BATES-MAINE IN DUAL MEET HERE TOMORROW

Bates Not Expected To Take Large Number of Points

LAWRY TO RUN HUNDRED

Captain Bailey's track team will have its first real 'work-out', to-morrow. The term 'work-out' is perhaps a fair one to use since the most confident of Bates "dopesters" are not looking for Bates to take more than 35 or 40 points.

Lawry, the fast little second baseman, will run the shorter dash. This fact will add much interest to the meet. Small of Bates is also a fast man and was a very close third at the State Meet last spring. Butler, the heavy hitting Bates outfielder, will also run. Lawry's running, therefore, will be watched with interest because there are many who think that the "Rabbit" can do the hundred in remarkably fast time.

Bates' other men, who are expected to make things interesting, are Quimby in the hurdles, Keaney in the broad jump, and Lane in the mile. These men will force French to do his best and will make possible a comparison between him and Royal and will thus in a way atone for the disappointment caused by the calling off of the dual meet with Colby.

Roger Bell will not run being temporarily disabled with a pulled tendon in his ankle. It is felt, however, that he will be back in form by next week. This will make it possible for Maine's supporters to see what Wunderlick can do, as he will be pushed to his top speed by Lane.

Outside of these events, the exhibitions of the Maine athletes are expected to furnish the most interest. With good footing Bailey may again break his own record, and Preti may go after a record in the two-mile, as he now holds one in conjunction with Powers.

TAG DAY TODAY

"M" Club Is Selling Tags For Maine Spirit

The "M" Club is holding its second annual Tag Day today (Friday). Student support has always been most enthusiastic when the "M" Club is concerned. The Tag Day of last year was a complete success.

Tags are being sold by members of the "M" Club and they stand for Maine Spirit. The price is ten cents.

The committee in charge is composed of Charles Ruffner and Paul Warren.

New England Deans Visit Here

The Association of Administrative Officers of New England, representing many of the leading educational institutions, will visit the University of Maine, Thursday and Friday, May 20 and 21. James Stacy Stevens, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences in the University, is president of the Association, and will act as host. Business sessions are on the program for Thursday morning and Thursday afternoon. Thursday evening the visitors will be entertained by Dr. and Mrs. Robert J. Aley, at the President's House, with a dinner party. Following this a reception will be held in the University library. Friday morning the visitors will attend chapel.

The Association's guest this year, following its custom of entertaining some distinguished educator from outside the organization, will be Dean Howard McLenahan, of Princeton.

Institutions to be represented at the meeting will be Harvard, Yale, Brown, Dartmouth, Amherst, Wesleyan, Williams, Boston, Bowdoin, Tufts and Maine. President Stevens has not yet announced the subjects for discussion.

Close Order Drill Tomorrow

Lieut. F. S. Clark announces that the battalion drill, for Saturday, May 8, which is to form a part of the Junior Week exercises will not be of a special nature, although it will be of interest to the visitors. For the past few weeks the attention of the Military Department has been directed toward field problems, which, although they have been very instructive and intensely interesting, have left the battalion somewhat in need of close-order drilling. Next Saturday, attention will be devoted to this phase of instruction. The program will consist of:—Close order drill, battalion drill, and battalion review.

WIN $15 PRIZES

Marie Foster and Earl Merrill Winners In Junior Exhibition

Marie F. Foster and Earl S. Merrill were the winners of the two $15 prizes in the Junior Exhibition, Wednesday evening. The speeches were ranked on the basis of 50% for thought, 25% for form and style of composition, and 25% for delivery. The contestants were chosen from those Juniors who received the highest rank in public speaking during their first two years. The other speakers were Dorothy Thompson, Ansel A. Packard, and Samuel Rudman.

William R. Elliott played a selection on the piano as Dean J. S. Stevens followed by the speakers entered, attired in cap and gown. Before the speaking and at intermission, Miss Lucille Clark rendered two vocal solos, accompanied by Everard Blanchard.

Miss Thompson opened with an earnest and interesting discussion of rag-time music as a modern evil. She condemned ragtime as "a continued exaggerated syncopation, containing no inherent virtues and written by those who feel no poetry in song." She next pointed out that there are many among our students who appreciate legitimate music but sufficient encouragement is not given them. "To remedy this," concluded Miss Thompson, "we need a musical atmosphere here at the University. But we cannot know legitimate music unless we sing it, and we cannot sing it until we get together. It is possible to obtain music of the best traditions here if we take this up."

"A College Fetiich" was the subject of Miss Foster's brilliant speech. "Fraternalities are not solely for the benefit of their own few members, but are for the benefit of the college as a whole. At present we accept the benefits of fraternities without giving anything in return. The time has passed when these institutions can live by themselves alone. Our position as a member of a fraternity or sorority should hold us doubly responsible for the welfare of the college as a whole." Miss Foster then showed how the snobbishness of some sorority girls wrecks the lives of the timid, dreamy-eyed girls who do not belong. "Often a girl outside of the sorority needs a word of sympathy or guidance, which we should give her. Fraternities and sororities are not evils that we should do away with entirely; but we should realize their place. They are a part, but not the whole, of our college life."

By a touching description of how homes are broken up by war, and by presenting convincing facts concerning the loss of nations in men and money, Earl Merrill showed how the nations of the world are plunging toward bankruptcy and destruction. "The idea," said Mr. Merrill, "that arms tend to make peace prevail brings to the ground Christianity and Civilization. There is but one method of solving these problems, and this is by systematic education." "Shall we use more force or more reason?" concluded Mr. Merrill, "Shall we allow this defiance of evolution and brotherhood and humanity to go on? Let our mission be service of the whole world by that mighty power of love."

This address was the same as that given

MASQUE PLAYS BEFORE LARGE AUDIENCE IN GYM

Individual Members of Cast "The Amazons" Receive Much Applause

WEAR NEW TIES ALL DAY

Before a large audience of students, members of the faculty, and visitors, the Maine Masque presented 'The Amazons' by Pinero last evening in the gymnasium as one of the features of Junior Week. The production was a finished production in every sense of the word and was well applauded by all. This was particularly true at the beginning of the play, for each individual actor was given hearty applause at his initial appearance.

Going off with a snap and vim, this production can well be considered as the best the Masque has given this year. This was only to be expected, but may be considered as being rather remarkable, when one considers the success which the Masque has achieved this year.

Beginning with an opening performance at the Bangor State Hospital, the Masque took a trip to Sanford, Gorham, and Biddeford. At all these places, 'The Amazons' was well received, especially at Sanford, where such a good impression was made that at once the request was made that the refusal of the play for next year should be granted, and at Gorham, where standing-room only could be obtained after four o'clock on the afternoon of the performance.

Following this trip, there were two more performances. One was at Gardiner and the other was in the Bijou Theatre at Bangor. This last production especially showed the favor with which the Masque has been looked upon in every part of the State.

It is the Junior Week production, however, which has showed the Masque at its best and was the most successful of all the performances this year. All day yesterday the members of the Masque wore their distinctive black silk bow ties having the Maine Masque emblem worked in red and white on one end and a red star for every year that the possessor has been a member worked on the other. These were especially attractive and aided in giving the production of 'The Amazons' a distinctive part in the events of Junior Week.

The cast was as follows:
Barrington, Viscount Litterly
Howard Lawrence Jenkins, 1917
Galfred, Earl of Tweenways
Frank Stanley Kerr, 1918
Andre, Count de Grival
Harry Richard Lovely, 1916

FIRST HOME GAME WITH BATES TOMORROW

Review of State Teams Shows Bates and Maine Near Tie

POSTPONED GAMES DATES

Maine will meet Bates to-morrow at 4 o'clock on Alumni Field in the first championship game of the season. Bates' defeat by Bowdoin on Tuesday was somewhat of a surprise as sporting writers thruout the state had all picked Bates as the logical winner of the series.

The weather of the past week, which has caused the postponement of the Bowdoin game because of rain and the Colby game because of wet grounds, has also served to make tomorrow's game so much the more interesting. Maine's team is regarded as being stronger in the batting department than it was last year and as Bates' pitchers with the exception of Moore are freshmen untried to any extent, many at the University are looking and hoping for Maine to win by heavy batting.

Maine's battery is still to be decided upon. Should the day be cold and cloudy Frost is likely to start. Should the day be warm, however, it is most certain that Driscoll will start. Baker will probably start as catcher regardless of the pitcher, but Coach Phelan is very likely to play Reardon at some time during the game, as he thinks very much of his ability and is only holding him back because of lack of experience.

A glance at the averages of the four Maine teams in the first five games of their schedules may be interesting.

Bates leads in fielding and is second in hitting, while Bowdoin is last in hitting and third in fielding. Maine and Bates, it will be noticed, are practically tied in the averages and by 'dope' should have an even thrilling contest.

	B. A.	F. A.
Colby.....	252	.862
Bates.....	233	.968
Maine.....	232	.941
Bowdoin.....	171	.882

The postponed game with Colby will probably be played off Saturday, June 5, at Orono, and the Bowdoin game at Brunswick on Friday, May 4.

KING PRIZE ORATIONS

Five Juniors and Seniors To Compete at Commencement

Saturday, June 5, the second King Prize Oratorical contest will take place. Every year the King Prize of twenty-five dollars, donated by Mr. Clarence P. King of Washington, D. C., is awarded to that student, who receives the first rank of excellence in the Commencement Oratorical contest. It is open to juniors and seniors. The speakers this year will be: O. K. Edes, '16; Elizabeth F. Hanly, '15; E. D. Potter, '16; S. C. Clement, '15, and A. G. Packard, '16. Miss Hanly's subject will be "Alfred Noyes the Poet." Potter will speak on "The American Press and the War", and Packard on "Civilization Steps to the Engineer." The other subjects have not yet been announced.

Rice Will Not Compete

That Charlie Rice will not compete in the Spring Meets, is now a settled fact, in spite of reports to the contrary. Coach Smith in a recent interview said:

"Rice will do no more running until next Fall. His break down was of a serious nature and nothing but rest will bring him back. His loss will cost us ten points in the State Meet. This condition is to be regretted as Rice is both a good athlete and a fine boy to work with."

Five New Courses Next Year

Several new courses will be given next year. Among these is a course in descriptive astronomy. It is to be given to seniors and juniors and will be a three hour course. It is to be listed as Ms 15, and Ms 16. Prof. A. J. Jones is planning to give our new courses in Education, the nature of which has not yet been given out.

Asks Competition For Ivy Ode

Seniors who wish to compete for the Ivy Day Ode to be sung when the vine is planted, may give their contributions to any member of the Ivy Day committee.

EDITORIALS

This week is set apart, as one in which the Junior Class is to entertain its friends.

In a larger sense, the whole University is the host. Routine careers are cast aside and our principal concern is the entertainment of the guests of the week.

To you, our guests on this happy occasion, we extend greetings and the heartiest of welcomes within our University Family.
May you enjoy your visit here, as much as we enjoy having you with us.

The "1916 Prism" is a credit to the University, the Junior Class and to the "Prism" Board. The amount of time and labor involved in the production of a book of this sort can not be appreciated by the average student.

These annuals do a vast amount of good which is not ordinarily realized.
They keep the only complete and accurate record of undergraduate activities. For this reason they are invaluable to undergraduate, alumnus and friend of the University.

A letter has been received from J. S.
Crandall, '15, Chairman of the Blanket Tax Committee, which sets forth clearly conditions as they are. The letter follows:

"Data, showing the percentage of students of the various classes that have paid their Blanket Tax, are to be published in the next CAMPUS. These data are computed from payments up to April 26th, but payments since that date would change the results only slightly. It can be seen that a greater per cent of the first year students, of those taking two year courses, have paid, than of any other class. The average of the whole college is about 45%.

What is the trouble? When one considers that 50% of the time, between the date when the tickets were issued and Commencement, has passed and not 50% are paid, something must be wrong.
Whenever there is an athletic contest, there are always plenty of students ready to cheer and yell the team to victory.
There are always plenty of fellows ready to "crab" and tell what should be done in athletics. Noise and talk are cheap.
When it comes down to doing something substantial, something for the betterment of athletics in general, such as the Blanket Tax, it appears that over 50% of the student body "fall down."

Let us hope that figures lie and that when the percentages are next computed, there will be a marked increase over the present low figure. It only means that one be careful of his spending money during the next few weeks.

Why not pay now?"

It seems of little use to comment on the Blanket Tax, in the editorial columns of the CAMPUS, but we had not before realized that conditions were as deplorable.
That some few students could not pay the tax, was well known. That a few others could and would not pay it was also known. That over half the student body have not paid, seems beyond belief.

The only way to remedy this condition is to create a healthy sentiment in favor of paying the tax and paying it promptly.

Make this sentiment strong that those students who can, and have not paid the tax, will be driven to do so from a sense of shame, what they would not do from a sense of duty.

The University is to be honored this month by a visit from the deans of the New England Universities and Colleges.
It is to be hoped that the student body will have an opportunity to hear some of our distinguished guests, in chapel talks.

The University is fortunate in arranging with Hon. Samuel Walker McCall to deliver the Commencement Address. Mr.
McCall's wide experience in public life makes him one highly qualified to speak on such an occasion.

CORRECTION

The Maine Masque will play on the Campus during Commencement.
The date is June 7.

JUNIOR "PROM" TO-NIGHT

A Brilliant Even On the Year's Social Calendar

The Junior "prom" is to be held this evening in Alumni Hall and is expected to be one of the best dances of the year.
Elaborate plans are being made to make this affair a success, by the committee in charge, consisting of Driscoll, chairman, Ames, Macdonald, Loring and Bell.

The dance orders are tasteful. They are bound in white lamb skin with a double stamped Maine seal in the upper right hand corner. The Gym will be decorated with blue and crimson streamers.

MINSTRELS TOMORROW

Charlie Chaplin to Appear and Latest Opera Hits to be Sung

Tomorrow evening will occur the annual minstrel show under the auspices of the Junior Masks and Sophomore Owls. The performance will take place in the gymnasium and seats are now on sale at the college store, also at Nichols' drug store in Orono. The management announces that rush seats will be furnished if necessary.
The price of fifty cents includes reserve seat.

Considerable progress is being made in the rehearsals, which are being held every day under the auspices of Mr. Spear of the Mathematics Department. The six end-men will be Doyle, McCusker, Whittier, Chadbourne, Keating, and Maloney. The new plan of seating will representing a banquet scene. The opening chorus is one of Whitmark's latest and has never been heard around here before.
The closing chorus is composed of selections from the latest musical comedies including: "The Girl from Utah," "A Modern Eve," and "Chin Chin."

One of the features of the evening will be the appearance of Charlie Chaplin, the well-known moving picture comedian, in the person of Joseph McCusker in an act entitled "The Broken-down Ford." This skit will be followed by one entitled, "Chaplin Versus the Clutching Hand." The identity of the Clutching Hand will be disclosed Saturday night. The tenor soloist, Walter J. Dolan, will render a selection, "Bushy Hanson will act as interlocutor and will also render a solo.
There will also be selections from the quartet composed of Dolan, Hanson, Crowell, and Pitman. The ends will sing up-to-the minute songs and local jokes will be sprung.

Annual Meeting of Administrative Officers of New England

The annual meeting of the Association of Administrative Officers of New England will be held at the University of Maine, Thursday and Friday, May 20 and 21. This association was organized at Wesleyan University and comprises the deans or the corresponding officers in the collegiate departments of Harvard, Yale, Brown, Dartmouth, Amherst, Wesleyan, Williams, Boston, Bowdoin, Tufts, and Maine. Business sessions will be held Thursday afternoon and evening and Friday morning after chapel. President and Mrs. Alew will give a dinner to the visiting deans on Friday and there will be a reception in the Library in the evening. Friday morning before chapel will be left open for visiting the grounds and buildings of the University. The Association is a purely informal one and meets for the interchange of ideas relating to problems which arise in college work. Dean J. S. Stevens, is president of the Association.

BAND GIVES CONCERT

Twenty-Five Men Take Trip to Foxcroft Under Auspices Co. F

The Military Cadet band of twenty-five pieces furnished the music for the annual Military Ball given by Company F of the National Guard infantry corps of Dover and Foxcroft last Thursday evening. The first appearance of the university band there brought a large audience for the concert. The special feature of the concert was the lively musical sketch presented by Miss Ruth Brown, '17, and Ernest F. Hanson, '15, who sang and played the latest musical hits accompanied by the college orchestra.

L. P. Evans the publisher of the "Piscataquis Observer," who was recently a guest at the Newspaper Institute, gave the band a creditable review for the concert. He entertained two members of the band, who are on the CAMPUS board.

The following program was played at the concert:
March, "El Capitain," Sousa; Overture "Superba," Prelude, Light Cavalry, Hungarian Comedy, Original Spanish Dance, Dolby; "Serenade," Flute and Cornet solo; "Titi," Sketch by Miss Ruth Brown and Ernest F. Hanson accompanied by orchestra; Serenade, "At Twilight," Miller; Selection, "Oneida," Miller; Idyl, "Aisha," Lindsay; "Rosary," Nevin; March, Univ. of Maine Band, H. T. Crosby.

A Word of Appreciation

In another article of the CAMPUS is an account of the Maine-Colby debate. Colby won, but this by no means tells the story. It is a matter of comment that for several years at Maine there has been a woeful lack of interest in debate and public speaking. It was to stimulate this interest that the intercollegiate debate was arranged and the results have more than met expectations. From six untrained men, three of which were freshmen, only one of the six ever having taken part in a collegiate debate, the task was to produce two finished, polished varsity teams. Maine lost the debate but both the affirmative and negative teams make a most creditable showing. To the men and to Mr. Earle E. Keyes, of the English department who in his capacity as coach gave unstintingly of his time and effort to produce a team up to our high University standard the CAMPUS extends these few words of appreciation.

Law School Notes

For the first time in the history of the University of Maine College of Law, the fall term of that institution will begin in September this year, instead of on the Wednesday after the Supreme court opens for its October term, as has been the custom for years. This and other radical changes have been made in the curriculum and tuition charges of the college which will be of interest to former and prospective students.

The calendar of the college of law, by order of the trustees of the University, is to be absolutely identical with that of all other departments of the university at Orono after July 1, 1915. There will be two semesters instead of three terms, as in the past. Days of commencing recitations, arrearage examinations, vacations, holidays, etc., will all be uniform with those of the colleges on the campus.

The first effect that the change is to bring about will be the starting of college next fall. Arrearage and entrance examinations will be held on Sept. 10 to 14, registration will be on Sept. 15 and 16, and on Sept. 16, first chapel will be held at Alumni hall, Orono. On Sept. 17, college will begin, thus ushering in the College of Law year almost three weeks earlier than usual, and making the year that much longer.

The Thanksgiving recess will be from Nov. 24 to Nov. 29, and Christmas recess from Dec. 22, to early in January. Registration for the spring semester will be on Jan. 29, after a period of final examinations, and on Jan. 31, college work begins. Commencement will start on June 7, 1915.

Another change that hits the pockets of the out of state students is the increase in tuition charges, made necessary by the action of the legislature. The new fees will be as follows: Registration, $10; incidentals, $20; tuition, $100; total $130.

The students living in Maine will pay the same fees as those who attend the University at Orono, which is different from the former charges of the law school. These are the new rates: Registration, $10; incidentals, $20; tuition, $40; total, $70.

The College of Law Library has received from Porter Witters & Harvey, St. Johnsbury, Vt., through the courtesy of Leigh I. Harvey, Esq., class of 1912, a member of the firm, a gift of 139 volumes of law journals, reports and texts. It is the most valuable gift made up to this time by an alumnus of the College of Law.

Governor Curtis has nominated F. Roger Miller, Esq., class of 1914, recorder of the Yorkshir municipal court.

Milton R. Geary, class of 1913, has been admitted to practice in the United States District Court.

Frank Libby, Esq., class of 1914, was a visitor in Bangor, recently.

Maurice S. Gerrish, class of 1914, announces his association with Fred Parker Carr, Esq., in the general practice of the law. This firm has its offices in the Paddock Building, No. 101 Tremont St., Boston, Mass., Rooms 1010-1011.

Under the direction of Capt. Harvey and the management of manager Moody the College of Law baseball team is expecting a good season. Many games have not been played yet owing to the bad weather, but a good schedule has been made up and good results are expected. The schedule is as follows:

Maine Law vs. Highland A. C. May 8.
Games with Bangor High.
Games with U. of M. Varsity.
Maine Law vs. Rockland, May 12.

Maine Law vs. Vinal Haven, May 13.

Maine Law vs. Thomaston, May 14.
at Thomaston.
Maine Law vs. Camden, May 15, at Camden.
Maine Law vs. M. C. I., May 19, at Pittsfield.
Maine Law vs. E. M. C. v. May 22, at Bucksport.
Maine Law vs. Easterns, May 29.

Faculty Changes Announced

Some changes will be made in the faculty next year. An announcement has been made from the University office as follows:

Lowell Jacob Reed, who has been on a leave of absence for the last two years, will return to the University next fall as assistant professor in Mathematics.

Earle C. Jones, instructor in Agronomy, has resigned to accept a similar position at Massachusetts Agricultural College.

Miss Marion Borden of the Home Economics department, has resigned.

It is understood that Henry Robbins Barrows, instructor in Biology, will not return next fall. He contemplates studying for his doctor's degree at a larger institution.

Arthur C. Jewett, professor of Mechanical Engineering, who has been on leave of absence for two years, has resigned.

Prof. Merrill Speaks on Katahdin

"Mt. Katahdin" was the subject on which Professor L. F. Merrill spoke at Chapel, Friday. First he described the general appearance of this mountain, one of the highest in the East, and then he described its details of formation and some of its unique features. The form of the crest resembles the letter E. The height has been estimated as being a little less than a mile. Dr. Fernald once performed the difficult feat of climbing the mountain, carrying a barometer in order to judge the height. The mountain has five peaks, of which the most eastern is the highest. The basins, which resemble the craters of an extinct volcano are a peculiar feature. Within one basin is a lake fed by streams from the mountain.

The flora of the region is most interesting, the Alpine flora being similar to that of Labrador. A creeping variety of bush not found elsewhere grows near the summit. The shrub growth which covers the mountain slopes shows every indication of great age, although the individual trees are very small in diameter. The southeastern slope is bare as the result of an avalanche which in 1816 moved down this side leaving it covered with loose shale.

Katahdin is a "cloud factory." It rains there nearly every day, and even in clear weather clouds hang over it.

In closing his talk, Prof. Merrill described the several routes by which Katahdin may be reached and the "worth whiteness" of making a trip to Maine's largest mountain peak.

Hurnitz Speaks on Menorah Society

Harry Hurnitz, National Secretary of the Intercollegiate Menorah Society, spoke very entertainingly to the student body, Wednesday morning, at chapel. He outlined the work of the Menorah Societies in the colleges of the country saying that the society was organized for the purpose of promoting the ideals of the college. He praised the work of the society at Maine, and urged more men to join the society in the future.

Discusses House of Commons

The Hon. Michael Jordan, a prominent priest of Massachusetts, president of the United Irish League, gave a brief description of the English House of Commons, at Chapel, Tuesday morning. Mr. Jordan explained several of the customs of that body, its attitude toward the King, the latter's rights and privileges, and the general program followed in a session of the House of Commons. He also told a number of interesting details about English Politics.

at the recent Peace Contest. Mr. Merrill was natural in his delivery and very effective in thought and composition.

After intermission, Ansel A. Packard spoke on "Civilization's Debt to the Engineer." He compared the great engineers of today with Columbus and others in their benefits to humanity. "There is only one standard for the engineers," said Mr. Packard, "that is achievement." We are now observing only the dawn of one of the highest and humblest of professions.

Mr. Samuel Rudman concluded with an address on "Capitalism and the War." "This war," he said, "will open the eyes of the people to the injustice that capitalists have done them. They will demand and obtain what they have been denied. Socialism will dominate and war and its horrors be a thing of the past."

The judges were: Mr. William D. Fuller, of Old Town; Mr. George H. Larrabee, of Bangor; and Rev. A. C. White of Orono.

Military Notes

In the general interest of Military Training at the University, Lieut. F. S. Clark has had the magazine "The National Reserve Corps", published by The Society of the National Reserve Corps, placed on the tables in the reading room of the Library.

"Striving for Peace but ready for War" stands out as the maxim, both of the magazine and the organization which it represents. It will be found of great benefit to those connected with or interested in the development of student military organizations.
