The college office is open from 8.00 to 12.00 A.M., also from 1.30 to 5.00 P.M., but only matters of special importance should be submitted during the latter hours.

EDITORIALS.

THE CAMPUS desires to call the attention of a few thoughtless students who make a practice of riding to the middle of the campus ground and instead of following in the roads and paths made for that purpose are making beaten paths across our beautiful campus. Every member of the university should be rightfully proud of the beauty of our campus and appreciate the work that is being done to make our college grounds attractive and tidy and it seems as though those to whom this applies could at least walk from one of the waiting rooms to Wingate Hall for the sake of the looks of the thing if nothing more.

WE are rapidly nearing the end of the football season, our last 'varsity game being played Nov. 16 and after that only the smaller class games remain. We can feel only satisfaction at the results of the season for we have been successful, far more so than we ever dared anticipate.

The results of the Massachusetts trip were not all that could be desired, yet we ought not to feel disappointed as we can't expect to win all of the games played. Undoubtedly if the team had played as strong a game against Tufts as against some of the Maine colleges Tufts would have had no easy victory, but a football team, like a person, has its poor days once in a while and it was much better to have it when we did than to suffer defeat at the hands of one of the Maine colleges.

Our failure to play Harvard was something of a disappointment yet we were in no way to blame. Harvard had no regular game scheduled with us; she only promised to play us a practice game but at the last moment, finding herself weak when against the large college teams, she decided to cancel the game with us and use the time in practice for the more important games she had to play.

The result of the game with Colby last Saturday showed that our team was in good condition for the final game of the season. Colby played a gritty game and showed a good spirit but her team is very weak from the loss of so many men. Colby has been up against hard luck all the season and the fact that she has maintained a football team in spite of the many drawbacks she has encountered shows that she has a spirit that other colleges may well respect. This weakness did not necessitate our team being played to its limit and our players suffered no injuries whatever from the game.

IT is true that U. of M. students very generally patronize those advertisers who help maintain the college paper by their financial assistance. This idea of giving our trade to those who advertise with us has been, let us hope, deeply impressed on the older members of the college and we want to keep the idea clearly before the younger members. THE CAMPUS, the Prism, the Y. M. C. A. handbook, is possible only through the financial aid of our advertisers or a liberal donation from our pocketbooks. When we stop to consider that every branch of trade in which we students are interested is represented in THE CAMPUS by the advertisement of some of the leading tradesmen of that branch, it can but appeal to us that we should patronize them. Before doing your trading take a look at the advertisements in THE CAMPUS and if possible do your buying there, not forgetting to mention why you went there. This little attention makes the tradesman only too glad to give THE CAMPUS his financial aid and incidentally bring his name before the students and faculty.

IN an institution like the University of Maine, where ninety-five per cent. of the students are engaged in engineering work, there is too great a tendency to devote the whole attention to studies that bear directly on the course chosen. We should remember that there are other sides to a broad education besides the attainment of skill and knowledge in purely engineering work. This skill and knowledge is primarily the technical student's object but he should not sacrifice a legible handwriting, correct spelling and a knowledge of English grammar, to its attainment. These things are absolutely essential to any man's education whether he be an engineer or a college professor. It is right here in the every day life of the institution that there are opportunities offered for improvement in these deficiencies. The undergraduate publications offer the very best practice possible in journalistic work. If you work hard and conscientiously for a position on THE CAMPUS editorial staff, whether you make it or not, you will gain an accuracy and facility in writing which you could never attain by writing themes for the head of the English department. THE CAMPUS would like to impress on the members of the lower classes the opportunity which is thus presented and to urge them to think carefully about the matter. The managing editor will gladly meet any one interested and assign them subjects to write up or assist them in any way possible.

NO SUCCESSOR SELECTED.

A certain paper in the state of Maine recently printed with all due resemblance of seriousness that: "It is announced that the successor of Dr. Harris at the University of Maine will be Dr. F. W. Lewis." Then follows a brief account of this gentleman's characteristics. It is difficult to understand where this "announcement" could have been made as Hon. Henry Lord, chairman of the committee to select a successor to Dr. Harris, says that no selection has been made and that no gentleman by that name has even been considered as a possible successor to Dr. Harris. Mr. Lord states that there are several candidates for the position but as yet no man is given the preference of the others.

The committee is busily engaged in considering candidates but as there is no particular hurry the selection will be made with the greatest of care and when a decision is made the public will doubtless be informed. As much as up to date news is to be desired it is well not to jump at conclusions too quickly, or news of the above unsubstantial and annoying kind will be the result.

COMPLIMENTARY BANQUET.

The plans are well in hand for the complimentary banquet which is to be tendered to President Harris at the Bangor House, Nov. 22, by the Penobscot Valley Alumni association of the University of Maine.

DR. W. H. JORDAN.

Director of the New York Experiment Station.

Formal invitations have been given to many prominent state officials, including Gov. Hill and members of the executive council, to the presidents of the three other Maine colleges and to Senator Hale, Congressmen Powers, Burleigh and Littlefield and it is expected there will be a large gathering of the state's distinguished men present. The preliminary notices to the members of the board of trustees, members of the faculty and alumni in Maine, all of whom are eligible to membership in the Penobscot association, have been sent out by the secretary, Charles A. Dillingham, and these will be followed by a later notice to be accompanied by a reply postal for definite information as to each one's intention.

Hon. William T. Haines will act as toastmaster at the banquet. Several prominent alumni from without the state, including Hon. L. C. Southard, president of the Boston Alumni association, and Dr. W. H. Jordan, director of the New York Experiment station, have signified their intention of being present.

Football !! Well. I guess !

Freshmen say: Where are those peanuts?

P. D. Simpson, '03, has returned to college after a short illness.

Severe colds seem to be the rage in Oak Hall. A new roof has been put upon the observatory during the past week.

Many of the students attended the ball given by the graduating class of the Orono High school.

Clifford, '04, shot a nice buck deer while out hunting near Old Town trotting park on Saturday, Nov. 9. Few appreciate the position of our college; where we can be in the city one hour and shoot deer the next.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity have secured rooms in Old Town to replace those lost in the burning of the old Q. T. V. building last winter.

Coach Farley refereed the Bates-Bowdoin game at Lewiston last Saturday.

The new bath room at Oak Hall is a very good one, but would be more appreciated if it were a little warmer.

F. W. Talbot was confined to his room for a few days last week with a bad cold.

F. E. Holmes and P. E. McCarthy were on a hunting trip at Pushaw last week.

A great many of the students attended the Bangor-Portland game at Bangor last Saturday.

While at Bangor the Portland football team visited the campus and spent some time inspecting the different buildings.

Several of the Portland high alumni are in the university at present.

The following members of the sophomore class have been chosen by the faculty to take part in the Prentiss Prize Declamation: I. M. Bearce, C. J. Giles, H. S. Gregory, J. H. Quimby, H. S. Taylor, J. H. Sawyer, R. S. Baker, H. D. Haley.

Dr. J. J. Lewis was on the campus recently, visiting his son, Prof. O. F. Lewis.

Prof. Munson attended the Maine Pomological meeting at Dexter last week. His display of fruit and chrysanthemums attracted much attention.

The engagement is announced of Prof. Munson to Miss Mattie Allen of Orono. Congratulations.

The new battalion band is progressing finely under the direction of Mr. Adams of Bangor. Mr. S. P. Graves is in charge of the band at present. The members have nearly all been selected and regular practice is now the order of the day.

On Tuesday morning in chapel the various committees on arrangements for the special train to Bowdoin reported amid much enthusiasm. Let's make Nov. 16 a red letter day.

The interior of the machine shop has been undergoing an overhauling during the last week. The small steam engine has been belted direct to the main shaft, thus saving the bother of changing a belt every time the large engine was run and the machinery in the shop was not in use.

Everybody is waiting eagerly for Thanksgiving recess. Are you going home to help eat the family turkey?

Alan L. Bird, '00, was seen on the campus a few days ago. He is studying law in Houlton.

The tickets to Bowdoin on the special train are limited to 350.

AUTUMN DAYS.

Once we were glad. The year was young;
'Twas when the smiling spring had sprung;
But now it's old, for, sad to tell,
The melancholy fall has fell.

THE MUSICAL CLUBS.

With the success of last year to look back upon, the musical clubs this year have lost no time in getting underway.

The first concert will be given in Orono Nov. 23.

R. C. Baker has been elected leader of the Glee Club and Prof. K. P. Harrington director, under whose combined supervision it is doing fine work. The prospects are very good as there are from sixteen to twenty men out at every rehearsal.

The instrumental clubs under the leadership of E. L. Baker are also doing good work.

Manager Hinchliffe has been to Aroostook county and arranged for concerts in Brownville, Patten, Caribou, Presque Isle and Fort Fairfield. This trip is expected to take place about Dec. 1.

The following men have been chosen for the clubs:

First tenors: H. J. Hinchliffe, J. H. McClure, T. Thatcher, R. R. Drummond, C. L. Kittredge. Second tenors: A. E. Silver, G. L. Soderstrom, C. D. Kittredge, E. L. Baker. First bases: F. W. Kallom, A. D. Case, S. E. Patrick, W. Fullom. Second bases: E. C. Brown, C. D. Smith, R. H. Flynt, R. C. Baker. Substitutes, second tenors, Hall, Munsen; first bass, Ames; second bass, McFarlane.

MANDOLIN CLUB.

First mandolin: Dorticos, Taylor, Baker, Silver, Alton, Collins. Second mandolins: Chandler, Drummond, McClure, Thomas. Guitars: Kittredge, Huot, Jones, Case. Cello: Sprague.

BANJO CLUB.

First banjo: Flynt, Baker, Huot. Second banjo: Dorticos, Wilson. Guitars: Kittredge, Jones, Case. Substitutes: Clark, Moody.

PRESIDENTS IN COUNCIL.

The forty-fifth annual meeting of the Association of Colleges in New England was in session at Trinity College, Nov. 8 and 9.

The association is composed of New England college presidents and one member of the faculty of each as a delegate. The association meets annually at each college in turn and the members are the guests of the college where the meetings are held. The association met at Trinity College in 1888, and last year at Clark University, Worcester. The president of the college whose guests the members of the association are presides over the meetings, which are devoted to the discussion of problems of college management, the curriculum, etc.

The object of the association is the interchange of views on the government and administration of seats of learning, such as electives or obligatory studies, discipline, executive management, control by the faculty and various matters which affect all collegiate institutions. It has been found that much good results from these meetings, will bring the several colleges into closer relations and tend to unite them in a bond of sympathy. The subjects to be discussed are arranged beforehand, so that each member in attendance comes prepared to take part in the discussion of such topics as he is particularly interested in. The meetings are otherwise informal and the discussion is of a general character as a rule. There are no written papers and the meeting avoids the formality of passing resolutions or taking any formal recorded action. It is known, however, that the views of members on important matters, as expressed at these meetings, bring forth fruit frequently in the management and control of college represented in the association.

Those present, with the colleges they represent, are as follows:

Harvard University—President Charles W. Eliot, LL. D.; Morris H. Morgan, Ph. D., professor of philology.

Yale University—President Arthur Twining Hadley, LL. D.; T. D. Seymour, LL. D., professor of Greek.

Brown University—President W. H. P. Faunce, D. D.; Professor Lorenzo Sears, L. H. D.

Williams College—Acting President John H. Hewitt, LL. D.; Orlando M. Fernald, LL. D., professor of Greek.

Amherst College—Elijah P. Harris, Ph. D., LL. D., professor of chemistry.

Trinity College—President G. Williamson Smith, D. D.; Flavel S. Luther, Ph. D., professor of mathematics.

Wesleyan University—President Bradford Paul Raymond, D. D., LL. D.; William North Rice, Ph. D., LL. D., professor of geology.

Dartmouth College—President William Jewett Tucker, D. D.; Ernest Fox Nichols, S. C. D., professor of physics.

Tufts College—President Elmer H. Capen, D. D.; Professor Edwin C. Bolles, Ph. D., lecturer in English history.

Boston University—President William F. Warren, LL. D.; J. R. Taylor, A. M., professor of Greek.

Bowdoin College—President William DeWitt Hyde, D. D.; C. C. Hutchins, A. M., professor of physics.

Clark University—Professor William E. Story.

University of Vermont—President Matthew Henry Buckham, D. D.; Professor George E. Howes, Ph. D.

Middlebury College—President Ezra Brainard, LL. D.; W. E. Howard, LL. D., professor of political science.

President G. Stanley Hall of Clark University was unable to attend.

HORTICULTURAL NOTES.

The time spent in a visit to the Horticultural Building is not wasted even if one is not particularly interested in that branch of the college. The display of chrysanthemums and carnations is very beautiful and Mr. Shaw, who has had them in charge, is to be congratulated on his success.

One entire room is devoted to chrysanthemums and their beauty cannot be properly described. There are about thirty varieties and blossoms of nearly every color. Some of the large yellow and white ones are from six to eight inches in diameter, with stems four feet in length. Considerable attention has been paid to this flower and the culture of so many varieties is for the purpose of finding those best suited for cultivation in this part of the country. While the flowers are not raised as a money-making scheme, a ready sale is found for them. The demand is particularly good at Thanksgiving, as many students carry a few choice blossoms home with them as a present to their lady friends. It is usually impossible to fill the demand but as there are over three thousand blossoms at present it seems as though every one who desired it could have a fine bouquet this year.

Another room is filled with carnations and their sweet perfume is in evidence in the air. There are about five hundred of these plants and some of the larger blossoms are three inches across them. There are a wide range of colors shown which give a very pleasing effect. The same experiment with the different varieties is being tried as with the chrysanthemums.

The next room contains plants which are a little more prosy than the foregoing, though perhaps as practical, about three hundred tomato plants. This experiment in hybrid tomatoes is quite extensive and consists in the crossing of different varieties to obtain new varieties which shall possess the favorable characteristics of both.

Besides these plants mentioned there are the usual number of palms, ferns and smaller flowers.

The work of the horticultural department is not entirely unrecognized, as a recent editorial in the Rural New Yorker shows. This editorial spoke of the fine exhibit made by the Maine Pomological Society at the Pan-American. This exhibit was largely made up from the University of Maine and was in the hands of Prof. W. M. Munson. This article states that the Maine display attracted much attention and was one of the very best in Horticultural Hall. A recent letter to Prof. Munson from the manager of the horticultural department at Buffalo states that the Maine exhibit was awarded two gold medals, one silver medal, fourteen bronze medals, and three honorable mentions. Several of these prizes were won by the Russian apples sent by our horticultural department.

At present an experiment is being carried on with blueberries. Prof. Munson is endeavoring to produce a variety that will be better suited to cultivation than any that we now have. The Experiment Station has recently issued an extensive bulletin on the blueberry and it is expected that good results will be obtained from these experiments.

Prof. Munson has several other experiments which he intends to try in the near future, which relate to orcharding and a study of soils.

MILITARY.

Work in the military department is progressing rapidly. The sophomore class began to drill Nov. 1 and now both they and the freshmen are well advanced in the manual of arms.

The uniforms have been shipped from the manufacturer's and the entire battalion will be in uniform by Thanksgiving recess.

The recent military appointments are as follows:

To be chief of staff with rank of major, Capt. E. S. True. To be captain, vice True, promoted, First Lieut. E. J. Bartlett. To be adjutant with rank of captain, Sergt. Maj. Fred Collins. To be first lieutenant, vice Bartlett, promoted, Second Lieut. Frank E. Pressey. To be first lieutenant, vice Elliotts, appointment cancelled, Second Lieut. J. C. Warren. To be second lieutenant, vice Pressey, promoted, Quartermaster Serg. R. M. Connor. To be second lieutenant, vice Warren, promoted, First Sergt. P. D. Simpson. To be sergeant major, vice Collins, First Sergt. E. C. Hartford. To be first sergeant, vice Simpson, promoted, Sergt. H. A. Smith. To be first sergeant, vice Hartford, promoted, Sergt. H. V. Sheehan. To be sergeant, vice Simpson, promoted, Corporal J. R. McCready.

The above named officers are assigned to duty as follows:

Company A—First Lieut. F. E. Pressey, Second Lieut. R. M. Connor, First Sergt. H. A. Smith, Sergt. Frank McCullough.

Company B—Capt. E. J. Bartlett, First Lieut. J. C. Warren, Second Lieut. P. D. Simpson, First Sergt. H. V. Sheehan.

"OMEGA MU."

The members of the local chapter of Phi Gamma Delta are to be congratulated upon the success of their publication, the "Omega Mu," of which brief mention was made in the last issue of THE CAMPUS.

The book contains 209 pages, elaborately illustrated with cuts of many prominent alumni of the chapter, the old Q. T. V. Hall, the Q. T. V. House, the new Phi Gamma Delta House, and chapter groups of 1900 and 1901. It is from the press of C. H. Glass & Co., Bangor, is well printed upon a handsome laid paper, and is bound in brown cloth with "Omega Mu" in large gilt letters on the front cover.

An interesting historical sketch of the chapter occupies 29 pages. This begins with its organization as a chapter of Q. T. V. on Feb. 28, 1874, and extends to the spring of 1901. Biographical sketches of some of the most prominent and successful alumni take up 105 pages. Lists are given of the deceased alumni, with the date of death of each, and of the alumni members of the prominent engineering and scientific societies. There is a carefully compiled directory of all initiates, with class and degrees, occupation and residence of each, and it is one of the most valuable features of the book. It shows that up to the close of the last college year there had been 299 initiates. A short sketch of the fraternity is given, with portraits of a few of its most active and notable members.

The work is one which every alumnus of the chapter should certainly possess, and one which will be of interest and value to many others as well. The precedent which Phi Gamma Delta has established in the publication of this book is one which the other fraternity chapters at the University of Maine will do well to follow.

GYMNASIUM WORK.

Work in the gymnasium for the freshman and sophomore classes will begin Nov. 18, under the direction of Physical Director Archer Grover. The work will consist at first of light exercises with dumb-bells and Indian clubs and later heavier practice will be taken up. While instruction is provided for the two lower classes only, the upper classmen will probably be allowed the use of the gymnasium as much as possible. With military drill and physical instruction in full blast the gym bids fair to be a busy place this winter.

Austin H. Keyes has resigned his position as vice-principal of the New Hampshire State Normal school to become Superintendent of Schools for the towns of Lee, Otis, Tyringham and Monterey, Mass. His address is Lee, Mass.

Mr. Keyes received from Brown University at its last commencement the degree of Ph. D., presenting a thesis entitled Andocides' Connection with Mutilation of the Hermae at Athens. The degree was conferred as the result of two years of recitation work carried on while Mr. Keyes was principal of Auburn, R. I., High school, one year of work in residence, and the thesis. During his course at the Maine State College, Mr. Keyes showed unusual ability in mathematics, but gave no special attention to the languages. These facts render his later achievements in the study of Greek and Latin all the more noteworthy.

W. R. Butterfield visited friends on the campus last week.

Another graduate of the U. of M. has been called to hold a responsible position. Last June Lieut. Charles H. Farnham received the appointment of provisional supervisor in our eastern possessions. Mr. Farnham came to the U. of M. from Beverly, Mass., and graduated from the civil engineering course. Upon the outbreak of the Spanish war he enlisted in the Eighth Massachusetts regiment for service in Cuba and Porto Rico, going as first lieutenant of a Beverly company. After his return he secured a position on the engineering work in connection with the Nicaraguan canal and served successfully for fifteen months. Governor Taft of the Philippines forwarded a request for twenty capable young men who were college graduates to superintend the construction of roads and bridges and other government work. Mr. Farnham was one of the number chosen and he is now engaged in that work.

While in college Mr. Farnham took an active part in the college enterprises, being manager of the base ball team one year and captain of a company in the military department.

Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Moore of Hampden, occurred the marriage of Edward M. Atwood and Miss Mollie S. Moore. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. E. French. Mr. Atwood is a graduate of the University of Maine and holds the position of head chemist in an electrical supply firm doing business in Chicago, London and New York. The bride is one of Hampden's most popular young women. Both young people have the best wishes of their many friends. They will reside in Chicago.

First Lieut. Alfred A. Starbird, 6th U. S. Artillery, has recently returned to the United States after 2½ years service with his regiment in the Philippines and is now stationed at Fortress Monroe, Va.

R. H. Manson installed and had charge of the exhibit of the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply Co. of Chicago at the Pan-American Exposition during the past summer.

First Lieut. Dana T. Merrill has been transferred from the 7th to the 12th U. S. Infantry and is now in command of Co. A, 12th Infantry at Concepcion, Luzon.

Elmer D. Merrill of the Division of Agrostology, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, spent the summer in the Red Desert, Wind River Mts. and Jackson's Hole country, Wyoming, and in the Snake river valley, Idaho, pursuing investigations for the department and was one of the representatives of the department at the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Denver, Colo., the last week in August.

Elmer D. Merrill, formerly of Auburn, has recently been elected a member of the American Association of Advancement in Science. Mr. Merrill after leaving the university where he served as assistant in natural history for a while, went to Washington as assistant in the division of agrostology, U. S. Department of Agriculture, being closely associated with Prof. Frank Lamson-Scribner, U. of M., '73, chief of the division. Mr. Merrill was a delegate to the annual convention of the association, to which he has been elected, which was held in Denver, Col.

OR.

Herbert H. Leonard has accepted a position as draftsman for the Pond Machine Co., 124 Main St., Worcester, Mass.

Frank H. Lowell is drafting at Pocantico Hills, N. Y.

A. L. Cobb is engaged in wiring at the University of Chicago.

S. E. Woodbury is employed by the Cutler Hammer Mfg. Co. of Westfield, N. J. He has charge of the testing of rheostats. Address in care of the firm.

Mowry Ross has recently returned from the Pan American exposition and is at present at his home. Address, West Woodstock, Ct.

Ex-'02.

Jesse Towle, who has been employed as machinist for the past year, recently spent a few weeks with friends in Newport, Me.

Tufts' victory over U. of M. seems to have given her courage, for she took Trinity into camp to the tune of 21-0.

FACULTY RECEPTION.

A meeting of the faculty of the University of Maine was recently held at the home of Prof. C. D. Woods at which it was decided to give a farewell reception and supper to Dr. and Mrs. Harris before their departure from Orono. The reception will be held in Alumni Hall probably on the evening of Nov. 26, and invitations will be extended to all the members of the faculty, undergraduates and townspeople.

Only the members of the faculty giving the supper and their wives and a few former members of the faculty with President and Mrs. Harris will be present at the supper. The time and place have not been definitely settled, though probably the supper will be held at the Mt. Vernon House.

Committees for the arrangements for the reception and supper are Prof. Woods and Prof. Stevens. Prof. Munson is chairman of a committee to arrange for the floral decorations for the reception and supper.

ISN'T THIS RIGHT?

You should subscribe to THE CAMPUS because it is the only college paper.

Because it furnishes the only complete history of your college home and you cannot procure it after you leave college.

Because it is as important a representative of the college in its field as the football team and deserves the same support.

Boston Tech seems to be striving to get back into athletics. The school voted not to have a football team this fall, but there are no less than five organized elevens playing the game at the present time.

The last issue of "The Colby Echo" states explicitly that the death of Frank Bigelow, a member of the Colby 'varsity, was not due to football injuries, but rather to an unattended cold.

1903 PRISM.

Work has begun upon the 1903 Prism and a meeting of the board was held Monday, Nov. 4, and different plans proposed for the interest of the annual. The board desires to receive the support of the students, alumni and friends of the university as they undertake to make this year's book a success.

It is impossible for a few members of the junior class to pick up all the interesting matter that is constantly being heard of by different members of the university and under these circumstances the following plan has been decided upon. To the one passing in the five best "Grinds" upon any member or members of the student body, including the students of the Law School, will be given a copy of the Prism. These "Grinds" should be written and placed in an envelope and handed to either W. Lee Cole or the editor-in-chief. The "Grinds" will be numbered by them and brought before the members of the board who will decide upon their merits. The strictest secrecy will be maintained and the prize will be awarded without partiality. All "Grinds" should be passed in before Feb. 15, 1902.

The artist desires to say that he would be pleased to receive the aid of any who have ability in that direction. The attention of the underclass men are called to this especially. Next year a new artist will be chosen from the members of the sophomore class and, although appointed by the editor-in-chief, will be chosen from those doing the best work in this line. Those wishing to compete should give their name to the artist and have him give them something to do.

A great deal of talk has always been made upon the almost unavoidable lateness of the Prism, sometimes from one cause and sometimes by another. This year the board intends to have the book ready for distribution by the first of April. This can be done very easily if each one upon whom it depends will do their little part. It should be the aim of the "Board" to make this Prism the best and most useful annual ever published at the University of Maine.

NOTICE.

There will be a special meeting of the University of Maine Alumni association at the Bangor House, Bangor, Friday, Nov. 22, at 7.30 p. m., for the election of a university trustee to succeed Hon. W. T. Haines (term about to expire and not eligible for re-election), and for any other business which may legally come before the meeting.

This date is that of the farewell banquet to Dr. Harris by the Penobscot Valley Alumni association, at which it is hoped there may be a large attendance.

L. C. Southard, President,
Ralph K. Jones, Cor. Sec.

AMONG THE COLLEGES.

The University of Vermont is a state institution and compares very favorably with Maine in regard to courses of study and number of students.

The Brown-Dartmouth game on Nov. 23 promises to be an interesting game, in spite of the fact that Brown is considered weaker this year than for several seasons.

The University of Pennsylvania is contemplating sending a crew to Henley again next year. Let us hope that they will go the Englishmen one better next time.

George Washington was the first man to receive the degree of LL. D. from Harvard.

Mr. Rockefeller has donated over $9,000,000 to the University of Chicago fund.

Cornell allows her musical clubs a standing fund of $18,000 every year.

ATHLETICS.

MAINE, 29; COLBY, 0.

Saturday, Nov. 9, the team played Colby in Waterville, winning by a score of 29 to 0. Many conflicting rumors as to the strength of the Colby team were in circulation, and the general feeling amongst the students was that they would be fully as strong as when they played in Orono earlier in the season. This feeling was justified by the fine showing made by them in their game with Bates the week previous, when they played their opponents to a standstill in the first half only to be overcome in the second, when their poor condition made itself manifest. Our team was not overconfident and went on the field prepared for a hard game.

For about twenty minutes before the game was called it rained quite hard, rendering some parts of the field very slippery and making it hard for the players to keep their feet. But the sun came out soon after, so that the grounds were in fairly good condition when the game began.

Maine kicked off to Colby, and the ball was downed on their fifteen yard line. Here Colby started a series of line-bucking plays by means of which they carried the ball to the middle of the field, where Maine took a brace and held for downs. Little Bailey gave the signal for the famous "formation," etc., etc., giving the ball to Taylor on the first play. Taylor ran up to the line and planted the ball down with no gain, and Colby's supporters nearly went wild with joy. "Look at that," cried one enthusiast, "our boys held them the first thing." Almost instantly, however, the tumult ceased, and in its place an ominous hush appeared, for before the Colby team could line up the fleet Parker was speeding around their left end with the precious pigskin tucked safely under his left arm, and a solid wall of interference between him and any hostile player who might essay to stop him in his flight toward the enemy's goal. Not until nine chalk lines had passed under his feet was he brought to earth on a fierce tackle by the Colby full-back. Forty-five yards on the first play was not so bad, and the few faithful followers of the light blue who were gathered along the side lines breathed easy for the first time since the game began. But right here Colby got the ball in some unaccountable way and forced it up the field again. Then the sturdy Maine line stiffened and held, and it was once more Maine's ball on Colby's forty-five yard line. Taylor took twenty around left end, Parker reeled off fifteen more on the other end, and the ball was now on the ten yard line. "Dorticos right," sang out Bailey; a few signals, the ball was snapped, and the big captain crashed through the opposing team and carried the ball over the line and back of the goal posts. He kicked the goal and the score was: Maine, 6; Colby, 0.

Colby kicked off and the ball was brought back by Maine to their own thirty-five yard line. Steady gains through the line, varied by occasional end runs by Parker and Taylor, brought the ball steadily up the field until it was pushed over for the second touchdown. Dorticos failed to kick an exceedingly difficult goal. Score: Maine, 11; Colby, 0. Maine was well on her way toward another touchdown when the half ended with the ball on Colby's forty yard line.

Elliot took Duren's place at left guard at the beginning of the second half, which was the only change made in the line-up. Colby kicked off to Dorticos who ran the ball back about twenty yards. The sturdy backs of the "Maine" team then ploughed through or hurdled the opposing line for steady gains, the final effort being a beautiful thirty-five yard run by Parker for a touchdown. Dorticos kicked the goal and the score was: Maine, 17; Colby, 0.

Colby again kicked to Dorticos who ran the ball back to the middle of the field. The Colby men were being steadily borne back, until, when on the thirty yard line, a mix-up in the signals caused a loss of several yards. It was then third down and about twelve to gain. Right here came the play of the day. Webber made a little punt out to one side and Bean, who was onside when the kick was made, was down like a flash after the ball, which was bouncing along toward Colby's goal line. The opposing fullback was also after the ball, and just as he was about to spring for it, Bean leaned forward and tried to pick it up, but the ball received a sudden impetus and the Colby man fell,—not on the ball, anyway. Meanwhile Bean chased the ball over the goal line, and, falling on it, made his first touchdown for "Maine." The goal was easy. Score: Maine, 23; Colby, 0.

The kick-off again went to Dorticos, but the ball took a bad bound and got by him, and it was finally downed on Maine's fifteen yard line. Once more that ruthless hammering at the Colby line was started and the ball was going up the field yards at a time when Colby got the ball for holding in the line. Maine immediately recovered the ball, however, and fine gains by Taylor, Webber and Dorticos carried the ball to Colby's thirty yard line, from which Parker made another fine run around right end for a touchdown. He went over the line right in the corner of the field, making it necessary to punt out for the try for goal. Dorticos kicked out to Bailey, and then kicked an exceedingly difficult goal, making the score 29 to 0. In the few remaining minutes of play, Colby once got possession of the ball near the center of the field, but were immediately obliged to kick. Time was called with the ball in Maine's possession near the middle of the field.

As was expected, Keene was the star performer for Colby, he making nearly all their gains and getting in some fine tackles.

For Maine, the whole team played clean, hard football from the start. The three backs, Parker, Taylor and Webber, played the best game they have yet this season, handling the ball cleanly at all times, and often making their distance after being tackled. Captain Dorticos was a sure ground gainer and the Colby line weakened perceptibly before his terrific plunges, especially in the last half. Little Bailey played a star game at quarter and ran the team in great shape all through the game. Taken all in all, it was the most satisfactory game played thus far this season. The lineup:

SPEAREN'S INN, 5; TEDDY ROOSEVELTS, 0.

On the U. of M. campus Saturday forenoon occurred what was probably the best game of football ever played there (?). The contest was between the renowned Spearen's Inn eleven and the valiant players representing the first floor of Oak Hall, under the efficient management of "The Duke." Neither team had been scored on before this season and each was confident of victory. The S. I. team was greatly strengthened by picked men from the second and third floors of the dormitory and accompanied by a band of rooters who occupied special seats in the grandstand. The home team was gallantly supported by a large number of local admirers.

Spearen's kicked off and T. R. dropped the ball when a player from the former team fell on it. T. R. held for downs and then steadily advanced the ball nearly across the field, then lost it on downs. The play then see-sawed across the field until the end of the first half. Many sensational and spectacular features were introduced during this part of the performance. One of the S. I.'s. had his pantaloons partially torn off necessitating his going into drydock for repairs. Manson, the famous Gardiner High halfback, recently signed by Spearens, was tackled from behind by the opposing manager and his sweater stretched out several yards.

In the second half the T. R.'s kicked off. The ball was brought steadily back up the field until the right half went around the T. R.'s left end for a touchdown. The try at a goal failed. The play began to warm up about this time. Connor retired with a broken nose and Rogers was put out by a severe blow in the face. The T. R.'s were working the ball well down the field when the end of the second half came. The lineup:

EDITORIALS.

JUDGING from an editorial in the Bowdoin Orient, the Bowdoin men were much pleased with the behavior of the students from Maine on the day of the game. This fact is not surprising to anyone who was present at that time. It would be difficult to find 300 students from any institution who placed in the same position and under the same circumstances, would conduct themselves in a more pleasing manner. We are not claiming that the University of Maine students are examples of goodness but they did simply their duty and showed a courtesy to the college they visited. It seems to us that a more universal extension of this same courtesy would be beneficial to the Maine colleges. At present the University of Maine seems to be on the best of terms with the other Maine colleges and it is to be earnestly hoped that this pleasing condition of affairs will continue.

POSSIBLY some of the readers of THE CAMPUS may think that a little too much space is devoted in this issue to athletics, but we feel that the greater part of the alumni, at least, will be interested in a review of the season's work in athletics and will naturally question the strength of the football team for next year. As football will be a little out of date by the time of our next issue, judging from the wintry look of the campus at present, we will do the football subject up brown while we are at it.

THE football season of 1901 is at an end. Another page has been added to the history of the University of Maine and again we feel the satisfaction of a good work well done. As we look backward over our record this fall, and realize all that the existence of the team has brought into our student life, our work, our moments of discouragement, our sacrifices are all forgotten in the triumphant result of the season's work.

That the work of the team is regarded as worthy of recognition is perhaps well shown by the numerous newspaper comments. Among these is an editorial in the Waterville Evening Mail, which presents the facts in so clear and pleasing a manner that we take pleasure in reprinting it. The fact that this paper spoke so highly of our team shows that it has won respect and admiration beyond our own institution. The editorial is as follows:

"The question of which Maine college is entitled to the distinction of having the best football team this season was authoritatively settled at Brunswick on Saturday, Nov. 16, when the University of Maine eleven, already victorious over Colby and Bates, defeated Bowdoin by a decisive score. Bowdoin was plainly outclassed, getting a worse drubbing than she received at the hands of Bates, although she did succeed in scoring in Saturday's game, something she could not do against Bates.

The University of Maine has won its title as champion fairly and squarely. It started the season with some excellent football material, big, sound fellows, who could stand hard work and a good deal of it, and this material has been from the first in the hands of a competent coach. Besides these points in the team's favor, it has been well supported by the loyal and enthusiastic undergraduates and alumni of the university. It is from such combinations as these that winning teams result. The victors have played a fast but fair game and have won the respect of those who have watched them from the side lines as well as of those who have played against them."

A COLLECTION of 130 colored photographs, including the points of interest to the tourist in the country of the "Yankees of the East" and illustrating the manners and customs of the Japanese, their principal occupations, their art, architecture and scenery is to be on exhibition in the library commencing with this week and continuing up to the fifteenth of December. Of pictures showing the occupations of the people, one series represents the culture of rice from the first stage, that of preparing the ground for planting, to the cleaning and packing. Another series shows the various stages of silk culture from the care of the silk worms to the manufacture of the most delicate silken fabrics. Men and women are alike employed in these labors. Minor employments are illustrated in the figures of the former with straw rain cloak, the carpenters, the vegetable peddler, the flower seller, the umbrella maker, etc.

The Japanese excel as painters of flowers, as they also excel in their cultivation. Among the beautiful flower pictures are the lotus, cherry blossoms, the almond, the peony, chrysanthemums and an iris garden.

Other views represent Japanese; the wedding ceremony; a funeral procession with the

These pictures are the property of the Library Art club. This club, which has its headquarters in Cambridge, Mass., has its membership composed of libraries and art clubs throughout the country. It obtains these collections of pictures and sends them to the different libraries and clubs which are on the membership role, that they may be exhibited. The University Guild has joined this Library Art Club and as a result various collections of pictures will be on exhibition in the library during the year, this collection of Japanese pictures being the first. It will be well worth the while of every student to examine these pictures.

MUSICAL CLUBS.

The musical clubs made their first appearance this season on Saturday evening, Nov. 23, in the chapel in Alumni hall. Delegations were present from Bangor, Orono and Old Town and a fair sized audience greeted the clubs at their appearance. Considering this was the first concert, a very good program was carried out. The instrumental clubs were generally conceded to be equal or better than last year, while the glee club and reading were regarded as fairly good.

After the concert six pieces of Pullen's orchestra furnished music for a social dance in the gymnasium which was greatly enjoyed by all.

The clubs are putting in some hard practice now and expect to give the best series of concerts in the near future that the U. of M. clubs have ever given. The program as given was as follows;

AMONG THE COLLEGES.

At the Cornell-Indian game played in the Stadium at Buffalo, Cornell had an organized rooters' club of 2500 strong.

The enrollment of students at Harvard this year is 4043, while the number at Princeton is 1400.

Tufts had difficulty in defeating Worcester Tech, the score being 12-0. Twice during the game Tech had the ball on Tufts' one yard line.

Harvard fooled the wise ones this year. There is but one game at Harvard and that is the Yale game. Harvard had a very evenly developed team, and won because of her better physical condition, also better team work.

Yale has an enrollment of 2680, which is an increase of 178 over last year. sented in Lehigh, a college of about 400 students.

Xmas next!

Basket ball is beginning to attract the attention of quite a number of the students. It ought to become a popular game with the new "Gym."

Work has begun on the frame for the boiler house. Oak Hall men are anxiously waiting its completion and the starting of the new boiler.

A. W. Batchelder, '02, has returned home for a few weeks; he will return to college after the Xmas recess.

The new uniforms have come and were delivered to the students on Monday, Nov. 25. Gen. Runkle has called attention to the fact that when any part of the uniform is worn, the whole uniform must be worn also.

It looks as though the Freshmen-Sophomore football game would not come off this fall. It would be a step toward the right direction to play it next spring so as to arouse a little enthusiasm in football to bind over until fall.

The football squad had their pictures taken on Wingate steps Thursday forenoon. The eleven went to Bangor and had their pictures taken on Saturday.

Coach Farley bid the student body farewell Thursday morning, Nov. 21. His words were full of good instruction and encouragement. He will be missed by us all and we all hope for his return next year. Too much cannot be said in his favor and the student body best show their appreciation of his worth by their unanimous desire for his return.

It is expected that work will begin with the track team soon after Thanksgiving recess. Capt. Harris may arrange for some new races and every man should "get into" track work as the men did in football.

A new furnace has been installed in the horticultural building.

A driveway from Alumni Hall to the main drive in front of Coburn Hall has been laid out.

It is planned to plant a heavy row of evergreen trees on each side of the road from the campus boundary to the waiting station. This will make the entrance to our college grounds much more attractive.

A meeting of the Junior Mechanical and Electrical Engineering society was held Nov. 5 and the following officers elected for the coming year: President, J. H. McCready; vice president, P. H. Harris; secretary and treasurer, R. H. White. These meetings were found of much value to the juniors and seniors in these two courses during last year and it is hoped a successful series of meetings may be held this year. Don't forget to come and see how you like it.

At a meeting of the football men Wednesday night Capt. Dorticos was re-elected for the coming year. We wish him the same success next year. Nine out of ten is not too bad.

It is rumored that the battalion may hold a military reception and dance about Feb. 22.

A large number of the students did not go home at Thanksgiving as Christmas recess is so near.

The divisions of the freshman and sophomore classes are at work in the gymnasium as a regular exercise now.

The bowling alley still holds its attractions judging from the crowd always present.

Joker—The faculty hain't a going to run the bowling alley any longer.

Easy-mark—What is the trouble? What do they want to shut that down for?

Joker—It's regulation lengths now.

Co. B was the first to don its new uniforms. It christened them on Nov. 25.

H. W. Kneeland represented THE CAMPUS as athletic editor at the Colby and Bowdoin games.

P. H. Mosher, '02, made a business trip to Massachusetts during the recent vacation.

H. O. Farrington, '02, will extend his Thanksgiving recess until after Christmas.

H. W. Chadbourne, '02, did not return to college at the end of the Thanksgiving recess. He will extend his visit until about Christmas.

FAREWELL RECEPTION TO PRES AND MRS. HARRIS.

The University of Maine chapel was the scene of a farewell reception to Pres. and Mrs. A. W. Harris last Monday evening. The affair was under the direction of the faculty. Many people from Bangor, Orono and Old Town were in attendance during the evening. The severe storm kept many guests away, Bangor people especially.

The chapel was beautifully decorated with plants and evergreens and blue bunting was tastefully draped from the huge rafters and around the walls of the room. The stage seemed a big bed of chrysanthemums and on the choir gallery were potted plants bearing flowers of all colors.

The reception committee stood in the north end of the chapel on a huge rug in front of a bower of evergreens and ferns. Prof. and Mrs. Allen E. Rogers officiated as host and hostess, representing the faculty. Next came Pres. and Mrs. Harris, as the invited guests of the evening, Hon. and Mrs. Henry Lord and Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Fernald were the others in the line. The guests were introduced by Harold S. Boardman. The following members of the faculty acted as ushers: Fred H. Vose, Roscoe M. Packard, Archer L. Grover and Clinton S. Cole.

The guests began to arrive soon after 8 o'clock and continued until 10 o'clock. Nearly every student was present during the evening. The seniors came first and were followed by the juniors, sophomores and freshmen at short intervals.

Light refreshments were served at the lower end of the chapel by Misses Geneva R. Hamilton, Ola Perry, Clara B. Pope and Annie Snow. Four members of Pullen's orchestra under the leadership of Harold C. Sawyer rendered excellent music during the evening. The musicians occupied a position on the stage behind a garden of flowers.

Prof. James S. Stevens was in general charge of the arrangements of the reception. He was assisted by the decorating committee consisting of Prof. W. M. Munson, Mrs. J. S. Stevens, Mrs. J. H. Huddilston, Mrs. E. A. Balentine and Mrs. J. N. Hart; the refreshment committee composed of Mrs. J. N. Hart, Mrs. L. H. Merrill and Mrs. J. S. Stevens. The following members of the senior class acted as ushers in the halls: H. E. Cole, E. S. True, A. M. Watson, P. E. McCarthy, J. W. Butman and A. C. Lyon.

A CUP FOR PRES. HARRIS.

During the evening the loving cup that was presented to Pres. Harris at the faculty meeting in the afternoon was on exhibition at the front of the stage. The cup was the gift of the faculty of the university. It is of silver and stands nine inches in height and is inscribed with appropriate words. Prof. Huddilston, in behalf of the committee of the faculty presented the cup to Pres. Harris and he responded in a few fitting words.

A party of students from the Beta Theta Pi fraternity spent their Thanksgiving recess hunting at Norcross, where they found game quite plentiful.

Miss Lennie Copeland, '04, Miss Florence Balentine, '05, and Miss Marion Wentworth, '05, have been initiated into the Phi Gamma society.

The marriage of Oscar L. Grover of Harrisburg, Pa., and Miss Annie L. Wilson of Orono was solemnized at the Congregational church, Orono, on Wednesday, Nov. 20, at 11 o'clock. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Wilson and is one of Orono's most popular and estimable young ladies. The groom is the son of the late Daniel Grover of Bethel and a brother of Prof. N. C. Grover of the University of Maine. He is at present occupying a position with the Pennsylvania Steel Co. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fred Wilson of Andover, Mass., assisted by Rev. S. L. Bowles of Bangor. Miss Phoebe Bedlow of Boston acted as bridesmaid. The couple left on the noon train for their new home at Harrisburg, Pa.

J. W. Martin has a position in the engineering force of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Co. at their works in Pueblo, Colorado. His address is 306 Michigan Avenue, Pueblo.

Perley Walker, who is taking a post-graduate course in mechanical engineering at Cornell university, is seriously ill of typhoid fever.

B. D. Whitcomb visited friends on the campus recently.

Among those who attended the football contest between Bowdoin college and the University of Maine, there was a good showing of university alumni. Following is a list of the alumni present: E. L. Watson, '01; A. F. Brown, Ex-'01; C. O. Porter, '00; E. H. Dow, Ex-'02; H. B. Burns, Ex-'02; A. S. Page, '00; R. C. Wormell, '01; R. H. Rockwood, Ex-'99; F. W. Sawtelle, '98; N. A. Murry, '99; G. T. Stewart, Ex-'03; B. J. Woodman, Ex-'04; C. W. Stowell, '00.

WHAT THE ALUMNI ARE DOING.

A very interesting subject for investigation was recently brought to the attention of the alumni department of THE CAMPUS which cannot fail to engage the attention of everyone interested in our institution. The University of Maine, offering as it does and always has done, so many different branches of study, is as a result represented in a great variety of occupations. The proportionate number of graduates of the university engaged in each of these occupations has been determined and can now be presented in statistical form.

Of those who have graduated from our institution, 485 received their diplomas up to the year 1897, inclusive. It was not thought safe to classify later graduates, as in a great many cases a vocation is not decided upon for a number of years after graduation. Out of these 485 alumni previously mentioned, 406 are living and their occupations known. In regard to women student we will only remark that the great majority of them have discovered the realms of connubial bliss, and are now employing their acquired knowledge in scientific housekeeping. Non-graduates have likewise been omitted, as the time of attendance of a non-graduate is rather an indefinite quality, and may be too short to influence his choice of a vocation. We may then proceed to our category as follows:

Civil engineers, or those engaged either as consulting engineers or in occupations directly involving their knowledge of civil engineering, number 84, or 20 per cent. of the above mentioned 406.

Mechanical engineers, superintendents of manufacturing plants, etc., 36, or 9 per cent. of the whole.

Draftsmen in mechanical and civil engineering lines, 33.

Those engaged in trade and as business men number 32.

The law has a comparatively large following, graduates to the number of 28 having chosen that profession.

In the large number employed in the teaching forces of educational institutions we see examples of the success of the university. These number 26, and nearly all occupy professors' chairs in their departments.

Lumbermen, mill owners and manufacturers number 22.

Physicians number 20.

Academy and high school teachers, and school superintendents, 19.

Bookkeepers, clerks, etc., 17.

Farmers, nurserymen and ranchmen, 15.

Those engaged in scientific pursuits number 13. The greater part of these are in experiment stations or other government scientific institutions.

Government collectors, inspectors, revenue officers, etc., 9.

There are 9 professional chemists, 1 army officer, 1 naval officer, 5 druggists, 3 journalists—all editors of papers, 6 clergymen, 1 architect, and 3 electrical engineers. The statement as to the electrical engineers is hardly fair to the electrical engineering department of the university, as the greatest progress has been made in that department since 1897, the last year considered in our category.

All that could not be classed under any of the preceding heads have been placed under the head of miscellaneous, and number 23. These consist mostly of traveling salesmen, insurance agents and various other similar vocations.

MAINE ALUMNI DO HONOR TO PRES. HARRIS.

On Friday evening, Nov. 22, in the large dining room of the Bangor House there was gathered more than one hundred prominent alumni, officers and friends of the University of Maine to do honor to Dr. A. W. Harris, who is to retire from the high and responsible office of president of this institution.

The banquet, which was arranged by the Penobscot Alumni Association, was one of the most notable occasions of this nature ever held in the state; notable because there was gathered there some of the most prominent men of our state. The speech-making lasted until after midnight and all of the speakers referred in most glowing terms to Pres. Harris and the immense amount of valuable work he has done for the university during his eight years of presidency.

The gathering was the largest ever held under the auspices of the Penobscot Valley association. Some of our most loyal alumni from all over the state and from without took advantage of the opportunity to pay their respects to Dr. Harris and join in the general expression of regret at his departure. In the absence of Pres. Hyde of Bowdoin from the state that institution was represented by Prof. J. S. Sewall. Prof. A. W. Anthony represented Bates, Pres. Chase of Colby was at the last minute unable to be present. The alumni representing every class from '72 down to 1901 were there, many coming from out of the state to be present upon this occasion.

Previous to the banquet, a meeting of the General Alumni association, of which Hon. L. C. Southard, '75, of Boston is president, was held in order to select a trustee to represent the alumni on the board, to succeed Hon. William T. Haines, whose term has expired. They were unanimous in the choice of Edwin J. Haskell, '72, of Westbrook.

It was after 9 o'clock when the party adjourned to the big dining room and took seats at the long tables which were elaborately decorated with flowers and covered with a profusion of silver and cut glass. The menu was not intended to be an elaborate one but was highly appreciated and was well and quickly served.

It was about 10.15 o'clock when cigars were lighted and chairs pushed back in preparation of the speeches which were to follow. Pres. Harris had a seat on the right of Hon. William T. Haines at the head of the table and seated at the head of the table were Congressman Llewellyn Powers, Justice L. A. Emery of the Supreme court, Mayor Arthur Chapin, Prof. John S. Sewall and Hon. Henry Lord, president of the state board of trade, Prof. A. W. Anthony of Bates, while the other guests of the association were as near the head or with particular friends in other convenient seats.

The guests included besides those mentioned, Hon. Henry Mayo, Hampden; Hon. M. C. Wedgewood, Lewiston; Hon. E. E. Chase of the governor's council; State Supt. of Schools W. W. Stetson of Auburn; Col. J. B. Peaks, Dover, and Hon. Parker Spofford, Bucksport, state railroad commissioners; Hon. F. M. Simpson, Bangor, state assessor; Hon. L. T.

Carleton and Hon. Edgar E. Ring, state fish and game commissioners; Hon. B. Walker McKeen, secretary of board of agriculture, and others.

Hon. William T. Haines acted as toastmaster and as he rose to open the exercises spoke briefly. He mentioned the fact that eight years ago the U. of M. was a small institution with about 125 students.

"Today," said he, "it stands as a power in the nation and a credit to the state. All the prosperity, all the improvement is due to the unfaltering efforts and untiring energy of Pres. A. W. Harris."

His words were greeted with great applause, after which Hon. Llewellyn Powers of Houlton was called upon as the first speaker of the evening. The speaker said that "No man stands higher as an educator than Dr. Harris and no man is thought more of by the people."

The other speakers of the evening were Hon. Arthur Chapin, mayor of Bangor; Justice L. C. Emery of the Maine Supreme court; Hon. Henry Lord of Bangor, president of the board of trustees; Hon. L. C. Southard, '75, Boston; Prof. John S. Sewall of Bangor, and member of the board of trustees of Bowdoin college; Prof. A. W. Anthony of Bates; State Supt. of Schools W. W. Stetson of Auburn; Dr. W. H. Jordan of New York State Experiment Station; Com'r Carleton; Col. J. B. Peaks, Dover; Hon. J. P. Bass of Bangor, and ex-Pres. M. C. Fernald of the faculty.

Pres. Harris then made a gracious response to the kind words that had been said about him, closing with a voice full of emotion and with the prayer that God would prosper the University of Maine.

Letters of regret were received from the following prominent invited guests: Gov. John F. Hill, Chief Justice Wiswell of Ellsworth, Att'y Gen. Seiders, Portland, Hon. J. H. Manley, Augusta, and Hon. H. E. Hamlin, Ellsworth.

The following in addition to the above list of guests were present:

A GREAT DAY.

Scarcely had the gray dawn spread from the east over the silent snow covered campus, studded with its white capped evergreen trees which appeared in this vague light like ghostly sentinels, when the cheery sound of "We'll roll, we'll roll the U. of M. along" echoed and re-echoed through the corridors of the halls and fraternity houses on the campus. With these sounds of festivity came the remembrance to wearied brains that Nov. 16 was at hand and the day of the great Bowdoin game. Hasty preparations were made and a few of the wiser ones started early for the train at Orono, a few more succeeded in gaining a foothold on the trolley car and a large number missed the car and made a lively sprint for the train of seven cars which left Orono at 8 o'clock sharp.

At Bangor, while the band entertained the spectators with several selections, the train was decorated in a pleasing manner, bearing on each side the words "University of Maine" and yards and yards of bunting. Here we also gained quite an addition to our numbers.

At Newport and Pittsfield stops were made, cheers were given, selections were played, and new parties were added to the already goodly number. The same thing was done at Waterville, at Hallowell, at Augusta and it really began to look as though our seven cars were none too large.

On arriving at Brunswick the crowd immediately scattered only to bunch up again to cheer the team at the time of the game. The account of the game is given elsewhere but no account is given of the way we cheered and tried to sing and the way Bowdoin did cheer and did sing and perhaps on the whole it is just as well there isn't for our singing wasn't all that a fastidious audience would demand, owing doubtless to our long journey.

After the game we saved our little demonstration until we reached our train and then we made a little noise just to show Bowdoin what we could do. In a short time we were aboard and off for Orono. The football season was over and we all broke training with various degrees of completeness. It would be useless to attempt to describe the return to Orono in complete detail so we leave that to the imagination of our readers who have been on similar trips. What if George Durgin did get rattled at Brunswick and took the train to Yarmouth, he got back next week and it wouldn't do any good to put the boys onto it. What if the band did play one piece seven times that day, they made a noise and that's what we all tried to do. What if "Colonel Stowell's party of alumni" were mostly the colonel's lady friends it showed the colonel hadn't changed since becoming an alumnus and helped out the general jollity. It would be a poor trip that didn't have a few instances in it and as we dragged our weary but thankful bodies up from the last train from Bangor we felt that the football season was ended with a bang.

PARTINGS.

To Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Harris.

Sometimes we part amid the summer flowers,
And partings make more cheerless winter's hours;
Not far the sunshine from the coming cloud,
The bridal gown is herald to the shroud.
Today we walk with love—our very own—
Tomorrow, weeping, we may walk alone;
So doth o'erruling power our lives arrange,
Forever changing in a world of change.
The lesson taught is: they who have the power
To fit the deed harmonious to the hour;
Steadfast in duty's path to firmly tread,
Shall feel God's benediction on their heads.
Shall know the peace which hath no earthly end,
Shall see Time's glories with the Future's blend,
Shall leave behind where'er their footsteps fall
The trace of noblest spirit over all.
Along the hillside through the whispering pine,
By placid river where calm waters shine,
Adown the meadows white and cold with snow
When cutting winds with shriek and wail shall blow.
On the fair campus when the roses bloom,
On brightest days, and in night's deepest gloom;
Through all these halls where youth and manhood tread,
Around, about, beneath and overhead.
Thy spirit life shall glow, shall long endure—
That spirit generous, kindly, good and pure—
And we shall feel it and shall go our ways,
With happier hearts therefor, in coming days.
Good bye, good bye! may all the world be fair,
Good fortune greet you smiling everywhere,
You leave behind the imprint of your deeds,
Our hearts go with you where your duty leads.

CHAMPION FOOTBALL TEAM OF MAINE.

ATHLETICS.

On the morning of Nov. 16, a special train laden with about two hundred and fifty of the students, faculty and supporters of the University of Maine, pulled out of Orono bound for Brunswick. The purpose of that entire delegation was as definite as its destination, and shone from every face in language there was no mistaking. The destination was Brunswick; everyone on the train knew that. The purpose was to defeat Bowdoin's football team, and raise the star of the light blue above that of the white; not a soul but knew that, also. In a car by themselves sat a group of about twenty young men, whose faces, hardened and tanned by exposure, plainly showed that they were not unmindful of the fact that this whole demonstration was, in a way, due to them. They were, in fact, the team and substitutes on whom the whole of eastern Maine depended to wrest an initial victory from old Bowdoin that afternoon, and bring the proud title of football "Champions" to Orono for the first time. Not a man among them but felt the responsibility keenly, and not a one who was not prepared and determined to do his utmost to accomplish the desired end.

Soon the "special" rolled into Bangor, where the number of passengers was increased to about three hundred and fifty, and the train was gaily decorated with streamers of blue bunting, while the college band discoursed various selections to an awe stricken but appreciative audience. After a ten minute wait, the "University Flyer," as it was termed by a bystander, again started on its way; making stops at Waterville, Augusta and Hallowell to take on several alumni enthusiasts who had signified their wish to be included in the happy throng, and arrived in Brunswick about noon. Here it was met by a band of Bowdoin students, who cheered their visitors and were rousinglly chereed in return. The party then broke up in small sections to look over the campus and other points of interest, to meet again at the scene of battle two hours later.

Long before time for the game to begin, the grandstand on the south side of Whittier field was filled to overflowing, while along the north side there were gathered between four and five hundred more spectators, all eager for the fray. On the south side the white predominated, although here and there could be seen a knot of blue; but on the north side everything was blue, from the flag defiantly waving in the hand of the undergraduate to the little knot of blue ribbon on the coat of the staid old business man.

Shortly after 2.30, the Maine team, led by Captain Dorticos, trotted on the field and were greeted by a terrific cheer from both sides of the field. Captain Hunt followed immediately with the Bowdoin team which was also greeted with cheers from both sides of the field. Both teams lined up for a short preliminary practice, and then the rival captains came together to decide the toss, Capt. Hunt winning and choosing the west goal. From this time on the cheering was almost continuous, each side trying to outdo the other, the sharp, snappy Maine yell in marked contrast to the voluminous B—o—w—d—o—i—n cheer. The gains at first were short on both sides, but after a few minutes' play all doubt as to the final outcome vanished.

When the first touchdown was made for Maine the scene along the north side of the field was one to be remembered. The air was literally filled with blue flags and cheer after cheer broke forth from the delighted supporters of the blue. Bowdoin supporters also cheered their team as heartily as ever; and all through the afternoon it was just the same, both sides cheering their respective teams, whether they were gaining or losing ground.

The good feeling existing between the two institutions was noticeable, and was remarked by many. Never in a Maine college game has there been such an exhibition of good natured rivalry and respect for the other fellows' feelings as was manifest in this contest. Maine confident, and Bowdoin hopeless, of winning after the first ten minutes of play, yet nothing took place which could possibly cause ill feeling between the two.

The field was in very poor condition and necessitated a line bucking game, as the backs could not keep their feet well enough for end runs. While the score, 22-5, represents a decisive victory, it is the general opinion that the score would have been much larger had the field been in good condition. The end and tackle plays have been the greatest ground gainers for Maine this season, but they were unable to use them to any great extent in this game.

After the game was over the entire delegation adjourned to the station and made merry until the time came to leave, when a parting cheer was given to Bowdoin, followed by numerous "Maine" yells.

Short stops were made along the line, and cheers given at each place, until there was no doubt in any mind from Brunswick to Bangor as to who had won. It was a "Maine" day all around and no doubt marks a new era in athletics in this institution.

THE GAME.

Maine kicked off. Dorticos twice kicked out of bounds, and Bowdoin was given the ball to kick off to Maine. On the first try Munroe kicked outside, but on the next he sent the ball to Bailey, who made about fifteen yards in return. At first Maine was unable to gain very much, and Webber sent a high, twisting punt to Wilson, who fumbled and Bean fell on the ball. Again Maine was unable to gain and Webber kicked out of bounds on Bowdoin's fifty-yard line. Bowdoin was immediately obliged to surrender the ball on downs, and now Maine got into the game in earnest. A few short gains through center, and Captain Dorticos was sent around Bowdoin's left end for thirty yards. A few more short plunges and Dorticos was sent over for the first touchdown. He kicked the goal and the score was Maine, 6; Bowdoin, 0.

Munroe kicked off to Bailey, who again ran back fifteen yards. A quick line up, and away went the only "Frisky" Davis around Bowdoin's right end. Fifty yards he ran through the snow and slush until he was tackled by Wilson. He did not fail, however, but quickly shook himself loose, but before he could get his feet in good shape he was tackled by Hunt. Had the ground been hard he would have had a touchdown in all probability, as he has never yet been caught by a tackle from behind. For a few minutes the play was fast and furious, and during this time Bowdoin was given the ball for alleged holding, which the majority of spectators did not believe occurred, but Maine soon recovered the ball, and continued her advance steadily to Bowdoin's two yard line, where Davis was sent over for the second touchdown. Dorticos kicked the goal. Maine, 12; Bowdoin, 0.

Munroe again kicked off to Bailey, and he ran back ten yards. By steady gains of from two to eight yards Maine was steadily carrying the ball up the field, when time was called with the ball in her possession on Bowdoin's fifteen-yard line.

SECOND HALF.

Munroe kicked off to Bearce, who gained about five yards in return. Maine then started in to rush the ball up the field toward Bowdoin's goal and were making good progress, but the ball was often given Bowdoin on account of holding in the line, and much of the ground gained was lost in this way. By the way, the work of Umpire Ross was decidedly off color, and he repeatedly penalized Maine for being off side or holding, when even the Bowdoin men could see no reason for it, as they afterwards admitted. Despite these reverses, Maine was steadily and surely carrying the ball down the field, and Taylor was sent through right tackle for ten yards and the third touchdown. Dorticos missed the goal. Maine, 17; Bowdoin, 0.

Munroe kicked off to Davis, who made fifteen yards. Again the procession started down the field, and with sure, steady gains, the ball was carried to the middle of the field. Here Bradford took Taylor's place at left half-back. Dorticos, Bearce, Webber and Davis alternated in carrying the ball a few yards nearer the opposing team's goal line. On Bowdoin's forty-five yard line Webber broke clear of the line for a fine twenty-five yard run, placing the ball on the twenty-yard line. From here on few short plunges advanced the ball to Bowdoin's ten-yard line, from where Dorticos carried the whole Bowdoin team over the line for the fourth and last touchdown for Maine. The ball was wet and heavy and Dorticos missed the goal. Maine, 22; Bowdoin, 0.

Munroe kicked off to Davis who was downed on his own twenty-yard line. On the first play Davis went around right end for a beautiful run of thirty-five yards, but the ball was brought back and given to Bowdoin. The same old story. Bowdoin now had a chance to score and played desperately, but her rushes were met fiercely, and Maine at once recovered the ball on downs. Right her came a mistake which allowed Bowdoin her second chance to score, and this time she improved it. Instead of punting the ball far out of danger, an outside kick was tried, and the ball went straight into the arms of the Bowdoin quarter-back, who ran the ball back five yards to Maine's fifteen-yard line. Then Bowdoin, by desperate plunges, carried the ball by gains of from one to three yards over the line for their only touchdown, Munroe carrying the ball. He failed at goal. Maine, 22; Bowdoin, 5.

Dorticos kicked off to Munroe, who ran the ball back twenty-five yards. Bowdoin was forced to punt, and Maine secured the ball on her own forty-five yards line. From here, by some of the best gains of the game the ball was carried to Bowdoin's ten yard line, where time was called with the ball in Maine's possession. For Bowdoin, Hunt, Wilson, Davis, and Kelley made the best showing while for Maine the whole team played well. Their team work ranked with the best ever seen on Whittier field, and it was no uncommon sight to see the runner dragged along for five or six yards after being tackled. Davis, Dorticos, Bean, and Bailey were the individual stars. Bailey ran the team with good judgment and both he and Bean tackled fiercely. Davis came up to expectations, and no more need be said. Dorticos was a power all through the game, and it was generally conceded on all sides that he gave as good an exhibition of football playing as was ever seen in this state.
