Maine Campus Song.

Sound a greeting to the college
In the dear old Pine Tree State,
And where'er the name of Maine is
May the name of Maine be great.

CHORUS.

For it's always fair weather
When good fellows get together,
And life's in its springtime
On the campus of Old Maine.

Up ye Freshmen, up ye Seniors,
And ye Sopho and Juniors, too,
Shout hurrah, and sound the praises
Of Old Maine's own color, blue.

CHORUS.

For life slips its tether
When good fellows get together,
And life's in its springtime
On the campus of Old Maine.

Though the years may pass behind us
And the boys grow old and gray,
Yet Old Maine goes on forever
For Old Maine has come to stay.

CHORUS.

So it's birds of a feather
When good fellows get together,
And life's in its springtime
On the campus of Old Maine.

And when all the songs are ended,
And the time of parting's near,
Let the rafters ring resounding
With a triple, Old Maine cheer.

CHORUS.

For it's ALWAYS fair weather
When good fellows get together,
And life's in its springtime
On the campus of Old Maine.

Arranged from the Stein Song by O. F. Lewis.

EDITORIALS.

ONE noticeable result of the various comments upon the work of the university brought out during the last month or two by the statements of the press for and against favorable legislation on the appropriation bill, has been a marked broadening of the popular opinion as to the scope of the institution and the character of the work it is doing. Four years ago when the name of the Maine State College was changed to the University of Maine the people of the state were scandalized to think that this institution should even dream of a time when it should ever be in fact what the new name implied. Criticism of the change was heard on all sides and intermixed with the criticism there was in evidence such a feeling of incredulity on the part of the public in general, such a pronounced impression that no good thing could come out of that "Orono College," that to the students at least there was much in the outlook that was discouraging. Yet the years that have intervened since that time and the present have clearly proven that those who criticized were wrong, that the change was a wise move, while there has been made a beginning towards dispelling the many false impressions that exist as to what can be done here towards educating a man for the experiences of life.

As a matter of fact it has been a most difficult task to educate the people of Maine to a knowledge of the breadth and extensiveness of the institution they were fostering and not the slightest trace has been found of any tendency to expect too much of the university just because it bore a name of such broad significance. We say, it has been, but it can better be said, it is destined to be, for the work of education along this line has only just begun. The public impression is that U. of M. is an engineering college while in reality it is no more an engineering college than it is a classical, chemical or agricultural college. The mere fact that the engineering departments get sixty-five per cent. of the student body only signifies towards what branches of learning there is the strongest tendency and does not affect the nature of the institution at all. It is entirely natural that such an impression should be prevalent but the great advances of the past few years demand that wherever this idea is met with it should be dispelled, for as long as it shall be abroad among the fitting schools of the state the courses that have been recently added will have small chances of success.

It is probable that the recent visits of members of the faculty to all of the important fitting schools of Maine have done much to remedy the difficulty but there is still much that can be done that only students can do. Wherever opportunity offers, emphasize the fact that the University of Maine is a university in truth, that it not only has departments in all branches of engineering, but has a classical course as well, designed to give a broad and liberal education. University students are apt to be deficient in this point in that they can speak in glowing terms of the efficiency of the department in which they are interested but are entirely ignorant of a majority of the other courses of study which their college offers. Let this not be true of "Maine's" students but rather let every man be ready at all times to speak for the welfare of U. of M. to whoever may be seeking higher education.

NO better example could have been given us of the results of perseverance in the face of seeming insurmountable difficulties than was afforded by the first appearance of the Glee, Mandolin and Banjo Clubs at Orono on the evening of February 15. Of all the enterprises that were related to our college life there was none, at the beginning of this year, in such a discouraging position as the musical clubs. All of the leading talent had been lost by graduation. The instructor of the past two years could not again be procured, and the material that presented itself from the entering class was not very promising as a whole. But in spite of all, the clubs were called together and practice begun and, although some of the men who had been depended on for most active support withdrew from the work entirely, there were those that still persevered and the grand success of the local concert was the result.

In regard to the concert nothing but praise can be said. A prominent newspaper characterized it as "the best concert the club had ever presented in Orono," and a fair judgment of it could not but lead to the admission that such was the truth. The experience has taught the student body a lesson it will not soon forget, that hard, conscientious work will bring its reward no matter how adverse the circumstances may seem. It is a lesson much needed just now, when the baseball men are about to begin work, with the question always before them as to how the most important position on the team is to be adequately filled. In view of the success that has attended the efforts of the musical clubs no grave apprehension should be felt for the future of the baseball team, for it is impossible to tell what a similar enthusiastic devotion to the interests of the college may develop before our men go into the field for the first game.

AND, while speaking of lessons learned, let no one forget that most impressive of object lessons which was presented at a 4.45 recitation, on the morning of February 12, before a rather heterogeneous body of students, who braved the freezing temperature to see the old Q. T. V. Hall, "totally destroyed by fire." It would have been plain to a five year old boy that, had the building in the process of destruction been one that the students valued highly, their efforts to save it would have been equally unavailing. There was evidently a need both of a more efficient machine for fighting the fire and of an organized company of trained men to operate it. It is quite natural to think of these facts with little apprehension, for nearly all of the buildings are to a great degree fire proof. But there is one building that is not fire proof, which is far from it, in fact, and that is the lighting station and heating plant, where there are a thousand and one chances for fire to develop.

It is difficult to imagine all of the inconveniences and expense that the destruction of the building would entail, but it is no imagination that all college exercises would have to be suspended for quite a period of time and that all the men in Oak Hall would have to leave college or board at inconvenient places, and the possibility of these two calamities befalling all or any part of the college body demands more adequate protection of their interests.

THE past year has been marked by the establishment of numerous clubs and societies for the purpose of bringing the interests of the University before the numerous high schools and academies of the state. This has been a step in the right direction and will, doubtless, bring forth good results.

For the furthering of this plan a new idea has come to the notice of THE CAMPUS. Every high school and academy judges to a great extent of the character of an institution from the different periodicals that are received from it at various times. In order that these clubs above referred to may be most efficient, they should see that every high school in their section of the state is furnished with all the literature issued by the student body or the university proper.

Just at this time when The Prism board is anxious to receive as many subscribers as possible, why not have a copy of the annual added to the reading room of every high school from which your club has graduates? In case there is no club in your section and there are two or more graduates in college from your school, why not club together and furnish the reading room of your fitting school with a copy of The Prism.

It is safe to say that The Prism has no superior as a college publication and that it most truly represents the character of the work done in the university. As such it should have a most conspicuous place among the fitting schools of the state.

Every instructor in the "prep." schools is very sure to have, upon the table of the reading room, the annual from his own college, in order to attract the attention of his students to his Alma Mater.

Let us have The Prism there also.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT.

First Appearance of the Season Scored a Great Success.

The Glee and Mandolin-Guitar clubs made their first appearance for the season in the town hall at Orono Friday evening, Feb. 15. Owing to the fact that the electric cars were not running, the attendance was not as large as it would otherwise have been. However, fully three hundred and fifty people heard the concert, many coming down from Old Town.

Every number on the program was well rendered, and the reading of Mr. Marsh was appreciated by all which was shown by the fact that he was repeatedly encored. Mr. Morton's solos were a feature of the concert, and the quartet composed of Messrs. Morton, Stewart, Baker and Soderstorm brought forth much applause.

On the whole the concert was the best that the University of Maine clubs have ever given at Orono. The instrumental club was even better than last year, and the duet by Messrs. Baker and Sawyer was of a high order.

The program ended with the "Maine Campus Song," the verses of which were composed by Dr. O. F. Lewis and set to the music of the Stein Song.

The program follows:

PART I.

JUNIOR M. AND E. MEETING.

The Junior Mechanical and Electrical Society held an interesting meeting February 19. Mr. A. W. Bachelder gave a very clear explanation of the Injector and several questions were read, concerning which lively discussions followed.

One of the new features of these meetings is the discussion of practical questions. These questions are gathered by the members of the society and handed to the president, who reads them at the meeting. Each man then adds his experience to the clearing up of the question and sometimes spirited debates ensue, thus getting the subject pretty thoroughly sifted.

These questions are of great benefit to the engineering student and relate to the useful points and "shop kinks" that he should know.

A very good interest is shown in the meetings by some of the Mechanical and Electrical Juniors but if more would take part the meetings would become much more beneficial to all.

Are you going to the "Prom"?
Norwood, '03, has left college.

Libby, '03, has returned to college.

Prof. Munson has entered Cornell University for a course of study.

Many new books have recently been added to the library. A list is published every week which will be found near the entrance.

The Prism subscription books are circulating among the students.

One would think to read the vivid account of the fire which was circulated throughout the state by the press that the event was of some importance. As a matter of fact the worst feature of the whole affair was the large number of serious colds which resulted; a point that the newspapers overlooked entirely in their accounts. Although the building was to a certain extent useful it could hardly have been given credit for being ornamental, so that little regret was felt among the students that it would no longer adorn the campus.

All college exercises were suspended on Feb. 22.

F. H. Lowell spent the latter part of last week visiting his parents at his home in Ellsworth, Me.

The Glee club is hard at work in preparation for its concert tour next month. Judging from the local concert it should meet with success wherever it shall appear.

Gray, '04, has returned to college, after teaching a term of school at Cape Rozier.

H. A. Buck, '01, has left college.

S. P. Davis and E. B. Ross were in Boston Thursday as representatives of the Maine Chapter of the Beta Theta Pi, at the New England "dorg" held at Hotel Lennox.

The number of candidates for the track team is increasing every day, and the last year men are beginning to train.

A number of changes have occurred recently in Oak Hall. Blaisdell and Durgin have taken possession of 102, just vacated by Buck, and their room on the third floor is occupied by Faunce and Woodbury.

Some of the most enthusiastic of the baseball men have already begun practice in the new gym. A call will soon be given for all of the new men to turn out for regular practice. At present the work will be light and under the direction of Capt. Carr.

A very large number of students were to be seen in the audience at the Opera House, Bangor, on last Tuesday evening. The attraction was "The Old Homestead," which was presented by the same company that has been playing it all winter in Boston.

It is reported that the college store is about to pass into other hands. In spite of the many criticisms of the private ownership of supply stores which are seen in the college press and of the many advantages which it is claimed are gained by the co-operative plan, the fact remains that Mr. Martin has conducted the U. of M. store very satisfactorily to all and it is to be hoped that his successor may follow in his footsteps.

The carpenters are at present laying the floor of the track in the gymnasium. It is a twenty lap track with eight inches of banking on the sides and twenty-four inches on the ends. The floor is made up of maple strips one inch square to prevent trouble from warping. Over this hard wood surface will be laid a special covering made especially for indoor tracks.

G. H. Davis and H. M. Carr were in Boston Friday, as representatives to the annual banquet of the Boston Alumni Chapter of the Kappa Sigma held in Young's Hotel.

The regular weekly meeting of the debating society was held in Coburn hall on Thursday evening. The subject for discussion was: Resolved that the passage of the ship subsidy bill will be for the general welfare of the United States. The regular disputants were: Affirmative, M. M. Blaisdell, J. H. Hilliard, negative, N. H. Adams, H. C. French.

White, '03, and Perkins, '04, spent Sunday at their homes.

A college orchestra has been formed and the following men selected: Moore, '02, 1st violin; Taylor, '04, 2nd violin; Soderstrom, '04, cornet; Bartlett, '01, trombone; Clark, '04, piano.

The following men were chosen from the different fraternities to attend the Sigma Alpha Epsilon reception: Phi Gamma Delta, Harvey, Green; Kappa Sigma, Goodwin, Bartlett; Beta Theta Pi, Crocker, McCullough; Alpha Tau Omega, Moore, Whittier; Delta Rho, Duren, Murphy; Phi Kappa Sigma, Martin, Boardman.

There has recently been placed in the director's office at the Experiment Station a quarter length, life size picture of Hon. William E. Hatch of Hannibal, Missouri. Mr. Hatch has sometimes been called the father of experiment stations because he was the author of the Hatch Act which established experiment stations at national expense in every state and territory. There has also been hung in the same room life-size pictures of Prof. W. E. Balentine, for many years professor of agriculture at this university and for the first three months after the establishment of the Maine Experiment Station its acting director, and of Dr. W. H. Jordan, who was director of the Maine station from 1885 to 1896 and at present director of the New York State Experiment Station.

The regular monthly meeting of the Art Guild which was to have been held February 20 was postponed on account of unfavorable weather conditions.

There is some probability that preparatory Greek will be offered next year by the Classical department. This will be a great benefit, for there are many students who would like to study Greek, but are prevented because they were unable to take it in their preparatory schools.

Prof. K. P. Harrington delivered his lecture on "The Roman Boy" at Castine, Feb. 22.

Dr. Drew has been offered the chair of biology, for the summer term, at the University of Chicago. This is a position of great honor, as the faculty for the summer term is composed of the picked talent of the country.

Prof. Huddilston has been greatly honored by having his book, Greek Tragedy in the Light of Vase Painting, translated into German by Frau Maria Hense, wife of Prof. Hense, who holds the chair of Classical Philology in the University of Freiburg.

The Buffalo City Association, Y. M. C. A., has established an information bureau for the convenience of all association men who will visit the exposition next summer. Through their agency good boarding places can be procured in Buffalo for about half the rates that will be charged by the hotels and boarding houses. Anyone intending to visit the exposition should feel free to consult the bureau, both as to lodgings and any other information of which they may be in need. Letters should be addressed to Y. M. C. A. Bureau of Information, 19 West Mohawk St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Miss Amy I. Maxfield, '03, has returned to college, having closed a successful term of school at Prospect.

F. S. Martin and P. E. McCarthy were in Lewiston Saturday, Feb. 23, attending the annual meeting of the Maine Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

The class debaters have been elected by all the classes as follows: Seniors, M. B. Merrill, G. H. Davis, W. H. Bennett; Juniors, P. E. McCarthy, H. E. Cole, W. H. Eldridge; alternate, M. M. Blaisdell; Sophomores, T. E. Leary, R. E. Strickland, R. M. Connor, Freshmen, R. M. Snell, E. B. Hall, H. H. Farwell; alternate, C. A. Perkins.

On the morning of Feb. 13 the Q. T. V. hall occupied by the Phi Kappa Sigma and Iota Phi societies as chapter rooms was burned. The cause of the fire is unknown. The building was insured for $500 which will cover all damages.

Prof. Huddilston will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Florence, Today and Yesterday," at Dexter, March 8. The lecture will be given under the auspices of the Women's Literary Club.

Prof. Rogers was absent from college during the whole of last week.

It is reported that the legislative committee on appropriations has considered the bill carrying an appropriation of $25,000 for this university and has voted unanimously to recommend to the House that it be passed.

S. C. Dinsmore spent the latter part of last week at his home in Dover, Me.

There is every indication that the Maine campus song, which was sung for the first time at the Orono Glee Club concert, is to become very popular among the students.

The regular weekly meeting of the Y. M. C. A., held on Feb. 20, was led by H. E. Cole. The subject was "Helpful Thought," from Romans 12. The meetings are growing in interest and attendance but there is plenty of room for others to help in the work.

There will be a religious service held in the Y. M. C. A. room, Oak Hall, on Sunday afternoon, March 3, at 3 o'clock. It is expected that Dr. Fernald will speak upon an interesting and helpful topic and an effort will be made to make the meeting well worth attending. All will be cordially welcomed.

A very pretty dancing party was given on Feb. 16 by the members of the faculty at the Mt. Vernon House. The committee in charge consisted of Mr. C. P. Weston, Mr. W. H. Caswell and Mr. R. M. Packard.

A pretty large delegation of students were to be found wandering the streets of Bangor last Sunday looking for a means of transportation to Orono. Most of them decided to give it up and remain in the city but a few of the more hardy decided to brave the storm and came up by team. They report their experiences as interesting to say the least.

Quite a number from the college heard the concert given by the Bowdoin Glee club at Bangor last week and all report it as being of a very high order.

BETA THETA PI AT BOSTON.

Amid cheers for Wooglin, their patron saint, nearly one hundred members of Beta Theta Pi dined and made merry around the banquet board at Hotel Lenox in Boston Thursday night.

The occasion was the annual reunion and "dorg" of the New England Association of the fraternity, which includes the chapters at Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth, Amherst, Brown, Wesleyan, Bowdoin, Boston University and the one at this university. These colleges were largely represented in the gathering, while a score of other colleges, from Columbia in New York to the University of California, had representatives present.

Hon. Harrison Hume, one of Dartmouth's best known alumni and former senator in the Maine Legislature from Washington county, acted as toastmaster and kept the company in a continual good humor by his witticisms. The speakers included Mayor Jas. H. Loomis of Chicopee, Rev. Glenn G. Atkins of Burlington, Vt., Hon. John H. Colby of Boston, Ex-Att'y Gen. W. T. Haines of Maine and representatives from nine New England colleges.

At the annual business meeting commendatory resolutions were passed, thanking Edward R. Hardy of Boston for his long and valued services to the fraternity. Resolutions were also passed on the death of Waldo E. Nason, the first president of the association.

These officers were elected: President, Hon. Fred H. Williams, Brown, '75, of Boston; secretary, Edwin G. McInnis, Harvard, '83, of Boston; treasurer, Frank E. Fuller, Dartmouth, '94, of Newton.

The University of Maine chapter was represented at the banquet by S. Prince Davis, '02, and Edwin B. Ross, '02. Other former Maine members in attendance were: W. Mc. Sawyer, ex-'01; N. P. Haskell, '76, of Portland; C. Lorraine Howes, '88, of Boston, and Hon. W. T. Haines, '76, of Waterville.

PAN-AMERICAN SPORTS.

During the past few weeks the plans for the athletic program of the Pan-American Exposition have become more complete and many new and interesting features have been added. The athletic grounds, which are large enough to include all kinds of college sports, are well under way. There will be a track, probably a mile in length, surrounding a park in which will be space for field sports, baseball diamonds and foot-ball gridirons, also a basin for high diving. An entire week will be devoted to bicycling, and many of the best riders in the world will take part. One of the leading foot-ball games will be the Carlisle Indian-Cornell game, the date of which has not been definitely settled as yet. Columbia University will take an active part, as it will probably send nine teams, among which are the base-ball, basket-ball, water polo, swimming, boxing, and lacrosse teams. During the summer a league consisting of Rochester, Toronto, and Oberlin colleges will play a series of base-ball games, and Columbia will also play three games. In the line of track athletics there will be a meet between the winner of the Intercollegiate Field and Track Meet, which includes nearly all the western colleges, and the winner of the Eastern Intercollegiate track meeting. During the summer an intercollegiate boxing tournament will be held and in addition the management hopes to have several rowing races. There are many other events which have not been published as yet, but are expected to be of great interest.

MEETING OF PHI KAPPA PHI.

A special meeting of the Phi Kappa Phi society was held in Coburn Hall Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 20, for the purpose of electing five men from the senior class to membership in the organization. The following were appointed: W. R. Bartlett, G. E. Goodwin, C. D. Harvey, Miss G. L. Frazer, H. H. Leonard.

It was voted to change the times of appointment to the society so that it shall come one-half year later, that is, five seniors will be appointed at the end of the fall term and five at the close of the year. This change is made so that the students having the highest rank may in every case be the ones that are elected to membership.

NEW YORK ALUMNI BANQUET.

The annual dinner of the New York Alumni association was held Friday evening, Feb. 15, at the Arena, in Manhattan. The occasion brought together the largest number of graduates that has ever assembled in New York for a similar event, and the success of the evening was, by general consent, placed to the credit of Charles G. Cushman of Brooklyn, who, as a reward, was elected president of the association for the coming year, retiring from the office of secretary.

The other new officers are: A. W. Sargent, '88, vice president; C. H. Nealley, '92, secretary and treasurer; F. O. Andrews, '90; A. J. Coffin, '90, and Edmund Clark, '91, executive committee.

The Rev. George L. Hanscome, the retiring president of the association, presided during the evening. After the report he made a witty speech and, as toastmaster, introduced Hon. L. C. Southard, H. W. Sewell, Dr. J. S. Ferguson, Reginald L. Fernald and Dr. A. W. Harris. The latter was very warmly received, and his remarks concerning the affairs of the University were heartily applauded.

The diners were:

Rev. G. L. Hanscome '85, Dr. A. W. Harris, president of the University, L. C. Southard, '75, F. L. Stevens, '84, L. G. Paine, '85, J. F. Lockwood, '86, Irving M. Clark, James D. Lazell, '87, A. W. Sargent, C. D. Blanchard, '88, A. H. White, F. O. Andrews, '90, A. J. Coffin, '90, C. S. Williams, '90, J. C. Graves, '91, W. W. Crosby, '93, M. W. Sewell, '75, C. G. Cushman, '89, O. E. Stanton, Edmund Clark, '91, I. H. Kilbourne, '91, W. R. Files, C. H. Nealley, W.

E. Healey, '92, A. T. Jordan, '94, H. H. Heywood, Lindsay Duncan, '97, W. N. Fowler, C. W. Crockett, '99, C. L. Small, '99, R. L. Fernald, '99, D. L. Philoon, 1900, Marshall Downing, '99, E. T. Dow, '90, J. Morrell, F. S. Tolman, '92, and Dr. J. S. Ferguson, '89.

Readers of THE CAMPUS will be interested in the following brief account of the brilliant career of Mr. Frank Eugene Kidder, the donor of the Kidder Scholarship and a former graduate of the university. Mr. Kidder was born at Bangor, Maine, in 1859. In early boyhood he showed marked interest in building operations and at the age of fifteen determined to adopt architecture for his profession. With this aim in view he took the civil engineering course at the University of Maine, then known as the Maine State College. In his senior year he took some work at Cornell along architectural lines but returned to Maine and graduated with his class in 1870.

The next fall he served as instructor in drawing at the university, severing his connections in the winter to enter the office of Ware & Van Brunt, in Boston, as a student. After a few months' work in this office he entered the employ of H. J. Hardenbergh, in New York city, where he worked until the following summer. In the following fall Mr. Kidder took a special course at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, embracing the architectural studies of both junior and senior years. Leaving the institution in 1881, he found his health so impaired by too close application to his studies that he was obliged to give up the office work which he had expected to do and seek work of a less confining nature. During the fall he conducted an elaborate series of tests on fire-proof materials, which were by far the most extensive that had been made up to that time. After completing these tests he entered the employ of Norcross Bros., where he served as draughtsman and engineer, and gained much practical information relating to architecture.

In 1884 Mr. Kidder accepted the important position of head draughtman under Mr. Vinal, city architect of Boston, resigning after two years to start in practice for himself. In his practice he met with good success until the spring of 1888, when a severe lung trouble caused him to seek the invigorating climate of Colorado, where he fortunately recovered his health.

At Denver, where he now resides, Mr. Kidder has gained a very enviable reputation as a practicing architect, but important as this work has been, he is best known as an author and structural engineer. Throughout his life Mr. Kidder has taken an active interest in the engineering problems of architecture, and has written many articles of value, his first article appearing in 1880.

Recognizing, while in college, the value of a practical Pocket Book for civil engineers, he determined to produce a book of this character for architects, and with this idea he entered into a contract with Messrs. John Wiley & Sons, for the publication of an Architect's and Builder's Pocket Book, now in the 13th edition and well known throughout the country. Mr. Kidder has also published Building Construction and Superintendence in two volumes, besides many papers for technical journals.

The profession of consulting architect in this country owes its origin to Mr. Kidder, and in this capacity, he is prominent among the leading architects of the west.

Although Mr. Kidder has been placed under the disadvantage of ill health he has accomplished a vast amount of work for a man of his age and already may be classed among the most noted men of his profession.

The February number of the American Electrician contains an illustrated article by W. L. Merrill, giving a method of measuring the vibrations of a telephone transmitter diaphragm. The apparatus described was built at this university and the experiments were performed in the physical laboratory. The main features of the device described consist of an oscillating mirror so attached to the transmitter diaphragm that a vibration of the latter causes a proportional oscillation of the mirror. A beam of light is made to strike the mirror in such a manner as to be reflected to a screen placed at a distance of twenty-five feet. A very slight vibration of the diaphragm, it will be seen, would be so multiplied by this arrangement as to cause a large travel of the light ray on the screen. Thus the ticking of a watch near the diaphragm gave a noticeable deflection, while sounds of ordinary intensity gave deflections of about two feet.

1901 CLASS MEETING.

An important meeting of the senior class was held in 22 Fernald Hall Thurs., Feb. 21, at which the principal business was the election of speakers for the class day exercises. The appointments were as follows: Valedictory,

It was voted to hold a concert and ball in Bangor during Commencement week and a permanent committee was appointed, which should have the matter in charge. The committee was made up as follows: Chairman, Samuel D. Thompson; associates, Percy R. Kellar, Bertrand C. Martin, Lewis G. Varney and Charles W. Bartlett.

A committee composed of H. P. Hoyt, S. D. Thompson and E. S. Watson was also appointed to procure samples and select a 1901 class pipe. The precedent established last year of smoking individual pipes in the class day exercises will not be followed this year, it being the nearly unanimous opinion of the present senior class that the significance of "smoking the pipe of peace" was entirely destroyed when the time-honored custom was departed from.

FRATERNITY INITIATION.

Local Society of Iota Phi Enters National Fraternity. The Many Guests Entertained.

The installation of Iota Phi society of the University of Maine as Maine Alpha Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, occurred at the Bangor Exchange Friday, Feb. 22, the exercises being attended by a large delegation from the chapters in Boston and Cambridge.

 Fred William Talbot, '04, Andover, Me.

THE FRATERNITY.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon was founded in 1856 at the University of Alabama and spread rapidly through the south; its prosperity was injured greatly by the Civil war, but upon the recovery of the new south it again commenced to grow rapidly. It was entirely confined to the south until 1882, being perhaps the most influential fraternity in that section of the country.

The sectional spirit was overcome by the founding of a chapter at Gettysburg, the first north of the Mason and Dixon line and since then it has spread throughout the north until now it is one of the first three in size and the most evenly distributed. The installation of Maine Alpha makes its 57th chapter.

Among the notable men on its rolls are President McKinley, John G. Carlisle, the late Judge W. Q. C. Lamar, Thos. L. Watson and Gov. John C. Beckham of Kentucky.

The supreme archon is Judge Henry C. Howne of the U. S. Court of Claims.

On Saturday evening a delightful reception and dancing party was held in honor of the guests at Society Hall, on Exchange street. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion which called out all of the best people of this vicinity in honor of the new fraternities' distinguished guests.

Those who attended were received by Mr. Stowell, of Hallowell, Mrs. A. W. Harris, Mrs. R. K. Jones, of Orono, Mrs. Geo. T. Thatcher, of Bangor, and James A. Stetson, of Boston.

Dancing was indulged in until midnight. Many students from the university were present. President Harris, Prof. Lewis and other members of the faculty were also in attendance.

A Men's Wear Store.

If we had to live off men's wear alone, we couldn't sell men's furnishings at the prices we do. We keep a men's wear store, however governed by the dry goods store idea. In Men's Underwear, Hosiery, Neckwear, Dress and Fancy Shirts, etc., we carry those sensible lines that men appreciate, and we sell them at economical dry goods prices.

Men's Suit Cases at About Half.

Comfort and Coolness.

Comfortable Summer Underwear, Men's Suits and drawers to keep cool in. We have a word to say about that sort. One can't keep cool when crawling underwear plays ragtime with his nerves. We have a special make of balbriggan for hot weather wear. You can keep cool in it with comfort.

Our Laundered and

at 50c and 75c each, are marvelous value, the full equal of those sold in "men's" stores at 75c and $1.00.
