JUNIOR WEEK

JUNIOR WEEK, with its list of bright events and happy hours, is now a matter of history, although the memory of this or that occasion in the eventful week, is still fresh in the minds of those who were fortunate enough to be allowed to enjoy the program so carefully arranged and successfully executed by the juniors.

With a program complete in every detail and attractive enough to draw hosts of friends, former students, and alumni to the campus the events of the Week were run off in a manner that merited the compliments bestowed on the general committee in charge of the program.

The campus looked its prettiest and the weather was almost ideal for the week of outdoor gaiety and sport. From the opening of the program of events on Tuesday morning, until the last waltz of the junior promenade was over, not a slip occurred to mar the pleasure of the hosts of friends and students who were enjoying the round of pleasures.

An attractive printed program for the Week was issued by the class which proved a valuable guide as well as a pretty souvenir and memento of the occasion. The program was printed in a booklet form in a warm red tint and arranged in a very tasteful and attractive manner.

TUESDAY

The exercises arranged for Tuesday, the opening day of Junior Week, were carried out without a slip of any sort and the day closed with the large throng of visitors well pleased with the cordial reception and pleasant entertainment afforded them by the members of the junior class.

The tennis trials in singles opened up at ten o'clock Tuesday morning and a large number of spectators gathered around the courts to watch the first try-out of the men. There were ten teams entered and the forenoon was well taken up with the round of preliminaries.

During the early morning the entire junior class was hard at work decorating the chapel and surrounding grounds for the Ivy Day exercises, which occurred in the afternoon and the junior exhibition which came at eight o'clock in the evening. The hall was a pretty sight when the guests arrived later in the day to witness the exercises arranged by the class for the occasion, and its attractive decorations added much to the charm and interest in the day's program.

The Ivy Day exercises were all that could be anticipated and those who had never witnessed similar exercises were loudest in their expressions of pleasure. The program opened with music by Pullen's orchestra while the guests were assembling. The opening prayer by Rev. John Meikle Brockie, who joined the class in 1904, after a course at the Bangor seminary, was followed by the class oration delivered by Harry Alvah Emery, North Anson. It was a carefully written piece of oratory charging the members of the class with a due sense of their duty and obligations to their Alma Mater and to their best convictions, calling out the best and highest ideals cherished by them.

The class poem which was the next number in the program, was written by Lincoln Ross Colcord of Searsport. It was a very creditable production and took with the audience immensely. It was of a humorous nature and brought out in rhyme with dry humor, the different phases of life with the college student, particularly the side of the indolent, indisposed nature.

The poem was followed by the class history delivered by Maude Brown Colcord of Searsport. It was very well written and well delivered. The prophecy by Henry Walter Bearce was different from the usual order of prophecies and was interesting in its novel manner of dealing with the various destinies and futures of the members of the class.

The presentations which were made by Edward Arthur Stanford of Lovell Center, brought a laugh from every victim who was so conspicuously reminded of some almost forgotten slip or practical joke. Following the charge to the curator, given by Ralph Henry Lord of Bangor, president of the class, the class arose and sang the class ode, written by Frederick Dean Southard of Dorchester, Mass.

Following the singing the class marched out of the hall and across the campus to Wingate hall, where the class ivy was to be planted. At the foot of the granite base, where the numerals of the class had been cut deep in the stone, the ivy was planted in the moist soil and with the ringing three times three for class and college the band of students broke up and the very pretty and interesting exercises were ended.

The program was as follows :

JUNIOR PRIZE THEMES

The Junior exhibition exercises which came in the evening began promptly at 8 o'clock, when the strains from Pullen's orchestra brought the party assembled to careful attention. The hall was well filled with an audience full of appreciation for the speeches and music of the occasion. There were seven speakers on the program, and all were of exceptional ability. The parts delivered were of original composition by members of the Junior class.

The program for the evening was as follows :

WEDNESDAY

Wednesday proved an ideal day for the Juniors and the campus was covered with people who were enjoying a taste of the college life. The sports and amusements of the day started with the tennis semi-finals in the morning. The singles were being played off and a large crowd gathered around the courts to watch the game. In the semi-finals, McClure, '05, beat Southard, '06, 6-0, 6-2; McClure beat Mitchell, '08, 6-2, 6-1. In the finals Lovett, '06, was a winner over McClure, '05, and is now the college champion in singles.

In the afternoon the campus was deserted during the ball game, but the minute the game was ended things became lively in the extreme. For an hour the students worked off their excess of spirits with cheering and singing, marching and speeches. At 6 o'clock some 300 people sat down to the Junior Spread which had been prepared in the gymnasium. Twenty-six tables had been spread, and the Fox & Adams Co., caterers of Bangor, served luncheon for the party. Then followed speeches.

Prof. J. S. Stevens was toastmaster for the occasion, and his previous reputation did not suffer in the least. His opening remarks were dry and witty and provoked a smile on the soberest face present. His manner of introducing the speakers was graceful and humorous. Short toasts and speeches were made by Pres. Fellows, Prof. O. F. Lewis, G. K. Huntington, '05, E. A. Stanford, '06, J. A. McDermott, '05, and R. E. Lord, '06, president of the Junior class. With the speeches there was plenty of good rousing college singing with a few hearty cheers worked in. Altogether the Junior Spread as a new departure was a pronounced success and has doubtless become a custom.

About 8 o'clock the party adjourned to the campus in front of Alumni hall, where the strings of Japanese lanterns radiated from a platform on which the University band was gathered. The concert for the rest of the evening was a fitting close for the day. Bon-fires had been built at a distance and the red glow lighted the sky, while in the center of the circle the soft light of the lanterns twinkled in the starlight. It was a pretty sight as the soft strains of music floated out on the evening air with the clear voices of the glee men in the chorus.

THURSDAY

The tennis men again furnished the morning entertainment for the company of visitors and the courts of the campus were well patronized. The preliminaries in doubles occupied the morning and furnished mild amusement for those interested.

During the afternoon the ball game with Tufts occupied the attention of the party and it was not until evening that the social pleasures of the day opened up.

During the evening it was open house at the fraternities and everyone who was not familiar with the student life in the chapter houses, with their conveniences and comforts peculiar to student homes had an excellent opportunity to get a view of the real life and conditions in the fraternities. Punch and light refreshments were served and in many of the houses dancing was enjoyed during the latter part of the evening. In short, everything was most informal and the very freedom and congeniality that existed everywhere lent the charm to the whole evening.

FRIDAY

The tennis tournament closed Friday, with some pretty hot tennis for finals. The semi-finals in the morning resulted in a victory for G. S. Owen '06, and M. R. Lovett '06, over R. Mitchell '08, and C. J. Martin '07, by a score of 6-0, 6-0. The finals lay between Owen and Lovett and Burleigh and Tabor, the former winning out after a long, hard scrap in which every point was closely contested. The handsome solid silver medals offered by Hon. L. C. Southard to the winners of the tournament will be awarded as follows: The medal in singles, Merton R. Lovett '06, Beverly, Mass.; the medals in doubles to Merton R. Lovett and George S. Owen '06, Portland.

As a part of the Junior Week program, special exercises were held in the chapel Friday morning at the regular chapel hour. The regular order of service was first carried out, being conducted by Rev. John M. Brockie, pastor of the Congregational church at Oldtown and a member of the junior class. At the conclusion of the service a tenor solo was given by Mr. Hutchins of Bangor, followed by a short address by Rev. C. H. Cutler of the First Congregational church, Bangor. Frank Lane of Bangor rendered a bass solo which was followed by the University hymn in which the students participated.

JUNIOR PROMENADE

The gaieties and festivities of Junior week were brought to a close Friday evening by the annual Junior promenade. The affair was held in the gymnasium and was, in brief, a brilliant success. Elaborate preparations had been made by the Junior class, and every detail had been carefully arranged. During the early evening 150 couples glided over the perfect floor of the spacious gymnasium to the music of Pullen's full orchestra. As the number reduced a bit the dances became more and more delightful to the gay party, and when the last waltz came as number 24 on the pretty orders, the gay dancers were loath to break from the brilliant gaiety and the charm of the intoxicating music.

The decorations for the evening were elaborate and quite different from anything employed for previous dances held in the gymnasium. The most successful idea in the arrangement was the leaving of the entire gymnasium floor for dancing, instead of lining the sides with seats, as formerly. The sitting-out and resting between dances was done in the chapel by the dancers. Here the most elaborate scheme of decoration had been employed. Around the sides and tastefully arranged in the corners of the hall were the inviting cosy corners and shady retreats. Here, in the center of the hall had been arranged a huge bank of evergreen trees forming a sort of canopy where the reception committee, composed of Hon. and Mrs. Henry Lord, Pres. and Mrs. George Emery Fellows and Ralph E. Lord, president of the 'junior class, greeted the guests as they arrived.

In the gymnasium a pretty sight greeted the eye as one entered. The light, soft and pale, was shed from hundreds of Japanese lanterns which hung from long strings of evergreen radiating from a colossal Japanese fan in the center to the various sections of the running track. Around the sides of the hall the class bunting of red and white had been used with pretty effect.

The orchestra usually placed in the middle of the floor, was stationed on a platform at the upper end of the gym behind a massive bank of evergreen which nearly concealed the players. Directly below the mass of green hung an enormous badge bearing the numerals of '06 in bright incandescent lights.

Dancing commenced shortly after 9 o'clock, and the time passed so swiftly that an order of 24 delightful dances had slipped away before the gay party had realized that the time for departure had come. Special cars arranged for the convenience of the guests in arriving and leaving, and in all the committee in charge should be highly complimented on the efficient manner in which the affair was managed.

The patronesses of the evening were Mrs. Henry Lord, Mrs. George E. Fellows, Mrs. Isaiah K. Stetson, Mrs. E. A. Balentine, Mrs. Harry A. Chapman, Mrs. Alden P. Webster, Mrs. George T. Thatcher, Mrs. Charles H. Adams, Mrs. Chester A. Brown, Mrs. William B. Peirce, Mrs. John M. Oak, Mrs. William E. Walz.

Frank A. Banks as floor director of the evening, chose as aids Walter H. Burke, Harry A. Emery, Harold S. Hoxie, Raphael S. Sherman, Gothard W. Carlson, George P. Goodwin, Daniel N. Rogers.

RECITAL IN HONOR OF THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1905

One of the pleasantest social events of the closing year was the recital given by President and Mrs. Fellows in honor of the graduating seniors. The affair was held at the home of the President and a few members of the faculty and Bangor friends were present in addition to the members of the senior class.

A musical program was carried out after which a social hour was passed and light refreshments served.

The program for the evening was as follows:

COMMENCEMENT PLANS

The coming Commencement seems certain to be altogether the most successful ever held at the University, and it is hoped that the undergraduates generally will make a special effort to remain through the week in order to aid by their presence in the festivities of the occasion.

The program has been published frequently, but it may be worth while to mention the principal features that make this Commencement noteworthy.

It is the third of a century anniversary of the graduation of the first class from the University and the Alumni Association is to observe the occasion by a general reunion. The corresponding secretary of the Alumni Association has received more than 175 favorable responses from alumni who will be present. The replies are coming in on every mail, many of them from those who hope to be present, so that the attendance of alumni will break all records. The older alumni in particular will be present in large numbers.

In securing Professor Edward H. Griggs for the baccalaureate address, President Fellows is bringing to Orono one of the very foremost public speakers of the day — a man of wonderful magnetic power. The Phi Kappa Phi speaker, President Carroll D. Wright of Clark College, formerly U. S. Commissioner of Labor, is a man of national reputation whom the fraternity is fortunate to be able to bring here.

The business meeting of the Alumni Association will have several matters of importance in its discussion.

The Commencement dinner is this year in the hands of the alumni members of the faculty. Rev. George L. Hanscom, '85, has consented to act as toastmaster and will arrange beforehand for the after dinner speakers. Professor L. H. Merrill, '83, has charge of the seating arrangements. By vote of the trustees, after consultation with the various local alumni associations, a charge of $1.00 a plate is made for dinner tickets to all except members of the graduating class who are to have one free ticket each.

The alumni luncheon in Holmes hall is a new feature which promises to be perhaps the most interesting occasion of the week to the alumni, as it will be an absolutely informal occasion where all will come together and talk over the old days and discuss the outlook for the future. There will be singing and music.

A luncheon for the alumnae will be served at the Mt. Vernon house at the same time so that the women are to have opportunities similar to those provided for the men.

There will be general interest in the sketches for the new library and the general plan of the campus which will be exhibited in the library.

There are over 80 students to receive the B. A. and B. S. degrees and 20 students receive the law degrees. With the pharmacy and advanced degrees the number will go well over 100, considerably the largest number yet granted by the University. It will carry the total number of alumni over the one-thousand mark.

Before this number of THE CAMPUS appears, the corresponding secretary of the Alumni Association will have sent to all the alumni a list of those who have replied to his inquiries indicating that they hope to be present at Commencement. When Commencement comes, it will be found that many whose names are not in this list will be on the grounds.

Alumni headquarters are to be maintained in the library where a record of arrivals is to be kept and where information of any kind may be obtained from the attendant.

SIGMA BETA PI BANQUET

The members of the Sigma Beta Pi fraternity of the University of Maine School of Law had their annual banquet at East Holden, Monday night, May 23. The party to the number of about 20 went out on the 5 p. m. train from Bangor and took supper at "Mayor" Smith's famous tavern. The repast was followed by speech making in which the alumni members present and most of the undergraduate members took part.

There is a general feeling of relief and pleasure among the students at the welcome news that Steve Farrell is to be with us again next year. Among the athletes who have worked under his direction this feeling is far stronger and but too plainly attests the confidence and esteem which is given him by the athletes who have worked under his care.

Steve Farrell Back.

With the close of the term and the departure of the students on the long vacation, we want to call attention to the plea so often presented for new men, prospective students, and what is of the greatest importance to us undergraduates, good athletics.

Thoughts for Vacation.

Now we did not win the baseball championship, the track meet, and the football championship this year. In fact, we didn't win any of them, and perhaps it was a mighty good thing for us. We certainly are not suffering from painfully swelled heads, nor are we conscious of that feeling so disagreeable to others—that we are the whole thing in athletics here in Maine.

But on the other hand, we do not propose to sit down and whimper over our defeats, or go around with long yarns and excuses on why we didn't win this or that event. It's true that we were beaten by better teams, and although we can hold up our heads proudly and say that we gave them their money's worth when we played, yet we were beaten, fairly and honestly.

Defeat in small quantities is good for any team, but we don't want an overdose; and we, as students, know that we won't take it. Next year we can't allow our teams to repeat the record of this season, and it will take every championship of the year to redeem ourselves. If we haven't got the athletes in college, we must get them, and develop them.

We can't offer men scholarships and big financial inducements to come here, and we wouldn't if we could. We, as students of Maine, down in our hearts don't believe in it; and we can prove to those colleges that it is possible to get good athletes without that sort of inducement.

We have something to offer that is far more attractive to the sound, honest athlete than those things. We have a rousing college spirit that every man is proud of, and that makes it an honor worth while for a man to play on our athletic teams. We have a spirit and enthusiasm a love of clean sport and fair play, and a desire to back our teams, winning or losing, that makes an athlete long to play on them. Back of all that, we have a college that has a future, with which none of our neighbor colleges can compete; a college that is offering courses that compare with those of the highest technical and classical colleges in the country; a college with a body of alumni that are doing things, and bringing added and extended credit and reputation to their Alma Mater every year.

These are inducements which, if properly presented to the honest, thinking student in the preparatory school, will leave the offers of other institutions bare and unattractive to him.

Now it is for us students who boast of our college spirit, of our freedom and democratic spirit, our love of clean athletics, and loyalty to a college that we believe to be the very best, to hustle this summer and get the athletes we need.

It's football first, and all the rest of the branches afterward. We can't repeat our football record of last year, and we won't. If there are football men in the preparatory schools we must have them, and it's for the fellows to get them. We have a coach that with anything like material will mould a team that we will be proud of, and we must help him out.

This life seems to be but a series of ladders, and no sooner do we reach the top of one than we must start in again on the foot

The Seniors. of the next. Years ago we slowly and painfully crawled to the head to grammar school ladder, only to begin our climb through the high school and into college.

The class of '05 has now finished all but one of these ladders. They have finished their college course and now stand at the long ladder of life.

They have done well in college, and old Maine will sadly regret their loss. They leave behind them many friends and many pleasant memories. May they succeed as well in the larger college of life as they have here, and when they depart from it, leave as many friends as they do now.

It has been the intention of the editors in holding the present issue of THE CAMPUS beyond its usual date of publication, to

A Late Issue. give the complete news of the remainder of the college year in this issue. The last issue, or regular Commencement number, will be devoted entirely to the Commencement exercises and events. As a majority of the students leave college before the last issue of THE CAMPUS appears, many of them do not get a complete record of the last few weeks of the college term where much of the news is held until June 15th, so it was thought advisable to hold the last regular number with the idea of covering it as completely as possible.

Our first intercollegiate debate resulted in a defeat, and yet the reports from those who heard the argument are to the

The Debate. effect that the decision was of the closest order and that the Maine debaters covered themselves with honor and were a credit to the institution they represented. We owe a hearty vote of thanks to these men.

The Leland Stanford University has received as a bequest the residence of the late Mrs. Jane Stanford. The house together with the grounds is valued at about $2,500,000.

BETA HOUSE WARMING

A reception and dance was held Saturday evening, May 13, by the members of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity at their new chapter house. The function which was in the nature of a house warming, came as a fitting close to an eventful day and helped in a visible measure to brighten what would ordinarily have proved a dull evening at Maine.

The dance was attended by a number of students from the other colleges, besides Bangor, Orono and Old Town friends of the fraternity and a number of young women guests of the students, from other parts of the state.

The affair began about 8 o'clock when the first carload of visitors arrived from Bangor. Mr. and Mrs. Alden P. Webster and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph K. Jones received in the large reception room of the new house and the members of the chapter acted as ushers. Music was furnished both during the reception and for dancing by several pieces of Pullen's orchestra.

The house, which was one blaze of electric light, was filled with guests who inspected the new apartments of the Betas from one end to the other, many of the women taking especial delight in the modern kitchen and its up-to-date fixtures. Everyone was loud in the praises of the house, which is a model of its kind.

Following the reception came the dance. Owing to the arrangement of the rooms dancing was held in the big reception room, the long, wide, music room and the dining hall, all of which are connected with large double doors. Refreshments were served at intermission and a large punch bowl was kept filled on the sideboard throughout the evening. Dancing was enjoyed until 12 o'clock when a special car took the guests to Bangor.

Bates won over University of Maine in the intercollegiate debate, held in Lewiston City hall, Friday night. The question was:
Resolved, That Municipalities of the United States of 25,000 Inhabitants and Over, Should Own and Operate Their Systems for Lighting, and Local Transportation.

For the main speeches 12 minutes were allowed each speaker, in rebuttal five minutes. The arguments were along the line of economy and efficiency.

Bates was represented by William R. Redden, Wayne C. Jordan and Winfield S. Austin. The University of Maine debaters were Ernest L. Dinsmore, Albert P. Rounds and Charles E. Davis.

The judges were Hon. Orville D. Baker of Augusta, Hon. Leslie C. Cornish of Augusta, and Percival P. Baxter, Esq., of Portland.

CLOSING CONCERT OF THE MUSICAL CLUBS

The musical clubs closed their season with a concert in Alumni hall, Saturday evening, followed by a dance in the gymnasium. It was a fitting close to a season that has exceeded all precedence and in which the clubs have established a new reputation for themselves. The concert was well attended and the large chapel was taxed to its full seating capacity. The clubs themselves were at their best and the program was run off with a snap and ease which spoke plainly of the long months of hard and faithful practice and rehearsal for the attainment of such perfection.

The program which had been varied a bit from the one which the clubs used in the concerts during the latter part of the season was altogether too short for the appreciative audience and encores followed nearly every selection.

Adelbert Sprague, in his violoncello solo, To the Evening Star, received a perfect ovation and the audience was not satisfied until he had responded for the second and third time to their expressions of pleasure. The mandolin club in its selection, Devil's Patrol, was a favorite and received a hearty encore, while the banjo orchestra and banjo sextet appealed to the audience warmly.

at his best and the encores which followed his selection, the Bandolero, attested to the favor in which he was received. The glee club appeared alone twice during the program and its work was excellent. The selection in the second part of the program, Carry Me Back to Old Virginny, in which Mr. Goodwin, the leader of the club, assisted with a tenor solo, was perhaps the prettiest selection on the program. His rich tenor voice was used with fine effect while the blending voices of the chorus were in perfect unison. Mr. Goodrich, as reader, appealed to all with his amusing selection in the first part of the evening.

The program was as follows:

At the conclusion of the musical program the audience retired to the gymnasium where dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Pullen's orchestra which furnished music for the occasion was at its best and the dance was a fitting close to a thoroughly successful evening. An order of twelve dances was enjoyed before the evening was brought to a close.

The patronesses for the evening were Mrs. E. A. Balentine and Mrs. Oakes.

PROF. K. P. HARRINGTON RESIGNS

It is with sincere regret that THE CAMPUS learns of the resignation of Professor Karl P. Harrington. Professor of Latin at this institution since 1899, he has been conspicuously active in his efforts for the welfare of the college and his loss will be keenly felt. As a sympathizer with student enterprises he has won the hearts of the undergraduates and his encouragement and hearty support in student affairs will be greatly missed.

Prof. Harrington leaves his present duties to accept the Chair of Latin at Wesleyan University, formerly occupied by his father. Prof. Harrington is a graduate of Wesleyan in the class of 1882, taking a B. A. degree and an M. A. in 1885.

N. E. I. PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETS

The annual meeting of the New England Intercollegiate Press Association was held at the Copely Square Hotel, Boston, May 22. The meeting was called to order by President W. F. Finn, Bowdoin '05. The afternoon session was spent in informal discussion of matters of interest to the editors of college publications. Following the discussion, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, W. H. Webster, Amherst; Vice President, Clare B. Singleton, Wellesley; Secretary and Treasurer, J. W. Sewall, Jr., Bowdoin; C. T. Bartlett, Tech, member of executive committee.

This, the twenty-fourth meeting of the association was delightfully brought to a close by a banquet in the evening. The following colleges were represented: Brown, Bowdoin, B. U., Trinity, Tech, Dartmouth, Mass. Agricultural College, Tufts, Bates, Wellesley, Amherst and Holy Cross.

ATHLETICS

HONORS FOR ATHLETES

At the last regular meeting of the executive committee for the year, the election and ratification of a number of the athletic officers was disposed of. For the track team, Benjamin Franklin Williams of North Islesboro, will be the future manager. His election came as a matter of course, after the efficient service which he has rendered during the past year as assistant manager of the team.

The ratification of the election by the team of Roy Hiram Porter of South Paris, as captain of the 1906 track team, was disposed of. That Porter was the right man for the honor and responsibility was the universal sentiment. His record this year has proved a bright spot in our track athletics and the entire confidence of the student body is with him. Not only did he prove himself to be the fastest man in the State at the home meet, but he ran a race at Worcester which was a credit to the institution.

In the baseball department Guy Edward Hayward of Winterport was readily elected manager of the baseball team for 1906. He has shown his ability to fulfill the duties of this important position during the past year in his position as assistant manager and the competent and successful management of the team is assured.

Jack Frost's election as captain of the team was ratified by the committee. There was no question but that Jack was the man, and the only man. It is to Jack that we must look next year and it remains largely with her new captain whether Maine stands at the head or the tail next season. Jack's record is too well known for us to record it here, but we unite with his many friends in wishing him success.

Owing the the fact that it would be impossible to hold a full meeting of the association this spring, the constitution was suspended and the officers of the association elected for the ensuing year. The honors were awarded as follows: President, Frank Arthur Banks, Biddeford; Vice President, Charles William Campbell, Ellsworth; Secretary, Walter Linwood Sturtevant, Bangor.

BASEBALL

With the game at Brunswick June second, Maine resigned her grasp on the championship for what will probably be second place in the line, with either a clear title or possibly sharing the honor with Colby or even Bates. It looked bright before the game as Maine was well along in the race and perhaps the team had already won the coveted position in their own minds, but however that may be, the fight is over and we can but grit our teeth and make a firm resolve for the coming year. In looking over the games since the last CAMPUS the reader will call to mind bright spots in the list of games and realize that we have fought a good fight, and championship or no championship, admit to himself, that Maine had a good team which ought to have won oftener than it did. The following is the record of the games:

MAINE 5, BATES 4

Maine at last broke the hoodoo of Garcelon field and defeated Bates on her own ground. The game was full of loose playing and bad decisions by the umpire but the team did not let up and it was Maine who lead the scoring with the exception of two innings through the game. Frost, who was in the box for Maine pitched a strong game striking out seven men, and with the exception of the seventh inning, kept the hits well scattered. In the seventh Bates scored three runs and it looked as though the game was gone but Maine pulled together in the ninth and aided by errors on the part of the Bates team pulled out a victory. In the ninth Burns reached first on an error by Wight and went to second on a passed ball. Moody sent another to Wight, who allowed it to go through him. French recovered it and threw home to cut off Burns, throwing far over Bowman's head, and both Burns and Moody scored before the ball could be returned. McGovern, the old Portland catcher, umpired the game, and his decisions were impartially bad.

MAINE 7, BOWDOIN 6

The first victory on the Campus came at a very opportune time and over a team that we were the most anxious to defeat. With Junior Week at its height and everything running smoothly the victory added to the general good spirits and enjoyment of the week in a way that nothing else could have done. The afternoon was an ideal one, and one of the largest crowds of the year witnessed the downfall of Bowdoin and the triumph of Maine.

Gussie Mitchell started the game for Maine and Lewis was in the box for Bowdoin. For the first three innings it was little better than one, two, three for either side and the scorer over at the new score board back of first base put up the double row of three ciphers. In the fourth Maine won the game and piled up her seven runs. Lunt, the first man up started things going with a pretty single to right, Mitchell, the man who never fails in a crisis, put another into center field and some poor judgement in throwing allowed Lunt to come home, and while the ball was moving back and forth across the diamond Gussie had moved around to second. Quint, Sawyer, Chase and Gordon in turn cracked out singles, and a combination of three stolen bases, one pass ball, and some pretty base running had brought in five runs. Then Files went in and Lewis retired to the field, but the blood was up and he could do little more than Lewis in stopping the wild rush. Burns stepped up to take one of the two strikeouts given by the Bowdoin pitchers during the game, Lunt atoned for it by a two-bagger bringing in two more runs. He stole third to allow Pat Collins to work down to second after a base on balls but Files was awake and caught Collins on the steal making three out.

Bowdoin too, had her fun in the first of the fifth, although it did not come from hard hitting, for while five runs were scored, but two singles showed on the scorer book as against seven singles and a two-bagger from the Bowdoin pitchers. Two little hesitating infield errors put two men on bases and an easy single by Ellis made three. Then Gussie had a bit of hard luck allowing a man to take first on a pitched ball forcing in Bowdoin's first run. Another infield error, two steals, and a single brought Bowdoin her other four runs. Bowdoin got one more in the seventh and that was all the scoring done by either team. In the seventh Jack Frost, replaced Mitchell and for the remainder of the game allowed no hits and struck out six men.

TUFTS 4, MAINE 1

Tufts took the second game between the two colleges in an interesting contest on Alumni field the afternoon following the Bowdoin game, May 25. Baring the fielding of Maine in the sixth, it was a well played game and one which Maine should have won but for costly errors at critical times that kept the score the wrong way. Both teams had in their second string pitchers and it was a game of the good old fashioned style with lots of batting. Quint pitched a good game for Maine although his support was weak at times. He allowed but four hits while seven were scored against the Tufts pitcher. The fielding of Tufts was excellent, Simon at third base showing up remarkably strong.

On the Maine team, Gordon did a good job behind the bat and Quint in the box fielded his position well. The playing of the infield was a bit erratic and there was some fumbling that was costly.

FORFEITED BY MAINE

The first of the games with Colby and the one that promised to be the most interesting exhibition of baseball on Alumni field this year, was forfeited by Maine in the sixth inning after an incident which is deeply regretted by the lovers of clean sport and fair play in both colleges. The inning had opened for Colby with a strike-out by Tribou. Dwyer followed with a hit, stole second, and came home on a hit by Craig. Coombs, the next man up got a hit and sent Craig to second. Then a double steal was attempted and Coombs was put out fairly by Moody at second while Craig was safe on third. In running to second, Coombs struck Moody, who was in the base line, heavily and the two mixed up. It is asserted by the majority of the people present that some dirty work followed on the part of Coombs and the ball was interfered with so that Craig reached home on a close decision while Moody succumbed to the rough treatment and showed himself to be in a bad condition. Umpire McGovern refused to take any action on the play stating that he did not see it and the Maine management refused to allow the team to finish the game under the existing conditions. A protest was entered with the Maine Intercollegiate Arbitration Board and the game is held pending a decision by the board.

Up to the sixth inning it was the fastest game of ball that has been seen on Alumni field this spring and the crowd was even larger than witnessed the Bowdoin game earlier in the week. It proved to be a pitcher's battle with the honors slightly in favor of Coombs. The record for five innings was eight strike-outs for Coombs and seven for Frost, while a home run and two singles had been made off Frost against a base on balls and one base on a pitched ball by Coombs.

In those five innings Coombs was the only man who saw anything more than first base and his clean home run was a feature of the game.

MAINE 3, COLBY 2

The most unexpected victory of the season came when Maine played Colby the return game at Waterville and the team left the field with the score 3-2 in Maine's favor.

A special train with about two-hundred of the students aboard made the trip and everyone who went pronounced it the most successful trip of the season. At the game the Maine contingent out-cheered the Colby bunch and the celebration after the game in Bangor and Orono was something in the nature of the old-time celebrations.

The first part of the game was close and was plainly a pitcher's contest, in which both teams were doing well; but in the seventh two errors and a wild pitch gave Maine three runs which Colby was unable to overtake, although in the eighth with the head of the batting list up Colby, got two runs on an error, a sacrifice, and a two base hit. The only scoring was done in the seventh and eighth innings. One of the features of the game was a triple play. Pile knocked a low liner to Moody who threw the ball to second catching Tilton off. The ball was then put to first catching Starkey in the same way. As one was down but two put outs were needed to close the inning.

In Maine's half of the seventh Mitchell knocked a pretty one to Tilton who allowed it to go between his legs while Moody went to third. Chase got a hit scoring Moody. An error of an easy one to Starkey let Thatcher to first and Chase to third. Thatcher then went down on a steal. A wild pitch by Coombs allowed both to cross the plate. The next two men were out. In the eighth Tribou got first on an error by Chase, was sacrificed to second, and went to third on the next play. Craig got a base on balls but was forced out when Coombs came to first. Willey was the man with a two base hit scoring Tribou and Coombs. Tilton was out.

In the ninth Colby made a desperate effort to score. Pile got to second and Pugsley to first but Quint made the star play of the game in a pretty running catch of what looked to be a hit over second base, shutting out the side.

BOWDOIN 6, MAINE 2

The last game of the season came with Bowdoin at Brunswick, on Bowdoin's Ivy Day and resulted in a defeat with the score 6-2. It was a keen disappointment to the supporters of the team who had great confidence that it be a victory and the clinching of the championship. The team certainly had an off-day and at a time when it proved very expensive.

A summary of the game shows that the total number of hits on both teams was the same while Frost struck out six men to four by Files. Bowdoin had four errors charged to her account to three by Maine. The base running by Maine was way off-color and accounted for much of the score, then the team hit well but always into the hands of some waiting fielder.

THE TRACK MEET

The great meet is now history and Bowdoin is once more the winner although her bare four points advantage indicate something of the struggle between the two colleges before either would admit itself beaten. But the meet was won fairly and honestly and every point was earned by long months of hard, conscientious training by those athletes who, keyed up to the breaking point, strained every nerve in the desperate struggle for victory.

The summary of the meet was as follows :

440-yard run—Kimball, Bowdoin, first; Wyman, Maine, second; Lisherness, Maine, third. Time, 53 1-5s.

120-yard hurdle—Toby, Bowdoin, first; Currier, Maine, second; Webb, Bowdoin, third. Time, 15 2-5s.

220-yard dash—Porter, Maine, first; Doherty, Bowdoin, second; Sawyer, Maine, third. Time, 23s.

220-yard hurdle—Toby, Bowdoin, first; Thatcher, Maine, second; Currier, Maine, third. Time, 26 3-3s.

100-yard dash—Porter, Maine, first; Doherty, Bowdoin, second; Sawyer, Maine, third. Time, 10 1-5s.

One-mile run—Robinson, Bowdoin, first; P. R. Shorrie, Bowdoin, second; Hunt, Colby, third. Time, 4m. 48 4-5s.

In the pole vault every Maine man was glad to see Shaw break the only record of the day when he raised Parker's record of 10 feet, 8 inches, to 10 feet, 9 inches. Rogers, of Maine, vaulted in good form and took second place without much difficulty. Over third place there was a long and bitter scrap but the point was finally won by Wiggin of Bates and the meet ended with Bowdoin in first place with 59 points and Maine second with 55 points. Colby beat out Bates for third place with eight points to Bates' four.

It was a bad day for records and the only one broken was the pole vault. The crowd on the side-lines and bleachers that faced the cold biting wind and damp air was small and things did not liven up as in the usual meet.

Bowdoin's little bunch of rooters did good work over in the grandstand but the Maine men in a body made most of the noise for the occasion and they certainly staid behind their men in loyal fashion.

THE N. E. I. A. A. MEET

Amherst won the N. E. I. A. A. meet at Worcester oval, Saturday, May 20, for the fourth consecutive year. Dartmouth, who was her nearest rival, was beaten by $2\frac{1}{4}$ points. Of the Maine colleges, Bowdoin and Maine were represented by teams and both were point winners.

The Maine team was made up of Capt. Shaw, '05 Porter, '06, Bearce, '06, Wyman, '07, and St. Onge, '07. Three out of five of the team scored points and the showing made was entirely satisfactory to coaches and everyone concerned. In the high jump, Capt. Shaw tied for first place and in the jump off won the medal.

Porter in the dashes was in great form and made a showing that was very creditable. In the 100-yard dash trials he won over Lightner, the crack Tech sprinter by a yard, but was beaten out by a few inches in the finals, taking fourth place.

In the quarter-mile, Wyman captured third place.

THE INTERSCHOLASTIC MEET

Westbrook carried off most of the honors in the fifth annual invitation field meet held on Alumni field, Saturday. She had point winners in every event and in some cases carried away the whole nine points. Bangor High took second place away from Bar Harbor but failed to compete with the strong Westbrook team which carried things much its own way in the track events. The distribution of points was as follows: Westbrook Seminary, 84; Bangor High school, 29; Bar Harbor High, 16.

The day proved a most unfavorable one for the meet, the track and field being heavy with water and kept wet and slippery during the day by frequent showers and driving bursts of rain. The averse weather conditions kept the number of athletes competing down considerable and two of the schools entered, Kent's Hill and Parsonsfield Seminary, were not represented by a team.

In spite of the heavy condition of the track the Westbrook lads succeeded in smashing two of the interscholastic records, the one in the half-mile formerly held by Manter of Kent's Hill at 2 min., 13 2-5 sec., being reduced to 2 min., 8 1-5 sec., by Richardson of Westbrook. The record in the mile held by Thomas of Skowhegan and Rice of Bangor at 5 min., 9 sec., was lowered by Holmes of Westbrook to 5 min.

Trials in the weights, 220 yard dash, 120 yard and 220 yard hurdles were held during the morning, while the afternoon events which began at 2 o'clock were run off sharply, the meet being over at 5 o'clock.

The summary:

100 yard dash—Won by Lowell of Westbrook, Fordham of Westbrook second, Scates of Westbrook third. Time 10 4-5s.

One-half mile run—Won by Richardson of Westbrook, Torrey of Westbrook second, Toole of Bangor third. Time 2m. 8 1-5s. (New record.)

220-yard dash—Won by Lowell of Westbrook, Fordham of Westbrook second, Evans of Bar Harbor third. Time 24 4-5s.

One mile run—Won by Holmes of Westbrook, Hamor of Bar Harbor second, Smith of Bangor third. Time 5m. (New record.)

INTERCOLLEGIATE TENNIS

The annual intercollegiate tennis tournament was held at Lewiston, on the Bates college tennis courts, May 19, 20, 22.

The usual rain storm delayed the playing for three days, the tournament being scheduled to open May 16, but the stranded teams were taken in by the hospitable Bates students and entertained in a manner that made the delay seem short indeed. On Wednesday evening of the week, the co-eds gave a reception at the new dormitory in honor of the visiting tennis men and a general good time was enjoyed.

The tournament itself was not as satisfactory from a Maine standpoint. The teams, which were without doubt faster than any Maine has sent out for a number of years, failed to make good, for the simple reason that they ran against some faster men in the other colleges. It looked as though Maine could claim the cup in doubles but after a hard close fight, Stevens and Palmer of Colby won out, leaving Maine second place.

The summary of the matches is as follows:

DOUBLES

Owen and Lovett, Maine, beat Laidley and Donnell Bowdoin, (6-3) (6-1).

THE COLLEGE TENNIS TOURNAMENT

INTERSCHOLASTIC SPEAKING CONTEST

The third interscholastic prize speaking contest given under the auspices of the University of Maine was held in the chapel Friday evening, May 19. The speakers for the evening had been reduced to nine in all by trials held during the day. The original number of speakers, representing the different preparatory schools, was 24, nine of whom were women and 15 men. This was the largest number that ever responded to the invitation sent out by the University, with the result that the final speeches in the evening were all of them strong and delivered in a very accomplished manner.

The chapel was well filled for the occasion, among those present being a large number of preparatory school men who were gathered for the interscholastic meet held on Alumni field Saturday. The program for the evening was as follows:
