TRUSTEES MEET

Stewart Hall for Base Hospital

The Board of Trustees of this university, at a meeting May 20th, by unanimous vote authorized President Robert J. Alely to tender to the War Department for use as a hospital during the war, Stewart Hall, the College of Law building in Bangor.

HONORARY DEGREES

The University of Maine is conservative in granting and conferring honorary degrees. A committee of the Board makes recommendations only after the most careful investigation. At the Commencement on Monday but one honorary degree was conferred and that upon the orator of the day, Thomas E. Finegan of Albany, N. Y.

PRESENT TO LIBRARY

At the Trustees' meeting on May 20th President Robert J. Alely presented to the University Library more than seven hundred volumes of Mathematical works. These books have been in the library as a loan for several years.

PURCHASE OF A LIBRARY

The Board of Trustees purchased a library of about four hundred volumes from Mrs. Laura Hamlin. The books consist in the main of works upon philosophy, botany and education.

COLLEGE OF LAW

The Board of Trustees made complete arrangements for the temporary transfer of the College of Law from Bangor to the university campus at Orono. The regular teaching force, in addition to the lecturers, for next year will be C. W. Peabody, Professor; Bartlett Brooks, Associate Professor; Allen Sherman, Assistant. A College of Law bulletin giving full details will be issued soon by the university office.

By action of the Board of Trustees, the University of Maine will open October 8, 1918. October 7 will be registration day.

PHYSICAL TRAINING

For the period of the war at least, Physical Training must be made to supplement the military work. The work of the year just closed has been so satisfactory under the direction of C. L. Stephenson, that he has been appointed to continue the work for another year. He will also assist in military and will be the official University Auditor of all student activities.

He who waits to do a great deal of good at once, will never do any.

LOOSE GAME IS WON BY MAINE

Maine won from Bates at Lewiston Saturday, May 18th, 13 to 12 in one of the loosest played games seen there for years. Out of a total of 25 runs, only seven were earned. The Bates infield was up the air all the time, Talbot being unable to get the ball to first no less than seven times. Bates hit far harder than Maine and drove Derocher from the mound in the eighth. Fowler pitched a good game but was unable to do much because of his teammates' errors. The summary:

GRADUATION AT U. OF M.

The 1918 Commencement was certainly favored by ideal weather, but the effect of the war-time conditions was plainly evident by the curtailment of many of the features. The attendance of alumni was smaller than usual although those here appeared to be enjoying themselves.

CLASS DAY EXERCISES

The Class Day exercises, Saturday afternoon, were marked by well prepared parts, with war and patriotic themes dominant. The class was led by Marshal Francis Head of Bangor. The program was as follows, with music by the University orchestra, Harry White, director:

Prayer.....	Weston Sumner Evans, South Windham.
Roll call.....	Marguerite Frances Merrill, Mechanic Falls.
Address to Undergraduates.....	Ralph Carlton Wentworth, Denmark.
Music.....
Class History.....	Donald Burke Perry, Hallowell.
Presentation of Gifts.....	Charles Neal Merrill, Bangor.
Oration.....	Lee Vrooman, Greenville.
Music.....
Class Poem.....	Walter Joseph Creamer, Jr., Bangor.

Presentation of fraternity scholarship cups, James Adrian Gannett, registrar of the university. Senior Skull cup to Phi Eta Kappa, for second time in succession; Junior Mask cup to Sigma Chi.

Prophecy.....	Albert Whittier Wunderlich, Arlington, Mass.
Valedictory.....	Simon Waldo Moulton, Sebago Lake.
Music.....
Smoking Pipe of Peace.....

The 1918 ivy was planted on the south side of Aubert Hall, with Thomas Francis Shea of Bangor, curator.

The address to the undergraduates was written by Ralph Carlton Wentworth but as he was forced to be absent on a baseball trip his address was read by E. R. Ring who said:

ADDRESS TO UNDERGRADUATES
Undergraduates of the University of Maine, we are about to leave you to take up the more serious works of life and to put the name of the university above all colleges. Therefore, we wish to leave a few thoughts which may help you in the years to come that you may be better prepared than the other classes which have preceded you.

We came to the university four years ago and started upon our road which has now reached the first turn. At that time there were men in the class who had obtained success as leaders in their preparatory schools. They at once went ahead with all activities; a great number were not athletes, but they had the natural ability to lead and the others in the class were perfectly willing that they should go ahead.

There were other men in the class who showed that they had the ability to lead, but that they needed something to start them forward. This fact was shown when a number of the class leaders left college at the end of their Freshman or Sophomore year, for there were men who at once took their places and carried everything along as before. There were still others in the class who if they had been compelled to, would have shown that they could do as much as their energetic classmates.

Now, you, the classes of '19, '20, '21 and others who are to follow, will have men among you who will compare with these whom I have just mentioned. There will be a great deal more to accomplish in the years to come than in former years. The whole university life and activity rests upon you. This war has wrought great havoc with everything upon the campus and it is up to each one of you, whether you are one of the natural leaders of your class or one who requires circumstances to make a leader to get out and work in order that the university may continue to grow as it has grown in the last few years. This does not necessarily mean along athletic lines, but in all organizations, publications, and studies.

It is up to each of you to get out next year when you return and work. Go out for everything, don't let a minute pass without performing some work around college in order that our university may be put upon a higher basis.

A great many fellows think that if what they do does not benefit themselves it is not worth doing, thinking their effort so much time wasted. That is not so and is the wrong idea to get.

EDITORIAL

For all students of this university, the Campus hopes they have success in being of as much use as possible this summer in winning the war. No matter in what work they are found, we are sure all Maine men will go at their task for all there is in them. The old fighting spirit will be carried into every war project Maine men get into.

But while we are engaged in doing our best for Uncle Sam let us not forget our duty to Maine. Next year will be more critical even than this one. From present appearances we will have fewer men than ever. So to every high school or "prep" school fellow we meet who isn't sure whether he wants to go to college or not, we must boost Maine. We cannot afford to give anyone a minute's rest till he decides his place is in college. By so doing we will be rendering a patriotic service as well as a duty to our Alma Mater.

Remember—Boost Maine! Think Maine! Talk Maine! Sing Maine! Shout Maine! All summer hustle on this. Send in names of possibilities to the Registrar. If we make the most of our opportunities next fall we will have an entering class such as we never saw before. But we must all get behind this and shove it through.

The spirit of a college is made up of the spirit of the individuals in that college. In the same manner the loyalty of a college is made up of the loyalty held by the individuals in that college. When we are away by ourselves this summer we may feel isolated. But let us show our loyalty and spirit all the more because of our isolation. If we do our duty well that vision of a greater Maine we all hold will be realized in short season. The responsibility rests on us. A happy summer and success!

PHI KAPPA PHI INITIATION

The 47th Commencement of the University of Maine began Friday night, May 17, with the Phi Kappa Phi initiation at the library at 5.00 p. m. followed by the banquet at the Commons at 6 p. m.

The following members of the class of 1918 have been elected to Phi Kappa Phi during the present year:

Walter J. Creamer, Jr., Bangor; Ruth Crosby, Bangor; Helen W. Farrar, East Corinth; Thelma L. Kellogg, Vanceboro; Mona B. McWilliams, Bangor; Mary E. Utecht, Topsham; Lee Vrooman, Greenville; Eleanor B. Dennis, Bangor; Frank I. Cowan, Lisbon Falls; Allen Sherman, New Bedford, Mass.; Callie H. Larrabee, Frankfort; Weston S. Evans, South Windham; Hugh C. McPhee, South Paris; Simon W. Moulton, Sebago Lake; Harold C. Swift, Auburn; Ernest J. Turner, Brewer.

KING PRIZE ORATIONS

The King Prize Orations were delivered Saturday morning, May 18, at 10 o'clock in the Assembly hall before a large audience of students and friends. The orations were of high order and the award was made to Thelma Louise Kellogg, '18, who spoke on War Work and Religion.

The following orations were delivered: Ideal of Democracy, Frank Altman, '19; Secret Diplomacy, Robert Rich, '18; The War Emphasis on Education, Oscar L. Whalen, '19; War Work and Religion, Thelma Louise Kellogg, '18.

The judges were Rev. J. Edward Hand, Prof. Warren J. Moulton, and Charles A. Flagg, all of Bangor.

SERVICE

1918 CLASS POEM, U. OF M.

By Walter J. Creamer, Jr., Bangor

Four times our world has girt the sun
Since o'er its face the war begun

To spread its bloody stain;

Four years that we have spent with thee,

From war's grim consequence free.

O Alma Mater, Maine:

And now, O, Maine, you sent us forth

To prove the substance we are worth,—

To honor you again.

You gave us truths on which to build,

You gave to us your workmen, skilled

In sciences and arts;

You gave us tasks to stimulate,

To teach the mind in active state

To analyze the charts

On which in cryptic symbols lies

The route o'er which fair Freedom flies

And Slavery departs.

You gave to us your virile sports,

Your quiet walks, your tennis courts,

Your springy cinder track;

Your level diamond clean and trim,

Your gridiron lined for battle grim,

Your bleachers people black:

All these our feet have often trod.

And every inch is sacred sod

To which our thoughts look back.

You gave us comrades of the best,

Whose banter and whose stinging jest

We laughingly repaid;

The hand-clasp, speaking words untold,

The warm eye, warmed from a heart of gold,—

These things shall never fade;

But deep in the vault of memory,

As tokens of fraternity,

Like jewels shall be laid.

What you have given none can take Away. Your gifts strong legions make,

An army in reserve;

For which you ask a fair return:

That we shall grow, and quickly learn

The ways that we may serve.

This is the trust that you impose,

This is the path that duty shows.

From which we may not swerve.

Shall we betray this sacred trust?

Ah, rather were we only dust

Than we should ever fail

The College of our heart and mind,

Whose life with ours is entwined,

And own our spirit frail

No! Your trust we hold secure;

We pledge ourselves to service pure;

Your teachers shall prevail.

Ah, backward shall be turned the page,

And there revealed the golden age,—

The years we spent with you;

Like magic from the thinnest air

The outlines of this campus fair

Shall often rise in view;

The dormitories and the halls,

Within whose old familiar walls

We labored four years through.

Ah, often Wingate's bell shall sound

And bring us here in thoughts profound,

As of old it used to bring;

And often shall salute our ears
The echoes of those old Maine cheers
As we have heard them ring;
The Stein Song with its thrilling notes,
Sung by a thousand lusty throats,
As we have heard them sing.

Four years of labor here well done,

Years of work and years of fun,

We part from this with pain;

But now we leave to serve the world

Until the battle flags are furled,

And then,—to serve again;

To serve at home and serve abroad,

To serve our country, serve our God,

O Alma Mater, Maine.

MASQUE AND BELLES

DRAW LARGE AUDIENCE

Notwithstanding enlistments and departures, the Maine Masque and the Belles repeated their joint offering of the pantomime "Into the Nowhere", and the comedy, "A Pair of Spectacles," in Assembly Hall, Saturday night of Commencement week. While the outlook had not been encouraging at times, the effort was amply rewarded. The joint attraction drew a large audience, and the audience gave every indication of being well entertained.

Miss Florence Chandler, '20, played the Villain in the pantomime. Aside from this change, all the principals were of the original cast. There were some minor changes in the chorus. The audience enjoyed seeing the women do strange things in this pretty novelty.

In the men's play only three of the men appeared in their original parts; and time permitted only one rehearsal for new recruits and for those in new parts. When the play started nobody knew just what would happen. The audience entered into the situation, with the result that interest and appreciation grew apace. It was a big, tired party, looking for recreation; and everything "went"—even the play. The new actors in the play appeared very much at ease, Mr. Wunderlich and Miss Jones proving very successful as the young lovers.

Lee Vrooman, '18, was Prompter, and pushed the curtain. Everybody was property man. Don Perry counted the money, switched the lights, and played a part, besides keeping one eye on "the" audience. Several of the men left on the midnight train, having stayed over in the interests of the play.

The proceeds of the season enable the women to send a delegate to Silver Bay. The Masque will be able to make reduction on its big deficit of 1917. The plays made a welcome attraction for Saturday night, and the large audience completed the success of the evening.

BASEBALL MEN GIVEN "M"

At a meeting of the U. of M. Athletic Board on May 17, 1918 the following men were awarded their "M" in baseball for 1918:—T. D. Carlson, R. C. Wentworth (Capt.), G. A. Faulkner, C. A. Duncan (Mgr.), J. S. Barron, F. S. Willard, S. E. Small, J. E. DeRocher, L. M. Cornell, Wood, and B. R. Waterman. The following students were approved as to Blanket Tax Committee for the coming college year: O. L. Whalen, Chairman, K. T. Young,

V. H. Wallingford, F. H. Friend, L. J. Marsh, and Kathryn Estella Hitchings.

In closing, Thomas McCann was hired as baseball coach for the coming season.

Gillette

Safety Razor

Have You Seen the New Gillettes Specially Designed for the Fighting Man?

THESE models were designed by members of the Gillette Organization who have seen service with the Colors and know what the soldier is up against.

Hundreds of officers and men are buying them—the U. S. Service Set in metal case, and the new Khaki-covered sets for Uncle Sam's soldiers and officers.

The Gillette is the one razor for the man who is doing things—the one razor with worldwide use and reputation.

When a man wants new Blades he can get them at any Post Exchange or Y. M. C. A. Hut—here in America or Overseas.

Our Paris Office carries stocks—is constantly supplying the American Expeditionary Forces. Gillette Safety Razors and Blades on sale everywhere in France, England, Italy and the Eastern battle fronts.

Why the Gillette Is Especially the Soldier's Razor

THERE isn't a harder shaving job on earth than the service demanded of the Gillette by the fighting man.

Under the very worst possible conditions of climate—with cold or hard water—on sun-burned or wind-chapped faces—the Gillette is called upon for its speed-comfort, velvet-smooth shave. And delivers it.

There are more Gillettes used than all other kinds of razors added together—the compact, complete razor with no strops or hones to clutter up the kit.

Hundreds of thousands of officers and men have adopted the Gillette—with its blades always sharp, always ready. No Stropping, No Honing.

GRADUATION AT U. OF M.

It has been shown in numerous cases where anyone gets out and makes himself known through work, that before his college course is ended he will never regret the extra hours which he has put in.

There is a great deal of talk on this question not only among persons who seem to be educated, but among those who graduated from colleges and obtained various degrees. Many say that when anyone comes to college he should lay aside everything and simply study. This is all right and should be strongly recommended, but any fellow can put in a great deal of extra time on college activities and still get his work done in his studies.

There are numerous cases in which a fellow comes to college, starts in studying and does not go out for any activities. His instructors know him, also a few of his classmates and that is all. Do you think he has obtained from his college courses everything which he might have obtained if he had let a few of these A's and B's drop down to B's and C's and gone out for some of the athletic teams or for some of the other organizations upon the campus?

There are a great many men that are making good in the business world, who say their success was not all studies in college. A man must get out and mix with the other men of the various classes. In this way he gets a more thorough education, one which stands by him in practical life and is not obtained from between the covers of some book.

When students come to college fresh from their senior year at preparatory school where they have been stars and worshipped by all the younger students, they get the idea that the same thing is going to happen in college. After a few weeks they begin to see things in a different light; they instead of being so large and important, are very small and insignificant. Now is the time when they show what they are made of. If after being informed of their position upon the campus they still have the idea that they knew more than the members of the three upper classes, why they are a total failure. If, however, they start upon a new foundation and work, in a little while they get the spirit which makes men that the university will be proud of.

This applies to every freshman and should be considered by every upper classman at the University of Maine. Always start right and never let up. Keep the old Maine spirit going and in the years to come, we who are about to become Alumni as well as the Alumni who have already left the University, and these who are to come will always feel proud of the favorable reports which will come to us.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF THE MAINE CAMPUS

In January 1917, the "Campus" was threatened with a lawsuit because of unpaid bills amounting to more than $1000. In order to prevent the suit and also to save the credit of the publication, President Robert J. Aley assumed control as Custodian.

He presents the following report:
