EDITORIALS.

THE most delightful part of our college year is again with us. From the monotony of the long winter months we have emerged to the many interests and excitements of spring. The attractions in athletics are of interest to us all and as the days grow longer and warmer we find our natural tendency is to devote our time to anything but study. This is but natural and the most confirmed "plugger" must give way to the poetic influences of the warm evenings and to the invigorating elements of out-of-door life. To our enjoyments here is added the thought of our summer vacation, now so close at hand. How gladly we turn from the dull routine of study to the much needed recreation which a change of occupation will give us, and how delightful seem the summer sports which we hope to enjoy. With the approach of vacation comes the realization that the "Finals" are not far away, but even the thought of the week's "solid plugging" before the examinations and the terror of complete failure cannot lessen our enjoyment to a great degree. To those who have studied hard and conscientiously during the term the final grind will be a valuable review but to those who have neglected their studies a week's spasmodic study will amount to but little. They may remember facts enough to pass the examination but these facts will be in such a tangled condition they will be readily forgotten. Bare facts are difficult to remember. We are all inclined to neglect lessons which we ought to learn, it is so easy to put them off from day to day. Doubtless, if we could but think so, our best policy would be to learn our subjects bit by bit as they come and examinations would then mean but little to us. If the fault has occurred, however, the best we can do is to take a systematic review of our subjects along with plenty of exercise and not allow the approaching examinations to discourage us.

THERE is a time in the history of nearly every successful college organization when everything seems working against its advancement and its future looks discouraging. Perhaps this is a necessary element of the growth of the organization, for in no other way could its resources be so well developed and its real worth and character shown. It has been our experience that the college enterprises which have lived through the downs as well as the ups are the ones which are the most essential to our college life. It takes a certain amount of adversity to bring out the resources of a man or an organization.

Our musical clubs have had their dark day during the past winter, but instead of giving way to what seemed inevitable defeat, they stuck pluckily to it and have met with unquestionable success. The clubs lost several of their best men by graduation and the outlook was so discouraging it was difficult to get a man to undertake their management. Several men accepted the position and then resigned when they realized the amount of work the management of the clubs would involve. Late in the season the present manager undertook the work. At this time, when the clubs should have been well organized, a dreary outlook was presented. Some of the oldest members of the clubs and those who should have had the clubs' interests at heart pulled out at this critical point. Other candidates came forward but some did not seem to realize that a lot of hard work was necessary and the number of candidates was so small that the clubs could not afford to lose any of these men. But little interest was shown in practice and night after night the rehearsals promised only failure. In spite of these difficulties a successful concert was given, which encouraged the members of the musical clubs to a great extent. The men were now more willing to attend rehearsals and the work progressed rapidly. The critical point was passed and in a short time the clubs were on a firm basis. It is not the purpose of this article to give a review of the work done by them but rather to call attention to the influence which a few interested men may hold over our college enterprises. It may be helpful to many to notice the example we have had this year of what may be accomplished by the faithful work of a few men. It is but a short step from our college home to the outside world and the most of us will probably, sooner or later, meet discouraging prospects. When that time comes let us not become discouraged but stick by our job and, like the musical clubs, win out to success.

Lost! 1902 Prism!

The Seniors' final examinations are posted; they begin May 20th.

The Sophomores expect their class canes to arrive at any time.

The stars and stripes have been flying from the flagstaff during the past week.

A large party of students attended the Glee Club concert in Bangor on the evening of May third.

The Botany students are working hard on their collection of specimens.

A party of Law School students attended the game between U. of M. and Colby Wednesday. All appeared satisfied with the result.

Dyer, '02, has accepted a position for the summer in Bangor and left Thursday to begin his duties.

The final examinations are to begin May 28th. This is somewhat earlier than in former years.

Kelley, '02, has purchased a new bicycle of the Stearns' make. This is one of the prettiest wheels to be seen on the campus.

The carpenters are improving the exterior view of the Gym by putting the finishings on round the windows.

Lowe, '02, met with an accident while riding his wheel on the cinder track Thursday evening. While going at a great speed his wheel became uncontrollable and the result was a broken pedal and a bad wound on the knee.

The shrubbery about the campus has received a much needed pruning.

Cunningham, '03, has left college for a few days.

A training table has been provided for the track athletes who board in Oak Hall. It is impossible for the boys to do hard work unless they have hearty food.

The tennis courts present a very busy appearance, especially during the early part of the evening.

The invitations for the Ivy Day exercises are being distributed among the members of the Sophomore class.

The Non-Fraternity men have put their tennis court in good condition and deserve much credit for their work.

A large party of students went to Bangor Wednesday after the ball game and celebrated their victory in grand style. They returned on the 11.30 train.

Manager Peck has the next fall's football schedule nearly completed.

McCready, '03, has left college for the remainder of the term.

Professors Rogers and Estabrooke are planning to take a bicycle tour through England, Scotland and Ireland during the coming summer.

Montgomery, '03, has returned to college after a month's leave of absence.

At a meeting of the Sophomore class held recently it was decided to hold an Ivy Day hop in the new Gym. A committee, consisting of H. K. Crocker, G. E. Tucker, R. L. Cooper, T. E. Leary and S. C. Dinsmore, was appointed to make arrangements. Frank McCullough was appointed floor director. Although this is something new on the Ivy Day program it is hoped that it will become a class custom in the future.

Cooper, '03, made a visit to his home in Belfast recently.

Go to your mark! Get set! Bang!

Owing to a delay at the printers the Prism is unusually late this year but it is now expected any day.

The final debate, May 7, was very interesting and all who went felt amply repaid for their trouble.

The long looked for military instructor has arrived and Sophomores and Freshmen wear long faces in consequence.

Cox, ex-'04, is pitching in great style for Georgetown this season. He intends spending the summer in Houlton and will pitch on that team.

The baseball team has new caps and some of the men have new suits.

The result of the Freshman-Sophomore meet shows that there is some good material in the Freshman class and they will undoubtedly make a good showing in the Intercollegiate meet.

The final meeting of the Junior Mechanical and Electrical Engineering Society was held May 14. The last few meetings have been open to the Sophomores of the Mechanical and Electrical courses. Although this society has been founded but two years it has become one of the popular college organizations. The informal discussion of such topics as interested the engineering students was of great benefit and many instructive ideas were picked up by the members. It is hoped that the present Sophomores will take an active part in holding a series of interesting meetings next year.

At the last meeting of the Y. M. C. A. held in the association's room, Oak Hall, May 9, Mr. F. Boyd Edwards, a graduate of Williams' College, class of 1900, and now one of the International secretaries of the Young Men's Christian Association, was present and spoke of the moral conditions in our large cities, the need of strong minded men in all branches of life and of men who are true to their convictions.

On May 4 a very pretty dancing party was given at the Mt. Vernon House by the young ladies society. A large number were present and a very enjoyable evening was passed. The committee in charge consisted of Miss Hamlin, Miss Fitzgerald and Miss Webber.

May 2 Dr. Lewis left for Boston, returning the following Tuesday with Mr. Farley, the football coach for the coming season.

The custom of hanging May baskets has not yet gone out of fashion as some of the faculty were pleasantly remembered on the evening of May first.

Mr. W. C. Clark, 1900, was on the campus last week.

Professor K. P. Harrington leaves the latter part of May for a trip through Italy.

C. A. Perkins, '04, enjoyed a visit from his mother last week.

Mr. A. L. Grover, '99, one of the representative athletes of the University of Maine, arrived Saturday to assist in coaching the men for the coming athletic meets, especially the Worcester meet.

There are rumors of a rise in bedding at Oak Hall.

Quite a number who intend entering college next fall have been on the campus looking over this place.

Macfadden, '04, has left college for the remainder of the year and has accepted a position as principal of a grammar school in Jackman, Maine.

Quite a large number of students attended the dance given in Monitor Hall Saturday evening, May 4.

The athletic field presented a very lively appearance on Tuesday afternoon of last week, when football, baseball and track men were out for practice. Coach Farley was there and although the time was short he gave the men some valuable hints and outlined his policy for the coming season. It is to be regretted that he could not stay longer but even this short visit will, doubtless, prove of great value to the team.

R. M. Connor, '03, has left college to spend the summer with a surveying party at Rumford Falls.

The list of names for the tennis tournament is posted and some close and exciting contests may be looked for.

C. W. Stowell, '00, was on the campus recently.

Frank J. Suite of Harvard has been on the campus recently, visiting friends.

The new "Gym" has been lighted up for a few evenings during the past week.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

To all who are not now subscribers to THE CAMPUS the following special offer is made: THE CAMPUS will be sent for the remainder of this school year and next year for one year's subscription, $1.50.

This will include the special Commencement number.

Send your name and address to P. E. McCarthy, Business Mgr.

MILITARY.

It has been so long since we have had military drill at the U. of M. that the rumors of military instructors and military drill come to mean but little to us. The myth, however, has developed into reality in the person of General

Runkle who, accompanied by his wife, arrived on the campus last week. At present General and Mrs. Runkle are stopping at Bangor but expect to move to Orono as soon as proper accommodations can be provided. A military instructor has long been needed and General Runkle is received with a general feeling of satisfaction. Nothing very definite can be

TENNIS.

The interest in tennis is increasing in a very satisfactory manner. The entries in the tennis tournament closed May 7. The candidates are getting in some hard work and an interesting contest is expected. The preliminaries are all played off, the latest possible date for them stated in regard to military drill. It is so near the close of the year that probably no regular drill will be held. After the General gets settled he intends, first of all, to overhaul the arms and equipages and put the arsenal in a presentable shape. This will take nearly the rest of the term as the accouterments are in bad condition.

being May 15. Appropriate medals will be awarded to the winners in singles and doubles. These medals are given through the generosity of Hon. Louis C. Southard, a prominent lawyer of Boston, who graduated from here in the class of 1875.

nearly as much as there should be. It is hoped that the awarding of these medals will stimulate a greater interest in the sport and prove a sufficient incentive to send a team to the Maine Intercollegiate Tournament. We have at present seven tennis courts belonging to the various fraternities and quite a good number of students who are interested in the game. It seems as though these conditions, when coupled with the proper degree of enthusiasm, would be able to produce a team capable of making a good showing against the other Maine colleges. The present outlook seems to show that the interest of the students in tennis will continue to increase. If this be the case the realization of such a team will probably come in the near future.

OUR MUSICAL CLUBS.

One of the most successful concerts of the season was given by the musical clubs at City hall, Bangor, May 3. Effort had been made to make this concert the best of the season and considerable new music was introduced with good success. Bangor is becoming more and more a college town, and on every occasion gives a hearty support to college enterprises. The audience which gathered to hear the boys' selections was large and enthusiastic and apparently it was well pleased with the entertainment.

After the concert Pullen's orchestra furnished music for an informal hop. Just the right number of people were present to make the dance one of the most enjoyable held in Bangor this season. Nothing but praise was heard of the evening's entertainment and many expressed regrets that this was the last of college entertainments to be held in Bangor this spring. The last concert of the season was given at Oldtown, May 11, under the auspices of the high school. The same program was used as at Bangor with the same good results. The program as given is as follows:

The musical clubs labored under difficulties at the beginning of the year, but are now on a good, firm standing. The results have been very satisfactory and considerable advancement made. They have opened a new field in the down river cities and towns, and opened many people's eyes that there is such an organization as a musical club here and a good one, too. They have made one important point in gaining recognition from the student body as an organization worthy to wear a distinctive emblem.

In regard to the character of the work, it has been very good for the number of men who have taken part. The instrumental club has done particularly well. Next year there is not a man lost by graduation and several new men intend entering here who possess musical ability. The election of officers occurs this month, and it is hoped to begin work early in the fall next year. Everything points to having some unusually good musical clubs next year.

1901 CHAMPIONS IN DEBATE.

The closing debate in the interclass series took place in the chapel Tuesday evening, May 7, at 7.30. As the readers of THE CAMPUS will remember, the two previous debates have been won by the representatives of the senior and sophomore classes, so that the winners of this debate became the inter-class champions. Early in the year, the Debating Society endeavored to arouse an added interest in class debates by offering to the inter-class champions a medal, suitably engraved with the class numerals and the names of the men representing that class.

This action of the debating society has been productive of very good results and the debates as a whole have been of a high order, showing carefulness of preparation and conscientious work. In the closing debate the question was: Resolved, That the Integrity of the Chinese Empire Should Be Maintained.

The sophomores took the affirmative and were represented by Messrs. R. M. Connor, R. E. Strickland and T. E. Leary, while the negative was ably defended by the following representatives of the senior class, viz.: M. J. Bartlett, G. H. Davis and M. B. Merrill.

Both sides did themselves great credit and Dr. Fernald, speaking for the judges, complimented the speakers upon both sides highly for the ability displayed, and, while appreciating the excellent work of both teams, gave the decision of the judges in favor of the negative. This speaks well for 1901, since this is the second time that she has held the championship in inter-class debate, and the representatives of the class deserve great praise for their conscientious efforts. The Debating society should also be congratulated upon the success of its efforts and it is the sincere hope of THE CAMPUS that even greater interest will be manifested in debate next year than this, and that arrangements may be made by which "Maine" will be represented, in succeeding years, in intercollegiate debating contests.

ATHLETICS.

U. of M. 11; Kent's Hill 1.

It was a small sized crowd that witnessed the defeat of the Kent's Hill base ball team May 4th, but considering the unfavorable weather for ball playing this fact was not to be wondered at. The visitors showed up fairly well considering the amount of practice they had had, this game being only the second they had played this season. Havey pitched for Kent's Hill and is an exceptionally good man. His speed was good and his curves proved puzzlers for the Maine boys a large part of the time. Manter played a star game at second, taking everything that came his way without an error.

Ross, '01, pitched a good game for the home team striking out eleven and holding the visitors down to three hits. The first three of the visitors who came to the bat were promptly struck out. Holmes was the first man up from the home team. He got in the way of the ball and went to first. Carr sent a hot grounder to shortstop which he fumbled; Chase reached first on an error and Holmes scored. Then came a combination of hits and errors which started a sort of merry-go-round and when the dust cleared away there were six scores on the home team's list. Then the boys from Kent's Hill pulled themselves together and shut out the U. of M. boys until the seventh inning when four more scores were added to our list. The next inning we scored once. The work of the home team was fairly good. The visitors were unable to hit either Ross or Webber and for this reason the game was not of great interest. Following is the score:

U. of M. 9, Colby 8.

Yes U. of M. beat Colby, anyone would have told you that from the young Arab who skips the gate to the old standby who was a famous ball player in his young days. The game was one of the most interesting ever played on Alumni Field and was one of those hair lifting kind that raises you right off from the soft seats in the grand stand. For the last two seasons

Colby has failed to win a game from U. of M. at base ball. Wednesday the Colby team came on our campus with the determination to do so or die, with them came a goodly crowd of "rooters" to assist their team in "rubbing it into U. of M." The support they gave however was of little value for their cheers were drowned by those of the Maine boys.

Rice was the first man up for Colby and contented himself with a pretty single to left field. Saunders bunted one toward Webber and was out first and Rice reached second. Newenham was retired by Webber to first. Meserve fanned but the last ball went wild and he got first while Rice scored. Cowing touched Webber for a single but reached second before the ball was returned and Meserve went home. Webber pulled himself together and the visitors got no more scores the first inning.

Holmes was first man up for Maine and went to first on four balls and stole second on a passed ball. Then the crowd opened and the cheers were deafening. Carr likewise walked, advanced to second on a passed ball while Holmes went third. Chase sent a long hit to Saunders who swallowed it up but Holmes scored. Frisky sent a hot one to short stop but got first. Webber knocked a pretty two bagger, scoring Carr and tying the score. Anyone might have thought that the crowd had suddenly gone mad such an uproar was heard at this point of the game. Dorticos got a two bagger and Frisky tried to steal third but was caught. Bachelder helped along the good work by a base hit and Webber scored. Russell hoping to distinguish himself sent the ball on a prospective tour into right field and Dorticos and Bachelder circled home. Ross left Russell on third by getting out at first. Surely it looked as though U. of M. had an easy thing for they gained three more scores the second inning while Colby failed to score but the Colby men pulled together and the home team got but one more score which was in the fifth inning. Colby scored once in the sixth and got four more in the seventh by a lot of errors and bad throws. In the ninth inning Colby got one more and with two men gone had Newenham at third and Meserve at the bat. Meserve sent a pretty one to center. Holmes got it on the bounce and threwed home just in time to keep Newenham from tying the score. The game was won but the margin was very narrow. The work of both teams was loose at times. Webber pitched a fine game as did Newenham; Davis, otherwise known as Frisky, played a star game making a wonderful catch of a foul. After the game it seemed as though the 4th of July had arrived before its time for every one was busy celebrating with guns, horns, drums and most anything that would make a respectable noise. Following is the score:

FOOTBALL.

The athletic field presents a scene of unusual activity these afternoons, when the football, baseball and track teams are hard at work under the respective coaches. The football men have been out several afternoons during the past two weeks in uniforms, doing light practice work in lining up, punting and catching punts and getting some points to be developed in next fall's practice. Coach Farley spent a few days with the men last week, laying before them a plan of the work to be done next fall and giving them points on the game to be remembered and developed during the summer vacation. Mr. Farley has had much experience in football and will, no doubt, make a winning team of the men that turn out to receive instructions under him. By next graduation we lose only two 'varsity men, Capt. Wormal and G. H. Davis. This will be a big loss to the team but, with those remaining and of those in view who intend entering the University who have had football training in the preparatory schools, abundant material will be at hand from which to select a team, and everything at present predicts a great season for 1901.

THE DUAL MEET.

The first Athletic Meet for the season was held on the athletic field, Saturday forenoon, May 4th, the contesting parties being teams from the Sophomore and Freshman classes. The day was not an ideal one for such an occasion as it was rather too cold for the men to get into the different events with the snap that is necessary to make such a meeting a success, and the different races were run in a somewhat prolonged manner. A high wind was blowing at the time and greatly hindered the hurdle races, which was one of the causes of the slowness in which these events took place. But for all this the contestants did very good work and with good hard training many of them will be made fast men before they leave college.

This meet was the first athletic meet held between the two lower classes and we hope that in after years it will become an established custom as much as the annual base ball game. In past years owing to the absence of a gymnasium the men could not be brought together for training in preparation for such an event, and no interest was manifested in this direction. But with our new gymnasium, a place where both teams can receive the same amount of training during the winter, some very interesting meets of this kind are predicted for the future.

The first event was started at 9.30 o'clock and the last one was run off about 11.30 o'clock.

The sophomores led the freshmen in the number of points up to the last two events, in which the freshmen won out by eight points, making a total of 71 to 63 points. Following is the summary of the events:

INTERCLASS MEET.

The annual interclass meet was held Saturday afternoon on Alumni field. The day was cold and very disagreeable for the men. The attendance was not large yet a very successful meet was held. On the whole the meet was too one-sided to admit of much rivalry but at a few points a sharp competition took place. Aside from establishing the class championship the meet was important as to a great extent it decided the Worcester team. It was evidently the freshmen's "day off" and some were disappointed in the way in which they showed up, yet some good work was done by them. The juniors were easy winners as the score shows, leading the list by 44 points. The other three classes were evenly matched.

Four new records were made. Harris, '03, ran the quarter-mile in 55 2-5 s., which was 3-5 s. lower than the former record. G. H. Davis, '01, lowered the record for the 220-yard low hurdles from 28 2-5 s. to 28 1-5 s. Lawrence, '04, ran the two-mile race in 11.47 s., lowering the former record by seven seconds. Kelley, '02, rode the two-mile bicycle race in 5 m., 43 s., which was 4 2-5 s. faster than the former record.

A. R. Davis, '02, was the individual star of the meet, he alone winning seventeen points. This was especially good work, for he had been on the baseball team all the season and had trained for track events but little. He easily beat Parker, '04, in the pole vault and tied Soderstrom, '04, in the high jump. These men were supposed to hold these places easily and had been training for them all the spring. The work of Harris, '03, also deserves notice, he winning three first places and getting fifteen points out of the seventeen gotten by his class. Butman, '02, also made a good showing, running the mile in the time of the former record.
