Fine Talk Given at Recent Meeting of Civil Club

The Civil Club of the University had the privilege of hearing a recent documentarian on "Water in Europe." The speaker was Deacon Boardman, who has spent much time studying the condition of water in Europe. He was introduced by Professor G. W. Thompson and was enthusiastically received by the crowd.

With the beginning of the track season at the University, the students are expected to consider the situation concerning the state's athletic teams. In the past few years, the University has been facing increasing challenges in winning championships.

Dr. McCarty and Rice Have To Shape Team From Few Vets.—Many athletes, after a period of rest and recuperation, are returning to the track team.

At the meeting of the Art Club held at the University Inn Saturday evening, Professor G. W. Thompson, art director, gave a talk on the book "God is Too Good to Fail." He explained that the theme of the book is God's faithfulness to His people, which is illustrated through various stories, including a story of a man who was led by a guiding angel.

Some time ago in the 18th century, a little boy grabbed an article recently worn near wood-piles (that not in use) and walked out into his father's orchard. There, in the middle of the orchard and this little boy, whose name was George, did not like cherries because they gave him a tummy-ache.

One day, as he was walking through the orchard, he came upon a cherry tree with all its fruits. He walked up to the tree and said, "George, may I have this cherry?"

"No, George," his father answered, "and if you try to eat it, I will make you eat all the cherries on this tree.

"But, George," the boy replied, "I will promise you that I will never eat this cherry again if you will let me have it."

"Fine," said George's father. "You may have it."

George went to work and worked until he had enough cherries to fill his pockets. He then walked back to his father, and handed him the cherries.

"Well, George," said his father, "you have kept your word."

"Yes, I have," said George. "I promise you I will never eat this cherry again."

"Good," said his father. "Now, take these cherries and go home and eat them."

George went home and ate the cherries. He was so happy that he forgot all about the tummy-ache.

From that day on, George never had another tummy-ache.

The moral of the story is: Always keep your word and you will be rewarded for it.

First Basketball Games Are Wins For 19 and 20

Juniors and Seniors Outplayed Respectively—Mostly and Court

Thursday evening February 6th, in the gymnasium, the first set of games for senior basketball appeared, and the Sophomores and Juniors played the Sophomores and Seniors respectively. In the first contest the Freshmen won by the score of 14 to 11, and in the game that fol- lowed the Sophomores won 14 to 10. Both clashes hereafter were played without much enthusiasm and seemed to be in mid-season form. Not a single point over 20 was scored by the Rival and the crowd of about three hundred spectators given a good time.

For the freshmen Mosdy and Court were the big names, the latter being all over the floor and missing in every way. Time and again he broke up the junior lines and carried the ball down the court at his leisure and following the track of the opposi- tion. Not a point was scored by the Rival and many of the players left the floor without entering the game.

A. T. Intervals

Carter, Breaks the Record

The interval was very much needed, the boys were warmed up and ready for the last set. The time came and went and the sound of the starting whistle brought the boys to the floor with a portion of the audience still thanking the referee for hitting the puck. The juniors started out by winning the first point and had to throw five baskets and maintain their lead, which they did, for the last set. Some of the boys stepped up for the scoring and the game ended in favor of the juniors 34 to 15. and in the game that fol- lowed the seniors had the upper hand in the first half with the score being 14 to 10. In the second half the seniors ran away with the game, and the score at the end was 14 to 6. The game was very much played and enthusiasm was shown by the seniors.

Ancient Farming

Herodotus, in the year 450 B.C., gave a description of the poor cultivation yielded by firstly the early Greeks and later the Romans in the Valley of the Esopus. He said that at one time there were 100,000 acres of land giving an average of four bushels of wheat per acre; in 1512, 16 bushels, and now the average yield is more than double.

It isn’t time for our farmers to stop growing wheat. Home Mixed Fertilizers will help.
