About 11 A. M. Saturday morning there lined up bunched together on the golf course at Franklin Park, Boston, about 75 collegians, representing 12 colleges throughout the eastern section of the country and as far west as Michigan, who started at the report of the pistol from Starter McGrath on the annual run of the Intercollegiate American Athletic Association. About 12 o'clock, when the officials of the race had finished their figuring, and the last man was in, who was found to be the winner? Was it Cornell who had been given the race before the start was made, by those who claimed to know the least thing about the situation; was it Dartmouth or Technology that outdistanced the field; or was it Johnny Harvard or old Elihu Yale that triumphed over the other colleges and universities present? No! It was a University dear to the hearts of all of us, one from the northern part of the country, one without a quarter of the facilities maintained by the other representatives. In a few words, University of Maine had won the first Eastern Cross-Country run in which she was entered, and had added to her list of victories, probably the greatest record ever established at Orono. Besides winning the race and title, she had forced 11 colleges, many of which had never heard of her, into submission and had made possible a defeat of the picked winner, Cornell, by letting the Ithicans read the numbers on the backs of the flyers from the Pine Tree State. The score of the run was: Maine, 51; Cornell, 54; Princeton, 113; Dartmouth, 115; Pennsylvania, 154; Harvard, 156; Syracuse, 163; M. I. T., 173; Yale, 203; Michigan, 248; Columbia, 300, and Brown, 303.

The fact that Maine won was due to the way her men were bunched and that four of the five to count at the finish were within tenth position. Johnny Overton of Yale was the individual winner of the meet, followed to the finish by Frank Preti in second and Roger Bell in third, while "Ed" Dempsey and "Spin" Wunderlick graced positions eighth and tenth respectively. Hysom came in in 28th position and clinched the position of the Maine team as a winner. It was some tense moments when with all Cornell qualifiers counted in by the officials, Maine having four, and her fifth man due almost any time, that Hysom pulled across the line and put to an end any further anxiety of Maine toward winning the title.

To Coach "Art" Smith a good deal of credit must be handed for developing such a wonderful outfit with the material he had at the beginning of the school year. With four veterans, he has had to find the fifth man to balance the nucleus for a fine hill and dale outfit. What Maine has done this year in cross-country, Coach Smith has promoted. Roger Bell has proved a most efficient captain and by his untiring efforts has brought his team to a high standard. Every man on the team gets his credit, and while individualism has not played a part in Maine victories, the "every man do or die spirit" has prevailed and thus the results have come to U. of M.

For the first three miles the race was a hot one, developing into a personal contest between Overton of Yale, Preti and Bell of Maine, and Potter and Hoffmire of Cornell. Whoever took the lead, Preti was right on his heels, and kept fighting hard for the individual honors of the run. Over the last two miles of the hill and dale scurry the race developed into a clash between Overton, Preti and Bell, Cornell's men dropping back constantly. Not until a quarter of a mile from the finish was Overton able to draw away from Preti, and at the finish the Yale runner was ahead by only a matter of 30 yards. Bell finished slightly behind Preti, while the other runners strung out until Dempsey and Wunderlick had crossed the wire. The last Cornell man was in 15th position, and Maine had another qualifier to finish over the line. Runners from nearly all the other colleges with the exception of Brown and Columbia, had finished before the figure of Hysom, the fifth.

Thursday night, November 4, during the course of the mass meeting at the gymnasium, one of the student speakers mentioned the fact that since his entering the University, never had there been a cleanup year, and that he hoped that with the present conditions existing as they are, that he would be able to see on graduation, University of Maine champions of the State in all branches of sports. The speaker was Roger W. Bell, '16, and he surely has started in with the right spirit and is doing his share. The goal can be reached with hard plugging and Maine has certainly got a fine start for a good big "Cleanup."

Beginning with the football team, under the hard work of a most dismal mid-season, frequented with many injuries, Maine had a team built up by Captain Ruffner and Coach "Tommy" Hughitt that did credit to the institution in winning the State championship, by triumphing over Bates, Bowdoin and Colby. Thus the matter of a title in football was settled.

Coach "Art" Smith and Captain Roger Bell presented a fine cross-country team to represent the University, which in due course has succumbed Bates, Bowdoin and Colby for the State honors; beaten a field of New England colleges and universities for honors of the northeastern section of the country; won from 11 of the most select and largest collegiate learning centers, thus getting the Championship of the East.

Next spring, under Captain Bell, a track team is to be developed, and with the hard work of every man, coach and the backing of the students, should sweep the field, and acquire another championship.

Along in April, "Rabbit" Lawry will call out his baseball men for the 1916 team, and with the veterans in college, and with what promising freshmen are in sight, Maine's chances of taking the battle on the diamond from the other three colleges in the State, look mighty good.

EDWARD AIRS' LECTURE NOV. 26.

Edward Airs will give a lecture on Birdland in the Gymnasium Friday evening, Nov. 26, under the auspices of The Round Table. In addition to the lecture there will be shown lantern slides and the mimicry of the bird song by whistling and violin. Music will be furnished during the evening by a double string quartette, consisting of Miss Weston and Earl Merrill, 1st violins; Miss Vaughn and Corydon Gray, second violins; Mrs. Rideout and Miss Gladys Merrill, cellos, and Mr. Rideout and Joseph Parker, violas.

MAINE IS 1915 FOOTBALL CHAMPION

REVIEW OF SEASON SHOWS THAT TEAM FOUGHT HARD UNDER COACH HUGHITT TO BRING VICTORY TO MAINE

When Coach Hughitt, of Michigan, appeared at the University to take charge of the football team for the past fall, the student body had assumed the attitude of the Missourian who "had to be shown," due to unsuccessful moves in this line of sport during the past year. When the final whistle of the Bowdoin game blew, everyone then saw what the untiring efforts of the coach, captain and players had brought to Maine, a State Championship in Football. It was a most successful year, and every Maine man is proud of the record hung up by Captain "Charlie" Ruffner's eleven.

The team was late in getting into shape due to the non-appearance of several of its best men, and the ineligibility of others. Injuries during the minor games were frequent and at mid-season the team was in the most disreputable shape owing to injuries sustained by Jones, Allen, Purington, Kirke, and other star players.

The first game of the season came Saturday, September 18, on Alumni Field, the team lining up against what proved to be a strong team from Fort (Continued on page 4)

EDITORIALS

THAT NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP.

FOUR STATE CHAMPIONSHIPS, THREE NEW ENGLAND CHAMPIONSHIPS AND NOW A NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP. Never a defeat in the history of Cross-country at Maine. What institution under the sun would not be proud of this record. All glory to Coach Art. Smith, Captain Roger Bell and every man on that team which has brought home the greatest honor which has ever come to the Blue. The work of this team will go down in the history of athletics as a remarkable tribute to what good coaching, hard work, team work, and Maine Spirit can do. It will be an inspiration to all Maine teams of the future and an example which some may equal but none excel.

Is there not some way that we can show our appreciation of the work of these men? Nothing that we could do would begin to be enough, but let every man be thinking of this and perhaps in some slight way we may be able to express our gratitude and appreciation of the signal honor which they have brought us in winning our first National Championship.

THAT COME-BACK.

We are duly grateful to the Colby Echo for having given further publicity to our frank opinion of certain students of the Waterville Institution. Some kind soul who commented upon our editorial after having reprinted it, was good enough to deny that the eternal stealing report came from Colby. For this we are forced to admit that the writer wanted to do the right thing, even though he did it rather ungraciously. The same writer was also good enough to assure us that if Maine men would be good they could pass through Waterville without molestation. This was awfully kind of him.

The editor for want of real arguments resorted to the old "Azzie and farmer" line, made some more unpleasant insinuations and several misstatements, which he could not back up with facts; made a poor attempt at sarcasm, then sprung a bit of the old post-mortem stuff about how Colby had once won three championships, including debating, all in the same year. After having delivered his editorial soul of this burden, he proceeded to say that Colby was sorry for her part and to ask how Maine felt about it.

Of course we are sorry that the whole thing happened. If some Maine men were in the wrong (and it would be a wonder if some out of the thousand were not), we are sorry for that too. We are proud of the work of our football team and know that they earned their championship in a clean manner. No sneaking insinuations can rob them of the glory which they earned.

SURE? LET'S LET BYGONES BE BYGONES.

Who started that thing about "Clean-up Year?" It's a great little slogan and from the way our teams have been going this fall it begins to look more like truth than poetry.

The first Arts and Science Rally was a great success. Anything of this sort which tends to bring students and faculty together should be encouraged. Students and faculty members who are broad-minded will agree that we need more of this "Get together spirit."

It gives us a great deal of pleasure to be able to make this a Championship Number. The CAMPUS wishes that it could better express its appreciation of the work of the men who are really doing things for Maine.

The following letter has been received by the editor of the CAMPUS. It gives us great pleasure to print the same as we agree with Captain Bell in every point which he makes and think that in all justice Mr. Jortberg's name should be on the ballot as a reward of merit.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CAMPUS:

DEAR SIR:—

May I use the columns of your valuable paper to express the general dissatisfaction which I believe exists as to the method of nominating candidates for managers of our teams?

The last meeting of the nominating committee of the A. A. furnished an example of the way this method often works out. C. A. Jortberg was a candidate for nomination for the assistant managership of track. Due to the hit and miss method and the general ignorance of the qualifications of the men on the part of the members of this committee, Mr. Jortberg was not nominated.

I believe that I am expressing the opinion of every man on the track team, when I say that no man worked harder and no man has been more faithful or is better qualified to hold the position than is Jortberg. Such men should at least be nominated.

I heartily recommend that the name of C. A. Jortberg be added to the list of candidates for Assistant Manager of Track and be voted upon at the coming election.

Very sincerely yours,
ROGER WARREN BELL.

Editor of The Campus:

As I have found the students ever ready to accept good suggestions, I venture to make one that will at once recommend itself: Namely, the establishment, in the fraternity houses and in all dormitories, of small libraries of standard literature, magazines and newspapers. I have observed with surprise and regret, the absence of books, other than texts, in these homes of the students. As I recall, there is only one house that has a bookcase in the public receiving rooms. In my own fraternity, Delta Upsilon, the library was the center of our daily life in the chapter house. The room was large, adjacent to the dining halls, and distinct from the reception rooms; it contained three large book cases, a long table for magazines and papers, and many comfortable chairs. We had a custom of long standing that each class should present the chapter with a set of books. These were, in the main, works of standard fiction, biography, poetry, dramas, and history. With interest and method, it does not take long to accumulate the books.

The fact that the university library may contain the books which you wish is not an argument against the library in the home. Few college libraries can afford sufficient duplicate books to supply the demand, especially of fiction. Furthermore, books in the home are a daily incentive to reading. A leisure half-hour cannot always be anticipated, and, if books are at hand, where one may read in comfort, this time is more likely to be spent in reading than otherwise. I well remember sitting up past midnight to finish reading Robert Elsmere when it first appeared. This novel furnished the topic of conversation among my fraternity friends for several days. The library in a fraternity and in a dormitory is likely to give an intellectual tone and atmosphere to the life of those living there.

Is it not worth while to make little sacrifices in order to have this cultural influence in the college homes? Five or six dollars will buy a set of George Eliot. How burdensome would this be if several shared the expense?

The librarian, Mr. Jones, will gladly, I am sure, furnish information regarding the economical purchase of books. Let us hear each week through The Campus a report of libraries started in the several fraternities and dormitories.

Cordially,
Roland P. Gray.

BLANKET AX DATA

Makes Comparison of Men in Fraternities Who Have Paid

The following figures give the student body an idea of how the Blanket Tax is supported.

Of the students living on the campus approximately 79% have paid and 44% of those living off the campus.

The following approximate distribution by per centage of the paid taxes, gives an idea of its support:

Fraternities
Phi Kappa Sigma.....	96%
Phi Eta Kappa.....	88%
Sigma Chi.....	83%
Sigma Mu.....	80%
Theta Chi.....	76%
Beta Theta Pi.....	73%
Sigma Alpha Epsilon.....	71%
Kappa Sigma.....	70%
Lambda Chi Alpha.....	62%
Phi Gamma Delta.....	51%
Delta Tau Delta.....	48%

Sororities
Phi Mu.....	100%
Alpha Omicron Pi.....	81%
Theta Delta.....	79%

Dormitories
Bal. Hall.....	92%
Mt. Vernon.....	86%
North Hall.....	72%
H. H. H.....	68%
Oak Hall.....	64%
Off Campus Students.....	44%
Campus Students.....	79%
Alpha Tau Omega.....	80%

It is planned to have, as far as possible, a similar accurate table published of comparison percentages of the various college groups, clubs, dormitories, etc., after the fall election.

The Blanket Tax entitles the student to membership and gives him the privilege of voting at this election.

Some one "pulled an awful bone" in calling that cross-country team home in the middle of last week. However the team came through in spite of this handicap and the incident is almost forgotten. Probably nothing of the sort will occur again right away.

"Bill" Gorham should make an ideal football captain. The 1916 team is fortunate in having such a leader. The team this year showed the value of a real leader as captain.

PHI KAPPA PHI MEETS

Prof. Gray Entertains Members at His Home

A social and literary meeting of Phi Kappa Phi was held at the home of Professor Gray, of the English department, Thursday evening, Nov. 18th. About thirty were present. The main purpose of the meeting was to get acquainted with the members recently elected from the Senior class.

The first part of the evening was spent in a contest, the object of which was to see who could recognize pictures of men and women prominent in the various professions and walks of life. After this came an informal address by Miss Hilda E. Vaughan, of the department of English, on the Evangeline Country. This address was illustrated by lantern slides.

Partners were chosen by matching parts of quotations from Evangeline.

CHANGE POST OFFICE

University Moves it to Cloak Room Near Dean Hart's Office

The college post office has been changed from its old quarters beside the Treasurer's office to room next Dean Hart's office, formerly used for a cloak room. The change was made to give more room in the Treasurer's office.

The business has been so narrowed since the student mail is not handled in the office that the large room was not required, so it was decided to move the office to a place more convenient to the executive office, since only official letters go through the office.

GORHAM ELECTED FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

Chosen to Lead 1916 Team at Banquet Given by Dr. Ale

PLAYS VARSITY BASEBALL

William Joseph Gorham, '17, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., was unanimously elected captain of the 1916 football team, on last Thursday evening. The election followed a most enjoyable banquet given the members of the team by Mrs. Robert J. Ale. The choice of Gorham as leader of the team for next fall is a popular one not only with the members of the team but with the general student body.

Gorham has played with the varsity for three years. No man in the class of 1917 made a letter in his first year. Gorham made his last year and has played regularly ever since. He has always been a strong aggressive player and no man on the squad has worked harder than the captain-elect. He has many qualities which should make him an ideal leader.

He also played on the varsity baseball team last year where he held an outfielder's position. Gorham's activities have not been confined to athletics. He was on his class banquet committee his first year, and among the other class and college honors which he has held are the following: Floor director Sophomore Hop, manager class basketball (2), Class Executive Committee (3), secretary Athletic Association, (3), Prism Board (3), and M Club.

Gorham is a member of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity, Sophomore Owls, and Junior Masks. He prepared for college at Bloomsburg State Normal School at Bloomsburg, Pa. He is registered in the College of Arts and Sciences and is a major student in Economics.

CHANG WRITES STORY

Article in 'Blue Book' Tells of Life in old China

"From Smiles to Tears" is the suggestive title of the first of the series of articles written for the "Blue Book" illustrating Chinese life and customs under the old regime. The author is Hung Sungyn Chang, and the story is an interesting little sketch of the lower schools in the old Chinese Empire.

"Times are different now," says Chang and his companion, Pu Sungyn Fung. "The higher schools, especially the one we attended, are very much like the schools here in America. But the only changes are not in the schools. In all branches of the government, in politics, and in the home circles there have been changes."

This article on the school life is to be followed by others on other subjects of interest, and promises to be one of the features in the season's literary work. Among other writers expected to be heard from this winter are: Lincoln Colcord, best known to Maine men as the author of the "Stein Song"; Elizabeth Hanley, past year editor of the "Blue Book," and many other writers well known among both graduates and students. The fall issue is to be published the last of this month.

Home Economics Demonstrations.

The State Breeders, Dairymen and Seed Improvers Association will meet at Lewiston, Maine, from December 6 to 10. Misses Platts and Freeman will give demonstrations on the following subjects: Doughs and Batters, Potatoes, Use of Leftovers, Milk, Eggs, and Cheese, and Salads.

Maire Gurdy and Catherine Platts will give an exhibit from the Girls' Canning Club. Miss Gurdy is the State leader of the Girls' Club. Miss Platts is the Extension representative.

Mid-semester ranks were ready Friday morning for Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores in the College of Arts and Sciences and the College of Agriculture. Other ranks were ready Saturday morning.

NO COACH YET

1916 Baseball Coach Will Be Elected soon

While several men are being talked over as the possible baseball coach for next season, nothing definite has been decided yet by the Athletic Board, which controls the hiring of the coaches.

Many good men have been mentioned, among them being Monte Cross, the former Philadelphia Athletics star, and now doing scout duty for Connie Mack, together with Ben Houser, a former big leaguer, who coached the baseball outfit at Colby last year.

It is understood that the coach will be selected in a short time, and the students can rest assured that there will be a good man to take the place of director of the team and field marshal, together with Captain Lawry.

TO HAVE NO RECESS

Dr. Ale Gives Reasons for Allowing Only One Day

The reasons for the abolition of the usual Thanksgiving recess, as given by President Ale in chapel a short while ago and at a recent interview, are two-fold. The first reason is because a four or five days' recess at Thanksgiving with another recess at Christmas, so soon after, makes it impossible, with so many breaks in the college work, to complete the required amount of work. The second reason is because practically all of the large colleges and universities have abolished a Thanksgiving recess and there is a general tendency among those that have not yet done so to follow suit.

President Ale expresses the opinion that the students of the University will see the wisdom in the action and will eventually like the arrangement better, especially as the Christmas holiday has been somewhat lengthened.

STARTS CAMPAIGN

100 Students Join M. C. A. as Result of First Canvass

Don't be afraid to take your stand as regards your attitude toward Christ, was the theme on which Dr. Livingston of Bangor talked at the M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon. Although most college men are Christians at heart, they fear to have the past known. These students were compared to the secret disciple who came to the Lord by night.

College men who have expressed their belief in Christianity while in college have always been the stronger for it. For they have been given an opportunity for extra preparation. As an example Dr. Livingston held up young Rockefeller. While a student at college he was an active worker in the Y. M. C. A.

The meeting was in charge of C. E. Crossland as chairman. Prayers were offered by Roger Gowell, Dr. Livingston and Mr. Cranston.

ALPHA ZETA INITIATES NEW MEN

Alpha Zeta, the honorary agricultural fraternity, held its annual initiation in Winslow Hall, November 16. Besides the active members and the initiates, several members of the faculty were present, including Prof. Corbett, Prof. Smith, Mr. Thomas, Mr. Richardson and Mr. Wilbur. After the initiation, refreshments were served, speeches were heard from old members and new, and a general good time was enjoyed.

The electrical engineering and mechanical engineering departments at New Hampshire State College have jointly purchased a moving picture machine to be used in connection with the engineering courses and also by the engineering society.

A long established custom at Dartmouth is the burning of the tackling dummy at the end of the last football practice. The student body is allowed on the field and the college songs are sung and cheers given for the team.

FOOTBALL REVIEW

McKinley, and getting away with a victory, by 7-0, only after four periods of hard fight and scrappy playing. The weakness of the line on the offense was shown in this game.

The next Saturday, the team and coaches took the trip to New Haven, where they met the strong Eli team from Yale, which was strong then, and suffered defeat by the overwhelming score of 37-0. The next game was with the Big Green team from the Dartmouth institution at Hanover, N. H., and another big defeat was handed on to them, who after holding the Dartmouth team to one touchdown in the first half, saw a 34-0 defeat staring them in the face at the close of the game.

Returning home for a four game series, Maine met the University of Vermont in the first game, October 9, and although matched up against a scrappy eleven won by a score of 14-0. In this game, Jones made his debut as fullback and although not in the best condition, made known the fact that he together with Daley at quarter would figure strongly in the State series with their open play and later passes. Boston College presented somewhat of a dirty game on Alumni Field the following Saturday and took defeat from a better team which showed a slight improvement over the game with Vermont. The score was 14-0.

Practice was made secret the following week and the men were drilled until darkness set in by Coach Hughitt and Murray in order to put up a fighting game against Bates. Bates started in the game Oct. 23 in a fierce manner scoring a touchdown at the beginning of the period. That one score proved just the right incentive for the Maine team and produced a fight that brought victory to the winners of the light blue and white, 29-14.

Colby attacked Captain Ruffner's fortress the next week, a bid in the best and most widely interested game of the season, Colby was sent home with a smothering defeat, 31-3. She did not have a chance once during the battle to forge ahead of the Maine team. The way Coach Hughitt's eleven played was a marvel to the spectators of both sides, and the neutrals as well who considered Colby a three to one shot over Maine.

Bowdoin proved the final hurdle in the race to the State championship goal, and although she was finally cleared, this same obstruction put up a wonderful fight and forced Maine to take a 23-13 victory to get the title. Thus the State honors were annexed to the long record of Maine victories. The West Point trip was made the following Saturday and although they put up a good game the team couldn't win in the face of such opposition as the soldier boys presented.

Joy just hangs on every puff

How a pipe of "Tux" does bubble over with good cheer and sunny comfort! There's something about the mellow taste of "Tux" that stirs a smoker's soul. It gets into his inside works, sweetens his disposition, and gives him that perky, cheery feeling, like a high-stepper trotting down the avenue.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Men who never smoked a pipe before are now smoking Tuxedo, because they have found that Tuxedo is the mildest tobacco made, and that it is the one tobacco that never irritates mouth, throat or nerves.

You simply cannot get another tobacco made by the "Tuxedo Process"—and that's the original of all processes for removing every trace of harshness and bite from the tobacco. It has been widely imitated, but never duplicated.

Try Tuxedo for a week, and you'll get acquainted with the sweetest, mildest, mellowest smoke in the world.
