THE MAINE CAMPUS
Published weekly by the Campus Board of the University of Maine, with the assistance of the Class... Thir.

The Maine Campus has been doing its job well and has been successful in maintaining a good circulation. The editors and staff have worked hard to keep the paper interesting and informative.

The main feature of this issue is a report on the lecture on Machine Gun by Captain Ashworth. The lecture was well received and the students were impressed by the speaker's knowledge and expertise.

Another important section of the paper is the editorial columns, which provide a valuable forum for students to express their opinions and ideas. The editors have done an excellent job in selecting and organizing the material for these columns.

The Business Manager, F. C. Ferguson, has been doing an outstanding job in managing the finances of the paper. His efforts have been instrumental in ensuring the paper's financial stability.

Girls Mandolin Club

Preparation for Season

Edith Ingram
To Lead Club Roster

The Mandolin Club is busily preparing for a series of concerts this fall, which will begin probably next Thursday. The stock of girls' mandolins is great; there are a number of the older members still left, and many more have been added.

The Mandolin Club has the following members on its books:

The Club had an exceptionally fine last year, and a most aggressive schedule of concerts is being arranged for the coming year. Every effort is being made to make this year the biggest year of the club's history, and it is in this connection that the Mandolin Club is most insistent.

The members of the Club are busy working on their sets and are putting in much time to the work, and promising fine concerts.

"At a dance..."

When the Fourth of July celebrations closed out Tuesday, Mrs. W. R. Cross, of Frankfort, wrote the Hon. W. W. Cross, of Moscow, tendering her recollections of the Fourth of July celebrations in 1877, which he forgot to write down.

She says she was only eight years old at the time.

The Fourth of July celebrations in 1877 were the first in the history of the town of Frankfort.

Mrs. Cross was so impressed by the festivities that she decided to remember it in writing.

De Libra Helps Interpret Fourth Dimension

Dr. De Libra, who is a member of the Mathematics faculty, has been working on the interpretation of the fourth dimension. He has been studying the problem for some time, and has come to the conclusion that the fourth dimension is not a mathematical abstraction, but a physical reality.

Dr. De Libra has been invited to speak at the next meeting of the Mathematics Club. He will discuss the problem of the fourth dimension and its possible applications in science and engineering.
