceus issued at Norway High School is one of the best exchanges that we receive, The literary work is very good. The pointers are also exceedingly interesting.

Tuxedo answers every smoke desire—every little palate craving, every longing for the one Perfect Pipe and Cigarette tobacco. No matter when or how you smoke Tuxedo it sends right into your heart a glimmer of Gladsome Sunshine. And you can just about hear the honeybees buzz in the far-off gardens.

Sings into your system a song of keen delight. It spreads real happiness and cheer because it's amokable, lovable, all day, all night—no matter how the weather fits. Tuxedo's flavor is so enticingly mild and delicately fragrant it will not irritate the most sensitive throat.

Large Audience Enjoyed Musical Clubs At Orono

The musical clubs in their annual concert in Orono Town hall last Saturday evening presented a program which in every way equalled the high standard established in previous years. The entire presentation was refined and distinctive, each combined and single rendering being cleverly and interestingly carried out. The violin solo of Mr. Merrill clearly brought out his remarkable talent and added much to the success of the evening. W. Clark Barrett's reading of "Mr. Glashan's Courtship " also deserves special mention on account of its peculiar merit, proving that in Mr. Barrett the clubs have found a new reader of unusual ability. (The Sword of Ferrara) by the Glee Club won special favor, a fact which is noteworthy since the song is characteristic of the classical element which was introduced into the clubs this season, and which marks a departure from the too familiar light comedy songs so universally associated with college glee clubs. A common judgment of the clubs at this early period indicates that their first concert has promised us a well balanced musical organization which will be able to represent and maintain the high standards of the University in every particular.

Following the concert a dance was given which was enjoyed by a large number of PROGRAM

Extension Service Unable to Comply With All Petitions

The Agricultural Extension Service of the University of Maine has been able to comply with 21 petitions to hold Extension Schools this season. Lack of funds will prevent accepting more petitions with the possible exception of requests for schoo schools in Poultry Husbandry. Schools have already been held in the towns of Albion, Belfast, Biddeford, China, Corinth, Hancock, Industry, Newburg, Parsonsfield and Richmond.

The schools assigned to date are

February 8-10. Kent's Hill (Apple Packing); February 8-10, Wilton, (Animal Feeding); February 11-13, Farmington, (Farm Crops); February 15-17, Exeter Mills, (Animal Feeding); February 16-18, East Sumner, (Soil Fertility); February 22-24, E. Vassalboro, (Animal Feeding): February 25-27, Windsor,, (Animal Feeding); February 25-27, New Sharon, (Animal Feeding); March 16-17, Buckfield, (Orchard Renovation); March 23-24, Denmark, (Orchard Renovation); March 30-April 1, Columbia Falls, (Soil Fertility.)

The schools are doing good work thruout the state. At the three days school held in East Corinth last week there was a total regislration of 74, with attendance of 226 and an average attendance of 37 at each session, showing the interest with which they are being received. This particular school was on Soils and Fertilizers and was in charge of M. D.Jones '01, assisted by A. L. Deering '12, and G. N. Worden '13, these instructors being in charge of demonstration work in Penobscot, Kennebec, and Hancock counties respectively. Next week the school at Exeter Mills in charge of Mr. Jones, assisted by R. W. Redman '11, will be on Animal Feeding. The school in Apple Packing which was held at Kent's Hill, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week was in charge of Mr. Deering.

The marked success of these schools thus far is confidently expected to be only an index of their value to the future of our state, and, when other states have followed where Maine now leads, much will have been done to help agricultural America.

Second Annual Secondary School Conference

Invitations have been sent out to all the secondary school principals in the state by the University of Maine, Department of Education, to attend the Secondary School Conference which will be held at the University Friday and Saturday, March 5 and 6. A splendid list of speakers will be provided for the principals, and it is thought that the two days stay at the University will ad materially both the University and preparatory schools in obtaining a mutual understanding. The conferences of previous years have been productive of much good and the subjects chosen for discussion at the conference of March 5 and 6 have been chosen with this end in view. Headquarters will be maintained at the office of Dean J. A. Stevens of the College of Arts and Sciences in Aubert Hall, and there, instructions, guides, time cards and all other necessary helps will be made available for the visitors. Supper will be served at the Commons in Hannibal Hamlin Hall Friday evening at 6 o'clock The principals are invited to attend the various classes of the University during their stay in Orono and especial attention will be paid to the discussion of the treatment and care of the University Freshmen. Other topics chosen for discussion, include, The High School Program and the Pupil; Extent and Causes of Elimination in the High School; Attempts to Secure Better Adaptation; Effect of the Double Standard on the Teacher and Pupil; The Ethics of Bidding for High school Athletics; and Statistics of the First Year's Work of the Class Entering the University of Maine in September of the Year 1913.

State Supt. of Schools Payson Smith of Augusta, Dean J. N. Hart of the University, State Inspector of High Schools, J. W. Taylor and several principals are listed among the speakers of the con-

WILL BANQUET MARCH 6

Dr. Aley To Address New York Alumni

The New York Alumni Association of the University of Maine will hold its annual banquet and business meeting Saturday evening, March 6, 1915. President Aley of the University will address the meeting. Full particulars will be published later.

Prof. Daggett Speaks

"Mr. Bryan Rides Behind" was the title of an article written by Colonel Harvey of the North American Review-an article which treated Mr. Bryan and his theories as a joke. To prove Mr. Bryan not a joke was the endeavor of Prof. Daggett in a talk given at Friday chapel.

Prof. Daggett characterized Mr. Bryan as having more of the orator in him than the statesman. He uses the declamatory rather than the argumentation style He is a less influential man than President Wilson, for he has depended on a certain schoolboy style of debate to win his points, while President Wilson has re-enforced his oratorical talent with a wide knowledge

Mr. Bryan has been called a demagogue, but the term is unjust. He has been criticised for various moves, which, made as they were by him in his capacity as Secretary of State, were conspicuous. Personal opinion and integrity of conscience may explain his attitude toward these questions which he has settled in his own manner. Whatever criticism may be made of his political acts, his personal character merits no reproach. He should exist in the public mind as honorable, admirable, and consistent.

Poverty Ball Given

The M Club gave its annual Poverty Ball last Friday evening, Feb. 5, which turned out a large number of dancers, making the affair a success in so far as a good time and proceeds from the sale of tickets were concerned.

The affair was in the true sense of the word fitted to its name as the dancers with few exceptions were decorated with by gones and misfits. No prizes were awarded due to the large number of contestants. The order of twenty dances containing several german waltzes and "butt in" dances was printed on large red shipping tags.

Concert Given at Insane Hospital

The University of Maine Musical Clubs gave a concert at the Insane Hospital in Bangor, on Wednesday evening. This concert, which has come to be an annual affair, is in the nature of a final rehearsal before the clubs start on their trips.

About one-sixth of the class of 1917 at Dartmouth are sons of college men. Over one-sixth of these fathers are engaged in the four learned professions and in the allied work of chemistry, journalism, and engineering.

The course in Journalism at the Kansas State Agricultural College requires a thorough training in all branches of newspaper work. Each student is required to do a prescribed amount of work in each capacity, from "deviling" to the editor. Among the journalism students are four girls who are required to mount a stool and learn to "stick" type.

There will be three-legged, sack, relay, fat and thin women's races, high jumping and a basketball game. The winning class will receive a box of marshmallows. of credit he receives should be be success-

It is foolish to expect me or any other coach to keep on geetting successful results as I have done during the past four and a half years with only a handfull of candidates to work with-if I could do this I would not be working for the University of Maine and my present salary! This system of only a few supporting our track teams and I might say ourbaseball teams too, must be done away with or else we will find ourselves 100 years from today having plenty of trouble as we have today in competing against even the smaller colleges.

I do not desire to appear as being opposed to Maine Nights and other forms of college life that help to arouse spirit. Anything of this sort is good-providing it inspires one to do something on his own account for to do even the sallest thongs is insofar as we are concerned better than to watch the greatest.

Last but not least every real boy should take pride in getting his body in perfect physical condition and in competing against others!
