Junior Prom a Delightful Affair

Decorations Make Brilliant Setting for Pretty Guests

The big event of Junior Week, in the minds of everybody who participated, was no doubt the Junior Prom. Those who had seen the Proms of other years were unanimous in their opinion that this year's was by far the best.

For eleven years this event has been held in connection with Junior Week and rivals the Commencement Ball in its importance.

The gymnasium was decorated with green and white, the class colors, a solid roof of green being festooned from the center to the edges of the gallery, panelled with narrow white stripes. This effect was carried out on the walls. Green and white lights strung around the sides and three large clusters hanging in the apex of the roof threw a subdued light on the floor, giving a very beautiful effect.

Each fraternity house had a section under the gallery and vied with each other to make them as attractive as possible. The result was that any of the sections furnished a background for the pretty girls that would attract any masculine, be he young or old, lame, halt or blind. And pretty girls, why, one old grad. that just peeked in crept softly down the stairs and pinched himself and wondered where the old days had gone. Those girls sure were the pick of this section of the country.

The music was furnished by Mr. Pullen and eight of his musicians and was of the best as Mr. Pullen's music always is.

The order consisted of twenty-four dances and an extra. The music was the pick of the modern dance music played perfectly.

The orders were a work of art. They were of leather, the ladies' a card case and the gentlemen's a dress suit cigarette case. The pages were fastened in with a green and white cord. Each page had a quotation printed at the bottom—some great poet's thought in regard to dancing. In all the orders were very worth while keeping as a thing of beauty as well as a souvenir of a wonderful night.

Refreshments were served in the chapel at intermission, consisting of ice cream, cake and coffee. Even here the green and white color scheme was carried out, the ice cream being green and white.

The reception was held at eight o'clock before the dance. The president of the class, Mr. Royal Grant Higgins, and Dean and Mrs. James Stacy Stevens were in the receiving line.

At two the Prom was over and everybody left with the memory of a most enjoyable evening and a picture of the old gym transformed into fairyland, that will remain even when they may see it again without the decorations.

Much credit is due the committee in charge of the affair for their good work in making this year's Prom the biggest and best ever.

BAND CONCERT.

Sunday afternoon, at 3.30, the Military Band of the University gave a concert in front of the library. Although the weather indications were somewhat threatening, a large number of the students together with their friends and relatives, took advantage of the opportunity to hear a good band concert. Every selection played was fully up to the high standard of our band, and was well appreciated by all who heard it.

The girls stopping at the S. A. E. house during Junior Week included the Misses Mildred Wescott of Rumford, Dorrice Higgins of Brewer, Honorine Cyr of Old Town, Margaret Wood of Bar Harbor, Marguerite Wadlin of Biddeford, Adelaide Dennison of Bath, Ella Hall of Brewer, Mabel Roy and Gertrude Hiller of Boston, Evelyn Bowdoin of Kennebunk, Mildred Jenkins of Methuen, Azuba Stackpole of Portland and Vera Mersereau of West Somerville.

Latin Comedy To Be Presented

Play Enacted by Students Directed By Prof. Chase

On Friday night the Latin department will present the old Latin comedy, Phormio, in the gymnasium. This play of Terence's was translated by the Latin department and will be interpreted by the major students in Latin. The cast has been drilling for some time with Prof. G. W. Chase of the department in charge. Latey Prof. Daggett has assisted in the drilling. The parts are all for men with two exceptions and the scarcity of men majoring in the subject has made it necessary for the young ladies to take the part of men. The costumes will be in keeping with the time of the play. The cast is as follows: Davos.....Dorothy Thompson '16 Denipo, an old gentleman of Athens.....W. T. Mayers '19 Geta, slave of Denipo.....Olive Poore '17 Chremes, brother to Denipo.....C. H. Corning '19 Antipo, son of Denipo.....Helen Stinchfield '18 Phaedria, son of Chremes.....Dorothy Folsom '18 Phormio.....Elizabeth Murray '17 Dorio, a slave owner.....A. Segal '19 Hegio, Cratmus, Crito, friends of Denipo.....Brooks '16, Grant '16, Whalen '13 Nauestrata, wife of Chremes.....Muriel DeBeck '16

Schedule For Inter-Frat Games Out

Contest for Cup Should Furnish Good Games

The interfraternity baseball schedule has been announced and the series will start May 9, with the Betas playing S. H. E. and Sigma Nu playing Theta Chi. Much interest has already been shown and all the teams have been busy on their various lawns.

The Theta Chi and Phi Eta Kappa teams should be the strongest contestants as they each have a second string pitcher at their disposal who will probably be able to keep their opponents guessing. The whole fight for the cup will not, however, hinge around these two teams as every house on the campus has a good team and with the breaks any one of them might be able to accomplish the unexpected. The schedule is as follows:

Tuesday, May 9—(1)—Sigma Nu vs. Theta Chi.
Tuesday, May 23—1 & 2.
Tuesday, May 9—(2)—Beta vs. S. A. E.
Wednesday, May 31—1 or 2 vs. 3 or 4.
Thursday, May 11—(3)—Delta Tau vs. Kappa Sig.
Friday, May 26—3 & 4.
Thursday, May 11—(4)—Phi Eta vs. Phi Gam.
Friday, June 2—1, 2, 3, or 4 vs. 5, 6, 7, or 8—Cup.
Tuesday, May 16—(5)—Lambda C vs. Phi Kap.
Friday, May 26—5 & 6.
Tuesday, May 16—(6)—Sigma Chi vs. Alpha.
Wednesday, May 31—5 or 6 vs. 7 or 8.
Friday, May 19—(7)—Phi Eps vs. Oak Hall.
Tuesday, May 23—7 & 8.
Friday, May 19—(8)—Hannibal vs. Orono.

LEWISTON TRIP.

Fourteen men made the trip to Lewiston to play Bates in the fourth championship game of the State series. They were the following: Captain O. C. Lawry, Coach Monte Cross, J. T. Reardon, M. C. Driscoll, C. W. Stewart, R. C. Hackett, E. G. Frost, H. S. Rowe, R. A. Pendleton, W. J. Gorham, S. G. Phillips, C. W. Ruffner, R. C. Wentworth, W. E. Nash, manager.

Theta Chi won the first game in the inter-fraternity series on Tuesday night against Sigma Nu by a score of 7-4. Five innings were played, as will be the case in each of the games.

The Theta Chi rooters marched to the field led by "Joe" McCusker and a band. The batteries were: For Theta Chi, Hale and Smith; for Sigma Nu, Waugh and Emery. Barrows, '16, umpired.

Bates Takes Close Game: Score 2-1

Junior Week Crowd Sees Maine Team Defeated

NEW DIAMOND USED

Bates won the first home championship game from Maine here Saturday, 2 to 1. The game was much a pitchers' battle between Frost of Maine and Purvere of Bates.

The game was played on the new diamond before one of the largest crowds ever attending a baseball game here. There were nearly as many automobiles parked outside the gate as at a football game and with the many guests of Junior Week the grandstand, the bleachers along the third base line and those running well into right field were filled to overflowing.

While Bates played errorless ball and backed Purvere in big league style, the backing given Frost was exceedingly poor. Both allowed but three hits and had the support been even the two teams might have battled until night with the score one and one.

The features of the game were the running catch of Lawry's short foul back of third by Bates' left fielder, Marston, and the breaking up of an attempted double steal by the Maine infielders in the fourth. Duncan of Bates had started for second and was caught between the bags by Reardon's perfect throw. Handling the ball in perfect style Pendleton, Lawry and Hackett held him up and then watching their time easily got Lord when he attempted to score from third.

Bates went out in order in the first inning. Purvere looked erratic during Maine's half and things looked good for Maine when Lawry and Hackett walked after Phillips had fanned. On an attempted double steal, Lawry overdid third and was out. Rowe fanned, ending the inning.

Frost had to pitch hard in the second. Lord walked and went to second when Frost and Hackett fooled Duncan's pop bunt. Marston sacrificed and the bases were full. Marston got reckless while Frost was having his troubles with Talbot and was caught standing up off second by Reardon's pretty peg to Pendleton. Talbot struck out finally and Harvey ended the inning by flying out to Ruffner.

Both sides went out in order in the third. Lawry and Hackett got MacDonald, the first man up in the fourth. Pendleton lost Lord's grounder and he went to third on Duncan's scratch hit between Frost and Pendleton. He was caught later in an attempted double steal and Marston ended the inning by flying out to Phillips. Maine scored her only run in her half. Hackett hit by third and Rowe hit a slow roller to short and both men were safe. Hackett scored on Ruffner's sacrifice to right and Gorham ended the inning by grounding out to first.

It was one, two, three in the fifth. Frost was now going better and it looked like a Maine victory. After Logan had flied out to Phillips however, MacDonald walked. Things looked better when Lord flied out to Rowe but a two bagger by Duncan over Ruffner's head allowed MacDonald to score with the tying run. On the relay in, Lawry threw Duncan out at third but not until after the run had counted.

For the next two innings both sides went out in order. Bates won the game in the eighth when, after Lawry and Hackett had disposed of Purvere, Umpire Conway called Davis safe on his grounder to Pendleton. The decision was booed and groaned by the spectators from all parts of the field and Captain Lawry registered a kick. Davis stole second and scored when Reardon's throw got away from Pendleton. Maine went out in order in her half as did Bates in the first of the ninth. In the last half Lawry flied to Logan and Hackett walked for the third time. Rowe sacrificed him to second and the crowd yelled for a hit. The best Gorham could do was a hard hit grounder to MacDonald and the game was over.

Minstrel Show "Scores" On A "Hit"

New Idea in Staging Carried Out Works Well

The third annual minstrel show, given by the Junior Mask Society, during Junior week, was one of the most successful of the events of the week. A number of soloists selected from local talent, supported by a strong and well-balanced chorus, under the leadership of "Joe" Mac, were able to present such a show as is a treat to hear.

The stage setting, designed and painted by J. A. Whittemore, represented a levee scene on the Mississippi river. The good ship "Mandilee" is seen docked in the background, and on the wharf are piled up boxes, trunks, and other articles of freight that have just been put ashore.

As is the custom when a ship docks, the negroes of the neighborhood are gathered on the wharf to see the excitement, and to hear the news. The freight is all ashore, and the negroes have gathered around to sing songs, and to talk over the latest gossip. It is at this point that the curtain is drawn, and the scene is presented to the audience. The programme for the evening follows:

PART I.
Opening Chorus.....Whitmark

When You're Down in Louisville...
Jack Green, '18.

All who were in any way connected with the affair are to be congratulated, for the show was one of the most successful entertainments that has been presented here on the campus this season. Especial credit is due the Junior Mask Society under whose auspices the show was presented, to their committee, W. E. Nash, H. L. Jenkins, H. B. Hiller, P. E. Chadbourne and F. O. Stephens, and also to Joseph A. McCusker who directed and staged the entertainment.

Fine Performance of Track Team

Fast Times Shown in Exhibition Meet

Partly due to unusual weather conditions Saturday the inter-class meet at the University of Maine resulted in three new records. The track itself was in perfect condition, being unusually fast for the time of year. The day was warm and there wasn't a breath of wind to check the runners.

In the sprints Rice succeeded in breaking both his former records in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. The first heat was won by Rice in 10 seconds. The second heat was won by Otis Lawry with a 2½ handicap in the same time. In the final heat Lawry with his handicap pushed Rice hard, consequently Rice made the fast time of 9.4-5 seconds. Rice broke the tape in the 220 yard dash in 21.3-5 seconds, a winner by ten yards.

French ran an exhibition heat in the 120 yard hurdles. His time was 16 seconds flat. As he knocked over three hurdles, there was no record made. In the quarter mile McBride won against handicap in 54 seconds.

As there were no other contestants in the shot put Allen was allowed six puts. In every put but one Allen succeeded in breaking his old record of 43 feet 8 inches. His best put was an

Coach Warns Against Over Confidence

Past Track Victories Not to Determine Result of State Meet

MAINE SPIRIT NEEDED

Among the Maine supporters it seems to be the firm opinion that we will win the State meet again Saturday in just such a hollow fashion as we have done during the past few years. I consider this a very foolish way to look at this matter, for if one will take into consideration all of the facts pertaining to the relative strength of both Bowdoin and Maine they will be forced to admit that Bowdoin's chances of winning this meet are exceedingly bright and not without foundation. I attribute this feeling of over-confidence to the fact that during the past five years which has been the period of our athletic birth, just about 9-10ths of the glory and prestige that has come to Maine in any and all branches of sport has had for its origin our Track and Cross Country teams. It has become common for us to win and in truth it is becoming common for our supporters to expect us to win. In anything pertaining to track athletics we are always considered to be a top heavy favorite, while in the other branches of sport everybody seems to lack confidence in the outcome.

This is all right just so long as it does not become too serious. When we begin to think we cannot get beat it's time to close up shop. They all get beat sometimes and nothing hastens this result more than silly over-confidence and a lack of serious respect for one's opponents. Among the fellows on the team I don't believe there is any such feeling and as far as I go I would not dare tell of the many bad leaks in my own team for fear of discouraging the boys! The ones who are going to try and win you another championship realize that we have a big fight on our hands and will be trying all the time, and I hope that the support given our team will not be of the weak, childish sort that it was four years ago when we lost the Track Meet on the same field where we will compete Saturday. It's easy to cheer us on when we have a 10 to 20 point lead as has been the case for the past two years, but to give the same encouragement when we are behind and most need it, requires a man of a better caliber. Bear this point in mind and no matter what happens, "Don't be quitters!"

Wonderlich, a sure point winner, is out of all meets for the present year. This is certain. French, who strained one of the hamstrings in his legs last Saturday, seems to be at this writing responding to my treatment in a satisfactory way and should he not feel inclined to baby himself Saturday, should be at his best. He has never yet performed as well over the hurdles in competition as he does in practice and I am hoping that Saturday may be an exception to the rule!

I don't intend to go, event for event, through the programme and tell you about our chances, for if I do, as I said before, it will cause discouragement. On this point I will say honestly that if we, meaning the team in general, perform at Brunswick as we have been doing in practice it's a case of good night Mr. State Meet. Some athletes, and by this I mean boxers, ball players and those engaged in all branches of sport are wonders on the field at practice, but are only shells off their real selves when they enter actual competition. Some people can sing well alone in a parlor but before a big audience and during a supreme test they flunk out. On the other hand some athletes are only ordinary in practice, but when it comes down to a real fight—good hard competition—the good that is in them comes out and the man within crawls out of his shell to successfully win the honors! I call this latter brand, "Competitors." I pay little attention to a man's practice work, or his newspaper clippings. It's what he can do under fire that counts. It's the old nerve and clear brains that win! I am hoping to have another team of competitors, but I must do a lot of converting in the next few hours to win over to the right side some of our athletes who are of the

EDITORIALS

THE STATE MEET.

This week finds the four Maine colleges on tip-toe, so to speak, over the approaching State Track and Field Meet, on Whittier Field, Brunswick, next Saturday. This week will come the final touches in the way of training, the final words by the coaches to their men, the final rehearsals of songs and cheers by the supporters of the four teams at mass meetings. And all toward the same goal—Victory.

Here at Maine there is a tendency all too evident, to rest on past victories, to leave the settling of our athletic contests to the few who are directly concerned in the actual competition. If the result is a victory, as has been the case in the majority of instances during the past few years, it is with a great deal of pride, pride that easily takes form in boastfulness, that we tell the folks at home or our friends, of "our wonderful athletic strength."

We do not wish to criticize that spirit of loyalty, or that readiness with which we praise our college and its activities. It is good as it is, let it continue. But may we not better assume a continuation of our source of praise by getting under athletics in a little more substantial way than that which is afforded by noisy demonstrations?

Next Saturday the Maine Track Team will strive for first honors in a State Meet. We venture the assertion that nine out of every ten who will read this article are of the firm opinion that there can be but one result—a Maine victory. There are others who are not so sure, those who take the trouble to figure a little on the problems presented, and we would give emphasis to the statements which come from these men. We believe with them that Maine has a fight ahead, a series of contests that will draw the last ounce of strength from those men who enter them, a fight that will need and call for the spirit of every Maine man if it is to be won. If each of us who has the real interests of Maine at heart will go about with this in mind, and will try to appreciate the need of earnest consideration before over-confidence becomes evident, there will be a bigger, better Maine spirit at Brunswick next Saturday.

CHANGING HANDS.

With this issue of the CAMPUS come changes, made necessary not because of incompetency or unwillingness to serve on the part of the retiring board, nor because of greater competency or willingness on the part of the incoming men. Each year new names appear at the top of this column, old ones vanish, and with these changes come no appreciable exterior changes. Elsewhere in this issue will appear a notice concerning a slight change in the actual make up of the board. This change is made for several reasons, each with the hope that the CAMPUS may better serve the student body. Time will show the wisdom or lack of it in this change.

Each year such a change in names is recorded, each year a hope is expressed that the CAMPUS may improve under new editorial and business management. And each year some improvement manifests itself. Such has been the case during the administration of the passing board of editors. When the handicaps, the trials, the real difficulties which present themselves with nearly every issue are considered, there may well be wonder that a CAMPUS appears at all.

It is the earnest wish of the new board that it be known to each reader of the CAMPUS that under the retiring board more progress was made than ever before in the history of the paper. We, who now take up the burdens of launching a weekly paper on the stormy sea of student opinion, do so assured by the fact that better men have done their work well, and that our way is made easier through their effort. That we may go further, that the coming year may mark another milestone in advance, there must be co-operation, a spirit of "boosting," loyalty, and—WORK—on the part of all.

Masque Makes Debut On Campus

Guests of Junior-Week Enjoy Italian Comedy

PARTS WELL TAKEN

With a costly and elaborate display of costumes, a realistic atmosphere of the Italian comedians of the seventeenth century and with an artistic stage setting the Maine Masque made its debut before the visitors and students at the Junior Week performance, May 4, in Alumni Hall. The dramatic work of Professor W. P. Daggett for the tenth anniversary of the Maine Dramatic Club has been extensively advertised and as the climax of the three trips with the most successful season in its history the students and friends of the Masque were fully pleased. The performance went with great smoothness without a player losing a line. The work of the entire company of grease paint artists deserves praise for the finished and comic presentation of "Lelio and Isabella."

The University orchestra of eighteen pieces under the direction of Winn Mayers, '16, played a concert program before the performance that showed the marked improvement of the organization since the beginning of the year.

The audience was partial to the female impersonators with Sumner C. Cobb, '17, as the leading lady, "Isabella," and Fred L. Damren, '16, as "Franceschina." This is Cobb's third year as leading lady, and Damren's last year as he graduates in June. In the part of Isabella, Cobb shows great dramatic ability in the scenes involving the poisoning. The artistic pantomime acting of Damren with Harmon was appreciated by the audience as shown by their laughter.

The character parts played by Small, '18, Norcross, '19, and Braun, '17, were in keeping of the burlesque element of the comedy interpretation of Romeo and Juliet. The smooth flow of Latin phrases and the excited stuttering of "Cy" Small as the Dottore, the boastful strutting and impersonation of the brave soldier, Captain Spavento by Braun, and the crafty, scheming father of Isabella played by Norcross kept the audience in continuous laughter. Their complicated situation where these three suitors to the hand of Flameinia receive the notes to meet her "at the tomb at midnight" was well played.

The two comedians with their acrobatic stunts, pantomime, and comical attitudes wove their vaudeville capers through the melodramatic situations of the unhappy lovers served to keep the play from becoming a near tragedy. This is Lovely's last part in the Masque as he graduates this June, but the friends of the dramatic club had an opportunity to see him in a very difficult character to put across the glimmers, and in the part of Pedrolino, the servant to Lelio, he showed his versatility in the varied characters during his career in the Masque. His teammate, Harmon, plays the part of the second comedian and works the comic situations through the play. This is Harmon's first year in the Masque, the same with most of the 1916 personnel.

Fine Appearance of 1917 Prism

Many Features Used to Good Advantage

The 1917 Prism, the annual book published by the Junior class, was issued last week and has made a big hit with the student body and others.

This number is dedicated to Professor Charles Partridge Weston, C. E., M. A., and is featured by contributions from three old "grads" on student life at Maine in the past, including a humorous article by Professor Weston entitled "Reel Recollections of War Times."

Other features and innovations are a single review of the past year instead of separate reviews for each class; a memorial page for the late Merritt Caldwell Fernald, Ph.D., LL.D., first president of the University of Maine; five full page colored drawings illustrating the pages devoted to classes, fraternities, clubs, athletics, and grinds. The grind section is unusually good this year with more than the usual number of photographs.

The cover is very plain, dark green in color and on the upper left hand corner of the front cover is printed, "The Prism, 1917," in gold letters. Each page throughout the book is decorated with a very light green design showing the library, the University of Maine seal, a pine tree, a pine cone, with the words, "Prism, 1917," at the top.

"Student Life at Maine as Seen by Three Old Grads," contains "Some Recollections of the Early Days of the Maine State College," by E. J. Haskell, '72; "College Life in the Eighties," by Ralph K. Jones, '86, and "Reel Recollections of War Times," by Professor C. P. Weston, '96. These articles are both historical and humorous and are illustrated with photographs of the old halls, old scenes on the campus, the chapel, and the students in their old blue and white military uniforms.

To
Charles Partridge Weston, C. E., M. A.,
The Professor, Whose Wisdom and Ability We Respect,
The Gentleman, Whose Character and Broad-Mindedness We Honor,
The members of the Class of 1917 Appreciatively Dedicate
This Volume of The Prism.

and he has a chance to show his worth as a comedian. The pantomime was the best part of the character, Arlecchino, and was comic as well as artistic.

The remainder of the company gave the characters and comedians the support that is needed for a smooth and polished production. The coaching of the company by Professor Daggett shows the careful attention to details where situations do not begin before there is another to take its place. All the horse play and comedy is worked out so that there is not a moment of dull space in the production. The players picked up the cues with the quickness of the professional actor, and their stage presence was a credit to the best amateurs on the boards. Taking the whole production with due consideration to the tenth anniversary production, "Lello and Isabella" was the best Junior Week production that the Maine players have given.

Campus Board Holds Annual Election

Several Changes Made in Staff Arrangement

F. Owen Stephens of Auburn was chosen editor-in-chief of THE CAMPUS at the annual meeting of the Campus board last week. The board was also reorganized and several Freshmen selected.

Instead of the customary two managing editors, six associates were chosen, the plan being to divide among six men the work that heretofore has been done by two. The six are Frank C. Ferguson of New York City, James H. Gray of Lubec, John H. Magee of Bangor, John P. Ramsay of Portland, John M. O'Connell of Bangor and Artemas H. Harmon of Portland. Linwood T. Pitman was elected alumni editor and Weston B. Haskell sporting editor.

The constitution of the Campus board was revised and several improvements made in the system of getting out the weekly paper.

The following reporters were also chosen: Miss J. M. Sturtevant, '17; R. D. Chellis, '19; P. T. Collins, '19; W. C. Hoagland, '19; F. A. Barbour, '19, and R. B. Kennett.

Maine-Colby Tie In Eight Innings

Rain Prevents Teams From Finishing Games

Maine tied with Colby at Waterville, Wednesday, in the first championship game, 5 to 5. The game was delayed by the Colby players to save defeat, the game being called in the eighth.

Stewart started in the box for Maine but was wild and in the fifth Driscoll went in after he had walked W. Driscoll. He was not properly warmed up and Deasey caught one of his benders for a home run. After that he held Colby at his mercy and they took advantage of the threatening rain delaying the play until the game was called.

CAMPUS NOTES.

The Freshmen of Oak Hall gave a smoker Saturday night in the recreation room. Festivities began by passing around the pipes and tobacco, followed by cigarettes, apples, peanuts and punch. All the fraternities sent delegates, so that in all there were about forty present.

A meeting of the Alpha Chi Sigma will be held Tuesday evening.

A meeting of the Electrical Club will be held Wednesday evening, May 10. The meeting place has not been decided on. Some unusual features will be put on.

Law School Beaten By Maine Secoud

Six Innings Played in Rather Loose Fashion

The second team won Wednesday from the Law School in a rather weird game. The score was 7 to 3 when the game was called in the sixth, with one man out, on account of rain.

The box score does not show just what the playing was like. Both teams threw the ball around when they shouldn't have and held it when they should have made a play. There were several good plays and several situations that were humorous to say the least. Shorty Hale was in the box for the Law School and although he managed to walk one man each inning his delivery mystified the second team until the sixth when he went into the air. Four hits in succession combined with an error then made Umpire Ramsey call the game through sympathy. The score:

Visitors Welcomed at Junior Chapel

Whole Program is a Credit to 1917 Class

With the "little big man," Royal Grant Higgins, president of the class of 1917 presiding, the Junior Chapel services were a credit to the class as well as to the University. Never could a Junior Chapel service be more impressive or enjoyable to the undergraduates or to the friends of the University.

The University orchestra opened the services with a pleasing overture. This was followed by the Invocation, and responsive reading by Sumner Chase Cobb, chaplain of the class. Next came the Salutatory address by Royal G. Higgins, Jr. He welcomed the visitors in a very fitting manner. One could not help feeling at home, so natural was Mr. Higgins' hospitality. He told of the first Junior Week program ever held at Maine and how each class since 1905 has striven to make its exercises better. Mr. Higgins remarked

Fertilizer Quality

When you buy fertilizer remember you are buying what is in the goods and not merely a weight of two thousand pounds.

When a smelter buys gold ore he buys not merely two thousand pounds but he insists on knowing how much gold is in the ore, and you should know the amount of active nitrogen, which is the gold of the fertilizer.

IT PAYS

TO ADVERTISE

There is a difference between fruit growing and forestry yet most of the directions for fruit growing are directions for producing rapid wood growth only. This means coming into bearing late and irregular bearing on account of lack of enough available mineral plant food to raise a crop of fruit and to set strong fruit buds in the same season.

POTASH

Two years before the trees are expected to come into bearing the annual application of minerals should begin, using 50 to 100 pounds Muriate of Potash and 100 to 200 pounds of bone, acid phosphate or basic slag per acre.

Potash improves the flavor, shipping quality and keeping power as well as the yield of fruits.

that, "It is in the spirit that there is great joy in giving, that the Junior class welcomes all its friends here this week."

Everard E. Blanchard, '17, played some very difficult piano solos following Mr. Higgins' address. Those who have heard Mr. Blanchard only can appreciate the skill with which he masters his difficult selections.

Robert Judson Aley, the president of the University, then delivered an address to the Juniors which was one of the best he has ever spoken to a Junior class. Dr. Aley said:

"Members of the Junior Class and Friends:—

"It is a pleasure to help in such an entertainment, especially when those who are giving it are those whom one has watched through the teething days of Freshmen, the childish deeds and the mumps of the Sophomore year, etc., and we now expect almost perfection in the Junior class. We trace the blame for non-perfection from the Juniors to the Sophomores to the Freshmen to the teachers, to the prep. school to the grammar school to the primary to the kindergarten teacher to the mother.

"We expect a great deal from the Junior class. The preservation of the best in the institution, the building up of the spirit that we dream of and feel ought to be, is in the hands of the class. I venture to hope that the Junior class and all other Junior classes may not be so conservative that they believe that a thing is good because it is. We are prone to be too easily satisfied.

"The only progress the world has ever made, it has made because it has broken with the things as they are, by striking out on new lines; it has had initiative. This rests on the Junior class more than upon any other class in the University. I just wish to leave with you the hope that you live up to this principle. If you do this you will serve your Alma Mater well; you will serve your state the way you should, and you will emerge with that which should be citizenship that is international."

The services were concluded with the singing of the University hymn, prayer by Chaplain Cobb and the Maine Stein Song.

Many guests of Junior Week and friends of the class were present and the chapel was filled to capacity.
