New England Organization

At the second meeting of the Aggie Society of the University of Maine, Wednesday evening, it was voted to form an organization of the National Federation of Agriculture Colleges. The reason is that the New England Organization has received official recognition from the land-grant corporations, and thus it was decided to form the local club. A large number of students were present, and they spoke of the advantages of the society. A list of officers was elected, and the organization was formed.

WITH THE MUSICAL CLUBS

The music club held its meeting Wednesday evening. On the programme was the performance of the famous Stein Song. "Bull" Durham, who is a great smoker, will surely go around and see our tobacco ads. He is a great advocate of "Bull" Durham, and he is a great advocate of "Bull" Durham's fragrant, mild, and full-bodied smoke. At fashionable house-parties, gay week-end gatherings, whenever a gentleman assembles for merriment, indulge in "Bull" Durham tobacco ads to their company. It is a delight, up-to-date, notably stylish to "sell your own" cigars with "Bull" Durham. Not a man is without the pleasure of its fragrance—so distinctive, and that delicate, distinctive "Bull" Durham fragrance is always very agreeable to the ladies of the party.

We can assure you of many strong good things about the work of our students. We are confident that they can do the best work under conditions that will bring out the best in them. The students are among the brightest in the University. We must have the same fine support which helped to win last year's game. Every man in the University should be on the side of the Maine football team. We have a just basis of support. Let us not just watch the game, let us support the team. Let us make a special trip to the games of our own college. Our college is the best in the country, and we must support it. Let us support the Maine football team. In the last issue, the editors of the Maine Campus Board have discussed the need for more support from the students. This support is necessary for the continuation of the newspaper. The editors have urged the students to contribute to the newspaper. They have said that the newspaper is the best way to express our feelings and to make the best of the best in the University.
