JUNIOR WEEK PROGRAM COMPLETE

On Wednesday, June fourth, will occur the first events of Junior Week. Plans, made a long time ago, have been carried out and a most attractive program has been arranged for this occasion which has been long looked forward to, not only by the Juniors, but by the whole college.

On Wednesday afternoon in Alumni Field there will be a baseball game, Maine vs. Colby. This will be as interesting, and we hope as successful, as the other games played here this spring.

In the evening Junior Exhibition Speaking will be held in Assembly Hall. The speakers have been chosen from the following list: Leslie Bannister, Ray Maurice Boynton, Henry Russ Butler, Paul Franklin Corbin, Lawrence James Hodgkins, Corinne Maude Barker, Madeline Bird, Dorothy Mabel Bussell, Elizabeth Miller Chase, Barbara Dunn, Isabel Hayden Dyer, Marion Elizabeth French, Minerva Evelyn French, Kathryn Elizabeth Gorden, Corinne Mary King, Ella Johnston McFarland, Gertrude Devitt Peabody, Flavia Lucile Richardson.

On Thursday evening in the Assembly Hall a Minstrel Show is to be given by the "M" Club. As the caste has been rehearsing for some time this Show will be one of the best features of Junior Week.

Junior Chapel Exercises will be held on Friday morning, with Cecil Clayton Sweatt as class chaplain. The Address to the Juniors will be given by President Aley. The Salutatory Address will be given by Miles Ham. The Junior Class Officers are as follows:

President: Miles Frank Ham, Vice President: Edward Benedict Kirk, Secretary: Grace Hilda Hodgdon, Treasurer: Wingate Irving Stevens.

In the evening, the principal event of Junior Week will be held in the gymnasium—Junior Promenade. President and Mrs. Aley, Dean and Mrs. Stevens, Professor and Mrs. George W. Stephens, Miles Ham are on the Reception Committee. The Prom Committee is made up of Francis Friend, Chairman, George Potter, Stuart Walker, Stephen Bussell, Walter Averill.

Saturday morning in Alumni Field a Battalion Parade will be given by the R. O. T. C. under command of Lieutenant Harry M. Smith.

In the afternoon there is to be another baseball game, Maine vs. Bowdoin.

In the evening a Cabaret Show, under the auspices of the Track Club, will be given in the gymnasium. Several of the co-eds of the college will take part in the entertainment which will be directed by Mrs. Mason.

It is greatly regretted that the 1920 Prism will not appear during Junior Week, as it has always done in past years. Owing to a strike at the plant where the cuts are being made, the Prism will probably not be on sale until July. This is a disappointment to every one, especially to the members of the Junior Class.

HOLY CROSS MAINE DUAL MEET HERE ON SATURDAY

Saturday, June 7th, there will be a track meet between Maine and Holy Cross on Alumni field. It is up to the student body to get out and support their team, as the visitors have a strong combination and the meet should be closely contested all the way.

Holy Cross will depend on two stars to obtain most of their points. Sullivan '21 in the 880, mile, and two mile and Dignan '21 in the dashes and weights. Both these men scored in the New England Intercollegiate.

The men who are expected to score heavily for Maine are Pratt '21, Sewall '21, Herrick '22 and Captain Allen. In the shot put, is a sure winner. Pratt should come close to taking three first places. He looks good to win the 220, 440, and broad jump. Sewall should place in the dashes and both jumps, while Herrick should be good for at least a first and a second in the distances. If Wyer '21 is eligible, he should be able to win eleven points in the discus, shot-put and hammer. "Zip" Waite '20 has a fine chance of winning his letter Saturday in the low hurdles.

The meet will begin at 1.30 preceding the baseball game and the Blanket Tax will admit.

1920 PRISMS NOT OUT UNTIL JULY

Due to causes beyond the control of the publishing board, the 1920 Prism will not appear Junior Week as has heretofore been the custom. In spite of the short time available for preparation of the volume, all material was in the printers hands at the specified time, but a strike at the plant at which the cuts are being made has tied up publication. The year books of several New England colleges including Middlebury college held up for the same cause.

To meet the exigency and to insure all getting copies who want them, a

TRACK CLUB PLANS CABARET SHOW

On Saturday night will be held the biggest event of Junior Week, The Cabaret Show. This in former years proved such a decided success that it will no doubt be well attended.

Besides many local stars there will be professional talent from Bangor which will help to round out the success of the performance.

The orchestra will be in charge of Whitehouse, '19 and as everyone knows, he will do justice to the occasion.

Special acts by Miss Thompson, '22 and Purington, '22; Miss Bean, '21; girls of Mt. Vernon House; girls of Balentine Hall; Red DeRocher and Peanut Snow; quartette consisting of Monte Cross, Coach Wood, '21, Skinny Holt, '19 and Runt Purington, '22; Slattery, Johnson and Holt.

The Bangor talent will do specialties in dancing and the well known faces of Virginia Ordiorne, Charlotte Ordiorne, Margaret Burns, Bianca Farrar and Josephine Shanley will be seen in this act.

The program is under the direction of Mrs. E. J. Mason assisted by Miss Madeline Bird.

Dancing will follow the show.

Friends of Grace Colburn, former cashier at the University of Maine, will be interested to know that she has returned to Bangor, having spent a most enjoyable winter in California.

President Aley spent the week-end in Washington, D. C., where he was called on business.

"Bill" Allen won the shot put at the National Intercollegiate held at Harvard last Saturday. The week before, Allen won the New England intercollegiate shot put. The New England college champion came through with a put of 44 ft. 6 1-8 inches beating out Jim Braden of Yale whose put was 43 ft. 5 1-8 inches.

Capt. "Bill" Allen

In the New England May 24, "Bill" was handicapped by a broken toe board but he was an easy winner.

In the Nationals Braden of Yale was the favorite but "Bill" showed him that he was not in it for a minute. This is "Bill's" last year at Maine and during it he has won the State Championship, New England championship, and National championship for 1919.

EDITORIAL

If Maine wins the baseball game from Bowdoin Saturday, it means the State Championship. Just stop and think what it means. It is the last chance to get a championship this year and a good chance.

The team which has been playing class A ball in the past games will do their best. This goes without saying. And best of all, the game is to be played right out on Alumni Field which means that Maine can give her team Maine backing. And that is what the team must have. You have heard recounted time and time again in rallies and student chapels what the real backing of the student body is.

There is no need of explaining it here. Just bear this in mind. The spirit which followed the New Hampshire State game rightly applied means victory.

The game with Colby Wednesday while not a decisive game in the sense that the Bowdoin game is, ranks far from being unimportant. A win from Colby will lay a good foundation for Saturday. Colby first and then Bowdoin.

When we first strike the campus we are asked by the English Prof. to write a theme on "Why I came to College". The poor unsuspecting freshman does not know why this is given him as his first topic but he strives to make the first one a good one. Some of the less intelligent ones say they came to college because their father sent them. If they do, they are, commonly speaking, out of luck for the rest of their college career. Some say that they came to college because they want to get a head in the world. The prof. says that he has got too broad an ambition and consequently to take him down a peg he gives him a "D". The next man says, "Even at the age of seven I was peculiarly attracted to illuminating literature". That is as far as the instructor gets and says "Bevo" (for Bravo) he'll be a second William Jennings Bryan and gives him a "C". I never could find out how the "B" or "A" man started off with his theme. Perhaps they start off "Canfield said" and the young man or woman who is one year ahead of the author of the theme falls for it and gives him an "A" or "B". It's so nice to have other students correct your papers. If she be a fair one, take her to a dance, or to a house party. If not so fair send her a box of candy, Page and Shaws preferred. If it is a man tell him that you had a date down to Bangor and missed the last car. He'll let you by with it once but the next time tell him that you planned to save his course until last and put all night on it but it came up damp and your rheumatism began paining so you quit. I don't blame the professors for not giving each pupil his individual attention. He hasn't the time and besides what's the use? I wish they would tell us who is going to correct our papers so we would inquire about the fancies and cater to them. We know what the professor spends the most time on in the class but we don't know whether the young co-ed is going to get a letter on the evening mail and if she doesn't how can we pass the course? I wish I didn't have to write themes.

Sign up for that 1920 Prism. Remember how many late birds were disappointed last year.

MAINE SIGNAL CORPS TO BE ESTABLISHED

The organism of the United States Army for the emergency required an increase of approximately ten times the original existing proportion of Signal Officers to those of other branches of the Service. This great gain in proportion necessitated the commissioning as officers many men who were doing technical work in civil life which required certain technical training. With these officers the Signal Corps installed, maintained, and operated one of the most up-to-date telephone and telegraph systems in the world. Before entering the army many of these officers had never given nor received a military command. The exigencies of the service required that these officers attend a three-month camp of intensive training and then join their Signal Battalion and complete its organization.

It is interesting to know that Marshall Foch would travel miles out of his way to use an American Telephone line in preference to the French lines. This system permitted the high command to be in telephone conversation with the most advanced elements at any time. The Signal Corps had installed their telephone in Chateau-Thierry last July and had talked to Paris within two hours after the German Retreat. Brigadier General Edgar Russell, the Chief Signal Officer of the A. E. F., received a letter from General Pershing, dated Feb. 17th, 1919, especially commending the efficient service performed by all members of the Signal Corps in France.

The experience gained in this venture has caused the Signal Corps to ask certain Educational Institutions in the United States of the highest grade to allow some time in their academic course, certain work in Chemistry, Surveying, Electrical Engineering, Code work, Physics, and Elementary and advanced Telephone, Telegraph and Radio Engineering. Any student whose course through college includes these subjects and who joins the Reserve Officers' Training Corps in the College is promised a commission as Second Lieutenant in the Signal Corps. After appointment as Second Lieutenant the later promotion to the higher grades will be regulated by law and the individual qualifications and application of the individual case.

New England is one of the most fertile fields for training of future Signal Officers—Yale, The Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and the University of Vermont now have R. O. T. C. courses including the Signal Corps. The University of Maine desires a Signal Unit when the course can be started and the installation of a Signal Unit at Harvard is under consideration. The installation of a unit at the Worcester Polytechnic Institute and at Brown University is desired by the Signal Corps should these institutions eventually decide to establish R. O. T. C. courses.

It is said that this course offers to the busy technical student a chance for commission in the Signal Corps and at the same time interferes very little with his technical training for civil life. While a member of the Signal Corps Unit in college he receives the same personal equipment and money allowances from the Government that the members of other units of the R. O. T. C. receive.

PLANS OF THE HOME ECONOMICS

The Home Economics Department is to have the use of Lord Hall, next year, in which to work out the courses in Practical Housework. All of the Senior girls in that department, will live there during the entire year under the supervision of their instructors. They will be under the same rules as the girls in the regular dormitories.

The girls will do most of the work of the house, but will be assisted by a competent housekeeper. The work will be done in shifts, at regular hours, for a certain amount of credit. The work will be planned so that the girls can be free from Saturday noon until Monday morning. Practical experience will be gained in planning and serving the meals, cooking, marketing, accounting, cleaning, etc., under conditions as nearly normal as can be obtained in a student body.

The house is in good condition, but the kitchen will have to be remodelled, and the whole house will be refurnished by the Department. Plans for the work next year are not yet completed, but the experiment is certain to be a success.

Columbia Department of Information

Columbia student of geography and geology will explore Pennsylvania, New England and New York as a part of the work of the summer session. Under E. M. Lehnerts, associate professor of geography in the University of Minnesota, those enrolled in the course styled "Field Work in Physiography" will do practical field work at the Gorge of the Highlands, Mt. Beacon, the folded mountains at Catskill, the Northern end of the Great Appalachian Valley, the Adirondack Mountains, Lake George, Lake Champlain, the Green Mountains, and the White Mountains, and along the Hudson. The trip will last twelve days.

In another course, called "Field Work in the paleozoic rocks of Eastern North America," the young geologists will spend a month in the most instructive localities of Pennsylvania and New York.

A wide variety of courses in geography and geology, as well as hundreds of other courses covering all branches of university curricula will be given in the summer session this year. The study of geography has been greatly stimulated by the war, and an increased number of courses will be given next year in the Columbia School of Business.

In one of the summer courses this year the physiography of the western half of the United States will be studied with especial attention to the interpretation of scenery, including the scenery of national parks. The influence of topography upon the human geography of the region will be studied under Professor Lehnerts.

Prof. Harold Jacoby of Columbia will give a course in mathematical geography, and Dr. Guy E. Snider, assistant professor of political science in the college of the City of New York will direct a course in the economic geography of international trade.

1920 PRISM NOT OUT
UNTIL JULY

plan has been devised whereby signing
a duplicate order blank at the University Store and paying the price of the book which is $3.00, any desired number of copies will be sent to any address before July 15. This plan seemed to be the best which could be devised under the circumstances. The importance of getting your order in is emphasized. Last year many were disappointed because they delayed to get their Prism.

The Prism this year is fully up to the usual standard and is in no sense a war issue. One big feature is a Memorial Section containing photographs, college and service records and a short writeup of every Maine man who "paid the supreme sacrifice." The historical and sentimental value of this section is big. Snappy Junior writeups, fraternity and club pictures and news,
other college events besides a big grind section make the 1920 Prism a book you want.

AMERICAN RED CROSS

DO THEY BELONG TO YOU.

"Over in France is a place that was not meant as a habitation for birds, beasts or fishes. Nothing but soldiers can thrive there! Mountains to the left of us, mountains to the right of us, rain on the heads of us, chill in the hearts of us and mud at the feet of us."

"You must be speaking of Brest.
The only thing that saved all the fellows in our company from absolute ennui while we were there was the supply of books and magazines that were on hand in the American Red Cross Huts."

The two doughboys passed on, but the man had overheard enough to convince him of the necessity of sending to the soldiers all the books and magazines that everyone can possibly send.

1.30

If its a book you like, it will be appreciated by the soldiers. If its a magazine you have enjoyed, it will prove doubly entertaining to a homesick doughboy in hospital or camp.

Take books and magazines at once to the Library nearest your home. They will be sent straight to the boys who need them most. Do it today. Do not delay.
