Education as a Rural, Public Good: Preparing Maine's People, Families, Schools, & Communities for the Opportunities of Tomorrow

Monday, November 25, 2024

Looking toward the future, Maine faces many wicked problems that will require innovative, human-centered solutions. Without such a response, climate change, an aging workforce, housing shortages, widening geographic opportunity divides, growing economic inequality, and other pressing challenges threaten the state's long-term economic prosperity.
