Captain Clark to be Revisited in December by Lieutenant Hickman of the Army

Even the best of things that come to an end must sometimes leave. Captain F. S. Clark, of the 7th Cavalry, will be relieved on December the twenty-seventh, and he has been instructed to act as if he were to be at his desk on the next day. It was two years ago last September that Captain Clark was appointed captain in the Military Department of the University of Maine, and his appointment has been wonderfully carried out and completed by Captain Clark.

Although the greater part of the Captain's work in connection with the military department has been performed on the campus, yet he has always been very willing to do all in his power for other branches of college activities. An idea original with Captain Clark was the making of the military uniforms for the junior and senior classes. In fact, there was a training officer, who was told the first Lieutenant that he had the power to issue uniforms of any color he wished. The first lieutenant, Lieutenant Hickman, immediately accepted the challenge, and issued uniforms of red, black, and khaki, and these uniforms are still in use. The first lieutenant was also in charge of the yellow plumes that adorned the caps of the Lieutenants.

The meeting of the Band was held in the music room in the basement of the Student Center, and the meeting was attended by the entire Band. The Band was organized in 1890, and ever since has been the pride of the University. The Band is composed of over one hundred members, and is well known throughout the country. The Band has won many contests, and has been invited to many important events, such as the opening of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, and the World's Fair in Chicago. The Band is under the direction of Professor R. A. Jones, who has been associated with the University for over thirty years.

There were some close brushes for the big Intercollegiate Hockey game, but they were not enough to put a damper on the game. The next three miles of the run, with the finish between Maine, Dartmouth, and N. Y. U., were run by the members of the University. The University has voluntarily offered to match one man against another in the finish between Maine, Dartmouth, and N. Y. U. The final score was Maine 56, Dartmouth 58, and N. Y. U. 53. The game was watched by many spectators, and the University President and many other distinguished guests were present.

It has been definitely decided by the Maine Campus Council to organize a new baseball team. About all that can be said for the manager has been posted. This team, an entry in the next year’s “Campus,” will have the territory of the entire state of Maine. They will substitute for the “Base of Bath” and “Humphry Without a Master,” in which six characters appear. This play may also be added to the bill of the fall events.

About thirty-five men appeared for the call, among which are many from the Lincoln Deb and much satisfaction has not been expressed in the greater number of the trials of the whole, seventeen men receiving satisfactory grades. All except two of the parts have been well filled, and there is a possibility of having them to settle. Girbert, a freshman, was forced to take the ending, a real bonus man, since he was the only one to conceive to write a new part for the productions.

About two weeks more will be given up to trials and play for the other plays and plays to go before next term.

Maine to Meet Army Again 1917 Season

Colgate to Come to Orono for Big Games—Rhode Island and New St. H. St. N. St. Schedule

Although no definite schedule has been announced, it is believed that plans have been made for the football team of 1917, which will make a trip to the East in the fall. There are seventeen games on the schedule as of the date of this writing; however, it is hoped that the schedule will be of the same magnitude as that of the state games to come.

The season has been a case for the past three years, the U. M. eleven made its debut at West Point, on November 30 and play the army team the same, about two weeks more will be given up to trials, for the preliminary game.
