Prof. Daggett Reads Romeo and Juliet

Shakespeare Tercentennial Exercises Held In Chapel

Tragedy, in order to have its real strength appreciated, depends to a great extent upon its interpretation. To many students the mere reading of a Shakespearean tragedy fails to appeal as it should. They cannot feel the intensity of the meaning that lies in and between the lines, nor sense the feeling that the author tries to convey to his readers.

The dramatic reading of William Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet," by Professor Windsor P. Daggett of the Department of English, which was given in the chapel on Saturday evening in honor of the Tercentennial of Shakespeare's death, plainly showed that the study of the famous author and his works has left little to be appreciated by Professor Daggett. His fine ability as a dramatic reader coupled with his wide knowledge of the writer make possible an excellent rendering of tragic roles. In the reading, Professor Daggett took the part of each of the characters of "Romeo and Juliet" with remarkable realism, suiting his tone and manner to each with care and grace.

In the first scene of Act 2, which is the famous balcony scene, Professor Daggett well brought out the confessions of love of Juliet and her suitor. His changes from Romeo to Juliet were cleverly handled. The soliloquy of Juliet before taking the sleeping potion in her chamber which takes place in the second scene of Act 3, was equally good, while the last scene representing the Tomb in which Romeo poisons himself, believing that Juliet is dead and then the awakening of the latter and her suicide by means of a dagger, was vividly pictured by the reader. Other scenes which stood out prominently were Scene 4 of Act 2, in which Tybalt, the enemy of Romeo, kills Mercutio, a friend of the latter and is himself killed by Romeo; Scene 1 of Act 3, in which Romeo is hiding after the duel, and is comforted by Friar Laurence; Scene 2 of the same act, portraying the farewell of Romeo to Juliet, as he seeks to escape from the law in answer for his crime. All these, as well as scenes of minor importance, were read with fine interpretation.

Mrs. Newman sang Shakespeare songs at intermission.

The synopsis of scenes is as follows:

ACT 1.
Scene 1. Verona. A Street..... Sunday Morning
Scene 2. A Room in Capulet's House..... Sunday Evening
Scene 3. Street Adjoining Capulet's House..... Sunday Evening
Scene 4. Hall in Capulet's House..... Sunday Evening
ACT 2.
Scene 1. Capulet Garden..... Sunday Night
Scene 2. Friar Laurence's Cell..... Monday at Dawn
Scene 3. Capulet's Garden..... Monday Morning
Scene 4. A Public Square..... Monday Afternoon
ACT 3.
Scene 1. Friar Laurence's Cell..... Monday Evening
Scene 2. Juliet's Chamber..... Tuesday at Dawn
ACT 4.
Scene 1. Friar Laurence's Cell..... Tuesday Morning
Scene 2. Juliet's Chamber..... Tuesday Night
ACT 5.
Scene 1. Mantua. A Street..... Wednesday Evening
Scene 2. Verona. A Churchyard; Tomb of the Capulets..... Wednesday Midnight
The persons represented in the reading were:
Paris, a young nobleman, kinsman to the Prince of Verona.
Capulet, father of Juliet, enemy to the house of Montague.
Romeo, son of Montague.
Mercutio, kinsman to the Prince, and friend of Romeo.
Benvolio, nephew to Montague, and friend to Romeo.
Tybalt, a nephew to Lady Capulet.
Friar Laurence, a Franciscan.
Balthasar, servant to Romeo.
Peter, servant to Capulet.

Debate at Colby Won by Maine

Unusually Large Audience Hears Instructive Argument

The Maine-Colby debate held at Waterville Thursday night was won by the Maine team which upheld the Monroe Doctrine as a part of the foreign policy of the United States. Every seat in the chapel was occupied and the enthusiasm shown by the Colby men was striking. The college quartette furnished music for the debate and were heard with pleasure by the large audience.

Professor Clarence H. White was chairman of the contest and very immitably announced the decision of the judges to the audience. The judges were: Mayor Blaine S. Viles, Augusta; LeRoy L. Hight, Esq., Augusta; William H. Fisher, Esq., Augusta. Carl C. Jones and Prof. Allan D. McKillop were the time-keepers.

The main speeches were 12 minutes in length and the rebuttal speeches were five minutes. The men on the Maine team were: Harry E. Rollins, '16, Albert Wunderlich, '18, and John M. O'Connell, '18. The Colby team which argued for the abandonment of the doctrine was composed of Norman W. Lindsay, '16, Fred A. Pottle, '17, and Carroll B. Flanders.

In its story on the debate the Waterville Morning Sentinel had the following: "Those who listened to the debate last night in the Colby chapel made one of the largest audiences ever present at such an event and the interesting debate well deserved their attention. The question was one of intense interest, all the more practical because of so much talk nowadays of diplomacy and preparedness and the comprehensive, convincing way in which the arguments were presented made the debate very instructive."

Early Bathing In Stillwater

6 Freshmen Furnish Amusement on Tuesday

The warm sun and inviting appearance of the Stillwater attracted several of the students to the river bank on Tuesday morning. It seemed rather early for swimming, but evidently about six Freshmen disregarded time, for during the day at least six went in from a point opposite the Beta house. The novelty of the situation attracted large crowds, and their curiosity to see all that was taking place led three lower classmen too near the scene of festivities for their own good. Perhaps, though, it was because of the fact that misery loves company that these three went down to offer themselves as fellow participants, to the poor fellow who had been sentenced to a ducking.

In the afternoon, the Sophomores felt their sense of duty prodding them on to further activity, and sufficient evidence was discovered to condemn two more of the 1919 men to an unexpected bath. The offenses charged to these latter Freshmen must have been many and great, for besides being immersed in the Stillwater they were treated to free hair-cuts by one of the quite efficient Sophomore barbers. Altogether the day was an exciting one for all classes, especially for the Freshmen, who acted as though they were puzzled as to who the next swimmer would be.

MATHEMATICS CLUB MEETS.

The Mathematics Club met Wednesday evening in Aubert Hall to listen to Mr. James A. Hamlin, principal of Old Town High school. Mr. Hamlin gave a very interesting and instructive talk on his methods and work in teaching high school mathematics. He brought out those points which he has determined that high school students should master in their preparation for college. He also mentioned the many which he compels his students to make, practical applications of mathematics in order to give them a better understanding of the subject and to incite their interest in the work. One of the most interesting illustrations which he cited was the application of algebraic equations in multiplying and dividing numbers in arithmetic. About fifteen members of the club were there to hear Mr. Hamlin, whose talk was of special value to the seniors who will teach next year.

Negative Debaters Get Decision

Good Work by Both Teams Shown in Maine Contest

Maine and Colby divided honors in the debates held Thursday evening at the respective colleges. At Maine, the question, "Resolved—That the United States should abandon the Monroe doctrine as a part of its foreign policy," was argued in the affirmative by John H. Magee, '17; Earle L. Emery, '17, and Lee E. Vrooman, '18. The negative was supported ably by Norman D. Lattin, Herbert L. Newman and H. Raymond Rogers. The Colby debaters were awarded a unanimous decision by the judges.

The affirmative based its arguments on the fact that conditions had so changed since 1823 and the framing of the doctrine that it was no longer necessary, in fact, it was unwieldy as a part of our foreign policy. The fear that prompted the United States to guard against the once strong Holy Alliance in Europe is an inherited fear. At the time the Monroe doctrine was written, there probably was ample justification for it. At present, however, the South American Republics look at it as a bit of "Yankee imperialism," and are inclined to distrust it.

The negative built up a formidable opposition against announcing to the world that the Monroe doctrine no longer exists. The time for such a consideration is not yet, and is at present inopportune, with conditions in the world as they are. The abandonment of the Monroe doctrine would be an invitation to the European nations to take possession of Central and South American states in order that they might further their own ends and obtain a strong foothold in the Western Hemisphere. The period during which we have aided and are to aid the weaker South American states is not yet over, some of the most constructive work is to come, and without the Monroe doctrine we could do nothing.

Both sides presented their cases with firmness and completeness. The subject is interesting because of its timeliness and because it is being discussed in earnest by high officials here and in South America.

A good sized gathering of students filled the Junior and Senior sections of the chapel and gave interested attention to the speakers. Dean Harte presided and at the close of the debate congratulated the speakers on the fine showing made, and on the interest in intercollegiate debating that seemed to be coming back in earnest. During intermission several piano solos were given by Blanchard, '16.

The judges were: Rev. Paul S. Whalen, Augusta; Mr. Arthur L. Thayer, Bangor, and Mr. S. R. Oldham, principal of M. C. L., at Pittsfield.

Sigma Chi Sure of First Place

Bowling Tournament Will Be Over in Short Time

With only one more match left to bowl, the Sigma Chi team is in a safe lead. The Lambda Chi team has completed its schedule and is now in second place. Only very few of the fraternity teams have a single match left to be bowled, so it is a safe guess to say that the Sigma Chis have won the cup.

The present standing is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Sigma Chi.....	30	10	.750
Lambda Chi Alpha.....	32	12	.727
Phi Gamma Delta.....	26	14	.650
Delta Tau Delta.....	24	16	.600
Theta Chi.....	18	18	.500
Kappa Sigma.....	18	18	.500
Phi Kappa Sigma.....	20	24	.454
Phi Eta Kappa.....	18	22	.450
Sigma Nu.....	10	22	.312
Alpha Tau Omega.....	13	27	.325
Oak Hall.....	10	22	.312
Beta Theta Pi.....	9	23	.281

Joyce holds the high average at 93, Niles the high single string at 119, Joyce the high individual total at 308, Phi Eta Kappas the high team string at 487, the Delta Tau Deltas the high team total at 1371.

The first seven high averages are as follows: Joyce, 93; Brown, 90; Bartlett, 89; Kaulfuss, 88; Colbath, 88; Travers, 88, and DeWitt, 88.

Lelio and Isabella Played in Bangor

Audience at Bijou Pleased With Novel Production

The University of Maine Masque, for its tenth annual production, has made a radical departure. It has long had a fondness for the classics; this year, in Lelio and Isabella, it has attempted—and with no inconsiderable success—to reconstitute the Italian commedia dell'arte of the seventeenth century.

Lelio and Isabella was written by Prof. Windsor P. Daggett of the University of Maine and Dr. Winifred Smith of Vassar—acknowledged authorities in this form of drama. The whole thing is unique and original—a play within a play, and both of the days when stage settings were elemental and dialogue was improvised—all in strange contrast to the rose-and-gold modern theatre in which it was last night presented.

The prologue opens in a corridor of the Bourgogne Theatre, Paris, in the year 1604, just prior to the closing performance of the Italian comedians, 1 Gelosi—the Sothern-Marlow combination of its day. They have heard of Romeo and Juliet, then just written by one William Shakespeare over in England, and they decided to present it as their closing bill—improvising the dialogue but following the plot. Even this they do none too closely, for they think it better to turn tragedy into romantic comedy by the simple expedient of letting the unhappy lovers live. And the next three acts show this novel version of the world's greatest love story.

This ingenious entertainment, which has already brought Prof. Daggett and Dr. Smith recognition in the Boston papers, was presented with considerable spontaneity and spirit. One naturally does not look for subtleties of light and shade in the acting of college boys, however earnest and interested they may be. The most plausible impersonation was by Sumner C. Cobb, '17, who as Isabella, otherwise Juliet skilfully conveyed the impression of high-strung femininity. The costuming was very rich and attractive, and marked care had evidently been exercised to make it accurate.

A fair-sized audience gave evidence that it enjoyed this whimsical and novel play. The program contained the following acknowledgements:

The costumes worn in Lelio and Isabella were made in Bangor by Mr. Edward I. Morris and Brothers.

The costume plates were designed and the materials assembled by Mr. Harvey J. Swann, M. A., New York City.

The hats were made by members of the Y. W. C. A. of the University of Maine.

Wigs are from Lovering's Hair Store, Bangor.

The special scenery is from the studio of the D. L. Story Scenic Company, Boston.

The viola d' amore played by Mr. Harmon is kindly loaned to the Masque by Mr. Alfred Gietzen of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

The house of C. W. Thompson and Company, Boston, has aided materially in the selection of ancient music.

Mr. Adelbert W. Sprague and Miss Mary Chase Weston, of Bangor, have given valuable aid to the Masque Trio.

The photographs of the play are the work of Doctor O. B. Humphrey, Bangor.

Work on the new house, which was delayed on account of the sickness of the contractor, has been resumed and will progress rapidly this spring.

Alfred C. Sturgis, '19, has pledged to the Sigma Nu.

Maine to Meet Colby on Saturday

First Competition of Season Will Give Line on Strength

A great deal of interest centers around the Colby-Maine dual meet to be held on Alumni Field on Saturday, April 29. A great many things happen in practice. With the State meet only two weeks away, the men should be showing up something like real form and strength. The meet on Saturday will probably show some men in action in other events than they have formerly worked in. Coach Smith says that a few changes can be made that will strengthen the team.

The men have been working on the field for two weeks, and each afternoon there is plenty going on to interest the small groups of spectators. Early in the afternoon the baseball men appear and start batting practice. As more men get out the team takes to the diamond and begins fielding practice. The ball teams work until 5 o'clock. At about 4 o'clock the track men begin to appear and for an hour there is plenty "doing." The track has been put into good shape by the drag and roller, and some new edgeboards will be put in place soon.

Coach Smith has found it necessary to have the dash men, and broad jumpers out in the morning, as he can work more effectively. French, Row, Pierce, Lowry, Rice and Ziegler have been out several mornings during the past two weeks.

Maine Second 21 Bangor High 2

Both Teams Use Many Men in One Sided Contest

The second team had little trouble in swamping Bangor High under a 21-2 score at Maplewood Park last Saturday. A good many substitutes were tried out by both teams, especially after the fifth inning when Maine put the game on ice by a vicious attack on Pitcher Freeman's offerings. After that the game became slow and uninteresting except for the heavy bombardment of the second team's batting stars. The score:

EDITORIALS

A College Union would be one of the finest things the University of Maine could have. It would do more for the improvement of student life than any other single thing. We believe that such a building is coming some time in the future but it may be some time before we get it. In the meantime there are needs which such a building would fulfil that can hardly wait for the building. We need some temporary arrangements for several activities. One of the most important of these needs is a trophy room.

Is it not possible to get some sort of room for this purpose? We realize that the buildings are crowded and that it is hard to get rooms, except when absolutely necessary. Yet we look upon a trophy room of some sort as pretty near a necessity. We have been winning games and championships for years. Some of the trophies of these victories have been lost. Those which we have are seldom seen. Is it not time that these things are collected and put on exhibition where they may serve as an inspiration to future teams and where they may be pointed to with pride by every Maine man who is showing his friends about our campus?

Last fall we went into Portland after the Bowdoin game. We had a celebration that will long be remembered by the people of Portland as well as by those of our student body who were present. We have yet to talk with the man who was there who is sorry that he went. The celebration was a huge success from every point of view.

We are going down to Brunswick again soon. There is an even chance, to say the least, that we may have another victory to celebrate. If we win the State Meet we want to put on a celebration worthy of the name. The people of Portland want us to come there again. They promise to do even more for us than they did on the occasion of our first visit. The special train must be engaged this week if we are to go. If sufficient interest is shown during the next few days arrangements will be made for the trip. If you want the trip as much as we do, get out and boost for it.

Edwin F. Ladd, '84, who has been for some years dean of the North Dakota Agricultural College, has recently been elected president of that institution.

Frank L. Small, '88, is located at Mogollon, New Mexico. How near this is to the hostilities we do not know, but if Villa or any of his ilk should get hit by one of Small's "speeders" such as he threw as varsity pitcher, death would be the victim's portion. Mr. Small is a contracting engineer.

W. R. Pattangall, attorney general of Maine, is also one of the prominent Democrats of the State and is always in the forefront of all the party political battles. He is to be the general manager of the coming campaign. He is a shrewd and brilliant politician.

Everett G. Ham came from the U. of M. Monday and left Wednesday for New York City, where he has accepted a position as chemist with the American Can Co. He has completed his course at Maine, but will return to college in June to graduate with his class.—Piscataquis Observer.

Francis S. Brick, '88, is superintendent of schools in Maynard, Mass., a profession he took up soon after graduating and in which he is a success. For some years he attended commencement with much regularity but of late years he has not done so. The campus gate is wide open.

Rev. J. W. Hatch, '88, principal of the Montpelier Seminary (Vt.), has been in attendance at the East Maine Conference held in Camden recently. Rev. Mr. Hatch is a well known Methodist preacher in this vicinity, at one time being located at Bangor. He has also served as district superintendent.

Fred L. Eastman, '88, is connected with the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., where he is electrical assistant to the inspector of machinery. He has been a frequent visitor to his alma mater later years after many years of lapse of memory in that regard. We think that he regretted this lapse so much that his visits will be more frequent in the future; any way we have his word to that effect.

The last meeting of the Penobscot Valley Alumni was such a success that many wonder why we do not have them at least twice a year. The next thing to it will be the weekly lunches at some place in Bangor as suggested at that meeting. The executive board expects to get busy very soon and do something about it. They are a success everywhere else and they ought to be in Bangor. We hope every one will give them a try out when started.

Harold V. Cobb, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., who is to be coach of the high school baseball nine this spring, gave an interesting and forceful talk on Athletics to the high school boys Friday afternoon, in the assembly room. Mr. Cobb was one of the Maine college stars, and has also played with the Trolley League and knows baseball from A to Z. He gave a very practical talk, impressing upon the boys the necessity of following directions of keeping wide awake and of quick thinking. He also explained more or less about modern inside baseball, illustrating various plays and the best methods of accomplishing them. He was heard with close interest.

The first ball game of the year to be played on Alumni Field comes on Wednesday when Maine plays the Law School. The varsity had troubles of its own with the second team, while Driscoll pitching for the second team, held his team-mates to one lone score.

The Freshman and Sophomore debating teams meet tomorrow night to fight for the cup offered to the winner of interclass debate by the Sophomore Owls. The question is, Resolved, that it would be advisable to establish compulsory military training at all colleges and universities. The judges are Prof. J. M. Mathews, Judge Dunn and Rev. J. R. Lyman of Orono, and Prof. Chase will preside. The Freshmen have the affirmative and are represented by F. I. Altman, N. W. Emery and J. E. Goodwin. The Sophomore team is R. H. Lovejoy, R. C. Moore and D. W. Norton.

Phi Epsilon Pi, the youngest of the fraternities here is to have what is now North Hall for its fraternity house next year. This will add one more chapter to the history of this noted building. It was one of the first buildings on the campus and was occupied by the late President Fernald and his family and recitations were held in it the first year. It was later occupied by Beta Theta Pi the first fraternity here and still later by Theta Epsilon which during the last two years of its occupancy became Sigma Nu. Last year the building was refurnished and made ready for a girls' dormitory and has been used as such this year. Valentine Hall, the new girls' dormitory now nearing completion will house practically all the women students and so the building

Ready!—"Roll Your Own!"

A fresh, lively "roll your own" cigarette of "Bull" Durham is as quickening and inspiring as the roll of drums or the "get busy" notes of a bugle call. "Bull" Durham is the smoke of the red-blooded—the bright and breezy smoke that goes with youthful enthusiasm and energy.

GENUINE
"BULL" DURHAM
SMOKING TOBACCO

No other tobacco in the world has the unique, mellow-sweet mildness or the delightful aromatic fragrance of "Bull" Durham. Made of rich, ripe Virginia-North Carolina leaf, "Bull" Durham has that distinctive, exclusive quality which has made it the favorite smoke of three generations.

Only by "rolling your own" with "Bull" Durham can you get a cigarette with the individuality and personality that give such perfect, lasting satisfaction.

ALUMNI SMOKER.

On Saturday evening the Phi Gams held their annual alumni smoker. There were fifteen of the "boys" present. There were cigarettes and cigars for all, not to mention peanuts, ice cream and fancy crackers, and ginger ale. They made themselves merry with cards and songs and talked over the old days.

Those present at this event were as follows: C. C. Garland, Raymond Fellows, George H. Hamlin, James M. Barrett, James N. Hart, Guy Thompson, Charles W. Mullen, William R. Ballon, Hosea Buck, A. H. Brown, A. C. Lyon, J. E. Kaulfuss, G. W. Smiley, M. Doak and R. S. Muller.

That the college registrar has become an officer of major importance because of his close touch with students and because his records furnish data for solving educational problems was the declaration of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, in his opening address before the seventh annual convention of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars at Columbia on April 18-20. Dr. Butler pointed out that the registrar now has functions performed in earlier days by the president of the institution, and that historically and actually this work has value and dignity.

The three days' program of the Association included addresses by Clyde Furst, Secretary of the Carnegie Foundation for Teaching, Professors Mann and Reed experts of the Foundation, L. A. Kalbach of the United States Bureau of Education, and A. S. Bard of the Inter-Fraternity Council. Secretary Furst discussed entrance certificate blanks and the plans of the Foundation to recommend a standard certificate form for colleges.

At the convention there were 70 representatives from many of the leading colleges and universities of the East, South and Middle West.

Officers for 1916-17 were elected as follows: President, Frank A. Dickey of Columbia University; First Vice-President, Arthur W. Tarbell of Carnegie Institute of Technology; Second Vice-President, W. D. Hiestand of the University of Wisconsin; Secretary and Treasurer, Ezra L. Gillis of the University of Kentucky. President Dickey appointed Raymond Walters of Lehigh University as Chairman of the Publicity Committee.

The University of Maine was represented at the convention by J. A. Gannett.

Attractive posters have been put out announcing the cabaret show which comes Friday night.

Aggie Notes

Inebriety in a chicken coop forms the basis of an experiment now being carried on by the Maine Experiment Station. In several of the breeding pens the head of the family is caged every morning and for one hour imbibes freely of alcohol. He comes away from the bar a little wobbly on his legs, but otherwise as independent as a freshman after the frog pond scrap. Some of these birds have been confirmed toppers for more than two years. Although obesity has not yet set its mark upon them, the red upon their noses is unmistakable. The experiments have not been carried far enough for conclusive results, as yet, but the eggs incubated from these pens so far this spring have shown a very low percentage of fertility and the chicks hatched are weaklings.

Cabaret to Offer Fine Entertainment

Sale of Tables Assures Track Club of Crowd

The Track Club Cabaret this coming Friday night promises to be one of the best ever held here. The cabaret idea is now three years old here at Maine and during these three years the talent for the performances has been developed by Mrs. Ella J. Mason.

The cabarets of past years have all been entertainments with specialties and musical acts that would compare well with vaudeville bills offered in many cities in the country. Mrs. Mason feels very much pleased with the way the talent for the coming cabaret is shaping up. While she will not say that the show will be better than those in past years she does say that there will be several acts entirely new which are exceptionally good and that the customary numbers are as good as any that have been seen before. The performers have been working hard for the last month and in several of the acts new ideas and original features have been perfected to the last degree.

The names of several of the performers are to be kept secret thus adding to the novelty of the acts. The program has seven acts and will last a bit over an hour. The performance will start at eight and will be followed by dancing. The program is as follows:

1. A Costume Dance.....Pierette and Pierot
2. An Original Sketch—With Topical Songs.....
3. Readings.....Miss Chaney
4. Flower Dance and Posing.....
5. Solos.....Miss Clark
6. Double Quartet.....
7. Banjo and Mandolin Clubs

The talent is not all from the University and according to Mrs. Mason will make a distinct hit. The topical songs in the original sketch are full of bright knocks and boosts on the faculty and students. Miss Chaney's readings are all new and those who have heard Miss Chaney with the Girls' Musical Clubs will still get much enjoyment from these readings for that reason.

The Track Club has a feature idea in exhibiting the cups, and trophies won by the teams of the past few years. The exhibit will have a conspicuous place in one corner and will contain the Maine, New England and National Cross-Country cups, the New England trophies and pictures of the track teams of the last four or five seasons.

The tables for the evening are said to be all sold out and a large sale of gallery seats is expected.

Two households, both alike in dignity,
In fair Verona, where we lay our scene,
From ancient grudge break to new mutiny,
Where civil blood makes civil hands unclean.

A pair of star-cross'd lovers take their life,
Whose misadventur'd piteous overthrows
Doth with their death bury their parents' strife.

E. H. Morse, who has been in charge of the stock room of Aubert Hall for a number of years, has taken a position as assistant in a research laboratory at Jersey City, N. J.

David A. Stone of the Orono mills gave an interesting talk on working methods in pulp mills before the pulp and paper smoker last Tuesday evening. He discussed the work from the methods of coal handling down to the final product of the mills. Mr. Stone has a large fund of practical knowledge at his command. Owing to poor train connections the other speaker, Mr. Hungerford, was unable to be present.

W. F. Stanley '18, is ill with the grip. He expects to be sufficiently improved by Friday to be able to take part in the dual meet.

Ancient Farming.

Herodotus, in the year 450 B. C., said that good cultivation yielded two-hundredfold in the Valley of the Euphrates. Ever in that land of Eden, poor cultivation yielded but fiftyfold.

In 1898, the average Wheat yield per acre in New York State was 21.2 bushels; in 1907, 17.3 bushels per acre; in 1912, but 16 bushels. This does not speak very highly for our Fertilizers.

Average American yield per acre of Agricultural Produce is at present about Eleven Dollars. European yields are more than double.

Isn't it time for our farmers to get down to business methods? Home Mixed Fertilizers will help.

There is a difference between fruit growing and forestry yet most of the directions for fruit growing are directions for producing rapid wood growth only. This means coming into bearing late and irregular bearing on account of lack of enough available mineral plant food to raise a crop of fruit and to set strong fruit buds in the same season.

POTASH

Two years before the trees are expected to come into bearing the annual application of minerals should begin, using 50 to 100 pounds Muriate of Potash and 100 to 200 pounds of bone, acid phosphate or basic slag per acre. Potash improves the flavor, shipping quality and keeping power as well as the yield of fruits. Write us for free books with formulas and directions.

Maine Defeats

Easterns 6-0

Errors and Loose Playing
Mean Runs for Maine

Maine easily defeated the Easterns on their grounds at South Brewer, Saturday, by a 6 to 0 score. Driscoll had the opposing batters well in hand at all times while his team-mates were taking advantage of the hits and the errors of the Easterns. Both of the Eastern's pitchers did work good enough to have made the score less than it was, but their team-mates did not play together and made several errors of omission as well as of commission.

A comedy of errors and hits by Reardon and Phillips gave Maine three runs in the second and two more were added in the fourth when Lawry was walked and Hackett and Rowe made a couple of clean drives. The last score was added in the seventh. This inning was featured by one of the funniest plays in baseball. Reardon was on third and Driscoll on second when Phillips hit a slow roller to first. Reardon scored while Cronin was chasing Phillips along the base line. Driscoll had rounded third and hoped to score in the mixup. He was put out at the plate, however, and Phillips taking advantage of the interruption of the chase finally reached first.

Maine had to labor well into darkness to defeat Colby in the Patriots' Day game. After holding Colby to one score for six innings and with a three to one lead behind him Stewart weakened and the score was tied. Frost went in and it was one to three from then on up to the twelfth when Captain Lawry started a batting rally that put the game on ice, four runs counting before the inning ended.

Stewart worked well except in the seventh. The first score was the result of an error and two men had gone out on strikes after an error by Pendleton had allowed Deasy to reach first when he went into the air in the seventh. The score:

Attractive Program For Junior Week

Junior Week will begin Wednesday, May 3, with the Junior orations which will be given in the gymnasium on that evening. Thursday night the Maine Masque will present the comedy entitled, "Lelio and Isabella." Friday there is to be Junior chapel conducted by Sumner C. Cobb, '17; Royal G. Higgins, Jr., '17, as president of the class, will make the address of welcome and President Robert J. Aley will address the Juniors. Friday afternoon there is to be open house at the fraternity houses, and Friday evening the Junior Promenade. Saturday morning there is to be a review and competitive drill of the University battalion, Saturday afternoon there is to be a baseball game on the Alumni field between Bates College and the U. of M. and in the evening a minstrel show. Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be vesper services in the chapel.

Information Club at End Till Fall

The Information Club was founded last mid-year by Dean Stevens. The idea of the club is to make the students better informed on a broad field of general subjects. Attendance is voluntary, but it has been unusually good, showing the popularity of the movement. The club is divided into four sections, each of which have had four meetings to date.

Some of the lectures have been on such subjects as "Heredity and Environment," "New Theatres," "Races and Languages of Eastern Europe," "The European War and Education," "Current Magazines," "The European Situation," "Prospects of Peace," and "Recent Thought on the Intellectual Interests of College Students."

Following are some of the members of the faculty who have put their time into this work: Professor Chrysler, Professor Daggett, Professor Chase, Professor Richardson, Professor R. K. Jones, Professor Segall, Professor Col- of these victories have been lost. Those which we have are seldom seen. Is it not time that these things are collected and put on exhibition where vin and Professor C. A. Thompson.

The University of Maine double quartet sang at the Wednesday morning chapel exercises.
